The Board of Education approved the 2006 Choir trip as proposed by Choir Director Darcy Reese.

The next regular meeting of the Board of Education has been scheduled for 6:30 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 26, in the conference room of the School District Service Center.

North Township to hold rezoning hearing Sept. 26

The North Township Planning Commission will hold a public hearing at 7 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 26, at the North Township Hall to hear public comments about a proposal by Northwest Grain to rezone a portion of North Township. Northwest Grain is requesting that the Planning Commission rezone a tract of land owned by Northwest Grain, located in the northwest corner of section 21, North Township, north of Thief River Falls.

Northwest Grain is requesting to rezone this tract of land from urban/residential to industrial. It also has announced plans to construct a mega fertilizer plant on the property, which would also serve as office space and a location for seed and chemical warehouse facilities that are currently located in Thief River Falls.

Those wishing to comment on Northwest Grain's request will be heard at the public hearing. Those wishing to submit written comments prior to the hearing or who have questions may address them to Dave Strong, North Township chairman, 2013 Nelson Drive, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 or telephone 218-681-5749.

Northwest Grain, a division of Cenex Harvest States, currently operates from locations in St. Hilaire, Hazel, Warren, Grygla, Stephen and Thief River Falls.

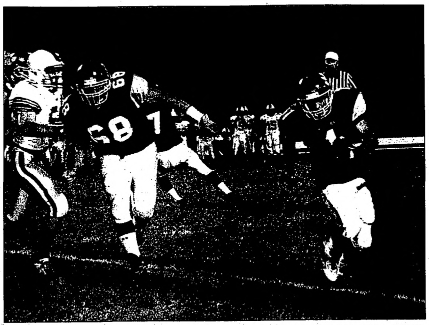
The TIMES



Tony Dorn (68) helped teammate Jon Drees turn the corner on this Thief River Falls running play during Friday's high school football game against Detroit Lakes at Lowell T. Swenson Field. The Prowlers lost their 2005 home opener 20-12.

Lakers hold off Prowlers 20-12

Opportunity knocked, but Thief River Falls never answered the door Friday in a 20-12 high school football loss to Detroit Lakes.

Trailing just 13-12 at halftime, the Prowlers had numerous opportunities to add second half points. They recovered their third quarter kickoff at the Detroit Lakes 36; stopped the Lakers on fourth down at the Thief River Falls 43; got the ball back when a short punt went off a Detroit Lakes player at the Lakers' 48 in the final minute of the third quarter; and came up with an interception at the Detroit Lakes 35 with 6:52 remaining in the game.

The Prowlers, however, failed to turn those scoring chances into points. In fact, Thief River Falls netted a mere 15 yards of second half offense.

More than anything else, it was the inability to move the football that Thief River Falls head coach Jeff Mumm found to be the most frustrating aspect of the game. "The part of our program we've been so proud of over the years – the offense – let us down," he said. "Our defense played so well. They gave us so many opportunities. But the offense didn't capitalize. We made mistakes. We missed simple assignments. We had breakdowns. We had no continuity on offense."

A huge crowd that turned out under perfect weather conditions for the Prowlers' 2005 home opener at Lowell T. Swenson Field witnessed immediate fireworks when Thief River Falls' Jeremy Sich shook off tacklers on the left side and out-ran the Detroit Lakes defense for an 87-yard touchdown run on the game's first snap.

Assessed a 15-yard penalty on the conversion, Thief River Falls was forced to try a two-pointer, and the pass was incomplete. Still, just 18 seconds into the game, the Prowlers enjoyed a 6-0 lead.

The Prowlers, who hurt themselves by giving up big yardage on kickoff returns in a season-opening 42-20 loss at Crookston, were victimized in that area by the Lakers, too. The visitors answered the quick touchdown with a return to the Detroit Lakes 44 that was followed by a 14-play scoring drive.

After converting a fourth-and-one into a first down with a four-yard carry to the Thief River Falls 8 by Mike Haggart, the Lakers crossed the goal line on 1-yard quarterback sneak by Joe Schiller. A Jack Kippen kick made it 7-6 with 5:39 remaining in the first quarter.

Forcing a punt that set up the offense at the Detroit Lakes 40 with 4 1/2 minutes left in the first half, Thief River Falls reached the end zone in six plays to retake the lead, 12-7, when Michael Forney threw to wide-open Jon Drees for a 7-yard touchdown with just 2:09 on the clock. Again, the try for two failed.

Another special teams play opened the door for a second Detroit Lakes touchdown just before the halftime horn as the Lakers' Kyle Danner fielded the ensuing kickoff at his 12-yard line and returned it all the way to the Thief River Falls 36.

The 12-play series included three fourth down conversions by Schiller, who got the needed yard on a fourth-and-inches from the 28; hit a wide-open Brady Klein for a 15-yard gain on a fourth-and-10 from the 26; and took a keeper out of shotgun formation for a 6-yard touchdown run on a fourth down from the five with just 3.6 seconds to play for the one-point halftime edge.

"Giving up that touchdown right before the end of the half hurt," acknowledged Mumm. "But they didn't score against our defense; our kickoff coverage gave them that touchdown."

Having been burned twice already on returns, the Prowlers started the second half with a turf-bouncer that wound up working even better than planned when Blake Haviland pounced on the mis-handled kick at the Detroit Lakes 36-yard line.

However, the chance to go right back on top fizzled just three plays later when the Lakers' Jed Harms came up with an interception at the Detroit Lakes 20 and returned it to the 47.

Northland football home opener is Saturday vs. Minnesota West...

Raiders hand their Pioneers first loss

A month into the 2005 season, the Northland Community and Technical College football team will finally play a home game Saturday when the Pioneers take on unbeaten Minnesota West. The Minnesota Community College Conference game has a noon start at Lowell T. Swenson Field in Thief River Falls.

Northland lost its undefeated status Saturday in a 20-19 setback at the hands of Central Lakes in Brainerd. The Pioneers opened the year with a come-from-behind 40-31 win at Fergus Falls and held off Ridgewater 32-27 in an MCCC Kickoff Classic match-up at St. Cloud State University before falling to the Raiders.

"We didn't play well," said Northland coach Guy Finstrom. "Even if we would have won the game, I wouldn't have been happy with our performance. Of course, I'd like to have the win, even if it wouldn't have been pretty."

The Pioneers' troubles began immediately when they fumbled away the opening kickoff, setting up a 25-yard field goal for the Raiders' Nick Edwards.

"That was a bad omen right there," said Finstrom.

A tipped ball on a long pass wound up as a second quarter Central Lakes reception and a first down at the Northland 5-yard line. Moments later Karson Pike found Edwards in the end zone for a touchdown and a 10-0 lead.

Edwards' personal point production climbed to 13 with a 20-yard field goal.

It was Northland's defense that put the Pioneers on the scoreboard when Adam Phillipe recovered a Central Lakes fumble in the Raiders' end zone just before the half. An Austin Johnson conversion cut the difference to 13-7 at the break.

"Even though we hadn't played well, we had some momentum there at the end of the half," said Finstrom.

The Pioneers caught the Raiders at 13-13 on a 62-yard third quarter Calvin Tolliver touchdown pass to Leroy Howard Jr.

Northland went ahead 19-13 on a 6-yard Deonte Lewis touchdown run in the fourth quarter, but a second straight miss on the conversion kick would come back to haunt the visitors.

Pike scored on a 1-yard run and Edwards added the game-winning kick for the 20-19 final.

"We missed two PAT's and they made two, and two field goals," pointed out Finstrom. "That was the difference in the game."

The Pioneers did have a late-game shot at a win when they reached the Central Lakes 9-yard line with 30 seconds left. But a penalty pushed them out of field goal range, and the offense couldn't reach the end zone.

"We have to stop picking up penalties," said Finstrom, whose team was flagged eight times for 60 yards.

Although not happy with the overall team play, Finstrom said the Pioneers had an individual standout on both sides of the ball, citing Howard at wide receiver and Frank Leon in the defensive line.

Minnesota West will be the final MCCC Southern Division opponent on the 2005 Northland schedule. The Pioneers finish the regular season against Northern Division rivals Vermilion, Itasca, Rainy River, Mesabi Range and Hibbing. Teams earn one point for a win over an opponent from the other division and pick up two points for a victory over a division foe. Top two finishers in each division advance to the state playoffs.

Northland's Northern Division debut will be Saturday, Oct. 1, vs. Vermilion. The Pioneers will also be at home Thursday, Oct. 6, vs. Itasca and Thursday, Oct. 20, vs. Mesabi Range.

Northern Lites Invitational set

■ TRF volleyball tournament scheduled Saturday

Eight area teams are lined up to compete in the 28th annual Thief River Falls Northern Lites Invitational high school volleyball tournament Saturday.

Round-robin pool play that begin at 9 a.m. will determine the draw for the trophy matches later in the day.

Host Thief River Falls will be joined by Northern Freeze, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River and Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke in Pool A in the Lincoln High School main gym (Court 1). Pool B matches, featuring Warren-Alvarado-Oslo, Stephen-Argyle, Red Lake County Central and Roseau, will be played in the auxiliary gym (Court 2).

Junior varsity portion of the tournament will be played on two courts at Franklin Middle School. The junior varsity pool play draw and match times are identical to the varsity schedule.

Trophy match times for both the varsity and junior varsity will also be the same: 3 p.m. for fifth and seventh place matches; 4 p.m. for championship and third place matches.

Northland Invitational scheduled Sunday at Thief River Golf Club

Minnesota Community College teams will be at the Thief River Golf Club Sunday for the 2005 Northland Invitational. The event begins at noon.

The Tom Williams-coached Pioneers opened the year with back-to-back trips to the Brainerd area for Central Lakes Invitationals Sept. 1 and 12. The second tournament was played in the rain - heavy at times - at The Legacy, where the host Raiders shot a 308, Minneapolis 333, Rochester 338, Northland 360, Hibbing 370, Century 395 and Fergus Falls 404. Riverland and Ridgewater fielded incomplete teams.

Tony Lango of Minneapolis was meet medalist with a 75. The Pioneers' line-up included Ryan Anderson with an 86, Steve Stall 89, D.J. Stodgel 91 and Nick Moen 100.

The Pioneers were scheduled to play at Hibbing Tuesday.

Pioneers still without first volleyball victory

That first win continues to elude the 2005 Northland Community and Technical College volleyball team. The Pioneers fell to 0-8 Friday with a 30-21, 30-17, 30-15 loss at Fergus Falls.

It was the fifth straight Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division setback for the Pioneers, who opened the year with an 0-3 showing at the Broome Community College Invitational in Binghamton, N.Y.

"We're struggling to get that first win," admitted Northland coach Missy Majerus. "It's a confidence thing right now. Once we get that first win, I think we'll be good to go."

Northland is in Canada tonight (Wednesday) for a match against Providence College in Otterburne, Man. The Pioneers return to MCCC play with Northern Division matches at Hibbing Friday and at Rainy River Saturday.

"We've been playing some tough teams, but we're losing because we're making mistakes," explained Majerus. "Once we correct those mistakes, we'll be okay."

Six added to NCTC Hall of Fame roster

Six individuals will make up the second group of inductees to the Northland Community and Technical College Athletic Hall of Fame, it was announced by Northland Athletics Director Deb Jacobson.

The Class of 2005 includes John Michael Anderson (deceased), who played tennis at Northland and helped contribute to school programs as president of the Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club; Scott Bergland, who will be recognized as both a player and a coach in the Northland hockey program; former Northland basketball standouts David Dickey and Tony Burke; along with Georgine Troska and Paula (Hovde) Seifried, a pair of athletes who played volleyball, basketball and softball at Northland.

Induction ceremony will be held Saturday, Dec. 10. Northland men's and women's basketball games against Minnesota West, along with tours of the campus, will start the day's activities. A social and banquet will be held that night in the Northland commons.

NCTC coaches Sports Boosters guest speakers

Head coaches Guy Finstrom (football) and Tom Williams (golf) from Northland Community and Technical College will be the guest speakers at the Sept. 22 Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club meeting.

The group has noon luncheon meetings Thursdays at the Elks.

Lakers post 20-12 win over Prowlers

turnover into a 15-play touchdown drive that ended on a 1-yard Haggart dive. The kick made it 20-12 with 4:21 to play in the third quarter, completing the scoring.

Thief River Falls had a shot at tying the game when linebacker Sean Sorteberg intercepted Schiller at the Detroit Lakes 35 with 6:52 to play. The Prowlers' offense set up shop at the 31. They picked up one of their two second half first downs and reached the 15 before a sack on a fourth-and-six play ended the series with still 3:53 showing.

Schiller made sure the Lakers could run out the clock when he got the exact yards needed by throwing a swing pass to Haggart on third-and-17 play from the Detroit Lakes 27 with 1:23 remaining.

The results put both teams at 1-2. The perennially-strong Lakers lost to Moorhead and Fergus Falls to start the year. The Prowlers followed their Week 1 loss to the Pirates with a win at Hibbing.

"I thought we went toe-to-toe with them all night long," offered Mumm, who has just two wins over the Lakers in his 20 years as the Prowlers' coach. "You can count on your fingers how many times we've been able to say that over the years. But in the end, Detroit Lakes always finds a way to win."

TRF volleyball team at W-A-O Invitational...

Prowlers are 2-2 in tournament

Thief River Falls had a 2-2 Saturday at the Pony Boosters Invitational high school volleyball tournament in Warren.

The Prowlers' pool play results included a 2-1 victory over Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, a 2-1 loss to host Warren-Alvarado-Oslo and a 2-0 win over East Grand Forks Sacred Heart.

That landed Thief River Falls a spot in the third place match against Fertile-Beltrami, with the Falcons winning a close 23-25, 25-21, 17-15 decision.

"Our goal was to play as a team, and we did accomplish that," reported Thief River Falls coach Tammy Sparby. "The girls played well. We lost two close matches."

Thief River Falls' net play, especially on defense, suffered, according to Sparby, when middle hitters Lauren Daniels and Sarah Michaels were forced to play with ankle/foot injuries.

The Prowlers took a 4-5 record into a Tuesday home match against Perham. Thief River Falls' annual Northern Lites Invitational will be held Saturday when the Prowlers will be joined by Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke, Warren-Alvarado-Oslo, Roseau, Northern Freeze, Red Lake County Central, Stephen-Argyle and Badger/Greenbush-Middle River. Competition starts with pool play matches at 9 a.m.

■ Prowlers swim in Panther Invitational at Park Rapids

Two freestyle sprint wins by Allyson Helling highlighted Thief River Falls efforts Saturday at the Panther Invitational girls high school swim meet at Park Rapids.

Helling won the 50-yard freestyle in 26.57 and took the 100 freestyle in 57.09.

Thief River Falls' April Peterson had a second place finish in the 100 backstroke. The Prowlers' 400 freestyle relay team of Peterson, Ashley Meunier, Katie Pribula and Helling was third.

Team honors went to Brainerd with 547 points, followed by Melrose with 421, Sauk Centre 336, Detroit Lakes 318, Thief River Falls 257, Park Rapids Area 249, Perham 159 and Fosston/Bagley 20.

"It was a bit disappointing," said Thief River Falls coach Lacy Knott. "We did not swim as well as we hoped."

Thief River Falls will host Fosston/Bagley Thursday in a 5 p.m. dual at the Franklin Middle School pool.

Pennington Co. Sportsman Club meeting is set tonight

Pennington County Sportsman Club membership meeting will be held tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. at the clubhouse.

TRF DNR meeting tonight to discuss wild turkey project

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources announced that it has selected wild turkey release sites for a research project in northwestern Minnesota. Habitat conditions in six northwestern counties were evaluated over the summer, and two release sites were selected near Red Lake Falls in Red Lake County and Rosewood in Marshall County.

The release sites will be the northernmost releases of wild turkeys in Minnesota, according to Sharon Goetz, a wild turkey biologist for the DNR. Prior to this, the northernmost release occurred in Mahnomen County in 2001.

"The turkeys will be fitted with radio transmitters to study survival, habitat use, and landowner perception in an effort to evaluate the potential expansion of the turkey range in northern Minnesota," Goetz said.

The Red Lake Falls and Rosewood turkey releases are scheduled for this coming winter, provided that adequate snow exists to capture the birds. If all goes as planned, the 60-70 wild turkeys will be trapped in southeastern Minnesota and released at each site during January and February by the DNR trap and transport program, which is supported by the National Wild Turkey Federation.

The DNR will hold a public information meeting to discuss the details of the northwest wild turkey research project tonight (Wednesday) in Thief River Falls from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Lincoln High School auditorium.

"There has been a lot of public interest in having wild turkey releases in the far northwest, said

Thief River Falls JV falls to Central comeback

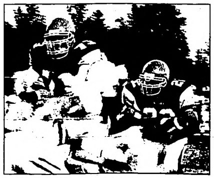
Three long touchdown plays gave Thief River Falls an 18-0 lead, but the Prowlers' early edge turned into a 41-18 loss to Grand Forks Central Monday in junior varsity high school football.

Aaron Langan went 65 yards for a touchdown on the first play of the game and on the second play of the next Thief River Falls offensive series, Jordan Swanson threw a 95-yard touchdown pass to Langan.

The Prowlers' quick-strike offense continued when Tom Loe broke away on a 90-yard run to open a second quarter series.

Host Central cut the lead to 18-14 at halftime and went ahead 29-18 in the third quarter.

The loss dropped the Thief River Falls junior varsity record to 2-1.



Fullback Chad Johnson looked for running room behind Thief River Falls guard Tanner Jensen during Friday's high school football game against Detroit Lakes at Lowell T. Swenson Field. The Lakers gave up a touchdown on the first play of the game, but came back to beat the Prowlers 20-12. It was the 2005 Thief River Falls home opener. The Prowlers' next home appearance will be a Friday, Sept. 30, North Country Conference game against Cloquet. Kickoff will be at 6 p.m.

Strandquist

F. Myrtle Vagle • 436-2133

Last Sunday afternoon, I accompanied Morris and Hazel Anderson to the Threshing Bee about six miles east and 3 miles north of Strathcona. That entertainment for the public has grown to be almost as big as Strathcona Day. There was food of all kinds, even "Uffda Tacos" which is a must for me if I see it. There were plants for sale from Honker Flats that we could not resist. I have a new rain gauge that has an elk on it and the long handle on it stands near the sidewalk, and Saturday night there was almost an inch of rain in it. It surely is nice to read it without wading in the wet grass to do it.

The old school house and the log house where they were showing how things were done in the olden days brought many old times back in our memories. They were sewing quilt blocks, weaving rugs, cooking soup, baking dough boys, stamping in the sauerkraut and churning butter. That reminds me that churning butter is still done in our homes. I was whipping cream to put on some dessert, it wouldn't thicken even if I kept whipping it so I set it aside for awhile. A few minutes later, I started it up again and just like that it cracked and turned to butter! Couldn't put that on the dessert, but I did use it in cooking.

Sunday, a big crowd of friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Thompson gathered at the Community Center in Karlstad to celebrate the wedding reception for them. Many who were there had also attended the wedding in her home church. The lovely bride wore her wedding gown and was introduced to many of the folks from around here.

Kaye Turnwall, San Johnson, Terry and Betty Pietruszewski, Marie Steffen, Wayne and Rebecca Larson helped Judy Kleinvachter winterize her abode on Sunday. You can bet the coffeepot and goodies from the pantry got a working over too!!!

FROM THE PAST ECHOES

HISTORICAL REVIEW OF THE TIMES AND ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR

Out in Society

From The Thief River Falls Times September 18, 1930

Entertains Thursday

"Last Thursday evening Miss Lucille Rayson was hostess at a party at her home when she entertained a group of friends. The evening was spent playing cards and dancing and refreshments were served by the hostess at 11:30 o'clock. The guests included Misses Marjory Nicholson, Ruth Smithers, Stella Vevea and Arda Byram; Messrs. Clifford Wikel, Richard Mabey, Clarence Sande, Randall Noper, and Fred Fredrickson; and Mr. and Mrs. WesleyWheeler."

Birthday Dinner

"The first birthday anniversary of Allen Swanson was celebrated last Thursday evening at a 6 o'clock dinner party given by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Swanson at their home. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Gust Crown and children; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Evans and children; Mr. and Mrs. John Magnuson and children; Mrs. E. W. Battenfeld and daughter, Edna, Mrs. A. C. Hanson, Mrs. Sarah Swanson, and the Misses Christine Clausen and Selma Rustebakke."

St. Hilaire

Freshman Initiation

"Friday evening in the high school assembly the annual Freshman initiation was held. An interesting program of readings and musical selections was given after which many stunts were played on the frosh, affording much amusement to the upper classmen. Lunch was served at 10 o'clock."

The Lutheran Free Church
E. L. Tungseth, Pastor
O. J. Haukeness, Associate Pastor

"Zion: Prayer meeting every Tuesday, 8 p.m. Senior choir Wednesdays, 8 p.m.

"The Sewing Circle meets with Mrs. O. Parbst Tuesday evening next week.

"Mesdames Savig and Husted entertain the Ladies Aid Thursday next week.

"Our Sunday school enrollment had a 24% increase last Sunday. Yet a few of the children have not returned. Can you, father and mother, answer to God and to your children for this attitude? Will you ever be able to erase the imprint which such an attitude makes on the child?

"Our Sunday school will this year be completely graded and the new books will be on hand Sunday.

"Confirmation class Saturday, at 10.

"Norwegian worship with Holy Communion, Sunday, at 11.

"American evening service at 7:45.

"Sermon topic: 'Are You Saved?'

"Norden: Services with Holy Communion conducted by the pastor at 2:30.

"Bethlehem: Services by O. J. Haukeness at 11.

"Foldahl: 2:30 p.m. Service atthe Mellin school house. At this time we hope to have Rev. W. O. Larson from Minneapolis with us. September 28: he will speak every evening the following week at the school house.

"2:30 p.m. Ladies Aid at the home of Mrs. Fagerstrom, September 26, Friday."

High School Progress

Feature That!

"Coach Dooley came fifteen minutes late to Social science class one day and gave his excuse as chicken dinner.

"Since Roy Lonson joined the Shorthand II class, Forrest's dream of being the 'Rose of No Man's Land' has somehow faded.

"One senior affirms that he should like after-dinner speeches better if he could have the dinner first.

"First Frosh: Oh, but you shouldn't refuse to lend me a quarter for the game. One freshman should always be willing to help another.

"Second Frosh: I know it, but you always insist on being the other.

"Evelyn Whiting is brokenhearted over the return of an old flame.. She was just dating up a new one.

"Mr. Grinley no longer rides alone in his little car. What bliss!

"Be sure to sign up for the new course in 'Easy and Effective Laughing,' which will commence next week under the able supervision of Miss Wilma Aakre.

"Mr. Orwoll gets so engrossed in the football field the sixth period that he turns his back to the class while they're writing a quiz. Oh, for more like him!

"Eugene Hess blushed when Vera Randall addressed him as 'Madam Chairman' in public speaking the other day.

"The Prowlers need beef: The average weight of the Thief River Falls huskies is only 155 pounds, compared to Grafton at 168.

"Reward: Lost: One frilly white tam while riding to school with a day-light-saving-time boyfriend in an old Model T Ford with red, orange, and black colors and pink windshield. A reward is offered to anyone finding the white tam. Anyone happening to pick up the rear axle of the car will please turn it in to any Senior. On the back of the car is written: 'Seven more payments and it's mine.' Therefore, anyone getting the reward will please deliver it to the owner, so he can paint it over and paint on it, 'Six more payments and it's mine.'"

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR

ST. HILAIRE, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA DECEMBER 3, 1905

News Items

"The farmers who did the draining are the ones who are saving their crops this year.

"We have actually had several days of dry weather this week.

"A crew of men were here yesterday loading a car of lumber for a Thief River Falls company which had spilled while coming this far.

"The rain last Monday seemed entirely uncalled for and did an immense amount of damage. The farmers are all hard at work trying to save some of their crop but the season is bound to be a very discouraging one at the best.

"O. T. Romsos, the Wylie merchant, was here yesterday. Mr. Romsos was returning from Sarles, North Dakota, where he and his brother are building a store. He seems well pleased with his new location and thinks that the future of Wylie is considerable of a problem."

Wylie Gets Service

"CROOKSTON TIMES (Saturday): Congressman Halvor Steenerson of this city, attorney for Wylie and the people of that vicinity in the recent contest again the Great Northern Railway for service over the branch line from St. Hilaire to Wylie, this morning received the decision of the railroad and warehouse commission on the matter.

"The commission decides that the people of Wylie and vicinity are entitled to the service asked for from St. Hilaire to that place daily except Sunday in the form of a mixed train.

"The abandonment of the line is a matter over which the commission has no jurisdiction, the same having been conferred by the statutes on the district court of the state. The commission did not express any opinion upon the right of the defendant to abandon the line."

Court House Improvements

"RED LAKE COURIER: The county commissioners were in town yesterday for the purpose of arranging for a number of needed improvements to the court house. The contract for a vault for the use of the auditor, treasurer and probate judge was let to James Brady for $342. The price is for the vault complete, except for the iron door and lock, which will cost about $65 additional. The roof over the auditor's office will be re-shingled and the roof over the balance of the structure will be repaired. New double chimneys will be built on the court house and the jail repainted."

Turning Back The Times...

FROM THE PAGES OF THE TIMES

50 YEARS AGO • SEPTEMBER 21, 1955

City Employes To Go On A Forty-Hour Week

"The city council at its regular September session Tuesday evening took favorable action on a request submitted by heads of the various city departments that their employes be placed on a 40-hour week, with the exception of the fire department's full-time members, who will be on a 48-hour week, and the city clerk's office, where the work week will be 35 hours.

"In other business, appearing in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, Ivan Bundy and J. M. Roche outlined a plan for elaborate street decorations in the business district for the coming holiday season. They stated that the decorations, while costing more than $15,000, will be usable year after year. They added that it is proposed to decorate 39 light standards this year, with the hope that the number can be increased in future years. The council authorized the expenditure of up to $1,500 with the understanding that any additional cost would be born by the chamber."

Notice Anything Different In The Times This Week?

"Notice anything different about the Great Family Journal this week? If you do not have a cold and your sniffer is functioning normally, you may detect a slightly different aroma back in the food section where the publishers this week are experimenting with a few ounces of Cashmere Bouquet soap in the ink. The editorial department is now asking for comment as to whether the odor is better or worse."

Gift Shop To Open At Hospital October 3

"At a meeting of the hospital gift shop committee held at the home of Mrs. M. D. Starekow on September 15, it was announced by the co-chairmen, Mrs. Starekow and Mrs. George Van Rooy, that the gift shop and snack bar again will be opened for business on Monday, September 3."

Saved Children

"PLUMMER PIONEER: Miss Maggie Short had an unpleasant adventure a few days ago near her home in Equality township. There is a ferry across the Clearwater river there, a line being stretched over by which passengers in a boat are pulled across the stream. Miss Short was taking some children over and one of the little ones being in danger, she let go of the line, to catch the child. The boat was immediately swept downstream. The water was both deep and swift but Miss Short unhesitatingly jumped overboard shoulder deep in the water and pulled the boat and its load of children safely to shore. Her presence of mind and prompt action in all probability averted a serious accident, as the little ones might readily have capsized the boat and been drowned."

Killed a Big Bear

"Charles M. Bowman had a thrilling experience with a bear while visiting on Sturgeon river last week, said the BIG LAKE COMPASS. Having seen indications of Bruin's recent visit, he went in the evening and, no sooner had he climbed a tree to begin his vigil, than Mrs. Bear silently and deliberately walked forth from near the foot of the tree in which her enemy was hiding and began climbing it. Bowman thought it was time for him to do something for his family's good, so in his desperation, he fired a charge into her left shoulder and kicked her down the tree. She had no sooner touched the ground than she rose to her feet and in tones and gestures, too loud and rapid to be misunderstood, asserted her woman's rights against inhuman treatment, whereupon Bowman fired another charge and quieted her forever. She was five and a half feet long and weighted 200 pounds."

Wylie is Fighting
Will Give the Great Northern a Game Battle
Citizens and Farmers Have Raised a Fund of $3,000

"Wheat Buyer Swanson, who for a number of years has been the agent for the Red Lake Falls Milling company at Wylie, was in the city last week. Mr. Swanson says that the business men and farmers of the town of Wylie have raised a fund of $3,000 to fight the Great Northern railroad, which is endeavoring to abandon its station at Wylie and that while the people there have right and justice upon their side, the railroad company has given them to understand that they will endeavor to carry out their plans regardless of what the citizens there do. It is quite likely that a number of damage suits will be instituted against the company and no doubt they will be successful in securing damages. Congressman Halvor Steenerson will fight the battle for the people of Wylie and the Great Northern is represented by its ablest attorneys.

"One of the elevators, Mr. Swanson states, will remain there and handle the crop of that section this fall, but as to the future it is hard to state. Mr. Swanson is now located at Warren, having charge of the Red Lake Falls Milling company's elevator at that point."

Get "In The Mood" to support music and art in our community

It was an experience I'm sure people are still talking about today. The Saturday evening performance by The Noteables, the jazz ensemble of the United States Air Force Heartland of America Band, provided the audience in Thief River Falls with a memorable evening of entertainment.

The young elementary-school age child in the front row couldn't stop bouncing to the music. A quick glimpse around the nearly full auditorium showed that she wasn't alone. There were a lot of heads bobbing in appreciation, and lots of tapping feet and fingers. Had there been room to dance, I'm sure more than a few listeners would have jumped at the opportunity to cut the rug, especially when the band struck up "In the Mood." Many others might have jumped at the chance to dust off old instruments and join the band.

There are many people in the community to thank for this free concert, least of all me. No one solicited the band. The band actually contacted the publisher of The Times, John Mattson, and asked if The Times would be interested in sponsoring the performance. John made the arrangements. Lincoln High School (LHS) staff was kind enough to allow The Noteables to use the auditorium, and Mike Barry of Pennington Main/Square, Thief River Falls, provided a meal for the performers. In addition, several staff at The Times, the Activities Department at LHS and other individuals serving the community through their support of music and art, should be thanked for encouraging attendance at the event.

On many, many occasions we have been reminded of the outstanding musical and artistic abilities to be found in this community. As many have told me, we are indeed lucky to live in a community that so obviously supports music and art.

Support of music and art in this community could always be better, but the current level of support in the community must say something about what its citizens believe is important.

Why is art and music so important?

Sandra F. Rief, M.A. Ready, Start, School!, 2001, argues that children learn best when they experience through all their senses - hearing, seeing, touching, feeling, moving, and smelling. Music, she said, helps children differentiate between pitches, and learn rhymes and rhythm. Another intellectual argues that it is intellectually stimulating. It helps, he said, develop self expression and social skills.

We also know that art fosters growth in many developmental skills. Visual - perceptual skills - are developed through arts and crafts. Art helps us discriminate between, and respond to, the likenesses and differences in shapes, size, color and position in space.

Regardless of whether we have the intellectual degree that proves we know why art and music are important, at some level we must know that music and art definitely have roles to play in our mental and physical development. We must also conclude that art and music should be an integral part of our educational system. But Saturday night, the music reached beyond our intellect, and spoke to our emotions. It made people want to pick up an instrument and play. It made them tap their toes. It made them want to get up and dance.

And so, music motivates. With this motivation as a backdrop, I challenge the art and music lovers among us to continue their support of music and art. I challenge you to continue to encourage children to participate in music and art. And, I challenge you to continue your financial support of art and music. Music, instruments, art supplies and exposure to art and music don't come without a price tag.

We have many to thank in our community for the art and music we enjoyed Saturday night - those of us who advertise the date probably least of all. There is one group we have ignored, however, and that group deserves more thanks that all the others - The Noteables.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Thief River Falls schools have earned an "A"

To the Editor:

As children across Minnesota head back to school, I have wonderful news to report regarding the performance of our schools! Minnesota schools showed excellent achievement and improvement on both the annual No Child Left Behind adequate yearly progress (AYP) testing measures and the Minnesota Comprehensive Assessment reading and math tests. Minnesota students and teachers are rising to the challenge as these standards raise the bar of quality public education.

Minnesota's test scores are up across the state from last spring. And, far fewer schools are failing their performance goals under the federal No Child Left Behind law. I'm thrilled that more Minnesota schools made AYP in 2005: 1,617, up from 1,393 in 2004. This is nearly a 50 percent improvement. And, more Minnesota schools achieved five-star rankings in both reading and math. Test score trends continue to show persistent, gradual, and positive change that suggests Minnesota's public education system continues to improve.

In Thief River Falls, I am extremely proud of your students, teachers, administrators, and parents. Your hard work and dedication is direct proof of your community's schools and our state's improvements. No Child Left Behind is indeed an important step forward in making sure every child in America has access to a quality education. And, there's no question about it, it's an ongoing work in progress. I recognize that it can be improved with implementation and a better understanding of the Act.

I am glad that President George W. Bush and Congress have committed to achieving high standards and accountability for our schools to produce real results for every child in Minnesota. I am also pleased that the president and Congress have provided record levels of funding for education. Since 1996, congressional funding for education has increased by 137 percent, which is nearly three times as fast as defense spending. Federal educational funding in Minnesota has increased by 32 percent or $105 million since the president took office.

I tip my hat to your students, teachers, parents and community for raising the bar, accountability, and standards of public education in Minnesota. Every Minnesotan shares the same goal of wanting to make sure our children meet their maximum potential. We must continue to work together to continue our record of success and achievement.

Sincerely,
Norm Coleman
United States Senate

Great party but lyrics were over the top

To the Editor:

First of all, I would like to thank the Chamber of Commerce and the City of Thief River Falls for having the Great American Block Party. This is a good event where the community gets together and has a great evening.

However, I felt the lyrics the band The Roosters used in their square dance were highly inappropriate for a community dance. Regardless of how late in the evening the street dance is held, I feel those people in attendance would have enjoyed the dance without those lyrics.

I, as well as other members of our Knights of Columbus council, recommended that the organizations involved in public events set up proper rules of conduct for bands and performers. Those who don't adhere to the rules won't be allowed to participate in future events. This will guarantee that we will have many more successful public events for years to come.

Sincerely,
Carl Bruzek
Grand Knight, Our Lady of Lourdes Council 4619
Knights of Columbus

Thank you for supporting the flower baskets

To the Editor:

As I was out over the weekend, I couldn't help but notice how beautiful our (Thief River Falls) hanging flower baskets are. They are so full and still blooming. It looks like they know fall is coming and are trying to outdo each other.

I want to thank those who purchased the baskets and the TLC (Tender Loving Care) the volunteers have given them to keep them so beautiful.

Mildred Fossell
Thief River Falls

Thanks for supporting the jazz concert

To the Editor:

Thank you very much for sponsoring the Air Force Band concert (The Noteables) on Saturday night. What a wonderful program of musical talent and information about what the Air Force does. It was extremely moving to see all the veterans stand when their song was played. We hope you will sponsor them again.

Thanks again.
Sincerely,
Art Heinze

Minnesota awarded renewable energy funds

Minnesota has been awarded $3.98 million in grants from the United State Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Rural Development Renewable Energy and Energy Efficiency Program. The funding is earmarked for a number of wind energy projects in the state and is expected to be disbursed during the 2006 fiscal year. With this funding, Minnesota has now received a total of almost $14 million dollars under the program since the beginning of 2003, more than any other state in the nation.

"I am excited that this important funding is coming to Minnesota," said Sen. Norm Coleman. "As a national leader in renewable sources of energy, these grants will help Minnesota continue to lead the way towards cleaner, homegrown sources of energy. In light of high energy costs, it is crucial that we continue the movement towards renewable energy sources, many of which can be found right here in Minnesota. I am thankful that USDA continues to recognize both the past successes and future potential of renewable energy in Minnesota by awarding us these grants."

Specifically, the funding is slated for the following projects:

- $3,935,000 for Community Wind North, a 15 turbine community wind farm located in Lincoln County. Each turbine will be owned by a separate LLC made up of 10 community members with each LLC owning their own turbine. The grants for each turbine ranged between $250,000 and $273,000, representing between 10.2 and 11.5 percent of the respective projects' costs.
- $17,356 for Colby Wind Farm LLC to assist in the construction of a wind turbine in Winona County. The turbine will provide power to the Colbenson farm with the balance being sold to Alliant Energy.
- $17,137 for Walth Wind LLC to assist in the construction of a wind turbine in Kandiyohi County. The turbine will provide power to the Kandiyohi Power Cooperative under Minnesota's net metering laws.
- $17,138 to farmer Curtis Ballard to assist in the construction of a wind turbine in Becker County. The turbine will provide power to Wild Rice Electric under Minnesota's net metering laws.

These grants are part of almost $21 million in USDA Rural Development grant assistance being awarded to 150 recipients - including farmers, cooperatives and rural small businesses – under the Renewable Energy and Energy Efficiency Program in 2006. As a whole, recipients in 32 states will receive funding under the program during the year.

USDA Rural Development's mission is to deliver programs in a way that will support economic opportunity and quality of life for rural residents across the country. As a whole, USDA Rural Development has invested over $54 billion towards rural economic development since the beginning of the Bush administration, with over $2.4 billion going to Minnesota.

Are Minn. children ready for kindergarten

by Todd Otis
President for Ready4K

Nearly a million students in Minnesota began a new school year this month. Of those, about 60,000 entered public school for the first time as kindergartners. Sadly, many are not fully ready. Half of these children are not proficient in two crucial areas: language and literacy and mathematical thinking.

In a state that prides itself on being a leader in innovative education, this is unacceptable. Inadequate early care and education not only frustrates the academic success of our children in grade school, it also contributes to larger patterns of inequality, crime and economic dependence. It's time for everyone to take action so that every child in Minnesota has the opportunity to succeed in learning and in life.

The severity of our children's need is made apparent in a recent study conducted by the Minnesota Department of Education. The study assessed school readiness across the state in a three-year series of studies beginning in 2002. Results from the 2002 and 2003 studies were based on a random sampling of the population entering kindergarten using teacher assessments, which included a parent's survey in the second year. The emphasis in the 2004 study shifted strategically, assessing each child entering kindergarten in 20 selected school districts.

In all three years of assessment, more than half of the children entering kindergarten were found to be lacking basic skills necessary to succeed in school. For example in the 2004 study of selected districts, only 47 percent were deemed proficient in the category of language and literacy skills. The 2003 study, which used a sample of the whole population, had a 43 percent proficiency in the same area. The 2004 study also found that merely 46 percent of children in the assessed districts are proficient in mathematical thinking skills when they enter kindergarten. This is a 6 percent increase above the random sample taken in the 2003 study.

Minnesotans can and must do better. The start of a school year is an exciting time, but for too many young children it is the beginning of feeling left behind in critical skills and knowledge. Ignoring the danger signs of gaps in school readiness is foolish, for once children start behind it becomes harder and harder for them to catch up. Research shows that children with quality early learning experiences are 40 percent less likely to need special education or to be held back a grade. On the other hand, a child who enters school reading below grade level has only a one in eight chance of catching up. Our excellent teachers can do great things, but we need to support them by assuring our children are ready for school when they arrive.

The benefits of quality early care and education not only includes better performance in K-12, but also makes for better citizens with a higher likelihood of being employed in well-paying jobs, less dependence on public assistance and a smaller probability of committing crimes. This translates into vast economic savings. A recent study cited by the Federal Reserve Bank in Minneapolis indicate that every $1 invested in early education creates a return of between $7 to $17. Quality early education programs work to create stronger, more productive individuals and the benefits will reverberate throughout Minnesota.

The results of the Minnesota School Readiness studies reveal the serious need within our communities for more quality early education programs. It is time to work for lasting changes and to provide for all our children. We must continue working to ensure that every young child in the state will enter kindergarten encouraged, supported and fully prepared for learning success. A stronger commitment to early education programs will not only increase school readiness for our kindergartners, but will also empower our children to create a better future for themselves and for our community as a whole.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
PENNINGTON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS
JULY 26, 2005, 5:00 P.M.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Pennington County Board Room in Thief River Falls, MN, Tuesday, July 26, 2005, at 5:00 p.m. Members present: Bob Carlson, Arden "Bud" Comstock, Donald Jensen, and Oliver "Skip" Swanson. Members absent: Charles Naplin.

Ken Yutrzenka, Human Services Director, presented the consent agenda and recommendations from the July 19, 2005 Human Services Committee Meeting. On a motion by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Carlson, the following recommendations of the Pennington County Human Service Committee for July 19, 2005 (detailed minutes on record at Pennington County Human Services) are hereby adopted. Motion unanimously carried.

SECTION A

I. Approval of the minutes from the June 21, 2005 Human Service Committee meeting.

II. A. Amend the IRTS (Intensive Residential Treatment Service) Service Contract between Northwest Medical Center and Pennington County Human Services raising the daily rate to $199.63 (non-inclusive of room and board and rate) with an effective date of April 1, 2005 and subject to Department of Human Service approval.

B. Renew the Cooperative Agreement between the Minnesota Department of Human Services through its Agent, Marshall County Human Services acting as the District Administrative Agency, and Pennington County Human Services for provision of Fraud Prevention Investigation program services.

C. Expend up to $550.00 of the Agency funds for an all-staff In-Service training.

SECTION B

I. Approve the Agency's Social Service Case Activity as presented.

II. Approve the payment of the Agency's bills as listed.

Commissioner Comstock then questioned Mr. Yutrzenka on the issue of flex time with Human Services employees. Ken stated that currently flex time is based on seniority. Commissioner Comstock then said he is not in favor of flex time as it currently exists.

County Engineer Mike Flaagan then met with the Board and discussed the Joint Facility policies. He questioned as to whether or not he needs to get the Board's approval on policies. It was decided that as long as the policies are made known to those that use the Joint Facility the Board should not have to give their approval.

Mike then requested that County employee Joe Garry be advanced from Step 3 to Step 4 in compensation. Mike feels he should get the step because of his job performance. Motioned by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Swanson, to increase Joe Garry's compensation from Step 3 to Step 4. Motion unanimously carried.

Engineer Flaagan then stated that he contacted Marvin Groven in regards to his request to drain part of his land into J.D. #30. Marvin did correct his petition to say J.D. #30 and not J.D. #18, but still has not specified how many acres he would like to drain. Mike said that he will contact Mr. Groven again in regards to this matter.

Mike then said that work is in progress on the cleaning of County Ditch #35, and it should be done sometime this week.

Mike then stated that all landowners affected have now signed the petition for the cleaning of C.D. #31. However, landowner Glen Osbjornson stated that he believes the ditch should be cleaned all the way to the river. The Board decided that this issue must be taken up at a Joint Ditch meeting.

Engineer Flaagan then discussed a permit to clean rightaways, and in regards to this presented a 1964 resolution that states the County owns 17 feet beyond the easements for construction purposes. The resolution was given to County Attorney Dave Olin for review.

Mike then told the Board that work is in progress on C.S.A.H. #27 and they are putting in the pipes. Crack sealing of roads is also still in progress, with work currently taking place on C.S.A.H. #3. Three or four more days of work will be needed to complete this section of highway.

Mike then stated that he has received a quote for $9,900 from Widseth, Smith, and Nolting (WSN) to survey for acquisition of right-of-way on C.S.A.H. #6. Motioned by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Swanson, to approve the quote of $9,900 from WSN for surveying and right-of-way descriptions for 8 miles of C.S.A.H. #6. Motion unanimously carried.

Mike then discussed the Emergency 911 address signs that are in place for rural residents of the County. He asked the Board if there should be a policy where the initial sign is provided by the County but any future replacement/maintenance of the sign would be the responsibility of the landowner. After some discussion on the matter, there was a motion by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Jensen, to establish a policy where the County will provide free to the landowner the initial Emergency 911 address sign, and any cost for future replacement/maintenance of the sign will be the responsibility of the landowner. Motion was unanimously carried.

Howard Person, along with Andrea Hedemann from the Soil and Water Conservation District (S.W.C.D.), then met with the Board. Mr. Person stated that the Pollution Control Agency (P.C.A.) was called out to Russ Holten's residence in response to an oil spill. The PCA believed that Mr. Holten was draining waste water from his trucks into a wetland, and said that he needed a permit to do so, which he didn't have. It was later determined that the land in which the water was being drained wasn't in fact a wetland, and that Russ' system for handling waste water was more than acceptable in regards to safety. Howard explained how Russ' system is set up and that he can draw it for the Board to view if needed. Andrea then stated that she viewed Mr. Holten's system for waste water as well and was also impressed with the steps he has taken to make it environmentally safe. Motioned by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Swanson, to approve Russ Holten's system for handling waste water. Motion unanimously carried.

Howard then stated that he met with the Farm Service Agency in regards to the crops in Pennington County. He has determined that half of the first hay cutting was lost due to weather, and that the second cutting was good quality but short in quantity. He told the Board that he would like to request a Secretarial Disaster Declaration for Pennington County. Motioned by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Carlson, to authorize the following resolution requesting an Agricultural Disaster Declaration for crops in Pennington County. Motion was unanimously carried.

Resolution

WHEREAS, Pennington County experienced frequent and heavy rains starting May 8th, 2005 and continuing into July which delayed planting of most row crops into June, has destroyed the quality and quantity of first cutting hay, delayed weed control efforts causing yield losses and has caused extensive water damage and drown out to crops in the county; and

WHEREAS, Pennington County depends heavily on agriculture for the economic well being of county farmers, the agribusinesses that serve those farms and Pennington County as a whole,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, the Pennington County Board of Commissioners hereby requests an agricultural disaster be declared or Pennington County, based upon the data and recommendations provided by the Farm Service Agency and Pennington County Disaster Committee.

Mr. Person then told the Board that he has received a request from the Mayor of Goodridge. The City is interested in recycling and would like to receive some recycling containers to get started with their program. They would like one recycling roll-off container and one container for cardboard, at a cost of $5,500 and $1,600, respectively. The City of Goodridge will pay for the hauling of material to Thief River Falls. Motioned by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Jensen, to authorize the City of Goodridge two recycling containers, one for roll-off and one for cardboard, at a cost of $5,500 and $1,600, respectively. Motion unanimously carried.

Howard then said they have been getting many complaints on thistle weeds, and the problems are being taken care of.

In regards to the solid waste facility landscaping that Howard proposed at a past Board meeting, they have decided that they can do the work themselves versus hiring a landscaping company.

Finstad Construction should be starting soon on the roof of the solid waste office space. The estimated time to complete the roofing project is 10 days.

Howard then commented on the results of the 2005 Pennington County Fair and said that overall it appears to have been very successful. Attendance was up from the past year, likely due to the nice weather and attractions presented. There were some complaints on the quality of the midway, however, and this has proved to be a yearly struggle for the County Fair Board.

Heidi Hoks, Regional Library Director, then met with the Board and presented the 2006 Thief River Falls Library Budget Report. Heidi went through her report in detail and explained the changes to the members of the Board. She stated that salaries changed to a greater extent due to the minimum wage being increased significantly, and also due to yearly step increases for employees. After some discussion, the Board took her budget report under advisement.

Motioned by Commissioner Carlson, seconded by Commissioner Jensen, to approve the minutes of June 28 and July 12, 2005 as presented. Motion unanimously carried.

Motioned by Commissioner Carlson, seconded by Commissioner Swanson, to approve the following Commissioner warrants as presented. Motion unanimously carried.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
PENNINGTON COUNTY SMALL CITIES DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM HEARING
AUGUST 23, 2005, 4:30 P.M.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Pennington County Board Room in Thief River Falls, MN, Tuesday, August 23, 2005, at 4:30 p.m. Members present: Bob Carlson, Donald Jensen (4:50 p.m.), Oliver "Skip" Swanson, and Charles Naplin. Members absent: Arden "Bud" Comstock. No public constituents were present.

Chairman Naplin called the meeting to order on the Small Cities Development Program Grant Application. Joan Abercrombie from the Northwest Minnesota Multi-County Housing and Redevelopment Authority then presented a 2003 Cities Development survey and reviewed the preapplications received, as well as budget estimates. The targeted area for rehabilitation includes Sanders, Numedal, Polk Centre, and Bray townships. The total estimated cost to rehabilitate approximately 20 units is $596,000 with the total grant request being $465,200. The grant application will be submitted to the Minnesota Department of Employment & Economic Development on or before November 1st, 2005, and grant awards are expected to be announced in March, 2006.

Hearing no comments or further questions, the hearing was adjourned at 4:53 p.m.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
PENNINGTON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS
AUGUST 23, 2005, 5:00 P.M.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Pennington County Board Room in Thief River Falls, MN, Tuesday, August 23, 2005, at 5:00 p.m. Members present: Bob Carlson, Donald Jensen, Oliver "Skip" Swanson, and Charles Naplin. Members absent: Arden "Bud" Comstock.

Motioned by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to approve the following resolution for the Minnesota Small Cities Development Application. Motion unanimously carried.

Resolution

BE IT RESOLVED that Pennington County act as the legal sponsor for project(s) contained in the Business and Community Development Application to be submitted on November 1, 2005 and that the Chairman and County Auditor are hereby authorized to apply to the Department of Trade and Economic Development for funding of this project on behalf of Pennington County.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that Pennington County has the legal authority to apply for financial assistance, and the institutional, managerial, and financial capability to ensure adequate construction, operation, maintenance and replacement of the proposed project for its design life.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that Pennington County has not violated any Federal, State, or local laws pertaining to fraud, bribery, graft, kickback, collusion, conflict of interest or other unlawful or corrupt practice.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that upon approval of its application by the state, the Chairman may enter into an agreement with the State of Minnesota for the above-referenced project(s), and that Pennington County certifies that it will comply with all applicable laws and regulations as stated in all contract agreements and described in the Compliances Section of the Business and Community Development Application.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the Chairman and the County Auditor are hereby authorized to execute such agreements, and amendments thereto, as are necessary to implement the project(s) on behalf of the applicant.

Ken Yutrzenka, Human Services Director, then presented the consent agenda and recommendations from the August 16th, 2005 Human Services Committee meeting. On a motion by Commissioner Swanson and seconded by Commissioner Jensen, the following recommendations of the Pennington County Human Service Committee for August 16, 2005 (detailed minutes on record at Pennington County Human Services) are hereby adopted. Motion unanimously carried.

Section A

I. Approval of the minutes from the July 19, 2005 Human Service Committee meeting.

II. Approval of the Agency's Personnel action as presented.

III.A. Approval of the MSHO Care Coordination Contract between U-Care and Pennington County Human Services.

B. Approval of the purchase of an IBM Multi-Form Printer per price quote.

C. Approval of the Agency's recommendations for the 2005 Region 1 MSSA Distinguished Service Awards.

Section B

I. Approval of the Agency's Social Service Case Activity as presented.

II. Approval of the Social Service Special Case situation as listed.

III. Approval for payment of the Agency's bills as listed.

County Auditor Ken Olson then informed the Board that the Pennington County Veterans Service Office was notified that it is eligible to receive a $2800 Operational Improvement Grant from the Department of Veterans Affairs. Motioned by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Carlson, to approve the County Veterans Service Officer Operational Improvement Grant in the amount of $2,800. Motion unanimously carried.

Polk County sent a letter to Mr. Olson stating that Mr. Arlyn Stroble has been reappointed to the Middle-Snake-Tamarac Rivers Watershed Board of Directors with a term to expire on August 27, 2008.

Ken then commented that the survey of the solid waste facility has been completed. The easement has been kept for a road going across the site. He is trying to contact now for an appraisal of the property.

County Engineer Mike Flaagan, along with Jerry Unruh, owner of TRF Parking Lot Striping, then met with the Board to discuss their crack sealing contract issue. The questions concerned how many pounds of crack seal were put down, and Mr. Unruh also felt that he should be paid for the total bid price. After some discussion on the issue, there was a motion by Commissioner Carlson, seconded by Commissioner Jensen, to pay TRF Parking Lot Striping for an additional 4,730 pounds of crack sealant at a cost of $3,179. Motion unanimously carried.

Engineer Flaagan then stated the Highway Committee met on the motor grader issue and recommended that the County continue with 6 districts and purchase a new grader next year. There was a motion by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Swanson, to authorize the County Engineer to get state bid amount for a new motor grader to be purchased with the 2006 budget. Motion unanimously carried.

Mike then commented on the cold storage facility and said he has received quotes for material and it will cost approximately $34,000. He will be going out for quotes on labor soon.

Plans for the north project of C.S.A.H. #27 are being changed per MNDOT recommendations and should be approved soon.

Mike then informed the Board that Roger Kriel has turned in a letter of resignation effective 12/31/05. Motion by Commissioner Carlson, seconded by Commissioner Jensen, to accept Roger Kriel's letter of resignation effective 12/31/05. Motion unanimously carried. The Board wishes to thank Mr. Kriel for his many years of service to the County.

Mike then stated that the auction at Hydra-Mac is coming up on August 31, and he requested a spending limit of $5,000. Motioned by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Carlson, to authorize spending up to $5,000 at the Hydra-Mac auction on August 31, 2005. Motion unanimously carried.

Auditor Olson then presented a resolution for the new lighting system being installed at the intersection of Highway No.59 and C.S.A.H. No.3. Motioned by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Swanson, to approve the following resolution between Pennington County and Red Lake Gaming Enterprises for lighting at the intersection of Trunk Highway No. 59 and C.S.A.H. No. 3. Motion unanimously carried.

Resolution

BE IT RESOLVED that the County of Pennington enter into an agreement with the Red Lake Gaming Enterprises d.b.a. Seven Clans Casino at Thief River Falls for the following purposes, to wit:

To provide maintenance and electrical energy for the new highway lighting systems on Trunk Highway No. 59 at County State Aid Highway No. 3, in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth and contained in Agreement No. 3-01, a copy of which was before the Board.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the proper County officers be and hereby are authorized to execute such agreement and any amendments, and thereby assume for and on behalf of the County all of the contractual obligations contained therein.

Engineer Flaagan then commented on the petition of Marvin Grovum, stating that he would like to drain 25 acres of his fields into J.D. #30. The Board asked Mike to talk to adjacent landowners to see if they would include their land in this petition and pay ditch benefits.

Leon Heath, Executive Director of the Northwest Regional Development Commission, then met with the Board and presented the 2006 Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy. After discussion, Mr. Heath presented a resolution for adopting the development strategies. Motioned by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Swanson, to approve the following resolution, thereby adopting the district's Comprehensive Economic Development Strategies. Motion unanimously carried.

Resolution

WHEREAS, The seven counties of Northwest Regional Development Commission have been designated as an Economic Development District by the Federal Economic Development Administration, and

WHEREAS, Pennington County has actively participated in that Economic Development District, and

WHEREAS, It is a requirement of the Economic Development Administration that the counties in the District approve the Comprehensive Economic Development Strategies (CEDS) each year in order for the Region to retain this status and the benefits which are available to a district as a result of this status, and

WHEREAS, Pennington County Commissioners have reviewed the 2006 Update of the Comprehensive Economic Development Strategies (CEDS) and agree with the development strategies set forth in that Program.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that Pennington County adopt the 2006 Comprehensive Economic Development Strategies (CEDS) as an expression of the preferred approach to economic development in the district, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That Pennington County will continue to participate in the on-going planning and development process represented by the Comprehensive Economic Development Strategies (CEDS).

Bryan Malone, Barb Molskness, and Ray Olson of the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District then met with the Board and presented their budget request for 2006. Barb Molskness went through their budget in detail, with their total request from the County being $85,802. After some discussion, the Board took their budget report under advisement.

Auditor Olson then presented a letter received from Lutheran Social Services requesting monetary support for the Senior Meals program. However, no action was taken by the Board as no detail or specific amount of money was asked for in the letter.

Ken then said Lee Meier of the NW MN Multi-County Housing and Redevelopment Authority (NWHRA) would like to remind the Board about the HRA levy he presented to them. After some discussion on the issue, there was a motion by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Jensen, to approve a $40,000 levy for the NWHRA. Motion unanimously carried.

Motioned by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Carlson, to approve the following Commissioner warrants as presented. Motion unanimously carried.

Newfolden, Minnesota
August 16, 2005 – 7:30 p.m.

The Board of Education of Independent School District No. 441 met in regular session on August 16, 2005, in the Marshall County Central Media Center, Newfolden, Minnesota.

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by Chairperson Mark Carlson, who presided. Others present: Wendy Blazejowski, Judy Duray, Robert Hostekind, Myles Hogberg, Mark Knutson, Marlene Rokke (arrived at 7:35) Supt. Ronald Paggen. Others present: Bryan Thygeson, James Hodny, Mona Olson, 2nd Grade Parents

In Open Forum several 2nd grade parents discussed with the Board the topic of creating a second section of grade 2. They wanted the 2nd grade to be split because of what they considered a class too large for single section in second grade.

A motion was made by Wendy Blazejowski and seconded by Mark Knutson to accept the agenda with the addition of 2nd Grade Classroom discussion. UC.

Minutes of the previous meeting had been mailed to members for review. Judy Duray made a motion to approve the minutes of July 19, 2005, and Myles Hogberg seconded the motion. UC.

A motion was made by Myles Hogberg and seconded by Robert Hostekind to approve payment of August bills. UC.

The Treasurer's report was presented by Wendy Blazejowski.

Principal Jim Hodny reported on the following:
1) Summer School has been completed
2) Kindergarten Orientation is August 24th

Principal Bryan Thygeson reported on the following:
1) Seventh Grade Orientation – August 24, 2005 at 6:30 p.m.
2) Average Yearly Progress (AYP) A handout was given to board members which contains the AYP calculations history for MCC schools
3) Fall Parent/Athlete Meeting August 25th at 7:00 p.m.
4) Fall Athletic Participation

Supt. Ron Paggen reported on the following:
1) Meeting at the Courthouse in Warren on electronic voting
2) Preliminary Results of Audit Report
3) Preliminary Enrollment Figures
4) Experience Works Program (Senior Citizens)
5) Sept. 20th Fall Meeting at Badger for MSBA
6) MREA Meeting at TRF on August 22nd
7) Playground Installation Planned for August 20th
8) News Article for the New River Record

Bryan Thygeson, Jim Hodny, and Melissa Foslien presented the Staff Development Report for 2004-2005 and Staff Development Plans for 2005-2006 for the board's review and approval.

A motion was made by Wendy Blazejowski and seconded by Judy Duray to approve the Staff Development Report for 2004-2005 and the plan for the 2005-2006 school year. UC.

A motion was made by Myles Hogberg and seconded by Mark Knutson to approve a Staff Development request for a Best Practice Grant for Viking Elementary School Staff Development planning and evaluation. UC.

A motion was made by Marlene Rokke and seconded by Wendy Blazejowski to approve the bus routes for the 2005-2006 school year. UC.

A motion was made by Judy Duray and seconded by Myles Hogberg to accept the bread bid from Sara Lee and to accept the milk bid from Dean's Land O' Lakes for the 2005-2006 school, year provided that Dean's Land O' Lakes can deliver milk according to district needs, and otherwise to Food Service of America/Cass Clay. No other bread bids were received. Bids received are on file with Board minutes. UC.

A motion was made by Wendy Blazejowski and seconded by Marlene Rokke to accept the resignation of Donna Bosh as Special Education teacher in the high school and Gary Barrett as 1/2 Route Bus Driver but continuing as a substitute driver for the District. UC.

NOTICE OF HEARING
PLANNING COMMISSION
TOWN OF NORTH

Notice is hereby given that the Planning Commission of North Township, Pennington County, State of Minnesota, will hold a public hearing on Monday, September 26, 2005 at 7:00 pm at the North Township Hall, 17750 142nd Avenue NE, Thief River Falls, MN relating to the proposal by Northwest Grain. A tract of land in Section 21, Township 154 North, Range 43 West of the fifth principal meridian described as follows:

Commencing at the northwest corner of said Section 21; thence South 0 degrees 47 minutes 09 seconds East, assumed bearing, along the west line of said Section 21, a distance of 1974.16 feet; thence deflecting 90 degrees to the left and along a line bearing North 89 degrees 12 minutes 51 seconds West 1107.75 feet to the easterly 50.00 foot right of way of the Burlington Northern Railroad, the same being the point of beginning: thence North 84 degrees 11 minutes 52 seconds East 950.00 feet; thence South 5 degrees 48 minutes 08 seconds East 567.00 feet; thence North 84 degrees 11 minutes 52 seconds East 559.89 feet to the westerly 75.00 foot right of way of Minnesota State Highway No. 32; thence South 24 degrees 09 minutes 58 seconds East, along said westerly 75.00 foot right of way, a distance of 69.54 feet; thence South 84 degrees 11 minutes 52 seconds West 581.80 feet; thence South 5 degrees 48 minutes 08 seconds east 567.00 feet; thence South 84 degrees 11 minutes 52 seconds West 950.00 feet to the said easterly 50.00 foot right of way; thence North 5 degrees 48 minutes 08 seconds West, along the said easterly 50.00 foot right of way, 1200 feet to the point of beginning.

Said tract contains 27.04 acres, more or less, and is subject to easements, restrictions, or reservation of record, if any.

The petitioner, after acquiring the title to the above described tract of land, requests to rezone this tract of land from urban/residential to industrial, then proposes to construct a mega fertilizer plant and moving their office and seed and chemical warehouse facilities from its current location in Thief River Falls to this property.

All persons wishing to comment on the request will have the option to be heard at this time. Persons who wish to submit written comments prior to the hearing or who have questions should address them to the Chairman Dave Strong, North Township Planning Commission, 2013 Nelson Drive, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 or telephone 218-681-5749.

Challenger preschool programs to host series of training sessions

The Challenger Preschool Programs are excited to bring the Building Language Together (BLT) program to Thief River Falls community.

Challenger preschool staff and childcare providers are invited to a free BLT training session on Thursday, Sept. 22, from 7 to 9 p.m. at Challenger preschool room D-106. Call 681-8670 to register. BLT training for Challenger preschool and kindergarten staff will be held on Friday, Sept. 23, from 8 to 11 a.m. Both training sessions will be held in the preschool classrooms.

Gail Jordan, associate professor of literacy and educational psychology from Bethel College in St. Paul and one of the developers of the Building Language Together Program, will present the training. Jordan, a literacy expert, will share ways to help children prepare for school with everyday activities from the BLT program.

Challenger Preschool programs are in the process of implementing the BLT program. The program is based on and incorporates methods from the Home-School Study of Language and Literacy Development. The study was carried out over 13 years by the Harvard Graduate School of Education and is a research project that focuses on how children develop skills that are necessary for reading.

Within the BLT program, there will be two components added to the Challenger preschool curriculum. They include home-school partnership special events - four events that will be held during the school year, outside of the normal school day, where parents come to school with their children and become directly involved in their child's learning. At these events, there will be time for parent education where the parent will gain a deeper understanding of how their child's brain gets ready for reading and writing and time for parents to try activities with their child that support this brain development.

The second major component that will be added to the Challenger preschool curriculum is the introduction of take home kits. These kits contain books, educational materials and instructions for followup activities at home. Challenger Preschool Programs' goal is to secure enough funds to purchase the BLT take home kits for the child care providers that attend BLT training. Details will be presented at the Sept. 22 training session.

IMPORTANT NOTICE FOR QWEST CUSTOMERS IN MINNESOTA.

Qwest Corporation (Qwest) has petitioned the Minnesota Public Utilities Commission (Commission) for approval of a new Alternative Regulation Plan. Qwest states that the Plan would provide customers with quality service at affordable rates and, at the same time, retain pricing flexibility consistent with the current competitive markets. The Plan has not yet been reviewed through the Public Utilities Commission's process, and the Public Utilities Commission is further seeking comment on the Plan from interested parties in order to determine that the Plan meets applicable legal standards and is otherwise in the public interest.

A copy of Qwest's Plan may be viewed electronically at www.qwest.com/mnafor.

The Commission will hold a series of public hearings to provide more details of the plan and to seek input from members of the public and interested people regarding this proposal. Questions about this process may be directed to Commission staff member Lillian Brion at 651-201-2213, or lillian.brion@state.mn.us. The public meetings are scheduled as follows:

Special Meeting

City names finalists for REA manager job

Tammy Abrahamson of Lakeland, and Gary Martinson of Roseau are the two finalists for the arena manager position

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

The Thief River Falls City Council met in special session Monday evening to discuss the second round of interviews of finalists for an arenas marketing and events manager.

The finalists for the position at Ralph Engelstad Arena (REA) and Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center (HOMCC) are Tammy Abrahamson and Gary Martinson. Abrahamson is currently employed by the city of Shakopee Parks and Recreation Department, according to Thief River Falls City Administrator Jodie Torkelson. Martinson is employed by Polaris Industries in Roseau. Torkelson noted eight people were interviewed for the job.

The finalists were to be interviewed again at the arenas following Tuesday's regularly scheduled council meeting. They were to take a tour of REA and HOMCC as well.

About the second round of interviews, Torkelson said, "[Finalists] can talk a little bit more on what they've done." She noted the council members would also hopefully have a better view of the candidates' personalities.

Citing data privacy laws, Torkelson noted that there were several gray areas in terms of releasing information about the finalists. Their names and current places of employment could be released. However, she noted that the city could not release where the finalists live or who their references were. Through independent sources, The Times determined Abrahamson lives in Lakeland and Martinson lives in Roseau.

During the meeting, council member Harriet Worker noted Abrahamson seemed to have more experience with groups that use arenas and Martinson seemed to have more experience with dry-floor events or events that do not require ice.

Mayor Dale Wennberg, who is the interim REA general manager, was also an applicant for the job. No other applicants' names were mentioned.

Given his current position and that he was an applicant, Wennberg was not in attendance at Monday's special council meeting. Vice Mayor Dave Carlson chaired the meeting in Wennberg's absence.

Since April, Parks and Recreation Committee members, who include several City Council members, have been discussing what the position would entail. Their discussions were precipitated by the resignation of REA General Manager Tom Goddard. Since Goddard's resignation, Wennberg has been serving as interim REA general manager.

In July, the committee recommended and the council approved changing the position's title to arenas marketing and events manager. The employee will report to the Parks and Recreation Committee and be responsible for marketing REA and HOMCC. The person will also coordinate events and hire temporary employees for those events. Those temporary employees include security personnel, ticket personnel,

Red Lake County Central receives $300,000 school reform grant

Red Lake County Central Elementary School in Plummer has received a $100,000 per year, three-year Comprehensive School Reform (CSR) grant through the Minnesota Department of Education.

"We're ecstatic to be recipients of the CSR grant," said K-6 Principal Randy Pederson. "Over the course of the next three school years, our staff will embark on a rigorous overhaul of the scope and sequence of our curriculum and align it to state standards and test specifications. New assessments and rubrics will be developed in accordance with the development of new instructional units. Backmapping will be employed to ensure quality control of curriculum between grade levels."

Pederson continued, "In years two and three, a meaningful professional development piece will develop, allowing our teachers to go to new heights in their instructional delivery. New school governance will develop with teacher-led task forces in areas of curriculum and instruction, standards and

Memories

TRF resident paints his memories of Fourtown Store

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Milo Ballingrud remembers playing at the old Fourtown Store with his brother while their parents partied. Now, he is helping others remember the old store with a painting he has made.

The Thief River Falls resident recently completed a watercolor painting of the old store where he spent time as a youngster. He knows others have similar memories of the old store, so he recently had the painting printed onto t-shirts. The t-shirts are being sold at Kezar Music, where Ballingrud works.

"My paintings aren't award winners at this point, but I'm going to keep doing it and aspire to such things," Ballingrud said.

At the end of May, Ballingrud moved back to Thief River Falls after a hiatus of 30 years or more. He began painting after being "pestered" by his former Minneapolis neighbor, a retired art teacher. His former neighbor painted weekly with a group of people who called themselves the Linden Hills Painting Group. Ballingrud painted with them in the winter.

Ever since that time in 1999 or 2000, the former court reporter has painted. "I've always had an interest in art and maybe a slight aptitude in art in high school," said Ballingrud whose only art training was from Lincoln High School (LHS).

The 1970 LHS graduate has created about 25 paintings since he again took up the hobby. He likes the process of going from a sketch to actually finishing a painting. Yet, he admits it's hard for him to start his paintings.

Ballingrud, who calls himself an amateur painter, said it usually takes him two weeks to create a painting if he has a fair amount of free time. However, that amount of time does not include sketching the subject.

Getting Fit Together

Time to get up and get active

Robert Sweetgall motivates crowd during TRF appearance

by David Hill
Editor

Close your eyes and think of the one thing you love the most. What would it be worth to keep that?

Monday, Sept. 19, Robert Sweetgall, who founded Creative Walking Inc. in 1985, visited with teachers and area residents at Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls about what it will take to keep what they love the most.

Sweetgall's own journey began pretty much in the same manner. He used to be a out-of-shape chemical engineer, but when he started losing family members to heart disease he felt a pull to get fit. At the age of 33, he decided it was time in his life for a transition. That transition took him on a 10,000-plus mile hike around the nation. Since then, he has walked across the nation seven times, one of which involved walking in all 50 states in one year. During these "journeys," Sweetgall takes every opportunity to spread his message on health - get active!

Monday, Sweetgall didn't walk to Thief River Falls. His visit, which was sponsored by Northwest Service Cooperative, involved a frustratingly long trip by air. Beset by numerous delays, the trip left him admittedly frustrated, but as Sweetgall tells his audience: life is full of challenges. And, very few of those challenges provide the kind of excuse to not get up and get active.

He demonstrated that very point by providing some of this audience members pedometers, then turned on some music and encouraged them to use their imagination in getting some exercise. Some ran, some walked, some danced. The point of the exercise, which when the steps were counted by the pedometer, demonstrated to participants that activity doesn't have to be structured.

The name of the game now, said Sweetgall, is active living, so mowing the lawn counts, building rock walls counts, delivering packages and shopping counts. It counts, he said, so long as it's a physical activity.

At one time in his life, Sweetgall was a long-distance runner. In fact, the passion for running took him down a path that led to ultra marathon events (30 miles and up). Sweetgall now walks, declaring that marathoning was excessive and counterproductive. But what's the best form of exercise? Sweetgall said "the best physical activity is the one you like the best," but he cautioned participants to ask

TRF man has charges pending for assault, not registering address as predatory offender

Second degree assault, giving false information to a police officer and failure to register an address as a predatory offender: On Sept. 24 at 2:05 a.m., police received a report of a fight in the Northland Village parking lot. While officers were en route to Northland Village, a second caller reported that one of the individuals allegedly had a knife. Jerry Duane Dow aka Christopher Volney Johnstone, 29, Thief River Falls, allegedly got into an argument with another individual in the parking lot. Dow then allegedly went into an apartment, got a serrated kitchen knife and came back outside. Once outside, Dow allegedly swung the kitchen knife at the other individual and threatened to kill the person. The other person was not injured. Once police arrived at the scene, Dow and a woman allegedly attempted to flee into a controlled-access apartment building. After a brief foot chase, Dow and the woman were apprehended. Dow has charges pending for second degree assault, giving false information to a peace officer and failure to register an address as a predatory offender.

Felony theft: On Sept. 15, police received a report of a theft at Northland Village. Approximately 42 CDs, valued at a total of $650, were stolen. Kelly Ann Smeby, 20, Thief River Falls, has been charged with felony theft. The CDs were recovered.

Burglary: On Sept. 18 at 8:50 a.m., police received a report of a burglary in the 500 block of LaBree Ave. N. A 27-inch Toshiba TV set, an Apex DVD player, a Nokia cell phone, keys for a vehicle, food and Minnesota Twins baseball hats were stolen. The theft loss is estimated at $1,000. The incident remains under investigation.

Counterfeit money: On Sept. 17, police received a report of counterfeit money at Falls Liquor. It was the second time the store had received a counterfeit $20 bill. The incident remains under investigation.

Underage consumption and open bottle: On Sept. 16 at 12:09 a.m., police received a report that underage individuals were allegedly drinking and driving. The vehicle was located near the intersection of First Street and Main Avenue. A 17-year-old Thief River Falls female has charges pending for underage consumption and open bottle.

Fourth degree driving while intoxicated: While on patrol Sept. 16 at 10:21 p.m., a deputy sheriff allegedly observed a vehicle without its headlights in operation along the First Street bridge. Jeffrey Allen Bruski, 42, Oklee, was cited for fourth degree driving while intoxicated.

Theft: On Sept. 19 at 12:09 a.m., police received a report of a theft at Kum & Go. Steve Timothy Lindsey, 22, Thief River Falls, allegedly drove away without paying for $26.07 in gasoline. Lindsey was cited for theft.

Theft: On Sept. 19 at 6:50 a.m., police received a report of a theft in the 500 block of LaBree Ave. N. Someone stole a city of Thief River Falls orange and white barricade. The barricade is two-feet wide and three to four feet tall. It has an amber light at the top of it. The theft loss is estimated at $150. The incident remains under investigation.

Issuance of worthless checks: The following people have been cited for the issuance of worthless checks. Their names, ages, cities of residence and amounts of the checks were as follows: Daniel Scott Suronen, 21, Thief River Falls, $20; Dian Lilith Wilde, 62, Thief River Falls, $20; Brett James Thyng, 20, Roseau, $60; Bruce Duane Jones, 38, Thief River Falls, $60; Dawn Marie Mitchell, 39, Thief River Falls, $80; Denise Marie Belgarde, 46, Thief River Falls, $106.79; Kyle John Cole, 22, Warroad, $16; Constance Gloria Englund, 61, Thief River Falls, $200; Lisa Jayne Parsons, 33, Middle River, $159.07.

Trespassing: On Sept. 21 at 3:02 p.m., police received a report of trespassing at Falls Liquor. David Cordoza, 49, no permanent address, was allegedly asked to leave the store three times, but refused to do so. After a police officer arrived, Cordoza left. Fifteen minutes later, police were called to remove Cordoza from the Rusty Nail. According to the report, an owner of the Rusty Nail had allegedly asked Cordoza to leave three times, but he refused to do so. Upon arriving at the scene, a police officer asked Cordoza to leave three times. Cordoza was cited for trespassing.

Disorderly conduct: On Sept. 21 at 7:16 p.m., police received a report of disorderly conduct in the 300 block of Arnold Ave. S. A 13-year-old Thief River Falls male and a 14-year-old Goodridge male allegedly started a pile of leaves on fire. No damage was reported. The juveniles have charges pending for disorderly conduct.

Third degree driving while intoxicated, no insurance, no Minnesota driver's license and open container: On Sept. 23 at 2:45 a.m., the sheriff's department received a report of a vehicle parked in a driveway in the 18000 block of 140th Ave. N.E. The caller indicated it appeared two people were arguing inside the vehicle. Glenn Kenneth Magner, 25, Thief River Falls, has charges pending for third degree driving while intoxicated, no insurance, no Minnesota driver's license and open container.

Underage drinking and driving, driving after revocation and open bottle: While on patrol Sept. 23 at 9:46 p.m., a deputy sheriff allegedly observed a vehicle with a malfunctioning brakelight in the 17000 block of 130th Ave. N.E. Ryan Orvis Houle, 19, Thief River Falls, was cited for underage drinking and driving and driving after revocation. Robyn Renae Almendarez, 23, Thief River Falls, was cited for open bottle.

Hit and run accident: On Sept. 24 at 10:10 a.m., police received a report of a hit-and-run accident in the 100 block of Fifth St. E. A 1994 Pontiac Grand Am owned by Deseri Dillon of Middle River sustained approximately $2,000 in damage after an unknown driver collided with it. The incident remains under investigation.

Theft: On Sept. 24 at 5:11 p.m., police received a report of a theft in the 100 block of Markley Ave. S. A camouflaged frame PSE Nova compound bow with eight black carbon arrows and six broadheads was stolen. The theft loss is estimated at $500. The incident remains under investigation.

Property damage: On Sept. 24 between 8:30 p.m. and 3 a.m., it is believed that property damage occurred in the 700 block of Knight Ave. N. Someone damaged a turn-signal lever and poured beer on a seat of a 1996 Jeep Cherokee. A damage amount was unavailable. The incident remains under investigation.

Level 3 sex offender moves elsewhere within TRF

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Thief River Falls' only Level 3 sex offender has moved elsewhere within the city.

Thomas Bolter

Thomas Hurl Bolter, 22, moved Sunday from a Duluth Avenue home to the 200 block of Tindolph Ave. S., according to Police Chief Kim Murphy. He was incarcerated for having sexual intercourse with a 15-year-old female in February 2002.

Bolter has blue eyes, sandy brown hair, a slender build and a fair complexion. He is 5 feet 9 inches. Bolter is 167 pounds. Craig Hemmingsen is Bolter's supervision agent. Hemmingsen's phone number is (218) 755-4591.

Thief River Falls will not hold a community notification meeting pertaining to Bolter's move because a notification meeting was held in December 2003 regarding Bolter. He is the first and only Level 3 sex offender in Thief River Falls.

Bolter was released from prison Sept. 16 after he violated the conditions of his release. He did not commit another crime, Murphy noted.

This was the third time Bolter has been released from prison. In March 2004, he was also sent back to prison for 210 days for violating the conditions of his release.

Level 3 sex offenders are those at the highest risk of committing a similar offense. They are on Intensive Supervised Release (ISR) for the first year of their release. During the first four months, offenders are on electronic home monitoring. Throughout the first year of release, ISR agents make unannounced visits with the offender whenever the agents so choose. They also look for violations of the offender's release. Curfews are in place as well, and offenders have to provide ISR agents with their schedules. As a result, ISR agents can OK the schedules and later check whether the offender is at a particular location.

According to the Minnesota Department of Corrections, Bolter had a juvenile gross misdemeanor sex offense adjudication. That offense was reported after the then-14-year-old Bolter had sexual intercourse with a 12-year-old female. At that time, Bolter completed sex offender treatment.

Pennington County court documents indicate Bolter was sentenced to 28 months in prison after having sex with a 15-year-old female acquaintance in February 2002. That sentence for third degree criminal sexual conduct was stayed.

Four months later, Bolter was charged with fifth degree controlled substance crime. While he was being held in the Pennington County Jail, he sold marijuana. As a result, the stay of that earlier sentence was revoked.

Bolter was also sentenced to 15 months in prison for the drug charge. That sentence was served concurrently with the criminal sexual conduct sentence.

Like other convicted felons, Bolter served two-thirds of his sentence behind bars. Even though he had been sent back to prison, Bolter will still be on supervised release until Dec. 7, 2008.

Eagles to host meth awareness meeting

The Thief River Falls Eagles Auxiliary and Aerie will host a methamphetamine awareness meeting Monday, Oct. 17 at the Eagles Club. A meal will be served at 6 p.m. followed by the meeting at 6:30 p.m.

Speakers will include Blaize Zimmerman, deputy sheriff with the Pennington County Sheriff's Department; Teresa Mattison, juvenile officer/investigator with the Thief River Falls Police Department; and a Pennington County Human Services employee.

Freewill donations will be accepted for the meal, which will include barbecues and potato chips. Donations will go to the Drug Abuse Resistance Education program.

Sportsmen's Club sponsors youth firearm safety

The Pennington County Sportsmen's Club (PCSC) will sponsor a youth firearm safety class Oct. 4-6 and Oct. 11-12 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. A firing range day will be Thursday, Oct. 13 from 5 to 9 p.m. All classes will be held in the Lincoln High School cafeteria with the exception of firing range day, which will be held at the PCSC's facilities north of Thief River Falls on Dewey Avenue.

This second fall course will be on a reservation basis via mail only and requires a minimum of 10 students. Students must be able to attend all class sessions to be able to receive a hunting safety certificate this year. There will be no exceptions. The cost of the course is $10. Reservation requests and checks made out to Sportsmen's Club or PCSC can be sent to Pennington County Sportsmen's Club, P.O. Box 232, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, Attn: Fall II YFS Class.

Registration requests should include the student's name, parent or guardian's name and home phone number. The registration deadline is Monday, Oct. 3 at 12 a.m.

This is an unprecedented fourth class of youth firearm safety for the year 2005 to coincide with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources' 50th anniversary of its firearm safety program, and to help accommodate the area youth wishing to hunt this fall.

More motorcycle riders = More instructors needed

Along with the recent surge in motorcycles' popularity comes a need for motorcycle safety instructors. Safety training provides the knowledge and skills riders need to survive on the street. Last year, 50 riders died in crashes on Minnesota roadways. To date in 2005, 36 riders have died. Training may have saved these motorcyclists' lives.

The Minnesota Motorcycle Safety Center (MMSC) is recruiting motorcyclists to teach beginner and advanced safety courses. Instructor candidates complete an intensive, eight-day training program and are certified by the Motorcycle Safety Foundation.

The MMSC has been training motorcyclists in skills necessary for safe riding for 20 years. The MMSC trained about 400 riders in 1985. Last year, the MMSC trained more than 9,000 beginning and experienced riders.

While these figures are encouraging, they pose a problem: Finding and training enough qualified instructors to handle the workload. Motorcycle safety instructors in Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks and Bemidji are in particularly short supply.

According to Bill Shaffer, MMSC project coordinator, most instructors teach motorcycle safety because it's fun. "Most of our instructors have full-time jobs and plenty of other responsibilities," said Shaffer. "Teaching gives them an opportunity to give something back to motorcycling."

For more information or to request an application, contact Julie Fenning at 681-0796 or visit www.motorcyclesafety.state.mn.us.

More than 2,000 impaired drivers arrested during crackdown

Nearly 300 Minnesota law enforcement agencies teamed up to arrest 2,094 impaired drivers during the first statewide impaired driving enforcement campaign since the state's 0.08 alcohol-concentration level became effective.

The Safe and Sober enforcement effort ran from Aug. 19 to Sept. 5 and was coordinated by the Minnesota Department of Public Safety Office of Traffic Safety (OTS). The campaign was part of a national impaired driving crackdown.

The average alcohol-concentration level of impaired drivers arrested during the campaign was 0.148. In 2004, the average alcohol-concentration level of impaired drivers was 0.16. On Aug. 1, the legal alcohol-concentration limit went to 0.08 from 0.10.

"We are making headway in our fight against impaired driving," said Kathy Swanson, OTS director. "Despite our progress, too many people fail to exercise their safe alternatives — we're still losing lives to impaired driving."

In 2004, 177 people were killed and 500 were seriously injured in alcohol-related crashes in Minnesota. This is the lowest number of impaired driving deaths since 1984, when the state began tracking alcohol-related crashes. The economic impact of last year's alcohol-related traffic deaths and serious injuries was nearly $226 million. More than 34,000 impaired drivers were arrested last year — one-third of those arrested were 24 years old or younger.

From 2000 to 2004, 3,072 people were killed on Minnesota roads. Alcohol-related crashes accounted for 1,127 of the deaths, costing the state nearly $1.2 billion.

OTS attributes the 2004 decrease to collaborative enforcement techniques and increased public education about the enforcement efforts.

Three local residents sentenced for felony offenses

Three local residents were recently sentenced in Pennington County District Court for separate felony offenses.

Amanda Dee Johnson, 24, Thief River Falls, pled guilty to a felony offense of second degree controlled substance crime. She was sentenced to 58 months in jail with all but 120 days stayed for 25 years. Johnson can petition the court for electronic home monitoring after 90 days. Johnson was placed on supervised probation for 25 years. She was ordered to undergo an alcohol assessment and pay $298 in fees and fines. On March 16, police received a report of a possible domestic dispute. Once police arrived, Johnson told police the domestic dispute was a false report. A police officer observed what appeared to be a marijuana pipe with marijuana residue in the apartment. A probation officer who rode with the police officer to the scene spoke with Johnson separately from the police officer. Upon conferring with the probation officer, Johnson gave the police officer two methamphetamine pipes and a baggie with 7.1 grams of meth.

Meloni Von Delage, 33, Oklee, pled guilty to a felony offense of fifth degree controlled substance crime. Delage was sentenced to 12 months and one day in jail with all but 120 days stayed for 20 years. She was placed on supervised probation for 20 years. Delage was ordered to complete treatment. She was also ordered to pay $743.32 in restitution and $182 in fees and fines. On July 13, Delage went to a man's residence at Skylite Apartments and said she was looking for a housecleaning job. Delage then asked to use the bathroom. Later, the man noticed he was missing 28 pills of Oxycodine, a schedule II controlled substance.

Darcy Lynn Miller, 38, Thief River Falls, pled guilty to a felony offense of third degree assault. Miller was sentenced to 12 months in jail with all but 45 days stayed for two years. He was ordered to serve supervised probation for two years. Miller was ordered to pay $363 in restitution. The state reserved the right to request restitution for 30 days. On July 17, Miller got into a verbal argument with another man at the Rusty Nail. After the man exited the bar, Miller caught up with him and hit him in the face, fracturing the man's nose.

Numerous traffic offenses and other misdemeanors are included in the latest edition of the Pennington County Citation Disposition Bulletin.

The Times' Wedding and Engagement Announcement Policy

When submitting an announcement, please be advised of our policy regarding weddings and engagements:

- Engagement announcements should be submitted at least 30 days prior to the wedding date.

Wedding write-ups will be published as follows:

- If the wedding took place within six weeks from date of receipt at The Times office, a detailed write-up will be published from information provided, along with a picture, if submitted.
- If the wedding took place from six to 12 weeks before submission to The Times, we will run a brief social announcement or a picture with a short caption stating names of the bride and groom, names and addresses of parents, date and place of wedding and where the couple is residing.
- If the wedding took place from three to six months before submission to The Time we will run a brief story or short caption under a picture announcing when the wedding took place.
- There will be no publication of weddings after six months have elapsed.

Every effort will be made to publish the wedding write-up within two issues of receipt. Forms are available at The Times office to help in organizing information regarding weddings and engagements.

Thank You

Northwest Grain customers share in CHS stock retirement

Longtime customers of Northwest Grain are sharing in $53,522, representing the redemption of equity they have earned in CHS Inc., one of the country's leading energy, grain-based foods and supply companies.

In September, the CHS Board of Directors approved the redemption of $5.7 million in equity held by producers over age 72 who had requested retirement of the ownership they had earned during their years of doing business with the cooperative. Funds were distributed earlier this month to nearly 2,000 individuals in 26 states.

"CHS and Northwest Grain are pleased to be able to return to 22 producers their investment in our cooperative system, earned over many years of patronage and support," said Tim Miller, manager of Northwest Grain. "Providing our members with a return on their investment is among our primary goals as a cooperative. We are committed to maintaining the financial strength that makes such payments possible."

CHS members earn equity as a result of the business they do with the company, including the purchases of products and services and the sale of grain. CHS Board policy allows for the redemption of all outstanding stock held by members over the age of 72 who have made such a request.

Local public radio stations receive grants

KNTN-FM, and KQMN-FM both public radio stations serving Thief River Falls, have each been awarded $85,000 grants from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

Sen. Norm Coleman announced on Tuesday, Sept. 20, that the two stations along with 20 other public radio stations in Greater Minnesota had been awarded a combined total of $1.85 million in grants from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting (CPB). The CPB funding, which will be spread among the stations across the state, will be used to purchase equipment needed to transition these stations to digital radio technology.

"I am pleased to see these public radio stations in Minnesota receive this important funding," said Coleman. "Throughout the state, public radio provides a valuable service to countless residents and it is especially important in Greater Minnesota, where citizens depend greatly on local radio for their media coverage. I am pleased that these stations will be able to upgrade to digital technology, which is the future of radio, and I applaud the CPB for recognizing the importance of these grants in Minnesota."

The grants are part of CPB awards announced Tuesday, Sept. 20, that total nearly $8.8 million and help an additional 119 local public radio stations in the United States, including 78 serving rural and minority audiences, purchase the equipment needed to transition to digital radio. To date, CPB has distributed grants to 405 public radio stations and 285 public television stations to begin their digital technology transition.

The CPB is a private nonprofit organization created by Congress in 1967. CPB invests in more than 1,000 local radio and television stations and currently is the largest single source of funding for public television and radio programming.

Elks Club offers scholarship applications

Applications for Elks National Foundation Most Valuable Student Scholarships are now being accepted.

Scholarship applications are available at the Thief River Falls Elks Lodge, select area high school counselor offices, and online at www.elks.org/enf/scholars. Applications must be submitted no later than midnight, Jan. 13, 2006, to the Thief River Falls Elks Lodge. National winners will be announced by May 16, 2006. Minnesota State Elks Association and local awards are possible as well.

Five hundred four-year scholarships will be apportioned equally between the highest rated boy and girls in the 2006 national competition. Applicants are judged on financial need, leadership, and scholarship. It is open to high school seniors who are U.S. citizens. Applicants need not be related to a member of the Elks. Totalling $2.22 million, the 500 national, four-year awards are as follows: two $60,000 scholarships ($15,000 per year); two $40,000 scholarships ($10,000 per year); two $20,000 scholarships ($5,000 per year); and 494 $4,000 scholarships ($1,000 per year).

Elks National Foundation Legacy Awards offer 500 one-year $1,000 scholarships to children and grandchildren of an Elks member in good standing. Applicants must be high school seniors planning to attend college. Judging is based on knowledge, charity, community service and integrity; competing against other Minnesota seniors. Applications are online at www.elks.org/enf/scholars, or at the Thief River Falls Elks Lodge. Applications must be postmarked no later than Jan. 13, 2006.

Elks National Foundation Emergency Educational Fund Grants are available to children of deceased or totally disabled Elks. Applicants must show financial need, be unmarried, and under the age of 23 on Dec. 31, 2005, while attending a U.S. college as a full-time, undergraduate student. Grants range from $1,000 to $4,000 annually and can be renewed for three more years. Applications are available through ENF Scholarship Dept. at scholarship@elks.org, or 773-755-4732. The filing deadline is Dec. 31, 2005.

Instant piano for hopelessly busy people

by Craig Coffman

Your former piano teacher might not approve, but thousands have learned the secret of how to play piano without reading music. If you've ever wondered how it's done, mark Oct. 15, 2 to 5 p.m. on your calendar. That's when Thief River Falls Community Education brings Jim Anderson in to teach the nationally renowned "How To Play Piano in Three Hours" workshop.

Jim Anderson

Anderson's approach reveals how the pros play. He has extensive experience as a professional pianist and music director, and will share piano players' tricks of the trade.

For over 17 years, this workshop has brought seldom taught and highly sought after information to more than 100,000 nationwide. Over 12,000 have attended in Minnesota alone.

"While the classical approach stresses discipline and precision in playing, this approach stresses enjoyment and getting great sounds early on," Anderson said. "While precision is vital for classical music, this 'pain free' method is more suitable for pop music of all kinds, from Broadway to Rhythm and Blues."

Anderson's class materials are accessible, practical and allow a person with little or no experience to start on the road to, and eventually achieve professional playing skills. While knowing how to read the treble clef is a good foundation, many students take the workshop with no prior piano experience.

Students will learn how to use chords instead of traditional note-by-note music reading. They'll learn to use sheet music in an entirely new way that is extremely simple, and they'll discover many of the magical shortcuts that the pros use to enhance their playing. Anderson promises that after this workshop each student will know how to play any pop tune with both hands using this system.

Anyone interested in taking the workshop is welcome to send for a free pamphlet titled "How To Read Music Notation In Just 30 Minutes." Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Innovative Keyboard Instruction, 1019 N. Plymouth Court, Gilbert, AZ 85234.

For further information, the cost of the class and to register please call Thief River Falls Community Education at 218-681-8711.

Women of Today Week celebrated Sept. 18-24

Members of the Thief River Falls Women of Today celebrated Minnesota Women of Today Week, Sept. 18-24. The members actually celebrated a week later with a membership night Monday, Sept. 26.

During Minnesota Women of Today Week, chapters across the state celebrated their accomplishments, hosted membership drives and recognized the spirit of volunteerism in their members. Along with the more than 2,000 members nationwide, the Thief River Falls chapter is an organization dedicated to personal development, leadership training and community service. Members are committed to their creed of "making the world a better place because we lived and served within it." Chartered in 1985, the Minnesota Women of Today have celebrated 20 years of successful educational and fundraising partnerships with other groups such as the March of Dimes, Girl Scouts and more.

The Thief River Falls chapter has been serving its community for 47 years. Some of its projects include a child identification/baby-sitting clinic, the Halloween Carnival, the Creative Craft Festival, spring bingo and a pie/cookie contest.

The Thief River Falls chapter meets the first Wednesday of every month at 7 p.m. in the Elks Club meeting room in Thief River Falls. For more information, contact Stacy Myhrer at 964-5093.

Motivating the people who work for you

by Rick Morgan
Farm Business Management, Moorhead

It's that time of the year when many farmers hire part-time labor whether it is for sugarbeet harvest or any fall crop harvest. Sometimes you may hire a family member, relative or neighbor and, more often than not, you may hire a complete stranger. Whoever you hire, you hope that his or her employment works well, he or she doesn't get hurt, doesn't damage your machinery and, more importantly, he or she lasts the entire harvest season. What can you do to see that all of the above happens?

Attention to detail is a key to success in farming operations and most other businesses. It's a matter of motivation, said Lee Gross, educator at St. Cloud with the University of Minnesota Extension Service. "Successful farm managers learn how to motivate employees and contributing family members to pay attention to critical details. It's not a matter of making people do something. They have to want to do it. That's what motivation is."

Gross offers these ideas to help motivate workers to attend to critical details:

- Regularly review your mission statement with your workers.
- Tell them how important your business is to you and your family.
- Let them know how important they are to the success of your business.
- Let them know that they are important to you as individuals.
- Tell them you need their skills and experience.
- Tell them the business can only succeed with their help.
- Tell them you want to see them grow in their job and achieve whatever they want.
- Show them that your business is a fun place to work.
- Tell them the "little things" are the most important things.

It's not easy. It takes serious effort to convey these messages to your workers on a regular basis, Gross said. It may be necessary to write reminders on your calendar, but the effort can produce abundant benefits. "People who are appreciated are motivated," he said. "People who are valued are motivated. People having fun are motivated. People who know they matter to the organization or family are motivated. Motivated people do great things."

Your farm may not have a mission statement. Why not? If you only use two or three of the above ideas to help motivate your workers, the employees may have a better chance of lasting the entire harvest season, and everyone may enjoy the work they are doing a lot more!

For more information on agricultural labor management, contact a Farm Business Management instructor near you or call 1-800-959-6282.

Christenson awarded Lind scholarship from BSU

Amy Christenson of Thief River Falls has been awarded a scholarship from Bemidji State University for the 2005-06 academic year. Christenson, a senior majoring in elementary education, received a $500 Roy and Eva T. Lind Scholarship.

BSU will present more than $1.1 million in academic, talent and leadership scholarships this year.

Funding available for MN gas stations that install E85 pumps

Minnesota service stations that would like to install E85 pumps can receive financial assistance under a plan approved by the 2005 Minnesota Legislature and announced Monday, Sept. 26, by the Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA) and the American Lung Association of Minnesota (ALAMN).

Under the contractual agreement, up to $500,000 in grant funding will be available through the MDA for reimbursing owners of qualifying service stations for up to 50 percent of the costs of installing E85 fueling equipment. MDA Commissioner Gene Hugoson said the grants would help meet the growing demand for E85 fueling locations.

> • $500,000 in funding will be available through the MDA

"More and more drivers are discovering the advantages of using more ethanol in their fuel," said Commissioner Hugoson. "These funds will help bring E85 fueling locations to more Minnesotans across the state."

Under the grant program, reimbursed costs may include the addition of a new tank and related components, up to a maximum of $15,000 per site. Priority will be given to grant applications that will be installed in areas of the state where E85 fueling locations are not readily available.

Since 1998, a public-private Minnesota E85 team has helped nearly 180 outlets install the 85 percent ethanol fuel blend. In addition to MDA and ALAMN, partners include the Minnesota Corn Growers Association, ethanol producers, Ford Motor Company, U.S. Department of Energy Clean Cities, National Ethanol Vehicle Coalition, Minnesota Office of Environmental Assistance and Department of Commerce Energy Division.

Minnesota leads the nation in E85 development. However, the renewable gasoline alternative is now available in 34 states. E85 may be used interchangeably with, or in place of, gasoline in flex fuel vehicles or FFVs. About 15,000 FFVs are registered in the state and 5 million FFVs are now on U.S. highways. ALAMN director of outdoor air programs TimGerlach said the state grant funds are arriving at just the right time.

"We applaud this investment made my Minnesota lawmakers. Today, the environmental, economic and energy security benefits of E85 could not be clearer," said Gerlach. "The grants will bring cleaner, Minnesota grown E85 to tens of thousands of Minnesota motorists."

For more information on the station grant program, contact the MDA's Ralph Groschen at 651-297-2223 or Tim Gerlach at 651-223-9577. For more on E85, visit CleanAirChoice.org and E85Fuel.com.

ACTIVITIES

Fall Songs and Finger Plays

The following songs and finger plays can be used during the upcoming fall months.

The Leaves Are Falling Down

(Tune: "The Farmer in the Dell")

The leaves are falling down
The leaves are falling down
Red, orange, yellow and brown
The leaves are falling down.

Mr. Pumpkin

(Tune: "Frere Jacques")

Mr. Pumpkin,
Mr. Pumpkin,
Round and fat.
Round and fat.
Harvesttime is coming,
Harvesttime is coming,
Yum, yum, yum,
That is that!

Raking the Leaves

I rake and rake the leaves into a great big heap. (pretend to rake)
Then into the leaves I take a great big leap. (jump and squat)
I cover myself with the leaves and hide from you.
Then I jump up and say, "Peek-a-boo!"

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need a plastic bag, orange construction paper, glue and scissors.

PARENTING TIPS

Learning Good Manners

The very best place to start teaching manners is in the home. When adults are respectful to each other and to children, they are modeling good manners and setting an example much louder than words. As important as a good model is, it is not enough. Children do not automatically pick up all the nuances of civilized behavior. Examples must be backed by explanation and instruction.

Children need to be told exactly what is expected of them. It is useless to expect them to act like miniature adults, but only by knowing the rules can they follow them. A fun way to learn rules is to play games, for example a pretend tea party. Act out a proper greeting (Hello, Mrs. Bear. How are you?") and proper table manners ("Would you like some cookies? Please pass the milk. Thank you very much.") A child can "teach" her doll how a good guest acts and in the pretending, reinforce her own good habits.

One instruction is not enough. Reminders are necessary over and over again. Friendly reminders work better than hostile ones. Ask pleasantly: "What do you say?"

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk to your child about what you expect of him or her, but remember it must be something of which the child is capable. When children do remember their manners, praise them and let them know you appreciate it.

NWMC to host Infant Bereavement Program Oct. 2

The Northwest Medical Center Infant Bereavement Program will conduct a memorial service on Sunday, October 2 at 6 p.m.

The service of remembrance is for anyone whose life has been touched by a miscarriage or stillbirth occurring at any time during a pregnancy. Family members, friends and health care providers are welcome, including those who have experienced a recent loss and those who continue to mourn the loss of a baby many years ago.

The service will be held at Babyland in Greenwood Cemetery in Thief River Falls and will include the commendation and burial of remains from miscarriages that have occurred since the last service in April 2004.

The NWMC Infant Bereavement Program recognizes family members who have lost a baby during pregnancy by acknowledging their grief and creating memories that will last a lifetime. The program assists families during and after the death of their baby by providing support, referrals and follow-up. Included are those receiving care at the hospital as well as those served at both local clinics.

Families are offered packets of information, memory boxes for their mementos, and a stuffed lamb, which is the theme of the program.

For more information about the service, contact Marcia Kjono, RN, Obstetrics Unit, at 683-4226 or Erling Johnson, funeral director, Johnson Funeral Home at 681-4331.

There's something to be said for hiring the best and letting them do their job

An anonymous sage once observed that "the world cries out for kindness and competence."

One lesson of the disasters of the past month might be that competence is kindness.

For example, if the Department of Transportation officials in charge of evacuating nursing home residents in the path of Hurricane Rita had been competent, they wouldn't have required wheelchair-bound invalids to struggle through a metal detector before getting on the bus.

In one case, the metal detector procedure delayed the bus so it couldn't leave before the storm hit. Fortunately, Rita wasn't as awful as Katrina - so everybody on the bus survived.

The bureaucrats were just following procedure, of course. But you wonder what kind of literal-minded idiot couldn't cut through the crap to get to the bottom line: Lives were at risk due to rising water, not geriatric terrorists.

The media attack dogs are howling for change in the wake of the bumbling government response to Hurricane Katrina. Fire the incompetents, they holler. FEMA director Michael Brown's head was the first to roll. Other hapless heads will soon bounce down the hill behind his.

But we have a problem that goes beyond putting college roommates in crucial government posts. We have developed a corrupted view of government that is now corrupting the government.

Without realizing it, we have shot ourselves in the foot by so hating government that we no longer seem to care if government attracts and keeps the best and the brightest people to perform the tasks we demand of it.

It is easy to hate government bureaucrats. Talk radio survives by riling up the masses against government. Elected officials get elected only if they run against the very government bureaucrats they will eventually oversee.

Is it any surprise that competent people don't want to be government bureaucrats? Who would want to take the abuse? Perhaps only a bumbling idiot who needed the money and got the job because he had the right drinking buddies, that's who.

To ease the burden of the inevitable government red tape, civil servants should enter their profession with at least a few lofty ideals about serving their country. They should be both competent and kind. But what self-respecting person has such high ideals that they are willing to serve a people who heap abuse on their head for entertainment and profit?

After we constantly trample on the whole notion of public service and deride public servants as incompetent boobs, it is odd that we expect government to rescue us right now when the big one hits.

To reverse this trend, politicians should consistently emphasize that government service is an honorable and important career. It is cheating to run against government bureaucrats as a way to attain the power to give your buddies high-paying jobs as government bureaucrats.

You'd think we might have learned this by now, but it must be made clear again: the goal of government service is to serve the people, not to collect a paycheck in return for support in the last election.

In public service, competence and kindness come first, loyalty to your boss second. Always.

In Minnesota, we once elected a governor who didn't have any political cronies to dole out jobs to. When he filled his cabinet, he had to take applications and – gasp – choose the most talented person for the job.

Gov. Jesse Ventura eventually annoyed almost everybody. It was a relief when he went away and quit embarrassing himself on the public dime.

But what few people remember is that, with exception of legislators who he openly and unwisely hated, Ventura held up the notion of public service in the bureaucracy as an honorable profession during his term. His appointees were virtually scandal-free. The judges he appointed have been well-regarded.

Feather boas or not, there's something to be said for putting the best people in place and letting them do their job.

The pen: A foundation of our very being

Pointing, tapping, scratching, imagining, ridding frustrations - just a few of the many ways a pen can be used. Some people may think a thing as simple as a pen is trivial, but to me a pen is a great tool. Without a pen, I personally would be lost. My thoughts would flutter through my mind, but without a pen to write them down, they would simply disappear. Gone forever, only enjoyed for a mere second before they were lost.

When one thinks of the task of writing, what is it one pictures? Someone at a desk with a keyboard and a monitor in front of him or her, or a lovely pen and stacks of papers filled with the author's thoughts? When compared to pen and paper, writing on a computer is so impersonal and informal. A letter in the mail is so much more personal than an e-mail of today's age. E-mails are quick and to the point, but a letter in the mail is definitely worth the wait.

A pen can also reflect a writer's personality. There are so many different shapes, sizes and colors of pens that everyone can find one to fit their individual taste. A bubbly writer might write with a "bubble" pen; a professional, down-to-business writer might write with a sleek, no-frill, metal pen, and a child might intrigue his or her imagination with a multicolored ink pen. My pen is funky on the outside, but always blue ink. What does that say about me?

When I think of our world's history, I ask, could we truly be able to understand what occurred without the heart and soul of a writer jotting down a story or biography? How would we know of Anne Frank and her struggles? Without her pen and paper to tell her story, she would be just another girl, unavoidably unknown. Lewis and Clark's expedition would have been ultimately useless without their very detailed journals.

Young children sitting in class would have blank sheets of paper placed in front of them, but no family portraits or hand turkeys would be in sight. The usual sound of laughter would be replaced with sighs of boredom. School would basically be obsolete. Without writing, what is there to learn?

The very way we speak would be disrupted. Errors in speech would come and go unnoticed. Hand gestures would be our main means of communication. It would be a stone age in the 21st century.

So my advice to those who'll listen is simply this: When at night, lying drowsily in bed, counting your blessings, do not exclude the pen for it is the foundation of our very being.

Mid-Valley Grain Co-op Elevator customers share in stock retirement

Longtime customers of Mid-Valley Grain Co-op Elevator are sharing in $252,231, representing the redemption of equity they have earned in CHS Inc.

In September, the CHS Board of Directors approved the redemption of $5.7 million in equity held by producers over age 72 who had requested retirement of the ownership they had earned during their years of doing business with the cooperative. Funds were distributed earlier this month to nearly 2,000 individuals in 26 states.

"CHS and Mid-Valley Grain Co-op Elevator are pleased to be able to return to 29 producers their investment in our cooperative system, earned over many years of patronage and support," said Jim Tholund, manager of Mid-Valley Grain Co-op Elevator. "Providing our members with a return on their investment is among our primary goals as a cooperative. We are committed to maintaining the financial strength that makes such payments possible."

CHS members earn equity as a result of the business they do with the company including the purchases of products and services and the sale of grain. CHS Board policy allows for the redemption of all outstanding stock held by members over the age of 72 who make have made such a request.

CHS Inc. (www.chsinc.com) is a diversified energy, grains and foods company committed to providing the essential resources that enrich lives.

Challenger students take Pioneer Village field trip

On Sept. 8 and 9, fifth grade students at Challenger Elementary School attended a field trip at Pioneer Village. This is the fourth year in a row that the students have had an opportunity to go there as part of their social studies standards.

While they were there, the students were able to see numerous aspects of a pioneer's life. The students interviewed reenactors at eight different stations throughout the day.

Marge Hanson and the Pankratz family from Lancaster described and demonstrated life as pioneers living in log cabins. Students had the opportunity to beat rugs, wash clothes (the old fashioned way), and put together a log cabin.

In the school house, students met Lois Bergland, and she discussed with them how a typical school year would go. Winton Forsborg demonstrated telegraphy in the old depot, and Linda Olson spoke about the various artifacts in the Giving Museum.

As the day went on, students learned how to trap animals from Dave Myhrer, who works for Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge. Students also saw the elegant Hamre House with their tour guides Loreen Gibson and Gale Waale. Kenny Beauchane shared his knowledge on farming and vehicles in the Peder Engelstad Building.

Students also learned about the Native Americans and part of Thief River Falls' history from Caryl Bugge, director of Pioneer Village. The day ended with students singing patriotic and old time songs with Phyllis and Jim Dalager. The students learned a great deal about Thief River Falls and the life of pioneers, and they also saw how much life has changed in the last 100 years.

Pictured here are Challenger Elementary fifth grade students learning how the pioneers did laundry. Learning how pioneers washed clothes was one of eight stations that students attended during the field trip. (Submitted photo)

...My dog

I have a little dog. As dogs go, he's OK. He has a few bad habits, but nothing that he or I can't live with. I'm sure he thinks I have my bad habits too.

My dog's name is Murphy. He's a shih tzu. When you see him out walking, he is a cute-looking dog. He has perky little ears, a black snub nose and a puffy little tail that curls around bringing up the rear. His tail waves back and forth when he walks.

From the front, Murphy isn't nearly as cute because he looks like he needs braces on his teeth. In fact, I've heard that some owners of show shih tzus have their dogs' teeth straightened. Since Murphy isn't a show dog, his teeth are going to stay the way they are. My dentist will certainly be glad to hear that. And I don't mind how his teeth look because I am usually behind him, looking at that other part of him, when we take a walk.

The books say that shih tzus are nice little pets. The breed came to China from Tibet and used to hide up the copious sleeves of the Chinese emperors. Murphy isn't little - he's a big shih tzu and there is no way he could hide up any royal sleeve, no matter how big. Anyway, he wouldn't stay up a sleeve for even a minute - he'd be popping his head out right away to see what was going on outside.

Shih tzus are really inquisitive. Murphy follows me all over the house to watch what I am doing. Shih tzu owners would say he is devoted. Murphy isn't devoted - he is just plain snoopy. He doesn't really care what I am doing unless it involves food or going for a walk. He follows me around because he wants to make sure I am not having a treat and dropping a crumb he might be able to grab, or, better yet, hoping that I will trip over one of his strategically-placed bones and drop my treat so he can get it all. Or he wants to make sure I am not putting on my tennies to go for a walk without him. Missing out on those two things are his pet peeves.

Murphy is rather protective of me. Contrary to the opinions of most shih tzu owners, I don't think it has anything to do with whether or not I am his favorite person. I just happen to be the person who feeds him and takes him for walks, and he isn't about to have some stranger come along and jeopardize his lifestyle.

One of Murphy's bad habits is belching. Yes, he really does. I've heard of and known dogs who do other, even worse digestion-type things, but Murphy just belches, thank goodness. I do wish he would stay away from me when he feels a bubble coming up though. It seems like he is always panting into my face just when he has to belch.

Another of Murphy's habits is what I call his "bad dog" habit. Remember sitting in the corner in school? It was a time-out when students who misbehaved had to sit in the corner, facing the wall. Murphy doesn't sit in the corner and he doesn't do it when he is bad, but he does stand outside with his face toward the back door. He will stand there for long periods of time, very quietly, with his nose almost touching the door, looking as though he were being punished for something.

What he is doing is not any type of self-imposed penance. What he is doing is listening to hear if somebody is coming to the door or if, by chance, someone inside is doing any cooking in the kitchen. If he hears the pots and pans rattling or the mixer running, he will whine to be let in so that he can scarf up anything that has dropped onto the floor.

Once my whole family had a rummage sale in the backyard. Of course we tied Murphy in his usual place so he wouldn't bother the customers and lick them to death. One of my grandchildren noticed that Murphy wasn't bouncing around anymore but was standing very quietly, facing the door. "What's he doing?" she asked. Of course, I had to tell her that Murphy was listening at the door to see if anyone was cooking inside the house. He had forgotten that everyone was outside with him.

Summertime isn't Murphy's favorite time of the year because he is afraid of thunder, fireworks and firecrackers. He spends a lot of the summer cowering in the corner, under a bed or under my feet, as close to me as possible. From the time he heard the first firecracker until the last one of the season, he is a nervous wreck. I've tried to explain to him that there is nothing to be afraid of, but it doesn't work. He just looks at me with a hangdog expression, as if the whole thing was my fault and I should do something about it.

But now that the fireworks, the Fourth of July celebrations and the fair have come and gone and the kids in the neighborhood have blown up most of their firecrackers, Murphy seems to be much happier. And as soon as we get rid of the thunderstorms at night, he'll be really happy - and so will I.

Trinity Lutheran Church plans fall stewardship campaign

The Stewardship and Evangelism Committee of the church council of Trinity Lutheran Church of Thief River Falls has planned a series of meetings designed to inform the members of Trinity congregation of the plans for the fall stewardship campaign. There will be a meeting each Sunday morning for the next four weeks in the church dining room. The meetings will begin at 9:30 a.m. immediately after the first service and will last about an hour. Coffee and rolls will be available.

Meetings are scheduled as follows:

- Sunday, Oct. 2 - The Property and Management Committee will be sharing information on building updates and maintenance.
- Sunday, Oct. 9 - The Stewardship and Evangelism Committee will be talking about the budget and how donations and contributions are being spent.
- Sunday, Oct. 16 - Emphasis on giving and reviewing church finances.
- Sunday, Oct. 23 - Commitment Sunday, with a meal to follow the 10:30 a.m. service.

All members of Trinity are urged to attend these meetings and be informed about the plans and finances of the church.

Extension offers financial planning sessions for teachers

by Lori Hendrickson,
U of M Extension Service

High school teachers—and ultimately students—will be getting the latest financial planning information at workshops throughout Minnesota in October.

The University of Minnesota Extension Service will offer teacher training during October at locations throughout the state. The training is for the High School Financial Planning Program. Workshops will provide:

- Information on the High School Financial Planning Program curriculum
- Credit research and updates
- New legislation regarding consumers, credit and bankruptcy
- A CD-ROM with new teaching aids for teachers
- Collaboration with Minnesota Credit Union Network
- A light dinner
- Certificate of attendance (AAFCS professional development units are also available.)

Workshops are scheduled at 16 sites throughout the state from 5 p.m.-7:30 p.m. On October 6, a workshop will be held in Thief River Falls, at the Pennington County Courthouse, 101 Main Ave N.

Cost of the workshop is $15. To register for one of the workshop sites, visit www.extension.umn.edu/Youth&Money. For more information, contact any of these regional Extension educators: Sara Croymans, croym001@umn.edu; Jan Gilman, jgilman@umn.edu; Lori Hendrickson, lhend@umn.edu; or Becky Hagen Jokela, hagen022@umn.edu.

Gregory D. Hultgren, 45

Minneapolis - Gregory Duane Hultgren, 45, of Minneapolis and formerly of Karlstad, died on Saturday, September 17, 2005.

Funeral services were held on Friday, September 23, at the First Lutheran Church in Karlstad. Interment was held at the Karlstad Cemetery.

Gregory Duane Hultgren was born on September 19, 1959 at the Karlstad Memorial Hospital in Karlstad, to Duane and Geraldine (Wollin) Hultgren. He was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith at First Lutheran Church in Karlstad. He attended Karlstad Public School and after briefly living in Roseau, graduated with a G.E.D. diploma from Roseau Public School in 1977.

In July of 1977, Greg moved to Minneapolis. He became a sheet rock installer and worked in that profession with his partner, Tom Johnson, for about 20 years. On September 30, 1980, Greg married Terri Reimer of Brooklyn Park. They had one daughter, Krista Marie, born January 7, 1982. After a number of years Greg started working for a window manufacturer in South Minneapolis, where he lived with his companion, Lynn Nelson for over 12 years. He was step-father to her son, Dennis, and one of the great joys of his life was being "Grandpa" to Dennis' little boy, Devin. Greg continued to live and work in the Minneapolis area until the time of his death.

Greg enjoyed music and was rarely without his guitar, entertaining family and friends from a very young age. He was a creative craftsman and enjoyed making and selling woodcrafts as a hobby. Greg loved fishing, often taking all the kids to the Mississippi River near his home to fish and enjoy the outdoors. Greg was also an avid hunter and enjoyed making his annual visit to Karlstad to enjoy the hunting season with his brothers each November. His love of nature and the peace he found in his music will be sorely missed by all who knew him.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q: I'm ready to retire and am trying to put together a retirement monthly budget. Are my Social Security benefits going to be taxable?

A: Your tax preparer should be able to answer this for you. The 1983 Amendments to the Social Security Act provided for taxation of benefits so some of your Social Security retirement benefit could be taxable depending on your overall income. In general terms, you would have to pay taxes on Social Security benefits if you file a federal tax return as an individual and your total adjusted gross income is more than $25,000, or you file a joint return and you and your spouse have a total adjusted gross income above $32,000.

About one-third of all people who receive Social Security benefits have to pay taxes on their benefits. If you think you have to pay Federal income taxes on your Social Security benefits, know that you can have federal taxes withheld from your benefit payments. To do that use Form W-4V available from the Internal Revenue Service by calling the IRS toll-free telephone number, 1-800-829-3676, or by visiting the SSA website at www.socialsecurity.gov/taxwithhold.html. Tax amounts can be withheld by a percentage of your monthly benefit amount such as 7 percent, 10 percent, 15 percent or 25 percent. Only these percentages can be used. Flat dollar amounts are not acceptable. After completing and signing the form, return it to your local Social Security office.

Did you know? You can request a letter to verify the amount of your Social Security benefit amount at the SSA Q Web site link www.socialsecurity.gov/onlineservices. Called a "Proof of Income" letter on the website, it is the same thing as when people ask for a verification letter or award letter. At the web site you will be asked a series of simple questions to verify your identity and to protect your personal information. You can select the information you would like on your proof of income letter. This means that you can also use it as proof of a disability, of your current Medicare health insurance coverage, of your retirement status or of your age. Your Proof of Income letter will arrive in the mail in about 10 days after you request it. You can request a letter only for yourself. If your spouse also receives benefits then he or she must request a separate letter.

Ira White, 98

Warren - Ira White, 98, of Warren and formerly of Radium, died on Saturday, September 24, 2005 at the Good Samaritan Center in Warren.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday, September 28, at the Immanuel Lutheran Church of Radium, with Rev. Tom Zeller officiating. Interment will be held at Immanuel Lutheran Cemetery, Radium. Casket bearers include Derrick, Lunski, Tim Holub, Darwin Lunski, Tom Holub, Dustin Lunski and Jeff Siewert. Honorary Bearers include all of His great-grandchildren.

Ira was born on August 21, 1907 in Minot, N.D., the son of Roy and Alvira White.

He was united in marriage to Luverna Peterson on September 7, 1932. They made their home on farms near Makoti, N.D., and Ryder, N.D. Due to the "Dust Bowl," they moved to a farm near Radium on April 1, 1938. They raised wheat, oats and flax and also had cattle and other livestock. Ira retired from farming in 1975.

After retiring, Ira and Luverna enjoyed traveling to California and Nevada to visit relatives almost every winter until recent years. In 1999, they moved to the Landmark Center in Warren.

He was a member of the Immanuel Lutheran Church of Radium and a long time member of the Comstock Town Board.

Left to mourn his passing are his wife, Luverna and three children, Gene (Frances) White of Las Vegas, Nev., Sharon (Jim) Lunski of Grand Forks, N.D., and Shirley (Harold) Holub of Tabor, fourteen grandchildren; twenty-four great-grandchildren; five great-great-grandchildren; sister, Della Feiring of Arizona and many nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents, son, Earl, daughter, Madonna, granddaughter, Deborah and three sisters; Lillian, Rean and Vida. A00003B2005SP28

Ruby L. Oftedahl, 85

Fertile - Ruby LuVerne Oftedahl, 85, of Fertile, died on Tuesday, September 20, 2005, at the Fair Meadow Nursing Home in Fertile. She was born on March 6, 1920, to Louis and Nora (Anderson) Peterson near Twin Valley.

Visitation will be held on Wednesday, September 28, from 5-7 p.m. with a prayer service at 7 p.m. in the Erikson-Vik Funeral Home, Fertile. Interment will be held at the First Evanger Lutheran Cemetery, Fertile.

Ruby was baptized and confirmed at Zion Lutheran Church, Twin Valley. She attended Four Corners Country School (the school was positioned where four townships met), near Twin Valley. Following her schooling, Ruby worked at a restaurant, café, and, during WWII, for Josten Manufacturing at Owatonna.

On November 3, 1945, Ruby was united in marriage to Leon Oftedahl at Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Flom. They made their home in Twin Valley until 1949, when they moved to Fertile. Ruby was a homemaker and her husband worked for Ottertail Power.

On January 5, 1992, Ruby's husband died. Ruby was a member of First Evanger Lutheran Church and was active in the Ladies Aid and Sunday school.

Her tremendous smile and pleasant spirit made Ruby a joy to be with. She enjoyed playing cards, cooking, especially her famous raisin bars, sewing, embroidery, reading, growing flowers, and most of all, family gatherings. Ruby wrote in her final wishes, "I love my children with all my heart, as well as my grandchildren, sons-in-law, and daughter-in-law. For what you accomplished, I am proud of all of you. With all my love, mom."

Ruby is survived by her two daughters; Karen (Arne) Teigland of Moorhead, and Noreen (Howard) Henrickson of Goodridge; one son, Thomas (Melissa) of Fertile; eight grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren; one brother, Arvid (Ethel) Peterson of Dilworth; one sister, Delphine (Hubert) Zak of Ellendale; and several nephews and nieces.

She was preceded in death by her husband, parents, one son, Donald Anderson, three brothers, Arthur, Lloyd, and Lester; and two sisters, Lorraine Halverson, and Olivia Schon.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday, September 29, 2005, at 11 a.m. at the First Evanger Lutheran Church, Fertile.

INFOCON hosts data retreat for schools

The United Northwest Minnesota INFOCON conducted a data retreat Sept. 12 and 13 in Mahnomen for all participating member schools.

Schools attending included St. Joseph School – Moorhead, St. Joseph's School – Red Lake Falls, St. Michael's School – Mahnomen, Holy Rosary School – Detroit Lakes, St. Philip's School – Bemidji, St. Bernard's School – Thief River Falls and the Cathedral School – Crookston, Sacred Heart Elementary and High School – East Grand Forks and the public schools from Red Lake Falls, Climax-Shelly and Stephen-Argyle.

The data retreat was a two-day experience dedicated to building and applying new knowledge and skills toward the creation of focused improvement goals based on evidence uncovered by the data. School teams were given specific information on processes for data analysis and interpretation. They also were provided with opportunities to apply these processes using school and/or district data.

The participating schools learned how to:

- Analyze and interpret four types of school data – student achievement, demographic, program, and perception – in order to identify patterns and trends.
- Develop clear, measurable, attainable goals for improvement based on concrete findings from their data.
- Develop specific research-based strategies, build timelines, and assign roles or tasks to team members.

The objective of the data retreat was to enable school leadership teams to build a foundation based on using research and data to drive school improvement decisions. The teams will continue to engage in the analysis and interpretation of their own data and translate the findings into specific, measurable improvement goals to enhance school improvement planning, promote student learning, and increase achievement in their respective schools with faculty, parents, boards and students.

All of the participants received a participant's guide, which provides resources used throughout the data retreat so that the resources can be continually applied within the school setting after the data retreat.

The funding for the data retreat was part of a $337,744 grant that was awarded to the INFOCON last September. Fr. Tim Bushy of St. Joseph Church and School – Red Lake Falls serves as the coordinator of the INFOCON and coordinated the data retreat, which was facilitated by Learning Points Associates of Elgin Ill.

Time to get up and get active

themselves whether that activity is practical, because it should be something they can do for the rest of their lives.

How far is enough? Two major studies looked at exercise and mortality - a study from Harvard, and the Dallas Aerobic Study. Both, he said, arrived at roughly the same conclusion: In general, life expectancy improves as individuals get more exercise. The law of diminishing returns begins to kick in around five miles per day. That is, once an individual exercises beyond a certain point, life expectancy begins to dip again. Three miles is about 6,000 steps were day. Five miles a day is about 10,000 steps per day, but Sweetgall didn't encourage participants to drop everything and immediately strive for 10,000 steps per day. Sweetgall encouraged them to do what they can, but move to improve. In other words, add a few more steps of activity every day.

Studies show that exercise reduces stress and provides many physical benefits. Sweetgall said it is also a social thing, a spiritual thing and helps the brain work better.

When it comes to exercise, many people stumble over motivation. The most frequently asked questions generally include motivation, but they also involve how to get more activity in their busy lives, how to lose weight, how to reduce stress, how to reduce pain, and how to get better nutrition.

Americans cannot afford to not be more active, said Sweetgall. The situation is more frightening than terrorists or Katrina, said Sweetgall. Obesity is rampant in this nation and the cost is being tallied in the billions of dollars, and in lives. The scene, he said, has been set for the perfect storm.

And as many in the media have noted, the problem is at its worst among children. Fast food, televisions, computers, electronic games, and even No Child Left Behind, said Sweetgall, all foster a lifestyle of inactivity. Sweetgall said if he had it his way he'd repeal No Child Left Behind, and mandate 60 minutes per day of activity.

"We've done everything we can to avoid exercise," said Sweetgall. "Everything that was a physical activity when your grandparents were children has been eliminated. We're just not moving like we used to," he said.

Close your eyes, said Sweetgall, and think of the one thing, a core value, that you love. Would that be worth walking the dog, or cutting a little saturated fat out of your diet?

Everything in life is a challenge and investing a few minutes every day in exercise may be a challenge, but it's worth it if helps you keep that one thing you love.

City names finalists for REA manager job

parking lot attendants and others.

In July, the council also approved the creation of an arenas advisory committee.

At that time, the council and REA Events Inc. also decided to let an REA management agreement expire.

With regard to Monday's meeting and the applicants, council member Ken Schmalz noted that the council should have rated Wennberg higher for the arenas position. Schmalz said Wennberg had a lot of qualities that neither finalist has. Schmalz also referred to REA being a hockey arena, alluding to Wennberg's knowledge of hockey.

In addition, Schmalz said he did not envision the arenas marketing and events manager position as a full-time position.

Referring to the position's responsibilities, Worker said, "It takes a lot of time to coordinate those things."

"The thing to remember is we did zero marketing on [REA]," said Carlson. "All that we did was hang a sign on it and said it was done."

Carlson added that there wasn't a point of reference to determine how the building should be marketed. "The whole idea is this person has to give a face, a brand to the building," he said.

In order to facilitate the marketing of the arenas, council members determined they would ask the finalists about their professional connections, whether they have hosted events other than sporting events, how they made events happen and what could make the arenas better in terms of the ability to host events.

Even though the city doesn't have a brochure to market the arenas, Parks and Recreation Director Madelyn Vigen noted the events that are being hosted at the facilities. "What we have scheduled in here, guys, is incredible," Vigen said to the council.

Besides the questions pertaining to the finalists' expertise, council members also discussed the relationship between the arenas marketing and events manager, and the parks and recreation director.

Using an example, Worker noted the marketing and events manager would be responsible for finding staff for crowd control, parking and ticket taking. That person would also have to find tables and draperies, if needed, for the events. The parks and recreation director, Worker noted, would direct employees who would place the tables and draperies in the correct locations.

"The relationship between the two of you and how it works is up to you to shape," Carlson said to Vigen.

Just who will be working with Vigen has not yet been determined. The new arenas marketing and events manager is expected to be named sometime in the near future.

Minnesota working hard to keep its TB-Free status

by William L. Hartmann, DVM, MS
Executive Director
MN Board of Animal Health

Minnesota's bovine Tuberculosis (TB) eradication plan is quite simple: find the disease and eradicate it. Until 2005, the state hadn't seen a case of bovine TB in 34 years. State and federal animal health officials are working together to make sure the disease isn't here long.

On July 12, officials declared the first beef herd infected with bovine TB. On September 20, the Board of Animal Health (BAH) announced that cattle from two operations that border the index herd tested positive for bovine TB. With these fenceline contact herds, Minnesota has detected bovine TB in three beef herds in Roseau County.

In order to eradicate the disease, infected herds must be depopulated. The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) is working to depopulate these infected herds with support and cooperation of the herd owners. State and federal officials have begun tracking animal movements into and out of these operations. The newly detected herds are smaller operations with minimal animal movement.

As a result of the bovine TB investigation, there are 21 Minnesota herds under quarantine in Beltrami, Goodhue, Polk, Marshall, and Roseau Counties. Four herds have completed the required testing and been removed from quarantine. Four operations have had animals exposed to TB removed for testing.

With the discovery of these infected herds, many cattlemen have asked about the state's TB Free Status. The USDA is currently reviewing this and will make a final determination when the entire TB investigation is complete. Until then, the state will maintain its TB Free Status.

We understand how important maintaining our TB Free Status is to Minnesota's cattle producers. That's why the Board is working as quickly as possible to conduct a thorough investigation to ensure all animals infected with bovine TB are removed and the state is TB free.

Officials are working as swiftly as possible, but TB testing and the investigation will take some time. Each herd under quarantine must undergo a number of tests prior to being released. It is important to understand the time it takes for each test to be administered, results to be collected, and the indemnity process to be completed. The following highlights some of the testing preformed and the USDA indemnity process.

- The first test is the caudal fold tuberculin (CFT) test used to screen animals and identify herds that need to undergo further testing for TB. This test is performed by a licensed veterinarian who injects a small amount of non-infectious bovine TB protein within the layers of skin underneath the base of the tail. The test is read by the same veterinarian 72 hours after the injection is administered. If any swelling is found at the injection site, the animal is classified as a CFT test responder and further testing is completed. If all animals test negative, no further testing is needed.
- After a positive CFT test, a comparative cervical tuberculin (CCT) test is completed. The test is performed by injecting two different TB proteins into the neck. A veterinarian measures the skin thickness around the injection site and determines the status of the animal 72 hours later.
- Animals at risk for bovine TB are purchased by the USDA using federal indemnity funds. An independent appraiser evaluates each animal and forwards the appraisal to the USDA for review. Once approved by the USDA, the livestock producer has two weeks to accept or appeal the indemnity amount.
- After the indemnity process is complete, the animals are euthanized. The carcasses are examined for lesions compatible with bovine TB. Tissue samples are submitted to the National Veterinary Services Laboratory in Ames, Iowa, with preliminary tests available in seven days and final culture complete in about six weeks.

For more information on bovine TB or the investigation, I encourage you to log onto the Board's Web site at www.bah.state.mn.us.

assessments, professional development, technology and parent/community involvement. These task forces will assist the building leadership team to ensure all efforts point toward positive increases in student achievement."

The school will work with Modern Red SchoolHouse. Since 1997, Modern Red SchoolHouse has worked with over 150 school districts in 34 states and is expected to begin training teachers in Plummer this month.

"Modern Red SchoolHouse was chosen from a pool of successful school improvement models based on their track record of success," said RLCC Superintendent Jim Guetter. He was the mainstay in the grant-writing process that resulted in RLCC Elementary School being one of only 21 schools in the state to receive the grant.

"I'm so proud of the staff here in Plummer," said Pederson. "In school-year 2004-05, with a little guidance and the rolling up of sleeves, the staff removed Plummer Elementary from the Minnesota Department of Education's list of 'schools in need of improvement.' Now, in school-year 2005-06, we add the dynamic K-4 teaching staff from the Oklee site and their students to form the newly created Red Lake County Central Elementary School in Plummer. We have an opportunity to make history, and this three-year relationship with Modern Red SchoolHouse will produce systemic change that will be in place long after we're gone."

Sally B. Kilgore, president and chief executive officer of Modern Red SchoolHouse Institute, said, "We're pleased that education leaders at Red Lake County Central Elementary recognize the benefits of our services, and we're looking forward to a long and productive partnership with administrators, teachers, staff, students and parents. If our results in other school districts are an indicator of our success, then we can guarantee improved academic performance here."

The Side Street Strutters will perform at the Lincoln High School Auditorium in Thief River Falls at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 1. The music performed by the band captures the charm, vitality and rich musical heritage of Old New Orleans. This is the 2005-2006 season premier performance for the Thief River Falls Entertainment Series.

Side Street Strutters to perform in TRF

The first performance of the Thief River Falls Entertainment Series on Oct. 1 will feature the Side Street Strutters, a seven-piece jazz show band that highlights the charm, vitality and rich musical heritage of Old New Orleans.

New Orleans is on the mind of many Americans, but not in the musical way many usually would. The Side Street Strutters will take the audience back on a musical journey to the roots of jazz, and later jump into the great Big Band Era as they pay tribute to the big bands of Benny Goodman, Glenn Miller, Duke Ellington, and Count Basie among others.

At 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 1, the Side Street Strutters will perform in Thief River Falls at the Lincoln High School Auditorium. This performance is among the five performances included in the 2005-2006 Thief River Falls Entertainment Series. Other performers this year include Marcoux Corner on Nov. 17; Kevin Roth on Feb. 28; The Romance of the Flute and Harp on April 10; and Zum on May 13. Season tickets are available at The Times, Kezar Music, SuperOne and Hugo's or contact Chuck Smith at 681-8000, ext. 1005. Tickets also may be ordered from the Thief River Falls Concert Association at P.O. Box 312, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

The Side Street Strutters

In 1983, a group of musicians attending Arizona State University formed a musical ensemble whose artistic focus centered around the musical traditions of early New Orleans jazz. Now, over two decades later, the same core members are still together and have expanded their musical palette to include over a half century of jazz styles from early New Orleans Dixieland and Blues to Big Band Swing and popular standards. The Strutters have presented formal concerts, symphony pops performances and student outreach programs in 50 states, seven European countries, Canada and Mexico.

Their superb musicianship and award winning orchestrations have earned them national and international acclaim: NEA awarded fellowships and grants; California Arts Council Roster Artists; First Place Honors, Breda International Jazz Competition, Holland; national radio and television appearances; International Association of Jazz Educators Outstanding Musicianship Award; appearances at dozens of European and U.S. jazz festivals, and a guest presidential performance. All this in addition to their regular performances at California's Disneyland.

In concert, the Side Street Strutters weave a delicate tapestry of lush ballads, whimsical novelty selections, and powerful, challenging arrangements which showcase the individual artistry of each performer. Together, this energetic and entertaining septet brilliantly captures the essential charm and vibrant energy of jazz — America's musical heritage.

Fourth quarter Duluth East rally stuns TRF, 29-28

A 22-point fourth quarter rally that was capped by a touchdown and two-point conversion with just 27 seconds left netted Duluth East a come-from-behind 29-28 North Country Conference high school football win over Thief River Falls Saturday afternoon at Public Schools Stadium in Duluth.

It was a stunning loss for the Prowlers, who had a 28-7 lead through three quarters. The final-quarter collapse dropped Thief River Falls to 1-3. East, ranked No. 5 in the latest Class AAAA state poll, improved to 4-0. The Prowlers are 1-1 in conference play; the Greyhounds are 3-0.

"In all my years of coaching, that was probably one of the toughest losses I've ever experienced," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "I don't know what happened. We just shut down. We didn't make the plays on defense and we couldn't pick up the yards on offense when we needed them. When you get a team down, especially at home and at homecoming, you've got to bury them. You've got to get those extra points to make sure they can't come back."

The Prowlers were in position to reach .500 and take a major step toward defense of their conference title when Chad Johnson scored on a two-yard run and added the two-point conversion for a three-touchdown lead in the third quarter.

But the Greyhounds started the fourth quarter with a nine-play, 54-yard drive that ended when Rob Perrault scored from a yard out with 9:16 remaining in the game. Mitch Minardi added the conversion kick.

On the next Duluth East drive, the Greyhounds gambled on a fourth-and-10 from their own 20-yard line. Thief River Falls made it too easy. The Prowlers handed over a first down when they were penalized for too many men on the field.

The Greyhounds converted another fourth down on the drive to set up a 16-yard Perrault touchdown pass to Sean Mayberry. Again, Minardi kicked the extra point to make it a 28-21 game with 2:57 on the clock.

An unsuccessful onside kick followed. A single first down at that point would have allowed Thief River Falls to eat up the remaining time. Instead, the Prowlers went four-and-out, giving the ball back to the Greyhounds at the Duluth East 33.

"We didn't want to stop the clock by throwing, so we stayed on the ground," explained Mumm. "We didn't get the first down. But they (Greyhounds) still had to go 70 yards to reach the end zone, and they had no time-outs left."

Despite the time and distance, the charged-up Greyhounds made it. Their hurry-up offense rattled off nine plays, including a 30-yard run by D.J. Wright on a fourth-and-five, to score on a one-yard keeper by Perrault.

The touchdown pulled the Greyhounds within 28-27. Instead of kicking the extra-point for a tie and overtime, Duluth East went for the win on a two-point conversion. A carry by Wright capped the comeback.

"For three quarters, we absolutely dominated the game," said Mumm. "They couldn't stop us, and our defense shut them down. Then they got on a roll and it kind of snowballed on us."

A 46-yard Michael Benedict run gave Thief River Falls an early 6-0 lead.

Duluth East answered with a 24-yard run by Wright and a Minardi kick for a 7-6 edge, but an 18-yard Michael Forney touchdown pass to Alex Carlson made it 12-7 at the first quarter break and a one-yard Forney run, along with a Forney-to-Carlson conversion, provided the Prowlers with a 20-7 lead at halftime.

Early in the fourth quarter, a penalty erased a Thief River Falls touchdown that would have made it a 35-7 game.

"If we score there, it's all over," said Mumm. "We were rolling and the Duluth kids were already hanging their heads."

Instead, it was the kind of break the Greyhounds needed to put life back into their huddle.

"Their athletes took over after that," offered Mumm. "We didn't put them away when we had the chance. We let them hang around, and they had more jump than we did at the end."

Thief River Falls will try to rebound Friday in a 6 p.m. North Country Conference game against Cloquet at Lowell T. Swenson Field.

"We need a win," said Mumm. "We need to get our confidence back."

Northern Freeze Northern Lights tourney winner

■ MCC/Tri-County team beats Roseau in finals

Northern Freeze beat Roseau 25-18, 23-25, 15-6 in the championship match of Saturday's 28th annual Thief River Falls Northern Lights Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

The second-year Marshall County Central/Tri-County cooperative earned a title match berth with close pool play wins over Goodridge/ Grygla-Gatzke (23-25, 25-21; 15-8), Badger/Greenbush-Middle River (25-9, 26-24) and defending champion Thief River Falls 14-25, 25-22, 15-7).

It was a slow start but a grand finish, according to Northern Freeze coach Missy Thompson.

Line-up changes played a part in the Northern Freeze tournament success, mention Thompson, who said the the team's net play was solidified with the addition of Sasha Magner and Lacey Peterson, who joined Alycia Dahl and Jaci Heath up front. Meanwhile, Kayla Anderson and Chelsea Boen stepped up and led the defense with their back row play.

It was young line-up that carried the Northern Freeze to the title. Boen is the only senior in that group. Anderson is a junior; Magner, Dahl and Heath are sophomores; Peterson is a freshman.

Heath and Dahl had 8 and 7 kills, respectively in the title match. Magner had two, while Peterson, Boen and Andrea Maki each had one.

Dahl was credited with 11 championship match assists; Morgan Halvorson had two.

Heath and Dahl both served two aces in the finals, with Magner getting one.

Second place pool play finishers met in the third place match, where Red Lake County Central beat Thief River Falls 25-22, 25-14.

The Mustangs beat Stephen-Argyle and Warren-Alvarado-Oslo, Northland running back Deonte Lewis tried to ward off Minnesota West defensive back Vincent Leno during Saturday's college football game played at Lowell T. Swenson Field in Thief River Falls. The Bluejays beat the Pioneers 21-18. Northland hosts Vermilion Saturday at 3 p.m.

Pioneers lose pair of MCCC matches over the weekend

Season-long Northland losing streak hit 11 matches over the weekend with Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division volleyball setbacks at the hands of Hibbing and Rainy River.

The Cardinals beat Northland 30-16, 30-15, 30-13 Friday night. The Voyageurs defeated the Pioneers 30-14, 30-28, 30-19 Saturday afternoon.

"We had our moments, but not consistently enough," explained Northland coach Missy Majerus. "We're trying to get better, but it's taking longer than I hoped it would."

Northland is 0-7 in the Northern Division.

"It's frustrating for me after just one loss," noted Majerus, "and now you can see that frustration is starting to set in for the girls. We're all looking for answers to turn things around."

Northland is at Itasca tonight (Wednesday). The Pioneers will have back-to-back matches against Rainy River and Hibbing again this weekend – in Thief River Falls. The Voyageurs will be in town Friday for a 6 p.m. match; the Cardinals play here Saturday at noon.

Northland football team prepares for Northern Division rivals after losing 21-18 home-opener to Minnesota West...

Pioneers finish 2-2 against Southern Division

Failure to tack on the extra points cost Northland again Saturday as the Pioneers lost a 21-18 Minnesota Community College Conference football game to Minnesota West.

After opening the year with wins over Fergus Falls and Ridgewater, the Pioneers have dropped back-to-back decisions to Central Lakes and Minnesota West by a combined total of four points. They made one of three conversions in a 20-19 setback against the Raiders and were 0-for-3 in that department vs. the Bluejays in their 2005 home opener at chilly Lowell T. Swenson Field.

With a strong Minnesota West defense shutting down the Northland offense, the Bluejays took a 14-0 lead into halftime and had a 21-6 advantage through three quarters.

The Pioneers made it a one-touchdown game by opening the final quarter with a 15-play, 52-yard touchdown drive. A 22-yard Calvin Tolliver-to-Michael Hall pass was the biggest gainer on the scoring march that ended with Steve Stene powering his way through the middle on a third-and-goal snap from the Bluejays' 5-yard line.

Having missed an extra-point kick earlier, the Pioneers went for two this time, but the pass was incomplete, leaving it 21-12 with 10:11 remaining.

Northland came right back with an eight-play series that gave them a first-and-goal from the Minnesota West 6-yard line, but five plays (including a 10-yard holding penalty) later the Pioneers had netted just one more yard, turning the ball over with 3:39 on the clock.

A second straight three-and-out Minnesota West possession forced a punt. The low snap was bobbled, giving the Pioneers' Chris Lee time to block the kick. Northland's offense set up shop at the Bluejays' 9-yard line. After one incomplete pass, Tolliver rolled right and found Mariano Rosales, Jr. open in the back of the end zone for a touchdown with 1:42 left. The conversion kick – academic since the Pioneers needed another score whether they made or missed a one or two-point attempt – was off the mark.

An onside kick nearly worked, but Minnesota West did retain possession, and the Bluejays managed a pair of clock-eating first downs before giving up the ball at the Pioneers' 28 with just 2.7 seconds to play.

Minnesota West improved to 5-0 with the win.

Northland coach Guy Finstrom took the loss in stride. "They're a good football team, but we played them tough," he said.

A 20-yard Minnesota West punt into a strong wind and a 10-yard return by Giovanni Gonzalez put the Northland offense on the field at the Bluejays' 20 with 1:49 remaining in the first quarter. However, the game's first real scoring opportunity was fumbled away two plays later.

To make matters worse for the Pioneers, the turnover was converted into a Minnesota West touchdown. The seven-play drive started with a bang as Davon Kemp popped out of a pile in the middle of the line and went 56 yards before being run down from behind at the Northland 26. The touchdown was a 16-yard Jay Scheidt pass to tight end Chris Clay, who was open behind the Pioneers' defense in the end zone. Omar Peart kicked the first of his three conversions for a 7-0 lead with 2:01 gone in the second quarter.

Northland's first punt into the wind was a disaster – a pop-up that wound up losing a yard and giving the Bluejays the ball at the Pioneers' 26.

A 25-yard Scheidt pass to Clay, who again got behind the Northland defense, was followed by a one-yard touchdown dive by Elrazor Sharp and a Peart kick for a 14-0 game with 11:08 left in the half.

"We made some mistakes in the first half," acknowledged Finstrom. "Our offense wasn't clicking. They were too fast for us. We couldn't get to the outside; we had to push the ball inside."

Northland got on the board with a 7-play, 42-yard third quarter drive. The touchdown was a bit out of the ordinary. Stene took a dive play into the line and lost the ball. The fumble squirted into the end zone, where Northland tight end Marcellous Frazzie fell on the ball for the score with 3:38 remaining.

"The kids didn't quit," said Finstrom. "We fought back from 14-0."

But Minnesota West got the two-touchdown edge back before the quarter ended. An interception by Michael Johnson at the Bluejays' 38 was immediately turned into a 62-yard scoring play by Scheidt, who scrambled to his right, cut back to the left and out-ran the Northland defense.

It was the final game against MCCC Southern Division teams for the Pioneers, who finish the year with five Northern Division contests, starting Saturday at home against Vermilion. That one will be a 3 p.m. kickoff.

Finstrom likes the Pioneers' chances to be a top-two playoff qualifying finisher in the Northern Division. "We're playing better," he said. "I feel good about this team. We'll be alright."

Northland quarterback Calvin Tolliver tried to get by Minnesota West defensive lineman Robert McKee on this first half carry in Saturday's college football game at Lowell T. Swenson Field. The Pioneers lost their 2005 home opener 21-18.

Kittson Central strikes from long range in 48-9 win...

Mustangs beaten on long plays

Long-range touchdowns highlighted a 48-9 Kittson Central win over Red Lake County Central in a Friday Top of the State Nine-Man high school football game played at Gary Brantl Field in Plummer.

Ernie Ayala scored on punt returns covering 65 and 70 yards, and also caught a 65-yard touchdown pass from Austin Bogestad.

Joel Schwenzfeier broke way on a 71-yard run and Andrew Muir had a 78-yard touchdown carry.

"Kittson Central is very talented in the skill positions," pointed out Red Lake County Central coach Ethan Marquis. "They had a huge offensive night. We were unable to stop their big plays and play-makers."

The loss dropped the Mustangs to 2-2.

"Depth continues to be a concern for us," noted Marquis. "Injuries and illness have forced us to play younger players with limited experience. However, I'm confident that many of those younger players are capable of performing well. Game experience and additional learning will be needed to get them to the level that we need them to be."

but lost to Roseau in pool play. The Prowlers got by Badger/Greenbush-Middle River and Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke before losing to Northern Freeze.

"Overall, the girls played well," said Thief River Falls coach Tammy Sparby. "I thought we played well in pool play. We lost to the Northern Freeze, but it was a close match."

The Mustangs have been the Prowlers' nemesis over the years, and Saturday's third place match-up was no different, acknowledged Sparby.

Warren-Alavarado-Oslo defeated Badger/Greenbush-Middle River in the fifth place match, while Stephen-Argyle beat Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke for seventh place.

Minnesota West running back Steven Wadlington picked up yards behind blocker Aaron Timmons during the Bluejays' 21-18 Saturday college football win over Northland.

Blue Devils fall behind early

■ Gators beat Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke 35-6

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke fell behind 16-0 in the first quarter and lost to host Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 35-6 Friday in Nine-Man high school football.

It was the fourth straight loss to open the 2005 season for the Blue Devils.

"They took it to us in the first quarter," said Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach John Wilebski. "Second and third quarters we played well. We ran out of gas at the end."

Touchdowns by Josh Lewis, Jakob Heggedal and Trent Sovde supplied the Gators with a 22-0 lead before the Blue Devils got on the board with a second quarter touchdown pass from Anthony Gast to Tim Polansky that covered 39 yards.

Sovde scored his second touchdown to open the fourth quarter and Adam Telander threw a 42-yard pass to Andrew Pautzke for the final touchdown.

Brady Olson had 43 yards on 15 carries to lead the Blue Devils' running game. Gast passed for 67 yards.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke will be on the road again Friday when they take on defending Nine-Man state champion Stephen-Argyle.

Three Pioneers have been named Player of the Week

Three members of the Northland Community and Technical College football team have earned Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division Player of the Week honors during the first month of the 2005 football season.

Week 2 honors announced Sept. 12 went to quarterback Calvin Tolliver, a freshman from North Spring High School in Atlanta; and defensive back Chris Lee, a freshman from Soldom High School in St. Louis.

Northern Division Offensive Player of the Week announced Sept. 19 was Deonte Lewis, a Northland freshman running back from Bradley Tech High in Milwaukee.

Research reports increase in prairie waterfowl production

Improved waterfowl production from the prairie breeding grounds sets the stage for a larger migration through Minnesota this year compared to last fall's disappointing showing, according to Dr. Scott Stephens, director of conservation planning for Ducks Unlimited's Great Plains Regional Office.

"Surveys of nesting success and brood survival of ducks breeding in Canada and the Dakotas show strong indications for an improved fall flight," said Stephens

Most ducks harvested by Minnesota hunters originate from breeding areas in the Canadian prairie provinces and the Dakotas. Wetland conditions across these areas were somewhat dry in the early spring, but late spring and early summer rains dramatically improved conditions for breeding ducks across most areas.

Ducks Unlimited in the United States and Canada has ongoing, long-term research that examines nesting success rates across these key breeding areas including the Missouri Coteau, an almost 26,000 square mile ribbon stretching from central Saskatchewan to central South Dakota. The Missouri Coteau is a critical part of the Prairie Pothole Region.

One research area in the Canadian portion of the Missouri Coteau near Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, had very high nesting success rates this year with four individual study sites having higher than 20 percent nesting success. One site experienced a 41 percent nesting success. Four individual sites monitored in North Dakota's Coteau region also achieved more than 40 percent nesting success, nearly triple the rate necessary to maintain population size.

Brood surveys on duckling production, conducted this summer by the North Dakota Game and Fish Department, showed a 38 percent increase from 2004 and production numbers are 140 percent above the 1955-2004 average. North Dakota's 2005 fall duck flight is expected to be up from 2004 and similar to the fall flights of 1999-2000, according to Mike Johnson, migratory game bird management supervisor for the North Dakota Game and Fish Department.

"Good wetland conditions across prairie breeding areas are only part of the equation determining the fall flight through Minnesota," said Ryan Heiniger, DU's director of conservation programs for Minnesota and Iowa. "The condition of migration habitats, especially the aquatic plant and invertebrate food base in Minnesota's numerous shallow lakes, strongly influences the number of birds attracted to the state and how long they stay."

DU's Living Lakes Initiative, a partnership with Minnesota DNR, the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service, the Natural Resources Conservation Service and many others, focuses on improving the quality of the critical shallow lake habitat that birds use during both spring and fall migrations. Additionally, weather, hunting pressure and human disturbance can affect the timing of migrations and the distribution of birds across Minnesota.

Stephens said DU is concerned about maintaining duck numbers in light of disturbing trends toward increased destruction of native grasslands across the Coteau in North and South Dakota.

"The common characteristic of the sites with high nesting success rates and duckling production is an abundance of grassland in the surrounding area," Stephens said. "We've seen increased conversion of native grassland to cropland across the Coteau in the past couple of years. We need to accelerate our collective efforts to protect the native grasslands that are vital to maintaining healthy duck populations for the future"

Increased support for conservation programs that protect critical breeding areas will be important to ensure healthy fall flights continue southward across the country each fall. DU's Grasslands for Tomorrow initiative is working toward securing two million acres of the best waterfowl-breeding habitat in the Prairie Pothole region by 2019.

With more than a million supporters, Ducks Unlimited is the world's largest and most effective wetland and waterfowl conservation organization. The U.S. alone has lost more than half of its original wetlands – nature's most productive ecosystem – and continues to lose more than 100,000 wetland acres each year

Tight end Chris Clay of Minnesota West hauled in this pass for a 16-yard second quarter touchdown to open the scoring in Saturday's Minnesota Community College Conference football game against Northland. Defensive back Russel Dorvil trailed the play. The Bluejays won 21-18.

Crookton 6-1 tennis winner vs. Prowlers

Crookston showed its strength in area high school girls tennis Monday by beating Thief River Falls 6-1 in a rescheduled match on the Pirates' courts.

Lone Thief River Falls win came from Ashley Leister, who beat Amanda Schlenker 7-6, 6-4 at No. 1 singles.

The Pirates' Crystal Engebretson rallied for a 4-6, 6-4, 6-2 win over Mauri Gonsorowski at No. 2 singles, and the Crookston No. 3 doubles team of Brittany Persson-Sarah Cooley outlasted Kristine Sletten-Chelsea Daley 4-6, 7-6, 6-2.

Rest of the matches were straight-set wins for the Pirates.

The match was rescheduled from a Sept. 12 encounter that was rained out.

With the loss, Thief River Falls fell to 4-3 in dual meet competition.

Pioneers golf in two meets

Northland golfed at home Sunday and competed at Fergus Falls Monday in Minnesota Community College Conference golf.

Lack of entries turned the Northland Invitational into a dual, with Hibbing beating the Pioneers 322-342.

Medalist was Tyler Thomas of Hibbing with a 79. The Pioneers' scores included P.J. Stodgell with an 80, Ryan Anderson 84, Steve Stall 88 and Nick Moen 90.

Central Lakes won the Fergus Falls Invitational with an impressive 295, followed by Hibbing at 337 and Northland 352. Fergus Falls and Ridgewater had incomplete teams.

Medal honors went to Justin Spear of Central Lakes with a 71. For the Pioneers, Stodgell shot an 84, Moen 81, Anderson 91 and Stall 91.

"Some of the kids are showing improvement," said Northland coach Tom Williams. "Others still have some work to do.

Late score nets TRF freshman a 32-26 win

Winning touchdown was scored with just 10 seconds remaining as Thief River Falls edged Devils Lake 32-26 in freshman football Thursday.

Thief River Falls had quarter leads of 14-6, 20-12 and 26-18.

Devils Lake tied the game at 26-26 with a touchdown and two-point conversion with 45 seconds left.

A surprising on-side kick was covered by Thief River Falls' Cody Reese.

On fourth-and-eight at the Devils Lake 43, Tyler Aandal carried the ball to the Firebirds' 3-yard line to set up a tie-breaking Cody Conners touchdown pass to Zach Sorenson.

Second interception of the day by Seth Torstveit sealed the win for the 3-0 Prowlers.

Thief River Falls first quarter points included a 35-yard pass from Conners to Myles Keefe, a 23-yard run by Keefe and a conversion run by Aandal.

Special teams play netted the next two Thief River Falls touchdowns as Aandal scored on a 72-yard punt return and Keefe reached the end zone on an 85-yard kickoff return.

Detroit Lakes beats TRF JV football team

Detroit Lakes was a 28-12 winner over Thief River Falls Monday in junior varsity high school football.

The Lakers led 14-6 after one quarter, had a 21-6 halftime cushion and maintained a 28-12 spread in the third quarter.

Thief River Falls touchdowns came on a 1-yard Jordan Swanson run in the first quarter and a 2-yard Aaron Langan run in the final period.

The Prowlers are 2-2 at the midway mark of the 2005 season.

Six-year-old Brock Borchardt of Thief River Falls had an armful of catfish that he pulled out of the river Sept. 4. Brock was fishing with his father, Joe, but he landed the 13-pound, 31-inch fish himself. Submitted photo.

Considerations when harvesting alfalfa in the fall

by Howard Person
Marshall/Pennington County Agent

Good soil moisture and warm temperatures have many alfalfa stands looking very productive. Whether or not to harvest that growth can be a difficult decision, but does make sense in many situations.

First, you need to decide how much risk with your stand you are willing to take. Cutting anytime after Sept. 1 carries some risk of added winter injury to the alfalfa. The amount of risk depends on the interaction of many factors – some we can control and some we can not. Listed here are some of the primary factors you should consider before cutting this fall.

First, how old is your stand and how long do you want to keep it? If you want it for five or more years, fall cutting may be too risky for you. However, if three or four years are enough, then some stand reduction is not such an issue. How bad do you need the hay? Fall cutting will reduce the volume of next year's first cutting to some degree, so if you don't need the hay, you may not want to take that reduction in next year's yield.

The problem with a fall cut is that it generally does not leave enough time for re-growth before a killing frost. This lack of re-growth time draws down root energy and makes plants more susceptible to winter injury. However, the fewer cuts taken, the less problems you have. For example, a second cutting in September is not as hard on the stand as a third cutting. Fall cutting will also be safer where at least one cutting during the year has reached the flowering stage. Alfalfa dormancy is brought on by decreasing day length and temperature. Once October arrives, cut when weather and your time permit.

Younger stands are also more tolerant than older stands to fall cutting. This is because the younger stands are healthier than older plants. There also tends to be more plants per square foot on a younger stand, so a little bit of thinning is generally not a problem. Winter hardiness is also a critical factor. Varieties with known winter survival ratings of two or less should have more tolerance to fall cutting.

Alfalfa uses a lot of potassium and its winter survival is linked to higher levels of available soil potassium. Fields with medium to low levels of potassium will be less tolerant of fall cutting. Drainage is also an issue and fields that are waterlogged now or earlier in the season will be less tolerant of fall harvest.

Alfalfa stands with grass in the mixture will take fall cutting better than pure alfalfa stands due to a greater ability to catch and hold snow cover. When cutting in the fall it's always a good idea to leave strips or forage un-harvested about every 20 feet to catch additional snow for added crop insulation.

Rangeline Cattle of TRF recognized by cattle association

Rangeline Cattle, Thief River Falls, (Daryl Rupprecht) was recently recognized by the American Gelbvieh Association (AGA) as the owner of three Gelbvieh cows exhibiting the consistent maternal efficiency typical of "The Continental Breed of Choice." The AGA has designated these outstanding beef females as Dam of Merit and Dam of Distinction.

Maternal productivity plays a major role in profitable beef production, as nearly 60 percent of the cost of producing a pound of beef can be attributed to the cow herd. Considerable economic research has demonstrated that fertility and calving ease followed by milk, growth and carcass cutability have the biggest influence on profit in a retained ownership (conception to carcass) system.

Commercial cattlemen agree that Gelbvieh have strong maternal attributes with the added benefits of fast growth and carcass cutability. Given the increased emphasis on efficient beef production, the Gelbvieh breed is an excellent position to increase its influence on the beef industry.

The title "Dam of Merit" recognizes cows that meet strict selection criteria including early puberty and conception, regular calving intervals, and above-average weaning weights on at least three calves. Of the 51,455 active cows in the Gelbvieh breed, only 4.9 percent qualify for Dam of Merit. The "Dam of Distinction" honor recognizes cows that meet the same high standards for superior, long-term productivity with at least eight calves. Just 0.6 percent of all active Gelbvieh cows qualify for this elite group.

For more information on Gelbvieh cattle and AGA programs, contact the American Gelbvieh Association at 10900 Dover Street, Westminster, CO 80021, or telephone 303-465-2333.

MINNESOTA POLLUTION CONTROL AGENCY PUBLIC NOTICE ON DRAFT/PROPOSED AIR EMISSION FACILITY PERMIT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Commissioner of the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) proposes to issue Air Emission Permit No. 11300014-004 to Arctic Cat, Inc. for their facility located at 601 Brooks Avenue South, Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota.

The permit action is for operation of the Part 70 (Title V) facility. The permit action is a total facility permit re-issuance; therefore, the draft/proposed permit has been placed on public notice. The MPCA is seeking U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA's) concurrent review of this draft/proposed permit and the EPA 45-day review period will begin with the 30-day public review period.

A summary of the Potential to Emit (PTE) in tons per year is as follows:

| Pollutant | PM | PM$_{10}$ | SO$_2$ | NO$_x$ | VOCs | CO | Lead | HAP | HAPs |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Total Facility PTE | 240.0 | 240.0 | 240.0 | 240.0 | 246.0 | 240.0 | 0.0 | 246.0 | 246.0 |
| Actual emissions | 0.4 | 0.4 | 0.5 | 5.0 | 4.4 | 53.7 | 0.0 | NR | NR |

PM = Particulate Matter
PM$_{10}$ = PM smaller than 10 microns
SO$_2$ = Sulfur Dioxide
NO$_x$ = Nitrogen Oxides
VOCs = Volatile Organic Compounds
CO = Carbon Monoxide
HAP = Hazardous Air Pollutant
NR = Not Reported

The Permittee is not required to submit a pollution prevention progress report pursuant to Minn. Stat. § 115D.08.

The preliminary determination to issue the air emission permit is tentative. There are four formal procedures for public participation in the MPCA's consideration of the permit application. Interested persons may (1) submit written comments on the proposed permit; (2) request that the MPCA hold a public information meeting; (3) request the MPCA hold a contested case hearing; and/or (4) submit a petition to the Commissioner requesting that the MPCA Board consider the permit matter.

The decision whether to issue the permit and, if so, under what terms, will be presented to the MPCA Board for decision if: (1) the Commissioner grants the petition requesting the matter be presented to the MPCA Board; (2) an MPCA Board member requests to hear the matter prior to the time the Commissioner makes a final decision on the permit; or (3) a request for a contested case hearing is pending. Otherwise, the Commissioner will make the decision.

Persons who submit comments or petitions to the MPCA must state (1) their interest in the permit application or the draft permit; (2) the action they wish the MPCA to take, including specific references to the section of the draft permit they believe should be changed; and (3) the reasons supporting their position, stated with sufficient specificity as to allow the MPCA to investigate the merits of the position.

As described in Minn. R. 7000.1800, persons who submit requests for a contested case hearing must also state the issues they propose to address in a contested case hearing, the specific relief requested or resolution of the matter, and the reasons (which may be in the form of proposed findings) supporting an MPCA decision to hold a contested case hearing. Failure to comply with these rules exactly may result in a denial of the request. The decision whether to hold a contested case hearing will be made under Minn. R. 7000.1900. Most public libraries throughout the state have copies of the current Minnesota Rules. They are also available on the Internet at www.revisor.leg.state.mn.us.

The public comment period commences September 29, 2005, and terminates October 28, 2005. Comments must be received in writing at the MPCA by 4:30 p.m. on October 28, 2005. Evidence of timely receipt includes a date/time stamp imprinted on the first page of the written comments by the first floor information and reception area of the MPCA or by the Industrial Division support staff, or receipt by fax.

Comments, requests and petitions should be sent to:

School success for teens begins with whether they feel connected

by Kathleen A. Olson,
U of M Extension Service

Almost a third of your teen's life is spent in school. Other than family, school is the most important influence on your child's life.

One of the best indicators of teens' school performance is whether they feel connected to their school. Feeling connected means that students have a sense that they belong and feel close to people, including teachers and other adults. Attachment to school is also associated with lower rates of sexual activity, fewer thoughts about or attempts at suicide, lower levels of violent behavior, and reduced alcohol, cigarette and marijuana use.

Children do better in school and have more positive attitudes about it when their parents are involved in school life. Many parents become less involved with school activities as their children move from elementary to middle school and on to high school.

Yet, teenagers clearly benefit when their parents show interest. Here are some ways to become involved in your child's school.

Communication. Communicate with your teen's teachers and other school staff. Take advantage of open houses and parent-teacher conferences and stay in touch with teachers. Build a partnership with teachers so your teen sees you working with teachers, not against them.

Student activities. Encourage your teen to join school activities and show your support by attending school events.

Volunteer. Volunteering in the school is a way to stay connected, and there are a variety of ways to assist.

Involve both parents. Mothers are more likely than fathers to be involved in their children's schools. Children do better when both parents, if possible, are involved. In fact, young people are more likely to get "A's," participate in extracurricular activities, and enjoy school if their fathers participate in their school life.

Involvement in leadership opportunities. Many schools offer programs for older students to serve as tutors to younger children. Mentoring programs are another opportunity for teens to connect with school.

Expect success. When parents set high expectations for their children's school performance, teens are more likely to meet those expectations.

Help your teen set reasonable goals and work towards them. Tell teens that you believe in their abilities, and that is why you expect success.

Elaine Thompson • 874-7945

Hello, how the weeks fly. Have you been enjoying the nice days in September.

Monday, September 20th, Ken and Ben Weis of Brooklyn Park were afternoon visitors at the home of Merle and Beulah Bjornrud. They enjoyed visiting over coffee and lunch.

Curtis and Elaine Thompson attended the beautiful wedding and reception of Cassie Ann Hagman and Nicholas Alan Wilson on Saturday, Sept. 17th at 4:00 p.m. It was at Zion Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls. We wish you the very best. God be near you both.

We would like to welcome Hilton and Ruby Hjelle into our city. They are a very nice and friendly couple. Make them welcome.

On Monday afternoon, Sept. 19th, Harvey Skyberg came over for a coffee and lunch.

Sunday dinner guests at the Merle Bjornrud home were Wayne and Carol Bjornrud of Thief River Falls and Ken and Bev Weis. They enjoyed a nice visit.

Congratulations to Rhandi Jo Halvorson and Tyler John Knutson who were married on Saturday, Sept. 3rd. God's blessing to you.

Curtis and Elaine Thompson were Monday afternoon guests of Merle and Beulah Bjornrud. We also had a delicious lunch and coffee. They have a beautiful yard. There are plants all over and also ornaments everywhere, and its kept up so neat; no grass laying anywhere. It was all nicer than I could ever write about. Go out there and see for yourselves sometime.

Curtis and Elaine Thompson once again enjoyed the beautiful singing at the Centennial this past weekend. The Lion's Club can make the best french toast I've ever eaten. It was a very good three days with good services and preaching. I say a big thank you to all who worked so hard.

Curtis and Elaine Thompson's son of Newfolden stopped in for lunch and coffee at Marvin and Rose Nelson's one day last week.

Happy Birthday to our local college

Last week, Doc Sam (Dr. Charles Samuelson) reminded us of an important date. Forty years ago, Northland College began in Thief River Falls. The first day of classes were held Sept. 20, 1965.

There were a total of 159 students attending classes on the upper floor of the old Lincoln High School building. There were five classrooms and an office.

I wonder what organizers of the school envisioned? Has it become what they envisioned - something more, or less?

No question, the college has successfully undergone an astounding number of transitions and transformations. Reunion notices, for example, invariably include an unfamiliar name for the college - "the junior college," the AVTI, Northwest Technical College, Northwest Tech, Northland College.

Names of people and leaders have changed, too. The first five staff members were James Dalager, mathematics and physics; Merle Kruschke, history and political science; Charles Samuelson, biology; Robert Keiffer, English; May Issacson, librarian; Patricia Anderson, secretary; and Charles White, dean. Note too that there were several part-time instructors as well.

Even today, the leadership of the college is in transition, and last year, the college in Thief River Falls merged with the college in East Grand Forks.

We note with satisfaction, however, that the college has made it through those transitions successfully. Today, 1,555 students attend Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls. A recent study of the college's economic impact on this community determined that impact to be about $37.2 million per year. There are other impacts, measured and unmeasured. For example, several business leaders, government office holders and other community leaders proudly declare their status as alumni. Their impact on our communities has been significant but cannot be measured. The college's impact on sports, arts, and entertainment in this community also serves as a good example of its community-wide impact. In many aspects, the college has led the way.

So, as the college arrives at what we hope is just one of many more milestones, we congratulate staff, alumni, and those who envisioned the college. It has become a progressive leader in the community, and continues its efforts to be responsive to the needs of learners.

Time to revisit pedestrian safety

At some point in life, everyone is a pedestrian. As transportation costs increase, and the cost of health-related illnesses, increased chances are you'll be a pedestrian sooner than you think. Pedestrian safety is an important issue in terms of life and death, and it is an important issue in terms of developing future transportation plans that include interconnected systems of transportation - bike, motorcycle, pedestrian, even rail. Given the prices of fuel and the need to get fit, it isn't surprising to see more individuals walking or riding their bikes to work.

Developing a flexible and accessible network of transportation alternatives fits goals designed to accommodate all citizens, goals to improve health and wellness in the community, help reduce our dependence on foreign oil, attract more visitors, shoppers and potential residents to the community and provide a safe environment for citizens - especially children. In other words, it just makes sense.

I agree with our readers, letter writers and columnists that there is a need in this community to develop a awareness around pedestrian issues. Not only do pedestrian routes need to be identified and improved, but a public relations campaign that emphasizes awareness built around safety implemented.

A great deal of time and money is spent on providing and maintaining sidewalks consistent with local comprehensive plans, shouldn't some of the effort be spent emphasizing safety? This could be accomplished through a number of measures, including consistent enforcement of traffic and and pedestrian laws, development of ongoing public information campaigns for pedestrians and motorists, including pedestrian safety education in schools, even the establishment of a local advisory or focus group interested in providing input on such subjects as design and location of pedestrian traffic.

From the complaints raised in and brought to this office, this community's most serious pedestrian-traffic problem areas are located in downtown Thief River Falls. There may be other pedestrian issues that residents should be bringing to the attention of local city leaders - please do.

Sen. Stumpf gets award

The Minnesota School Boards Association (MSBA) recently awarded State Sen. LeRoy Stumpf (DFL-Plummer) "Guardian of Minnesota Public Schools" for his work on education issues during the 2005 legislative session.

The award is given to key legislators who "worked effectively to protect and preserve the future of Minnesota's public schools by authoring legislation relating to school boards."

As the chair of the Senate K-12 Education Finance Committee, Stumpf is dedicated to working on behalf of Minnesota's students and ensuring that every child in the state receives a high quality education. During the 2005 legislative session, Stumpf was instrumental in passing a significant increase in K-12 education funding – one of the largest education funding increases in the past 15 years.

The Minnesota School Boards Association, founded in 1920, works to support, promote and enhance all school boards in the state.

Pedestrians have the right of way at city crosswalks

To the Editor:

Could you remind the residents of Thief River Falls that pedestrians have the right of way on crosswalks. Today as I crossed main from JC Penney's to the dime store (Ben Franklin), I was within inches of being run down. I had the walk light and as I approached the centerline, a red sports car, driven by a young female, sped just in front of me. She had made a left off of Third Street to Main Avenue South. Obviously, she barely slowed down for the turn, and she saw nothing but an opening to turn.

Within 20 minutes, I witnessed another incident. An older couple was trying to cross Third Street toward Sears and a huge truck turned right in front of them. By the time the truck turned, their walk light was gone.

A few weeks ago I stopped for a couple of kids to cross and some idiot passed me on the right. At most street corners, you could turn to stone before anyone would stop to let you across. Wake up drivers, can you afford to lose everything you have just because you cannot wait a few minutes?

Margaret Stokke

Instead of decreasing our taxes, turn the lights

To the Editor:

Why do we not use the streetlights that I assume were installed where they are for the safety of all our citizens and visitors? Last year, when I asked why some of the lights were turned off, I was told by the mayor's office and the Power and Light Department that the city council, in its wisdom, had deemed it a good way to save money.

Evidently, it saved so much that the same council says it is going to give us a 2 percent tax decrease. I, for one, would rather council members consider the safety of all the residents and use that 2 percent to turn all the lights back on, especially during the most dangerous time of the year. How about asking the police department if it would be a good idea? No one that I have asked believes they are over-taxed by the city.

Lesson of Katrina:

Investing in our infrastructure is important

by Rep. Brita Sailer

Sitting in front of the television and watching the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina unfold over the last several weeks, all of us have felt an urge to do something to help. It's impossible to see that kind of suffering and not want to act. The obvious first issue is to attend to the victims of the hurricane and begin rebuilding the Gulf Coast. But we also have to turn the mirror on ourselves here in Minnesota, and ask, what were the lessons for us?

There will be no hurricanes in Minnesota, nor do we have flood control levees that can be topped. We do, however, have other levies to be concerned about – tax levies. In our area, we need to maintain our infrastructure of schools, roads, energy, public safety and health care so that if some unforeseen catastrophe hits us, we will be as prepared as possible.

I am concerned that unless we work for tax equity across the state of Minnesota, local governments in rural areas such as ours will be forced to continue to raise tax levies beyond the level people can afford to pay. The nonpartisan House Research estimates on a statewide basis that local property taxes will go up an average of nearly 12 percent in 2006. In the last legislative session, some segments of our population were again protected from paying their fair share of taxes. We were unable to close loopholes for corporations that set up offshore subsidiaries to funnel their income and avoid taxes, or to ensure that the wealthiest Minnesotans pay their share of income taxes. We in northern Minnesota know well that there is no free lunch, and we expect to pay our fair share to maintain those vital parts of our infrastructure.

I have heard a lot of concern from people in our district about the rising cost of gasoline in the wake of Katrina. Some have mentioned that they've heard of states that have temporarily repealed their gas tax. So far, only Georgia has done so, with four other states considering it. Several other states, Minnesota included, are looking at the long-term effect of such an action. While suspending the state gas tax would provide temporary relief to motorists, it's not a long-term solution. Georgia suspended its gas tax for one month, costing the state $75 million and saving motorists about 15 cents per gallon. But what will happen the next time prices spike? Another suspension? While temporary relief is needed, we lawmakers must also aggressively pursue a combination of strategies that truly reduce our dependence on fossil fuels. As challenging as this will be, changes needed to begin now. The upside is that rural Minnesota's economy stands poised to reap the benefits of renewable energies including biofuels and wind.

E-85 has the potential to become a buffer to high gas prices for some Minnesotans. Minnesota has the largest number of E-85 pumps in the nation, with nearly 150 stations selling the fuel. The 85 percent blend of ethanol can be used by vehicles with flex-fuel engines, and has the benefits of reducing our dependence on fossil fuels, releasing fewer pollutants than unleaded gasoline, and supporting Minnesota's rural economy. However, the price of E-85 has to be at least 30 cents below gasoline for there to be a cost savings, since cars generally get fewer miles per gallon of E-85. Recently, the price of E-85 has been rising right along with gasoline even though the price of corn is not rising. Attorney General Mike Hatch has agreed to investigate the issue. My hope is that E-85 will stay affordable when gas prices rise, leading to increased consumer interest and a push for more flex-fuel vehicles. To find out whether your car can run on E-85 check the list on the Web site www.e85fuel.com.

The unintended consequences of mental illness

by Sue Abderholden

Mental illness is very common. It affects one in five adults and one in 10 children. It could be your sister, parent, grandparent, friend, neighbor or co-worker. It knows no bounds and affects all ages, races, sexes and economic status. It affects teachers, doctors, lawyers, business owners and students. There is a level playing field in terms of who has a mental illness. Unfortunately, there is not a level playing field in terms of how mental illness is treated.

Mental illness is not viewed in the same way as other illnesses. People blame the individual or parents and don't readily recognize the biological nature of mental illness. This leads to stigma which prevents people from identifying symptoms and receiving early treatment. And yet, the earlier the treatment, the better the outcomes.

Some businesses and health insurance plans don't view the treatment for mental illness as necessary and so either don't cover it or place unnecessary limits on treatment. Yet, the national loss of productivity of mental illness is about $63 billion. While the Minnesota Legislature passed mental health parity years ago, Congress has yet to do the same.

Untreated or under-treated mental illness leads to great disruption in people's lives. Sometimes people lose their jobs or drop out of school; some end up in our jails and prisons; other times people lose their very lives. These unintended consequences don't have to occur.

The President's New Freedom Commission on Mental Health stated, "We envision a future when everyone with a mental illness will recover, a future when mental illnesses can be prevented or cured, a future when mental illnesses are detected early, and a future when everyone with a mental illness at any stage of life has access to effective treatment and supports - essentials for living, working, learning and participating fully in the community."

Our communities must embrace this vision and carry it out in their home, neighborhood, school, workplace and place of worship. We must begin a dialogue where mental illness is treated like any other and support the development of community treatment and supports so that children and adults can celebrate recovery.

Facts about Mental Illness and Recovery

- Mental illnesses are biologically based brain disorders. They cannot be overcome through "will power" and are not related to a person's "character" or intelligence.
- Mental disorders fall along a continuum of severity. The most serious and disabling conditions affect five to 10 million adults and three to five million children ages five to 17 in the United States.
- Suicide is the third leading cause of death among young people, ages 15 to 24.
- Mental illnesses strike individuals in the prime of their lives, often during adolescence and young adulthood. All ages are susceptible, but the young and the old are especially vulnerable.
- Mental disorders are the leading cause of disability in the North America, Europe and, increasingly, in the world.
- The best treatments for serious mental illnesses today are highly effective; between 70 and 90 percent of individuals have significant reduction of symptoms and improved quality of life with a combination of pharmacological and psychosocial treatments and supports.
- Early identification and treatment is of vital importance; By getting people the treatment they need early, recovery is accelerated and the brain is protected from further harm related to the course of illness.
- Without treatment, the consequences of mental illness for the individual and society are staggering: unnecessary disability, unemployment, substance abuse, homelessness, inappropriate incarceration, suicide and wasted lives; The economic cost of untreated mental illness is more than $100 billion each year in the United States.
- Stigma erodes confidence that mental disorders are real, treatable health conditions. We have allowed stigma and a now unwarranted sense of hopelessness to erect attitudinal, structural and financial barriers to effective treatment and recovery. It is time to take these barriers down.

FROM THE UPPER FALLS

The News, John W. Eastman, Publisher — September 28, 1905
Thief River Falls, Red Lake County, Minnesota

Soo and Great Northern to Be Connected
Work of Building a "Y" Commenced This Week

"Work was commenced the first of the week of building a 'Y' at Erskine to connect the Great Northern and Soo lines. The Soo hauls hundreds of carloads of wheat from the Canadian Northwest, which heretofore has been turned over to the Great Northern at Glenwood to be hauled to the Duluth market, but, as making the transfer at Erskine shortens the route, it was decided to build a 'Y' there to handle this year's crop. Next year the Soo's line from Thief River Falls to Duluth will be in operation and the Soo can handle the grain over its own line."

Kelliher to Boom

"Fourteen lumber camps will be installed this fall at Kelliher and that place will be the center of logging activity for Beltrami during the coming winter. Since the old camps were burned down, tents have been used, but new camps are now being built and will be completed before men are back from the harvest fields.

"Logging operations in other parts of the county will probably be more extensive, also, than for several years past. The new road north of Wilton will tap a large amount of pine, while a number of camps will be put in along the new Minneapolis, Red Lake and Manitoba railway."

May Build Flax Straw Mills
Flax Straw to Be Converted into Tow

"Mills for the conversion of flax straw into tow for use in the large linen factories of the Eastern states, to the number of an even dozen, may be erected throughout the Red River Valley, if the plans of a prominent St. Paul capitalist and real estate man carry successfully.

"Mr. Hulbert was in Crookston last week and believes that the salvage of the waste flax straw throughout the flax growing belt of Northern Minnesota will bring returns upon an investment such as will be second only to a bonanza gold mine. The flax straw, when properly treated and converted into tow, commands a price of nearly $100 per ton, according to Mr. Hulbert, and the erection of several large tow mills in the flax growing centers of this section would convert an enormous amount of waste product into cold hard cash.

"Plans are under way for the formation of a company capitalized at several hundred thousand dollars and backed by influential men of this section, as well as capitalists from southern Minnesota and Iowa who have become interested in the project."

New Great Northern Division
It May Be Located Here
Middle River the Half Way Point; We Divide Work

"When the Great Northern is completed through to Warroad, this branch will have to be divided into two freight divisions, and just what town will be selected for headquarters is only known to the railroad officials. At present it takes the freight crews all day to make the run from Carman [presently a part of the city of Crookston] to Greenbush, and when the road is in operation to Warroad, it will be impossible to make the run one way in a day. The divisions, however, would be short ones, but as there is a great deal of switching to do at each station, it would keep a train crew busy most of the time to make the run part of the way.

"Middle River is about half way between both Carman and Warroad, and would be the natural place for the division, but the switching on the south part of the line is a great deal heavier than on the northern part, and Thief River Falls about divides the line as far as the work is concerned. It is therefore possible that the Great Northern will make this place a freight division point. Of course, it would not be a very large division. Four train crews would make their headquarters here, but everything helps."

"RED LAKE GAZETTE: Contractor James Brady is busy this week tearing up the floor in the auditor's office and getting ready to build the new vault ordered by the court house committee last week. The vault will be in the northwest corner of Auditor Ford's office and will be about 12 by 15, extending clear to the ceiling. When finished it will furnish ample room and protection for all the books and records of the office. The old large safes in the auditor's office will be used in some of the other offices, and just now Nick [N. W. Tarrant] and Happy [Karl M. Hansen] are in the midst of a discussion as to their disposition."

Tearing Up Wylie [Rail] Road

"CROOKSTON TIMES: Crews of Great Northern workmen and work trains are at work at the present time tearing up the track between the Shirley junction [seven miles north of Crookston] and Wylie. The rails will be used in siding operations on the other sections of the road and the ties will be burned. Trains will be backed down to Wylie from St. Hilaire every day and will carry a coach for the accommodation of passengers. The work will put an end to the controversy being waged between Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls papers as to whether or not Red Lake Falls was to be again put on a spur track by the road. An official of the road here, today stated that the train service of Thief River and Greenbush via Tilden had been very satisfactory and would be continued.

"The beginning of the 'end' on the old-time road will be heard of with peculiar regret by the people of this section who remember when the line was built and the important part it has played in the life of Northern Minnesota and the development of the section of the state that it tapped."

Lions Club Told About Park System By Roy M. Barzen

"Introduced by Ben Froiland, program chairman, Roy Barzen, for 18 years president of the Thief River Falls Park board, gave an enlightening talk dealing with the local park system at the Lions club luncheon meeting last Wednesday noon in the Rex cafe.

"Stating that the parks are currently a $25,000-a-year operation, Barzen contended that the expense is justified by the recreation facilities provided for residents of this community, in addition to attracting visitors from throughout this area and as far away as Winnipeg.

"Barzen stated that among the projects now under consideration is one calling for dredging out the river pool to afford greater water storage capacity as well as to beautify the area. It will first be necessary, however, he pointed out, to acquire some additional property, particularly the island across from the Tindolph Park area."

Home Theater Buys Drive-In Theater Site

"Ward Nichols, manager of the Home Theater Company in Thief River Falls, announced Friday that a site for a drive-in theatre on Highway 59 southeast of the city had been acquired and that construction will get under way as soon as the necessary preliminary surveys have been completed. The site, consisting of 15 acres on the south side of the highway one mile southeast of the city limits, was purchased from Robert Kraemer. Plans call for a 500-car drive-in, which will be modern in every respect. Approval for this development was given earlier in the week by Leo Ross, president of the company, and B. J. Benfield and Harry Ressler, directors, Mr. Nichols stated."

Dan Bjorkman First To Pay Taxes In New Court House

"Dan Bjorkman, whose background in the laundry business in Thief River Falls goes back nearly fifty years, putting him up at the top of the seniority list among local businessmen in years of service, was the first citizen to pay his taxes in the new court house. The transaction was completed by County Treasurer A. R. Johnsrud and County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr. This was one instance of tax-paying being a pleasant procedure."

Mrs. Earl Jensen To Be Acting Head of Rest Home

"At a meeting of the Oakland Park Rest Home Friday evening, Mrs. Earl Jensen was appointed acting superintendent, effective October 1, to succeed Don Brandvold, resigned. Mrs. Jensen has been employed at the rest home in the capacity of bookkeeper and receptionist since it was organized and, prior to that, she served as office manager for the Oakland Park sanatorium."

ARCTCO'S FIRST ADDITION
Block 2 Lot 3
Block 3 Lots 1 - 3
Block 4 Lots 1 and 3
RUSTAD'S SUBDIVISION OF LOTS 7AND 8
Lots 20 and 47
UNPLATTED PROPERTIES
Sec. 35, T. 154 N., R. 43 W. Gov't Lots 11

Such assessment is proposed to be payable in equal annual installments extending over a period of 12 years, the first of the installments to be payable on or before the first Monday in January 2006, and will bear interest at the rate of 5.5 percent per annum from the date of the adoption of the assessment resolution. To the first installment shall be added interest on the entire assessment from the date of the assessment resolution until December 31, 2006. To each subsequent installment when due shall be added interest for one year on all unpaid installments.

You may at any time prior to certification of the assessment to the county auditor, pay the entire assessment on such property, with interest accrued to the date of payment to the City Administrator. No interest shall be charged if the entire assessment is paid within 30 days from the adoption of the assessment. You may at any time thereafter, pay to the City Administrator the entire amount of the assessment remaining unpaid, with interest accrued to December 31 of the year in which such payment is made. Such payment must be made before November 15 or interest will be charged through December 31 of the succeeding year. If you decide not to prepay the assessment before the date given above the rate of interest that will apply is 5.5 percent per year. The right to partially prepay the assessment is available.

The proposed assessment roll is on file for public inspection at the City Administrator's Office. The total amount of the proposed assessment and invoicing is $738,000. Written or oral objections will be considered at the meeting. No appeal may be taken as to the amount of an assessment unless a written objection signed by the affected property owner is filed with the City Administrator prior to the hearing or presented to the presiding officer at the hearing. The Council may upon such notice consider any objection to the amount of a proposed individual assessment at an adjourned meeting upon such further notice to the affected property owners, as it deems advisable.

If an assessment is contested or there is an adjourned hearing, the following procedure will be followed:

1. The City will present its case first by calling witnesses who may testify by narrative or by examination, and by the introduction of exhibits. After each witness has testified, the contesting party will be allowed to ask questions. This procedure will be repeated with each witness until neither side has further questions.

2. After the City has presented all its evidence, the objector may call witnesses or present such testimony as the objector desires. The same procedure for questioning of the City's witnesses will be followed with the objector's witnesses.

3. The objector may be represented by counsel.

4. Minnesota rules of evidence will not be strictly applied, however, they may be considered and argued to the Council as to the weight of items of evidence or testimony presented to the Council.

5. The entire proceedings will be tape-recorded.

6. At the close of presentation of evidence, the objector may make a final presentation to the Council based on the evidence and the law. No new evidence may be presented at this point.

7. The Council may adopt the proposed assessment at the hearing.

An owner may appeal an assessment to District Court pursuant to Minnesota Statutes Section 429.081 by serving notice of the appeal upon the Mayor or City Administrator of the City within 30 days after the adoption of the assessment and filing such notice with the District Court within 10 days after service upon the Mayor or City Administrator.

Pennington County youth place at State 4-H Horse Show

The 35th Annual Minnesota State 4-H Horse Show was held Sept. 15 to 19 at the Minnesota State Fairgrounds in St. Paul. Seven local 4-Hers represented Pennington County at the horse show. The results from this year's events are collectively the best Pennington County has ever had.

The Pennington County judging team of Justin Pyle, Sierra Dyrdal, Carolyn Paulson and Adrianne Erickson was the fourth place senior team and will advance to the National 4-H Classic in Denver in January. Judging awards went to Dyrdal, placing eighth overall; Pyle, placing 10th overall; and Pyle, placing 10th in his reasons' classes.

Pennington County youth received an honorable mention award for scoring 400 out of 400 in herdsmanship. This includes keeping stalls and the area around stalls in an excellent, clean condition with judges stopping at various, unannounced times throughout the four-day event.

Pennington County youth who participated in the horse show included:

- Alie Dorn and Kiss: third place in Western Pleasure, third place in Trail, 10th place in English Pleasure Hunt Seat. Dorn also participated in Showmanship, Horsemanship, English Equitation and Intermediate Horse Judging.
- Adrianne Erickson and Smoky: ninth place for Pole Jumping Figure 8. Erickson also participated in Key Hole, Barrels and Pole Weaving.
- Jennifer Holand and Laughing Tonto: 11th place in Barrels (tied for 10th place, but lost tie breaking runoff). Holand also participated in Western Pleasure, Showmanship, Horsemanship, Trail, Pole Weaving, Jumping Figure 8 and Key Hole.
- Carolyn Paulson and Wookie: fourth place in training horse and ninth place in English Equitation. Paulson also participated in Showmanship, Western Pleasure, Horsemanship and English Hunt Seat.
- Justin Pyle and Ms. Mikaila participated in Western Pleasure, Showmanship and Horsemanship.
- Richard Holand participated in the hippology contest.

ADawn Melbye is the group's adviser.

The Minnesota State 4-H Horse Show is the largest all-youth show held in Minnesota each year. This year, 810 youth with 640 horses participated in the state show.

EDWARD JONES RANKED NO.1 IN SMARTMONEY

SmartMoney magazine has named Edward Jones the No. 1 full-service broker in its annual brokerage survey. Edward Jones placed ahead of seven other firms and received the highest rankings in all four categories surveyed by the magazine: stock picking, customer satisfaction, trust and customer statements. The ranking was reported in the magazine's August 2005 issue. Thanks to you, our clients and friends, for helping us achieve this accomplishment.

TRF finally able to closeout runway grant

TRF Crosswind runway project now complete

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

The crosswind runway has been open for the past nine months, and now the Thief River Falls City Council has authorized the closeout of the second and final grant for the project.

At its Sept. 27 meeting, it authorized the closeout of a $949,653 cost-share grant for navigational aids at the Thief River Falls Regional Airport as well as some nearby land acquisition and other items. Of that amount, the city was responsible for 10 percent or $94,965.

"The good news is the contractor installed all the equipment at basically contract cost," said Public Works Director Ron Lindberg.

Strata Corporation was the contractor for the navigational aid work. Construction cost $646,418.52, which included a change order of $6,100 and cost overruns of approximately $5,000 for additional signs required by the Federal Aviation Administration, Lindberg noted.

As part of the closeout of the grant, Strata Corporation will receive its final payment of approximately $70,100. However, it will have to put $35,000 in escrow for the installation of Precision Apparatus Path Indicators (PAPI). PAPI are guidance lights.

Strata will have to order PAPI since the original guidance lights were out of alignment, Lindberg said. Once the new guidance lights are in place and operational, city officials would give the money in escrow back to Strata.

"This is something we've done in the past with other contractors, but not to this amount," said Lindberg, who noted that amount in escrow is usually about $2,000.

The entire crosswind runway project cost $4.04 million. In August, the council authorized the closeout of the first grant, which only covered the crosswind runway. Lindberg noted the project was covered by two cost-share grants since the amount required from the federal government was not available in one installment.

For more than 10 years, city officials have discussed the construction of a crosswind runway. Construction began in 2003, and the 5,000-foot crosswind runway was slated for completion in summer 2004. Signage issues delayed the opening of the crosswind runway. In January 2005, a plane landed on the crosswind runway for the first time.

The council approved the preparation of the assessment roll for the 2005 Street and Utilities Improvement Project as well as a public hearing date for the proposed assessments. The public hearing will be held Oct. 19 at 7 p.m. at City Hall.

On behalf of the Hartz Foundation, Dick Sjoberg presented the city of Thief River Falls with two grants. A $20,000 grant was presented to the city for the Thief River Falls Fire Department to purchase Jaws of Life and other accessories. A $10,000 grant was presented to the city on behalf of the Curling Club.

Saying "So long" can be hard

Families and friends say goodbye to local guard

▶ A departure ceremony was held Sunday for family members and friends to say "so long" to members of Company B Detachment, 2-136th Mechanized Infantry Battalion in Thief River Falls. Gov. Tim Pawlenty spoke at the ceremony, which was held at the National Guard Armory. Approximately 45 National Guard members, who are based in Thief River Falls, left Tuesday for an 18-month deployment. The deployment includes up to six months of training in the U.S. and at least a year of combat operations in Iraq.

Twelve-year-old Nick Cervantes has probably had more worries and concerns than other kids his age. His dad, John, left Tuesday for another deployment with the National Guard. This time, his dad's unit will be in Iraq.

The Thief River Falls resident is proud of his dad, but he noted it wasn't easy the first time his dad was deployed to Bosnia and Herzegovina in 2003 and 2004. "Right away, it was kind of hard," said Cervantes. "When he came home, it was a big change."

Now, Cervantes will again have to get used to not being able to see his dad on a regular basis. His dad is one of approximately 45 soldiers from Company B Detachment, 2-136th Mechanized Infantry Battalion in Thief River Falls who have been deployed. The unit left Tuesday to begin training in Mississippi before going to Iraq. As of this time, it is expected the deployment will last 18 months.

S.D. 564 approves 13.2% increase for its preliminary levy

by David Hill
Editor

School District 564 Board of Education approved a preliminary levy budget increase of 13.21 percent at its meeting on Monday, Sept. 26.

Since the State of Minnesota took over the majority of general education funding, "you have very little choice, and no practical choice," said Harry Nelson, business manager.

The certified levy in 2004 was $2,401,915.46. As approved Monday, the 2005, payable 2006 levy would raise $2,719,250.36, an additional $317,334.90 or a 13.21 percent increase.

Nelson went through the preliminary levy proposal line by line. He concluded that the increase is driven by many factors, and that this is how the formula plays out.

Taxpayers will have an opportunity to comment on their axes at a meeting that will be scheduled in the first week of December.

Superintendent Irv Peterson noted later that the statewide average among school districts is about a 15 percent increase.

Franklin Middle School

According to the Minnesota Department of Education, Franklin Middle School earned four stars in reading and three in math. That doesn't mean the school administrators and staff are going to rest on their laurels.

Monday night, Franklin Middle School Principal Bob Wayne and Vice Principal Shane Zutz presented an update on the school starting with its goals for the year. Improvements in reading and math continue to be goals. Specifically, staff will work on literal comprehension in reading, and problem solving and reasoning in math. Other goals emphasize school to community service, creating a collaborative culture to improve student learning, and "Living Above the Line," the school's motto. Zutz noted that the emphasis on Living Above the Line - using respect and being responsible - has reduced discipline problems throughout the school.

Wayne and Zutz reviewed student test data, which they believe is very helpful. They added that they look forward to being able to utilize more data.

The data indicates that there are reasons to celebrate student achievement, but they will continue to emphasize improvement. Last year, many students met their targeted individual growth goals - 50 percent met their growth goals in

Getting fit, getting strong in Thief River Falls

Schools, businesses and medical facilities offer strength training opportunities

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

What do the Thief River Falls electronics store Budget, Northwest Medical Center, Lincoln High School and Northland Community and Technical College have in common? Readers who thoroughly read the headline, probably figured out that they all offer a weight training facility to the public.

Weight training is regarded by fitness experts as an essential component to one's physical fitness. They say weight training is just as important to overall physical fitness as running on a treadmill, a proper diet and appropriate rest.

"Weight training is something that should be done throughout life," said Dr. James Langland, sports medicine and strength and conditioning specialist at Dakota Clinic. "The important components of fitness are strength training and cardiovascular training and I wouldn't rank one over the other."

"I think weight training is an under utilized component of healthy aging," Langland said. "Many of the problems I deal with in older patients has to do with their misuse or disuse of muscles."

Marty's Gym

Marty Collins's Budget electronics store is home to one of Thief River Falls' largest and oldest weight rooms. Opening in 1987, it has a loyal following of members that have used the facility to maintain their strength and reach fitness goals for much of the facility's existence.

"We're hard core," said Collins of his weightroom. "There are no treadmills, no stair steppers and we use predominantly free weights. Our gym is really for the hardcore lifter."

Most of the equipment in Marty's Gym came from the original Thief River Falls Racquetball Club, where Collins was employed as a weightlifting instructor. Collins said he inquired about purchasing some of the weights and equipment when the Racquetball club was being sold in 1985. The owner had already made a deal to sell all equipment to another buyer and told Collins, "you buy all of it or buy none of it."

Collins said he originally intended to purchase some equipment that he would use in his home, but when he was forced to purchase the contents of an entire weightroom, space became a problem. The basement of his business, Budget, presented the best option for space.

It wasn't long after setting up the Racquetball club's weightroom contents in Budget's basement, that former club patrons began to inquire about lifting in Collins' facility. Marty's Gym was born.

Collins described his weightroom as a family environment where many of the Racquetball club's lifters still workout. While much of his client base has been working out there for more than 10 years, Marty's Gym also offers training and assistance to weightlifters of all skill levels.

"If we get somebody whose not acclimated to the sport, we'll give them as little or as much help as

Two people have charges pending in connection with aggravated robbery

Aggravated robbery, warrant apprehension, aiding and abetting aggravated robbery, and fourth degree driving while intoxicated: On Sept. 28 at 12:46 a.m., police received a report that a man had entered Kum & Go with blood all over himself and had said he "was beaten up." Kacey Lee Miller, 18, Thief River Falls, allegedly offered the man a ride from The Lantern to his hotel room. However, she allegedly drove to the municipal parking lot in the 200 block of Horace Ave. N. Once there, she allegedly opened the trunk and Chad Brian Rice, 21, Thief River Falls, jumped out of the trunk. He allegedly assaulted the other man and took his wallet, which the man believed contained less than $3. The man suffered bruises and abrasions to his face. The man provided police with a description of the people and vehicle involved. The suspect vehicle was located in the 200 block of Horace Ave. N. It was stopped near the intersection of First Street and Pine Avenue. Miller and Rice were allegedly in the vehicle. Rice has charges pending for aggravated robbery. He was also apprehended on a Pennington County warrant for unpaid fine hearings. Miller has charges pending for aiding and abetting in an aggravated robbery, and fourth degree driving while intoxicated.

Disorderly conduct: On Sept. 13 at 5:15 p.m., police received a report of disorderly conduct in the Kmart parking lot. Kimberly Lynnette Borowicz, 40, Strandquist, approached a vehicle occupied by a man and a woman. She allegedly told the man to stay away from the woman. Borowicz then allegedly punched the man two to three times. Borowicz was cited for disorderly conduct.

Theft: On Sept. 21 at 2:38 p.m., the sheriff's department received a report of a theft at Arctic Cat Salvage. Christopher Lee Rux, 32, Holt, allegedly stole a 900-twin crankshaft valued at $372.75. He has charges pending for theft.

Disorderly conduct: On Sept. 25 at 4:52 p.m., police received a report of disorderly conduct. Stacy Lynn Olson, 32, Thief River Falls, allegedly confronted a woman as the woman left the Rusty Nail, grabbed her by the throat and slammed her against a wall. Olson then allegedly called the woman and made threatening comments. Olson was cited for disorderly conduct.

Terroristic threats: On Sept. 26 at 7:50 p.m., police received a report of terroristic threats. A 14-year-old Thief River Falls female allegedly called a boy and made threats against him. The juvenile has charges pending for terroristic threats.

Disorderly conduct: On Sept. 26 at 9:23 p.m., police received a report that individuals were driving past people and allegedly shooting them with pellets. The vehicle was stopped near the intersection of First Street and Main Avenue. A 16-year-old male and a 17-year-old male, both from Thief River Falls, have charges pending for disorderly conduct.

Domestic assault: On Sept. 27, the sheriff's department received a report of a domestic assault in the 11000 block of 180th Ave. N.E. David Mark Sabo, 45, Thief River Falls, allegedly kicked a woman out of bed by kicking her shoulder and then struck the right side of the woman's face. Later, Sabo allegedly struck the woman in the face and forcibly pushed her bra and underwear into her face. Sabo has been charged with domestic assault.

Accident: On Sept. 27 at 11:21 a.m., the sheriff's department received a report of an accident on County Road 27 in Hickory Township. A 1999 Ford Escort driven by Todd Edmund Budish of Mesa, Ariz., collided with a 1999 Ford Super-Duty driven by Lonny Leroy Burrack of Trail. At the time of the accident, Burrack was towing a trailer. According to the report, Budish attempted a U-turn and hit the side of Burrack's trailer. Budish's vehicle sustained $2,000 in damage, and Burrack's trailer sustained $200 in damage.

Domestic assault: On Sept. 28, police received a report of a domestic assault in the 600 block of Greenwood St. E. The report indicated the accuser had reported an assault that allegedly occurred at 1 a.m. Sept. 23. James Elroy Sletten, 35, Thief River Falls, was cited for domestic assault. He allegedly put a woman in a headlock. Sletten also allegedly grabbed her by the arms and threw her to the floor.

Public nuisance: On Sept. 28 at 12:11 a.m., police received a loud noise complaint regarding a residence in the 300 block of St. Paul Ave. S. Steven Jacob Stene, 21, Thief River Falls, was cited for public nuisance.

Theft: On Sept. 28 at 12:18 a.m., police received a report of a theft in the 1300 block of Dale St. A Canon power-shot A70 digital camera was reported stolen. The camera is valued at $400. The incident remains under investigation.

Accident and unsafe U-turn: On Sept. 28 at 12:04 p.m., police received a report of an accident on Fifth Street East between Main and LaBree avenues. A 2001 Pontiac Grand Am driven by Erin Marie Schindler of Thief River Falls collided with a 2000 Yamaha motorcycle driven by Michael Gerard DeHaan of Thief River Falls. At the time of the accident, Schindler was eastbound on Fifth Street East and DeHaan was driving the motorcycle behind her. According to the report, Schindler made a U-turn and DeHaan then struck Schindler's vehicle. The report indicated DeHaan suffered cuts to his face and legs, a gash to his lip, and bruises. Schindler was cited for an unsafe U-turn. Schindler's vehicle sustained $1,000 in damage, and DeHaan's motorcycle sustained $3,000 in damage.

Hit and run accident: On Sept. 28 at 7:08 p.m., police received a report of a hit and run accident in the 100 block of Duluth Ave. N. A 1999 Ford Escort owned by the Sisters of St. Benedict of Crookston sustained $900 in damage after an unknown driver struck the vehicle. The incident remains under investigation.

Underage consumption and violation of a learner's permit: On Sept. 30 at 12:53 a.m., police received a report of a stolen vehicle near the intersection of Dale Street and Belleville Court. When police arrived, they learned the vehicle was not stolen, but Jason Travis Smith, 21, Thief River Falls, allegedly drove the vehicle back to the residence. Smith was cited for violation of a learner's permit. Stephanie Jo Hanson, 20, Thief River Falls, was cited for underage consumption.

Issuance of worthless checks: The following individuals have been cited for the issuance of worthless checks. Their names, ages, cities of residence and the amounts of the checks were as follows: Carmen Kay Polejewski, 38, Audubon, $7; Jeremy Arlyn Skjerven, 30, Newfolden, $29.16; Twila Marie Owen, 32, Thief River Falls, $14.60; Jeffrey Thomas Matson, 40, Thief River Falls, $30; Mark Douglas Kimble, 24, Bemidji, $33; Charles Daniel Kelly, 27, Thief River Falls, $123.68; Jolene Adele Holthusen, 30, Salol, $38.50.

Domestic assault: On Oct. 1 at 10:59 p.m., police received a 911 call from the 500 block of Hickory Rd., but someone hung up the phone. Dispatchers called the home, but no one answered. Police were dispatched to the scene. Lionel Joe Peralta, 27, Thief River Falls, has charges pending for domestic assault. He allegedly dragged a woman by her hair across a floor and stomped on her head with a steel-toed boot.

Fourth degree driving while intoxicated: On Oct. 2, the sheriff's department received a report of a vehicle in a ditch along Highway 59 South. Haidee Rodriguez Peralta, 30, Thief River Falls, was cited for fourth degree driving while intoxicated.

Accident: On Oct 2 at 9:48 a.m., police received a report of an accident at the intersection of Nelson Drive and Sherwood Avenue South. A 1997 Kenworth semi driven by Richard Warren Anderson of Thief River Falls and a 1987 Ford pickup driven by David Gene Trontvet of Thief River Falls collided. At the time of the accident, Anderson was turning north onto Sherwood Avenue South, and the southbound Trontvet was attempting to turn west. According to the report, Anderson said he didn't see the Trontvet vehicle approaching the intersection. The report indicated Trontvet said he tried to move his vehicle to get out of the way. The semi sustained $1,000 in damage, and Trontvet's vehicle sustained $3,500 in damage.

If readers have any information about the aforementioned crimes or offenses, they are urged to contact the Law Enforcement Center at 681-6161.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

Red Lake man sentenced for felony offense of theft

A Red Lake man was sentenced in Pennington County District Court Sept. 26 for a felony offense.

John Paul Strong, 26, pled guilty to an offense of theft over $500 and under $2,500. In a plea agreement, a felony offense of third degree burglary was dismissed. A five-year stay of imposition was granted. Strong was sentenced to 30 days in jail. He can serve his jail time in Red Lake. Strong was given credit for time served. He was ordered to pay $182 in fees and fines. On June 22, Strong entered an apartment in the 300 block of Oak Ave. N. and stole a money order, $250 cash, three Citizen band watches, a bottle of Armani cologne, a DVD player and 30 DVDs. The items were valued at more than $1,600. The DVD player was recovered.

Driver distraction: The leading factor in Minnesota crashes

Driver inattention or distraction is the leading behavioral factor in crashes on Minnesota's roads. To raise awareness of distractions and the need to devote attention to the driving task, the Minnesota Network of Employers for Traffic Safety (NETS) is teaming up with employers and the Minnesota Wireless Foundation to promote the ninth annual Drive Safely Work Week campaign Oct. 3-7.

"Driving is a complex task that requires the attention and concentration of the driver," said Lisa Kons, coordinator of Minnesota NETS. "Changing a CD, eating or tending to children in the backseat may seem routine, but they all take attention away from driving."

In addition to physical activities, Kons listed mental distractions, such as demanding conversations and cell phone use, and roadway diversions, such as slowing down to gawk, as issues requiring heightened awareness.

Minnesota NETS urges drivers to take steps that will reduce distraction, including:

- Checking directions and maps before leaving for a destination.
- Allowing plenty of time to arrive safely.
- Making sure the windshield is clean; adjusting mirrors, radio stations and other controls before driving.
- Buckling up.
- Being aware of other roadway users.
- Avoiding demanding or emotionally charged conversations with passengers.
- Don't shave, apply makeup, eat or talk on a cell phone while driving.
- Looking, listening and anticipating roadway hazards and reacting safely.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration reports that distracted driving behaviors are responsible for 20 to 30 percent of the nearly three million crashes that occur in the U.S. each year. In Minnesota, when all types of crashes are combined, driver inattention or distraction is the behavioral factor cited most frequently by law enforcement, according to data collected by the Minnesota Department of Public Safety Office of Traffic Safety.

Drive Safely Week is a national campaign designed to help employers emphasize the importance of driving safely, both on and off the job.

DPS issues 2004 crash facts

The annual summary of traffic crashes and deaths, "Minnesota Motor Vehicle Crash Facts 2004," reports a 13 percent decrease in traffic deaths and the lowest tally of alcohol-related deaths since 1984 when the state began its current method of calculating these crashes. The Minnesota Department of Public Safety Office of Traffic Safety (OTS) compiles the report.

"Crash Facts" cites 567 fatalities, 40,073 injuries and 91,274 total crashes at an estimated economic impact of $1.8 billion. The 2004 numbers reflect the deaths of motorists (461), motorcyclists (50), pedestrians (37), bicyclists (10), all-terrain-vehicle riders (four), motor-scooter riders (two), farm equipment drivers (two) and snowmobilers (one). Of the 461 vehicle occupants killed, 239 or 52 percent were not wearing seat belts. Alcohol-related crashes accounted for 177 deaths. In 2003, there were 655 traffic-related deaths and 255 were alcohol-related.

OTS reports one fatality per 100 million vehicle miles traveled (VMT), the lowest rate since the state began compiling statistics in 1934 at 23.6 deaths per 100 million VMT. Over the last three decades, the number of people killed has decreased even as the number of drivers and miles traveled has dramatically increased. In Minnesota in 2004, there were 3.8 million licensed drivers, more than 4.6 million registered motor vehicles and more than 56 billion miles traveled.

Nearly 40 percent of the deaths – 224 – were people under the age of 30. One in four fatal crashes occurred between 3 and 7 p.m., and 70 percent of fatal crashes occurred in rural areas (populations of less than 5,000).

Commercial vehicles were involved in 70 fatal crashes resulting in 79 deaths – only nine of which were truck occupants. There were no deaths among school bus occupants, but crashes involving school buses accounted for three deaths.

Eight Minnesota counties recorded no traffic fatalities in 2004: Marshall, Lake of the Woods, Cook, Faribault, Jackson, Nicollet, Redwood and Traverse. Despite the counties' smaller populations and densities, as well as geographic distance from key metro areas, Department of Public Safety (DPS) officials see last year's zero fatalities as progress and as an example to other counties and municipalities.

"These aren't counties with heavy traffic," acknowledged Kathy Swanson, OTS director. "But they all had several crash deaths in the past three years, yet none last year."

Additionally, there were:

- 12 counties with one fatality each – Kittson, Red Lake, Lincoln, Mahnomen, Mower, Sibley, Stevens, Swift, Wadena, Waseca, Wilkin and Yellow Medicine.
- Nine counties with two fatalities each – Roseau, Clearwater, Grant, Lac Qui Parle, McLeod, Murray, Norman, Rock and Wabasha.

Swanson encourages counties with one or more traffic deaths to strive to reduce their traffic deaths by at least two or three each year regardless of their annual average. "If every county had two fewer crash fatalities, we could reduce the state's annual deaths by about one-third – that would truly move Minnesota 'toward zero deaths.'"

Toward Zero Deaths (TZD) is an effort led by DPS and the Minnesota Department of Transportation, with partners that include the Minnesota Department of Health, and Center for Transportation Studies at the University of Minnesota. The effort combines the "four Es" – engineering, enforcement, education and emergency services – to reduce fatalities and serious injuries on Minnesota roads.

"Crash Facts" provides statistics by county and for cities with populations of more than 2,500. The report is used by legislators, highway planners and engineers, law enforcement and public health officials, and city and county government agencies.

Three leading causes of fire: men, women and children

For children ages 14 and under, the number-one health risk isn't drugs or disease – it's injuries. Each year, thousands of injuries to children are the result of unintentional fires, most of which are predictable and preventable.

"Fire prevention, not response, is what reduces the number of injuries and deaths, and prevention requires close attention to the three leading causes of preventable fires – men, women and children," said State Fire Marshal Jerry Rosendahl.

October is National Fire Prevention Month during which the Minnesota State Fire Marshal and local fire departments will conduct weekly awareness promotions for adults and children. In the first week, emphasis is on children and RiskWatch®, the first school-based injury prevention curriculum to link teachers with community safety experts and parents.

"RiskWatch is designed to teach young people to identify hazards before an incident takes place," said Rosendahl. "It provides children and parents with knowledge about fire and the actions they must take to create safer homes and communities."

The State Fire Marshal Division received a federal grant to provide RiskWatch to communities at no cost. The program includes all curriculum materials, teacher training and community awareness activities.

Each week in October, state fire officials and local fire departments will focus education efforts on specific fire issues. Topics include home fire safety checkups, juvenile arson, smoke detectors, and heating, cooking and candle fires.

Information on all of these topics is available for teachers, churches, community groups and families at www.fire.state.mn.us.

For more information on RiskWatch, contact Deputy State Fire Marshal Dan Bernardy at Daniel.bernardy@state.mn.us or (651) 215-1754.

Goodridge man injured in accidental shooting

A Goodridge man was injured Saturday afternoon after an accidental shooting in Highlanding Township.

Galen Dale Peters was shot in the left forearm, according to the Pennington County Sheriff's Department. He was taken to Northwest Medical Center by private vehicle, and treated and released.

At the time of the shooting, Peters was operating a tractor in Section 8 of Highlanding Township, and Brian Patrick Unbehaun of Thief River Falls was hunting for bears 100 yards away from Peters. A bear then appeared between Peters and Unbehaun, according to the report. Unbehaun shot at the bear with a Ruger 338 at which time Peters noticed the side-window of the tractor's cab had shattered. Peters then noticed he had blood on his arm and that there was a deformed bullet inside the cab of the tractor.

The sheriff's department was dispatched to the scene at 4:24 p.m. Saturday.

State Patrol responds to two accidents over weekend

The Minnesota State Patrol responded to two accidents over the weekend in Pennington and Polk counties.

One person was injured in an accident Sunday morning in Pennington County. Daniel Peking Wilson, 25, Thief River Falls, was taken to Northwest Medical Center (NWMC). Wilson, who suffered lacerations to a knee, was treated and released, according to an NWMC nursing supervisor.

At the time of the accident, Wilson was driving a 1996 Chevy Blazer southbound on Pennington Avenue, north of 139th Avenue Northeast, in Thief River Falls. The vehicle traveled onto the southbound shoulder, and Wilson overcorrected. The vehicle then rolled and landed upright. The report indicated the vehicle's airbags did not deploy. The vehicle was totalled. The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 6:12 a.m. Sunday.

No one was injured after an accident Friday evening half a mile west of Sherack on Polk County 21. A 2001 Chrysler Sebring driven by Jillian Grace Stenseth, 22, Thief River Falls, collided with a 1988 Freightliner semi driven by Jon Scott Kobetsky, 48, East Grand Forks. At the time of the accident, both drivers were westbound on Polk County 21. Kobetsky was in front, and he turned left onto a field approach. Stenseth swerved to miss a wooden crate on the road, according to the report. Stenseth's vehicle then collided with the semi's trailer.

Stenseth and Kobetsky were not injured in the accident. Stenseth's vehicle sustained moderate damage, and the semi sustained minor damage. The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 6:10 p.m. Friday.

No one injured after house fire

No injuries were reported after a house fire Saturday evening in Thief River Falls.

The fire occurred at the home of Roger and Karen Meunier, 10354 190th St. N.W. No one was home at the time of the fire, according to the Thief River Falls Fire Department for which Roger Meunier is a volunteer.

The fire destroyed a garage and a vehicle parked outside of the garage. The department indicated the home sustained smoke damage as well.

Firefighters were dispatched to the scene at 6:28 p.m. Saturday. They were on the scene for about three hours. The fire remains under investigation.

TRF bike rider races to place at Headwaters 100

Despite a steady rain and temperatures in the 50s, 40 cyclists competed in the Headwaters 100 on Saturday, Sept. 24. Among the racers was 18-year-old Jon Kays of Thief River Falls. Kays finished second in his age group and 23rd overall with a time of 4:17:12.

The Headwaters 100 is a 100-mile bike race along the lakes and woodlands near Park Rapids.

Kays said he felt exhausted and drained after the race. The day after the race, he said he felt just fine, and had fully recovered.

Kays has been in several races this year and this was the last event for him this season. Kays said, "It's good to have races. They keep you going," but added, "you need rest, too."

Kays said he plans to ride in more races in the future. This event showed him that he needs to work on tactics and getting stronger for the sprint at the finish. He explained that placing in the event pretty much came down to a sprint at the finish.

The winner, Adam Bergman, Lino Lakes, finished in a time of 4:07:52. Kays said a group broke away from the main pack within the first 10 miles, and had a 10-minute lead at the end.

The pace of the ride varied with the terrain, but Kays' average pace was about 22.5 miles per hour.

Purdy's donates shoes to victims in Mississippi

Purdy's Shoes in Thief River Falls joined the many area businesses and residents who have made donations to the hurricane victim relief effort.

Trevor Swanson of Purdy's Shoes in Thief River Falls said he received a telephone call from former Thief River Falls resident Jim Bitzegaio last week. Bitzegaio used to be a neighbor, but now lives in Hastings. It was explained to Swanson that the community of Hastings had adopted schools in Ocean Springs, Miss. One school was damaged by a tornado, and another was by the coast, so it was devastated by flooding. The community and the schools in that community are very similar in size to the schools in Hastings. The Bitzegaios volunteered to help in the community-wide relief effort. In addition, Bitzegaio's sister is a teacher in the community. Swanson said Bitzegaio asked if Purdy's would donate shoes to the effort, and Swanson said they were glad to do what they could for others in need.

Last week, staff at Purdy's packed up and sent 101 pairs of brand new shoes to Hastings, where they will be added to a truck load of supplies being sent to Ocean Springs.

Vibeto joins Dakota Clinic – Thief River Falls

Technology workshops, fair scheduled

Several technology workshops will be held in the near future as a result of the "Get Broadband" initiative. All workshops will be held at Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC)

A "Get Broadband" general information presentation will be held Oct. 10 or Nov. 8 from 6 to 7 p.m. Topics include a comparison to dial-up Internet, how one gets broadband, what it costs and benefits of high-speed Internet.

Internet Workshop I – Brief Introduction to the Internet will be held Oct. 17 or Nov. 15 from 6 to 9 p.m. It is a hands-on workshop on getting connected, effective searching, browsing and e-mail. Participants will learn how to keep themselves, their employees and family safe on the Internet.

Internet Workshop II – Developing Your Own Web Page will be held Oct. 19 or Nov. 17 from 6 to 9 p.m. This hands-on workshop will provide tips for creating a content rich, visually appealing Web page for a business. Keeping the end user in mind, participants will learn how to carefully plan the content, layout and design.

E-Commerce Workshop I – Planning Your Small Business Web Site will be held Oct. 24 or Nov. 29 from 6 to 9 p.m. This hands-on workshop will help participants create Internet business plans, explore e-commerce and plan their Web sites. They will learn a series of steps to make sure their site is successful.

E-Commerce Workshop II – Making Your Business Known Online will be held Oct. 26 or Dec. 1 from 6 to 9 p.m. This hands-on workshop covers online marketing strategies, search engine placement, promotional materials/activities and competitive intelligence.

A technology fair will also be held as part of the "Get Broadband" initiative. The event will be held Jan. 21 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Northland Community and Technical College. Registrations are being accepted for the fair.

Businesses are invited to participate in the technology fair. They may participate by offering a technology-based presentation or business exhibits.

"Get Broadband" is a community-based program to enhance the usage of high speed Internet within Thief River Falls. To accomplish this goal, the technology, as well as free technology workshops, will be offered.

By attending a workshop or the technology fair, participants will receive an entry form to win a free computer, discount coupons and other prizes.

For more information, contact Julie Fenning at 681-0796, julie.fenning@northlandcollege.edu or register online at www.visitthiefriverfalls.com/getbroadband/.

Silver Creek Lutheran Church to host turkey supper

Silver Creek Lutheran Church will host a turkey supper on Sunday, Oct. 16, from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Eagles Club in Thief River Falls. Cost for the supper is $7.50 for adults and $3 for youth age 5 to 12.

The menu includes turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, corn, lefse, rolls, cranberries, pickles and desserts. The supper also includes a bake sale, crafts, needlework and garden produce.

Pennington County 4-H clubs to host "Get Green" carnival

The Pennington County 4-H Clubs will be hosting a "Get Green" 4-H carnival on Friday, October 7 from 6-8 p.m. in the City Auditorium in Thief River Falls. Everyone is welcome.

There will be games, such as bingo, ring toss, fish pond, golf and many more, with lots of prizes and fun for all. Tickets are 25 cents per game or five for $1.00. Oct. 2-8 is National 4-H Week and a great time to get information on how to become involved in 4-H.

Enrollment information will be available along with many 4-Hers, parents and volunteers who can answer any questions. If you want more information, please call the Pennington County Extension Office at 683-7030.

TRF schools plan Oct. 7 inservice day

Improving reading skills is a districtwide goal. Teachers at all levels in Thief River Falls will be using October 7 as an inservice day to work toward accomplishing that goal.

Due to Friday's inservice, there will be no classes for students. Latch Key will be available.

Challenger Elementary School staff will be working on the Literacy Collaborative, a program designed in part with Ohio State University to improve the literacy achievement of each child in reading, writing and word study. They will also be analyzing NWEA results, exploring flexible grouping options, and sharing ideas on how to use the data to conduct conferences. Challenger Preschool teachers will continue implementing the "Building Language Together" program.

Staff members from Franklin Middle School, Lincoln High School, and the Area Learning Center will be working with John Trolander, a Reading Specialist, on employing methods to teach reading in the content areas. LHS staff members are reading the book "When Kids Can't Read" by Kylene Beers. Part of the day will be spent discussing how to put the strategies in the book to use in the classroom.

Paraprofessionals from all buildings will be attending a training on autism. Presenters for that event include Lori Warne, school psychologist, and Sandy Fladeland, Autism Consultant for the district.

Tough questions greet city council

by David Hill
Editor

Tough questions greeted Thief River Falls City Council representatives at a Chamber of Commerce sponsored "Lunch with the Mayor" question and answer session held Tuesday at the Best Western in Thief River Falls.

The first questions on the agenda were "Why do you feel that it is necessary to continue to own and maintain buildings which are no longer used by the city?, and why do you feel that you need to support these buildings by renting them out and therefore putting yourself in direct competition with the very taxpayers who support or subsidize these buildings with their tax dollars?"

Thief River Falls owns several buildings that are no longer used by the city - the engineering building, city auditorium, and old arena, for example. Dave Carlson, vice mayor, said most city council representatives would probably like to get rid of the buildings if they could, but that there are other considerations at play. The engineering building, may for example, make way for the future expansion of the fire department. In regard to the auditorium and old arena, there's a significant demand for gym space and ice space in the community.

Mayor Dale Wennberg noted that since the city owns them and it costs money to maintain the buildings, they rent them out so as not to be more of a burden on city taxpayers. Wennberg stated later that none of these buildings and situations are new and that anyone coming into the community should have been aware of that fact.

As the meeting progressed, officials stated several times that there was no intent to compete with or undercut private business in the community. Buildings and services are provided as a way to complement or augment services that are provided by private business in the community.

Elvera Cullen, at-large representative on the council, explained that the city knows it has to walk a fine line - bringing people to the community and providing services, without coming into competition with local entrepreneurs. "We're trying to do the best we can," said Cullen.

The uses of the Ralph Engelstad Arena (REA) and selection process for its new marketing manager were called into question too.

Jodie Torkelson, city administrator, explained that a committee spent weeks on developing a job description for the REA manager position. Eventually, the committee arrived at a job description that emphasized the need for a marketing degree or similar experience.

Carlson explained that several events have been held at the REA since it opened, but that the city had only scratched the surface in terms of marketing. "Basically," he said, "the city hung an 'Open for Business' sign on the front door and people came."

Mayor Wennberg, who has been serving as the interim general manager at the REA, said there have been several events at the arena, hockey and otherwise. Since the completion of the Imperial Room, there have been events there too, including the Arctic Cat vendor meeting and weddings. This summer the REA also hosted a three-on-three basketball tournament, and it will host the annual gun show and the Holiday Fair.

An individual in the audience questioned whether providing space for wedding receptions wasn't in direct competition with local entrepreneurs and businesses.

Wennberg said the weddings were catered by local entrepreneurs. One of the weddings served over 300.

Another citizen wondered at the agility of a future manager in the employ of the city rather than an independent contractor.

Kajewski said the matter had been debated in committee, and the committee concluded that the position should be filled by a city employee. He explained that some committee members believed a city employee would have a more direct relationship with city staff who have to provide services in the building.

Since it was stated earlier that the future employment of this individual would be dependent upon his or her performance, one citizen asked what the performance goals were.

Carlson reflected that the committee and council had not established any specific goals yet, but goal setting was expected of any city department and would be done in this case.

Citizens raised questions about other issues - zoning, the city's role in Arctic Cat's expansion to St. Cloud, use and possible sale of dedicated park land, even whether the city or fair board had ever considered moving the fairgrounds and selling its property for private development.

No word as to whether the line of questioning gave the city council representatives heartburn.

Marguerite and Bernice Barth of Thief River Falls found this white potato in their garden recently. It looks like a sculpture or an animal. Marguerite noted their red potatoes looked normal, but all of their white potatoes were peculiar in shape. This potato was especially peculiar, she noted.

Be hypnotized to lose weight and/or stop using tobacco

Hypnosis will be offered Thursday, Oct. 13 to help individuals lose weight and/or stop using tobacco.

Group hypnosis will be offered Thursday, Oct. 13 in the District Service Center board room. Check-in is at 6 p.m. From 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., an introduction will be held for both the weight loss and stop smoking and chewing tobacco sessions. From 7:45 to 8:30 p.m., the weight loss hypnosis participants will meet. At that time, smokers will take a 45-minute break off of school grounds to have their last cigarettes. From 8:45 to 9:30 p.m., stop smoking and chewing tobacco hypnosis participants meet. The cost is $50 for one session or $95 for both hypnosis sessions. The fee includes a reinforcement tape and a card that allows participants to attend future seminars for free if reinforcement is desired. No discounts apply. Bring a pillow, blanket, sleeping bag or bean bag for added comfort. Dr. Mary Fischer, DCH, CHT is the presenter.

To register, go to Community Education at the District Service Center, 230 LaBree Ave. S. Office hours are 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays.

Dave and Barb Anderson to present worship concert

Dave and Barb Anderson of Phoenix, Ariz., will present a worship concert at Redeemer Lutheran Church on Wednesday, Oct. 12, at 7 p.m.

Now in their 29th year of ministry, the Andersons have touched audiences around the world with sincerity and warmth.

In 1993, God miraculously rescued Dave and Barb and five others from a plane crash into the frigid waters of the Bering Sea, off the coast of Nome, Alaska. They were returning from a humanitarian and Christian ministry mission in the Russian Far East. This miracle of God has changed their lives and their ministry.

Their music is a blend of contemporary, gospel and traditional. Their purpose is to give audiences a lift and focus their attention on the awesome God who loves and is capable of rescuing people from difficult circumstances.

Accompanying Dave and Barb Anderson is pianist/accompanist Dale Pust, Minneapolis. Dave, Barb and Dale have presented hundreds of concerts together in America, Australia and Asia.

A freewill offering will be accepted. For more information about the concert; call Redeemer Lutheran Church at 681-3390.

United Lutheran Church Men to host Swiss steak supper

The United Lutheran Church men are having their annual Swiss steak supper in Gatzke on Saturday, Oct. 8, from 4:30 to 8 p.m. They will be serving Swiss steak, potatoes and gravy, corn, coleslaw, milk, coffee, desserts and lefse. The cost will be $7.50 for adults, $4 for kids kindergarten through sixth grade, and preschool children can eat for free. Supplemental funding will be furnished by Thrivent Financial for Lutherans.

Bethany Church presents 57th annual Scandinavian smorgasbord

The smell of fall (and lutefisk) is in the air in Red Lake Falls as Bethany Lutheran Church prepares for its 57th annual Scandinavian Smorgasbord. This year's smorgasbord will be held on Saturday, Oct. 8 from 4:30 to 8 p.m. at Bethany Church in Red Lake Falls.

A full menu of Scandinavian favorites, such as lutefisk casserole, Swedish meatballs and mashed potatoes, baked beans, sot suppe (sweet soup), flat brod, romme grot, sandbakelse, krumkaka, lefse, fattigmand, rosettes, and more will be served by waiters and waitresses donned in traditional Scandinavian attire.

All are welcome to come an enjoy fellowship and great food. Tickets will be available for purchase at the door, $10 for adults, $5 for 6- to 12-year-olds and $2 for children 5 and under.

Singles Christian Fellowship to meet Oct. 9

The October meeting of the Singles Christian Fellowship will be held on Sunday, Oct. 9, at 3 p.m. at the Embassy Community Center in Fosston.

On the schedule of events for the afternoon will be a short business meeting, an attendance gift will be awarded, a video on the African Children Choir will be shown. An activity will be held, and small prizes will be needed for it. A devotional thought will be shared as well.

All single adults are welcome to attend and enjoy. There will be a potluck supper at 5 p.m. For more information, call the current leader, Mae Johannessohn, at (218) 435-1971.

Clothe a Doll to benefit the LHS choir concert/trip

The Thief River Falls Education Foundation is conducting the Second Annual Clothe a Doll Fundraiser. The fundraiser involves dressing a doll that will be offered for a silent auction. This year, all of the proceeds from the dolls will be awarded to the 2006 Lincoln High School (LHS) choir concert/trip.

Ready-to-dress dolls will be available at the fabric table at Ben Franklin in Thief River Falls. The cost per doll is $5, which is refundable at the time the doll is returned to Ben Franklin. Participants may choose to donate the $5 to the foundation. Participants will be limited to two dolls as a limited number of dolls are available.

Entries are available in the following categories: bridal, nationalities, sports, fantasy/storybook, crotchet/knit, fancy dress and humorous.

The deadline to return the doll to Ben Franklin is Nov. 19. All dolls entered are nonreturnable and become the property of the foundation. The dolls will go on display at various locations where the public has the opportunity to place silent bids on a doll or dolls.

The dolls will be on display at Ben Franklin as they are returned. From Nov. 21 to 25, they will be on display at Wells Fargo. From Nov. 28 to Dec. 2, they will be on display at Border State Bank. From Dec. 5 to 9, they will be on display at Northern State Bank. On Dec. 12, they will be display at the LHS choir concert.

The public has the opportunity to cast its vote for the People's Choice Award while the dolls are on display. The winner will receive a gift certificate.

Dolls not picked up or bid upon will be donated to needy children in the community.

All silent bids will close Monday, Dec. 12 at 9:30 p.m. at LHS. Bids will be opened Dec. 13 at the foundation office. Winning bidders will be notified by phone.

Nordlys branch of Sons of Norway to meet Oct. 8

Visitors are welcome to join the area Northern Lights (Nordlys) branch of Sons of Norway at North Star Apartments in Roseau, Oct. 8 at 7 p.m. Because this session coincides with the annual Hostfest event in North Dakota, planners have arranged a Mini-Hostfest for the enjoyment of people who couldn't make the trip.

The evening will include a mix of music, humor, crafts and food. Sure to be a hit is a lefse baking demonstration by two local experts – Doris Vatnsdal and Darlene Liselle. It is quite possible that some tasting will follow.

Anyone interested in Scandinavian heritage is welcome at all meetings. Members of SON enjoy sharing their heritage at regular monthly meetings on the second Saturday of the month, September through May.

Several service projects are ongoing. Non-members who wish to participate in service projects, such as saving of canceled postage stamps, used telephone cards and product labels may drop such items at SON meetings or call a member to pick them up. The stamps are donated to a rehabilitation hospital in Norway. Used-up telephone cards are accepted by them also. Campbell product labels (front only) and Box Tops for Education will be transferred to Roseau Elementary School to help purchase equipment for student use. Members who live in other school districts are encouraged to deliver labels and box tops to their own schools.

A centennial concert was presented as a preliminary event of the Middle River centennial celebration. The concert was performed Sept. 26 and 27 on the deck of the Olde Depot Theatre. The choir members are from Middle River and surrounding communities. They presented patriotic songs under the direction of Barb Geer. (Submitted photo)

ACTIVITIES
Signs of Autumn

What better way to gather up signs of autumn than to head outdoors for an autumn hunt? You will need: a plastic bag, orange construction paper, glue and scissors.

Provide your child with a plastic bag and head outdoors for an autumn hunt. Have your child search for and collect signs of autumn such as pine cones, leaves, nuts, twigs and acorns. When the hunt is over, have your child cut out a pumpkin shape from the orange paper and glue the items from the collecting bag onto the cutout pumpkin.

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need processed cheese food, raisins, pretzel sticks.

JOKE OF THE WEEK

Knock knock.
Who's there?
Where is.
Where is who?

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its new selection of children's books including the following:

Schwartz, Amy. Begin at the Beginning: A Little Artist Learns About Life. Sara gets stuck when she must paint a picture for the second grade art show, until she discovers the best place to begin.

Sharmat, Marjorie Weinman. Mitchell is Moving. A dinosaur's exuberance about moving cools considerably when he realizes how much he misses his next-door friend.

Oxenbury, Helen. Pig Tale. When they find a treasure chest in the orchard, two discontented pigs abandon their rural paradise for what they think will be the pleasures of a more luxurious life.

VIDEO VARIETY

Secret Garden is a good story about a little girl who goes to live with her uncle and finds new friends.

PARENTING TIPS
Discovering Nature With Children

Children are curious and "discovering" the world around them. All the things that we know and take for granted are new to them. Sometimes without realizing it we squelch their curiosity or we give the message that things in nature are to be avoided. For instance, as you walk down the sidewalk, your youngster finds a worm or a grasshopper or ladybug. Bending down to investigate she asks, "Where are its ears?" your first reaction may be one of disgust: "Don't touch that."

How you deal with your child's explorations will shape her feelings about the natural world. Your reaction can tell her that nature is something to avoid or that it is a source of endless excitement. In this instance you could say, "I don't know if it has ears, let's have a look." Or maybe you could visit the library together to find a book that will help you find the answers.

Help your child use all her senses to explore the world around her. Use words that will help her to describe what she sees, hears, smells, touches and tastes. Together you can discover a world of endless interest and excitement.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Discover fall. Talk about the how world is changing. How have the trees changed? What colors are the leaves? How do the leaves sound when you walk through them? Do you smell any burning leaves?

(Contributed by the Early Childhood Family Education department of School District 564.)

...Things to think about on a cold, rainy day

The world is filled with things to ponder. On a rainy day, a person with an inquisitive mind can come up with quite a few things he or she would like to know about. Do all of the things make sense? Probably not, because, after all, it is a rainy day. But I bet at least a few of them will make you laugh.

I planted some birdseed. A bird came up. Now what do I feed it?

I went to San Francisco. I found someone's heart. Now what?

Protons have mass? I didn't even know they were Catholic.

All I ask is a chance to prove that money can't make me happy.

If the world was a logical place, men would ride horses sidesaddle.

What is a free gift? Aren't all gifts free?

They told me I was gullible...and I believed them.

Teach a child to be polite and courteous in the home, and when he grows up, he'll never be able to merge his car onto a freeway.

Two can live as cheaply as one - for half as long.

Experience is the thing you have left when everything else is gone.

What if there were no hypothetical questions?

One nice thing about egotists: They don't talk about other people.

When the only tool you hold is a hammer, every problem begins to look like a nail.

A flashlight is a case for holding dead batteries.

What was the greatest thing before sliced bread? Hummm?

My weight is perfect for my height - which varies quite a bit from time to time.

I used to be indecisive. Now I'm not sure.

The cost of living hasn't affected its popularity.

How can there be "self-help groups"?

Is there another word for synonym?

Where do forest rangers go to get away from it all?

The speed of time is one-second per second.

Is it possible to be totally partial?

What's another word for thesaurus?

Is Marx's tomb a communist plot?

If swimming is so good for your figure, how do you explain whales?

Show me a man with both feet firmly on the ground, and I'll show you a man who can't get his pants off.

It's not an optical illusion. It just looks like one.

Is it my imagination, or do buffalo wings taste like chicken?

See, I told you some would make you laugh.

TRF ranks second in property tax survey

The Citizens League has released a property tax levy survey of 203 Minnesota communities. Of that number, 56 non-metro communities, including Thief River Falls, were surveyed.

For the 56 non-metro communities, cities with populations of 3,700 to 8,999 were featured. Among those cities, $132,153 was the average market value of residential homesteads. In Thief River Falls, a $132,153 home would pay $2,517 in property taxes for 2005. The city was ranked second among the 56 communities for property taxes. Crookston ranked first.

According to the survey, the average market value of a home in Thief River Falls is $69,732. For a $69,732 home, the 2005 property tax would be $1,183. For this portion of the survey, surveyors ranked cities by the effective tax rate or the rate by which someone would be taxed if property taxes were assessed on a constant, rather than progressive, rate. For 2005, the effective tax rate was 1.7 percent, meaning Thief River Falls had the second highest ranking.

Farm Management Minute

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch.

Is it time for a change?

by Doug Fjerstad
FBM Instructor, Fosston

I have been teaching farm management for 26 years in the Fosston area and have helped several farms make enterprise changes over the years. I have seen producers who are not satisfied with what they are doing but would like to stay in agriculture. Sometimes it is a labor issue where the workload is too intense and the owners are getting burned out. Normally, when things aren't going well financially is when they start looking for something different. Sometimes producers think the grass looks greener on the other side of the fence and would like to try something that their neighbor is doing.

One of the first things I analyze on a farm that is considering a change is the kind of buildings on the farm. Then I ask the producer whether it could be a good livestock farm. Does he or she have any pastureland or is there any available? If we make a certain type of change, what kind of equipment do we need? We check to see what kind of experience the producer has and what are his or her interests. Sometimes we find that they really don't need to make a complete enterprise change, but they need to make some modifications within the existing operation. I also review with the producer whether additional equipment would help with any of the anticipated changes.

By helping the producer to stand on the outside of his farm and see where he wants to be down the road, we can begin to establish goals and set priorities for reaching these goals. Once goals have been established, producers need to keep updating and revising their long-term goals as changes occur. We need to discuss the proposed changes with their lenders to incorporate their financial expertise into the plan. As farm management instructors, our goal is to help producers make sound short- and long-term business decisions, especially if or when they're considering enterprise changes.

For more information on farm business management, contact an instructor at 1 800-959-6282.

Are we Noticed?

Do you see me walking down your hallways everyday? Do you even know my name? Did you see that girl who just walked by you with tears in her eyes—did you take the time to ask her what's wrong? Or what about that boy who just got an "A" on his history test, did you congratulate him? We all know you; every one of us knows your name, but you don't know ours. Are you looking and not seeing, or are you seeing and not caring. We care that you don't know us and we care that you don't bother to ask us who we are. We care that you do not know anything about our lives. Shouldn't we all be treated equally; principals, teachers, and students? Aren't we all part of the same team? Go Prowlers . . . .

Teens walk down the hall crying for your help, but you scarcely give a glance into their precious eyes full of tears—you keep walking. That girl sitting hunched over by her locker just got her heart broken. Three teachers and one principal walk by . . . nothing. A boy walks by her and simply asks, "What's wrong, are you okay?" she replies "I'll be fine, but thanks for asking." This boy, a boy that she only knows by name asks her what's wrong; none of the teachers or the principal even showed the tiniest sign of curiosity. You are looking at me, but you don't see me. You see me, but do you care?

You believe that we don't want you to interfere with our personal lives, but a simple "are you okay?" lets us know that you care. There are hundreds of teenagers in this school; I understand that completely. Knowing the name of each student may seem to be an impossible task. However, it is ironic that we students know each other by names and faces; while our own staff still has to wonder. Is a name really that unimportant to you?

Do you know that every time you walk by us, we wonder what thoughts are running through your heads? Do you recognize us? It kills us to know that we've walked down these same halls, sat at the same desks, loved the same teachers, attended the same classes, played the same sports, played in the band, sang in the choir for four years, and yet you don't even know our names.

Today I am sitting by my locker. My head is in my lap and I am crying. I am embarrassed, humiliated, astonished, and mortified to think that the whole school may soon know my secret. At this moment, life feels too big to handle. You say nothing to me. I sit alone. I am now looking at you with new eyes and I am wondering who you really are. I realize that in my three years of high school . . .we've never truly met.

Inheritance is destructive to families

Nothing is more destructive than the hope for unearned wealth. Whether one waits for an inheritance or hopes to win the lottery, the desire for an unearned windfall rots the character.

Has any family been brought closer together by a possible inheritance? No, nest eggs are usually nothing but poison to family relationships.

It is a cold fact: if you look forward to inheriting money, you are wishing somebody dead. In fact, the only decent response to finding about about a possible inheritance is to tell the person that they should spend every dime because you want none of it.

Finding out about an eventual inheritance might seem like everybody's dream. In fact, nothing is more likely to corrode one's closest relationships than the knowledge that some cash is on its way once a person dies.

As for those who have money to bequeath, if they publicize their nest egg in hopes that their heirs will treat them well, they will reap only insincerity in return - and they will deserve every bit of it.

The only decent way to leave money to is to keep it a secret until the reading of the will. Otherwise, the kids will fight over it, get lazy because they know it's coming, try to control the parents - spending, subconsciously wishing their parents dead, or all of the above.

On the other side, if you help make decisions about Grandma's long-term care with one eye on preserving her savings for yourself when she finally croaks, you are acting evil. That's what savings are for - to ease the old age of the person who did the saving.

Some potential heirs convince themselves they actually deserve an inheritance because of childhood hardships or some other imagined injustice. They are always wrong. No matter what they suffered, they are not adults until they have gotten over the past and have stopped thinking they deserve a free lunch.

Nobody deserves an inheritance. If parents want to gamble their millions away at the blackjack table at $500 per hand, that is their privilege. In fact, it might be their duty.

To the extent that people wait around for free money, they are useless to society, as helpless as a child waiting to be fed. Awareness of a potential inheritance, even a small one, can shut people down, take away their edge, rob them of their motivation to succeed on their own.

The only inheritance which seems to improve a person's life is that which comes as a complete surprise well after a person has found his or her own way in life.

But when a long-expected inheritance finally arrives, things usually just get ugly.

Is there anything more tragic than children who squabble over things, money and property left to them that was never theirs in the first place? Some people fight so hard for a few-thousand-dollar inheritance that they can think of nothing else for months - months they could have used to earn the money on their own.

Many of the Founding Fathers, particularly Thomas Jefferson, believed large inheritances to be dangerous. To the wise men who wrote the Constitution, inherited money was as troubling as inherited titles: it threatened to set up a perpetual aristocracy of wealth which would hold economic power without having had to struggle to earn it.

A present day sage, billionaire Warren Buffett, is so convinced of the evil of inherited money that he advocates a 100 percent tax on inherited cash. Because there is no such tax, Buffett plans to have every dime of his wealth given to charity upon his death.

Oh, we all dream of free money, but who amongst us can handle it? Certainly not lottery winners, who so frequently lose all their friends. Certainly not suddenly-rich athletes and musicians, who so often slip into addiction and dissipation.

Although most of us are dimly aware of the destructive effects of free money, most of us still dream of it, lust for it, or waste our lives waiting for it.

But it is likely that the only healthy attitude towards free money is to run from it whenever it rears its ugly head.

Holiday Train will be choo-chooing to TRF

The Holiday Train will travel to Thief River Falls Dec. 14. It will travel to various locations throughout Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota. Holiday lights adorn the train, which travels from town to town to help raise money for local food banks.

The train is scheduled to stop in Thief River Falls from 8:05 to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 14. It will stop at City Hall. Performers include John Gorka, a folk musician; the Ennis Sisters, a Celtic-pop trio; and Canadian Country Music Association award winner Tracey Brown.

Prior to the train's arrival, a spaghetti supper will be held at the Heritage Center. Proceeds from the dinner and the subsequent train stop will go to the Area Food Shelf.

Last year, Thief River Falls raised $8,000 for the Area Food Shelf from its freewill dinner and the arrival of the Holiday Train.

Over the six years it has been in operation, Canadian Pacific Railway's Holiday Train has raised close to $2 million for food banks. Food donations totalled more than 378 tons.

Local educator selected to attend prestigious leadership institute

Dr. Shari L. Olson, Vice President of Outreach and Technology at Northland Community and Technical College has been selected as one of only twenty-two community college leaders to attend the prestigious Executive Leadership Institute sponsored by the League for Innovation in the Community College in cooperation with The University of Texas at Austin and the American Association of Community Colleges. A national panel selected the 22 participants from a pool of approximately 100 applicants holding senior-level positions of leadership in community colleges.

Eduardo J. Padron, board president of the League for Innovation said, "The review panel was extremely impressed with the quality of the applicants, which speaks well for the future vitality of the community college."

The purpose of the institute, to be held in Tempe, Ariz., December 4-9, 2005, is to provide an opportunity for potential community college presidents or those in transition to review their abilities and interests, to refine their skills, and to participate in discussions on leadership with outstanding community college leaders in North America.

Infection with polio virus reported in Minnesota infant

The Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) is investigating a reported case of infection with the virus that causes polio, in an infant from central Minnesota.

The infant, who had previously been diagnosed with immune system problems, does not have symptoms of the paralytic illness that can sometimes result from a polio infection. The infant is currently hospitalized.

MDH officials emphasize that only people who have had direct contact with the infant, including health care providers and family members, are at any risk of illness in connection with this case. At this time, no additional cases of infection with the polio virus have been reported in connection with the infant. The general public is at no risk from this case.

This is the first case of polio infection in the U.S. since 2000, when use of the live-virus oral polio vaccine was discontinued in the U.S. All polio vaccinations in the U.S. are now done with an injected, killed-virus vaccine.

FMS and LHS parent-teacher conferences announced

Parent-teacher conferences at Franklin Middle School (FMS) and Lincoln High School (LHS) will be held Monday, Oct. 17 and Tuesday, Oct. 18 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Appointments can be made by "walk-in conference scheduling" in the FMS and LHS cafeterias on Wednesday, Oct. 12 and Thursday, Oct. 13 from 3 to 6 p.m. Upon arrival, parents and guardians will receive a copy of their students' class schedules. Volunteers will be ready to help with any questions parents or guardians may have.

Schedules will be posted outside each teacher's classroom. Parents or guardians who did not sign-up on Oct. 12 or 13 may sign-up in any open slots the day of conferences.

Nominations for Minnesota teacher of the year sought

Nominations for Teacher of the Year will be accepted through Nov. 15. Everyone remembers a favorite teacher, someone who motivates and inspires students for a lifetime. Now Minnesotans have the opportunity again this fall to nominate that special educator for Minnesota Teacher of the year.

Eligible teachers include public or nonpublic pre-kindergarten through 12th grade teachers. Teachers must hold a baccalaureate degree and a Minnesota teaching license. These teachers must have completed three years of teaching by the nomination deadline and intend to teach during the 2006-07 school year. For more information, or to receive a nomination form, call Chris Carlin at 651-292-4875 or 800-652-9073.

Margaret Saetre honored for 51 years of volunteering

By Jean Mattson Larson

"I'm convinced that we are not in life just to take," states Margaret Saetre. "For me it's a privilege to be able to give volunteer service. Everyone needs a dimension outside of their regular life of earning a living or raising a family."

With that charitable perspective grounding her and guiding her, the General Federation of Women's Clubs (GFWC) has been the fortunate recipient of Margaret Saetre's focus and energy.

Following in the strong leadership tradition of her grandmother, Mrs. Andrew Grindeland and her mother, Mrs. Synneva Strunk, who had each served as presidents of the Warren GFWC in 1904 and 1934 respectively, Margaret assumed the same local position in 1957. Growing up in a culture of community involvement and service, Margaret firmly believed and witnessed that women should not just stay at home. They should be involved in their communities. (It should be noted that along with her husband, Warren, they also raised and nurtured six successful children)

After serving as the 1957-58 Warren's Women Club president, Margaret became the ninth district president in 1964-65. Unstoppable, she moved up the ranks to eventually become the Minnesota GFWC State president from 1986-88, choosing the theme "A Positive Attitude Can Make the Difference" for her administration. She writes, "I truly believe that by emphasizing the pluses of life [we] can make the impossible happen. Much good has come about because of GFWC. We have a proud history of achievement."

Margaret has also capably and effectively served on many GFWC committees, locally, statewide and nationally: State Conservation Committee chair 1973-75; School Priorities Chair (division of the Minnesota Education Department) 1981-82; National Public Relations Committee, international affairs chair, 1988-89; state parliamentarian, 1990-92 and 1994-96; State Resolutions Committee, 1990-92, Mississippi Valley regional representative, 1992-94; and State Constitution and Bylaws Committee chair 1994-96 and 2000-2002.

She attended international conventions and conferences in Cincinnati, Ohio; Washington, D.C.; Anchorage, Alaska; and San Diego, Calif.; including special meetings in Maryland, Massachusetts, Virginia and Missouri.

Locally, Margaret's legacy foremost includes the start of a second Warren GFWC club in 1965, called the Mawami Club for younger women. Its name is taken from the first letters of Marshall County, Warren and Minnesota. Today they celebrate their 40th year of volunteers who are committed to individual growth and community improvement to enrich the quality of life worldwide. In 1973, the Saetre family moved to Thief River Falls and Margaret joined the GFWC Zehlian Club. She has been the Zehlian Art Adventure Committee chair for many years, including the volunteer task of delightfully entertaining the Art Adventure leaders each year.

Again Margaret states, "Not every organization has something for everyone. The General Federation of Women's Clubs does. It gives members an opportunity for service in their community as well as being part of a larger organization. It gives a broader vision of service, regardless of age or social station, can find an area of service in the federation's programs. The strength of the organization is in its long-time motto 'Unity in diversity.'"

Margaret Saetre personifies the Mary Stewart Club Woman's Creed, which for 51 years, she proudly recites by heart.

Color guard from the Hans E. Lian American Post 444 and Otto Knutson American Post 427 presented colors at the start of the 31st Annual Goose Festival Parade, held on Saturday.

Several wheeled vehicles with track conversion systems participated in the 31st Annual Goose Festival/Middle River Centennial Parade on Saturday (Oct. 1). Mattracks converted a remote control truck, a four-wheeler, a full-sized pickup truck and trailer to a track system. The conversion system's light touch was demonstrated as an all-terrain vehicle (ATV), with a Lite Foot ATV Rubber Track Conversion system, performed tricks for the gathered crowd, including this one, where the four-wheeler drove up the back and over the front of the truck.

Alpha Recycling recognized for school recycling program

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Alpha Recycling of Thief River Falls is featured in this month's edition of Midwest Living, September/October 2005. The recycling company is recognized as a second-place winner in Midwest Living's Champions in Education Contest, for its work with the implementation of a recycling program in Thief River Falls schools.

Since beginning the program known as "Turn Trash into Cash" in July of 2000, Alpha Recycling has raised over $5,000 for the Thief River Falls Education Foundation. An additional $250 was donated to the foundation by Midwest Living as part of Alpha's second-place prize.

"Turn Trash Into Cash" began in 2000, when Denise Laymon, Thief River Falls Education Foundation director, contacted Steve Nordhagen and Kent Hudson of Alpha Recycling about beginning a recycling program that would benefit Thief River Falls schools. Laymon was surprised by the willingness of Alpha Recycling to begin a recycling program with the school.

"They came up with this idea to give back to the city and the school as a whole," [illegible] said.

Only white office paper and newspaper were [illegible] program first be[illegible] of the program, 100 percent of the office paper and newspaper sale has returned to the Thief River Falls Education Foundation.

The program later evolved to include the collection of cardboard, magazines, newspaper, white office paper, shredded confidential documents and recently textbooks. To date, $5,338 has been donated to the Education Foundation through the "Turn Trash to Cash" program. Donations have led to the purchase of books, microphones, digital cameras, new curriculum books, blood pressure cuffs, tape recorders, essentials for the S.A.F. program and many others.

"Turn Trash into Cash" offered at each Thief River Falls School, though Challenger Elementary began its own recycling program eight years ago. Each Challenger classroom, office and computer room is in charge of recycling its own paper. Second and third grade students take recycled paper from collection areas to roll carts located behind the school.

Challenger has also been the site of [illegible] recycling days, [illegible] May 2004. Three [illegible] recycled material were collected [illegible]

Laymon said students benefit the most from the "Turn Trash Into Cash" program, but are also the driving force behind it.

"We have to give a lot of credit to the kids, because they make this work," Laymon said.

Laymon said that 31 tons of recycled material were collected between the fall of 2000 and March 2004.

Both the foundation and Alpha Recycling hope to expand the program beyond the schools. One area of expansion is the inclusion of confidential documents as recyclable material. Hudson said most confidential documents are printed on high quality office paper. They are collected in locked containers and according to Hudson, it is agreed that the contents will be shredded within two business days. Hudson added that Alpha Recycling also hopes to expand the program by providing more drop sites throughout the city of Thief River Falls.

Nordhagen noted that the program continues to expand within the school as well.

"Basically, anything the school wants us to recycle, we'll set up a program," Nordhagen said. Textbook recycling began this year and [illegible] has also been recycling [illegible]

Seventh graders raise over $18,000 for hurricane relief

by David Hill
Editor

Sometime in the near future, Franklin Middle School Principal Bob Wayne, and Vice Principal Shane Zutz will be sporting blue and gold hair.

With the challenges that often face educators, hair color generally tends toward white...or none at all, so blue and gold must be a sign of something good, right?

Shortly after learning of the terrible tragedy caused by Hurricane Katrina, Gary Laidley and a group of other seventh grade teachers at Franklin Middle School said they decided they needed to do something. The talked about several different ideas, and came up with the idea of a walk-a-thon. They pitched it to the kids, said Laidley, and they were very enthusiastic about it.

"We wanted it to be a teachable moment," said Laidley, who explained that it would show students that they could step in and help someone, even someone they don't know."

"The response from students and the community has been overwhelming," said Laidley.

Students quickly surpassed the initial goal of $3,500. It seemed, said Laidley, that people wanted to give but were not sure about how to go about it. So when this event began, the community really responded.

The local business community also stepped forward. Laidley said the three banks - Northern State Bank, Border State Bank and Wells Fargo - all made donations, as did KTRF, Dairy Queen, Northern Motors and Northwest Beverage. As a result, each of the 155 students participating in the event received a t-shirt, and there will be 168 bottles of water for the students who were walking on the track of the Multi-Events Center from 9 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 30.

And then, Laidley said, a gentleman from Red Lake Falls stepped forward and donated $13,000.

"When we called the Red Cross," said Laidley, "they were in total disbelief."

Friday, Bob Seabloom, Red River Valley Chapter District Services, told the students that what they were doing was very important.

Only two days previous, Seabloom had returned from working in the disaster area. "These people don't have anything," said Seabloom.

Seabloom said this will be the largest relief effort they've ever undertaken. Over $2 billion will be spent on hurricane relief this season. So far, the American Red Cross has provided assistance to 688,000 families, and will continue to provide assistance. Seabloom said the American Red Cross will feed and house them and work with them to contact and work with all the agencies they need to help them on their way. Seabloom anticipates that this effort will continue for years to come.

While listening to Channel 1, a national school-age television program that students watch every morning, Wayne and Zutz learned that one school had raised $3,200 in a fundraising effort for hurricane victims.

Wayne and Zutz agreed with the walk-a-thon proposal, which would take students out of class and the school, adding that Wayne would color his hair blue, and Zutz color his hair gold if students raised over $3,500. They thought that was a safe bet.

They obviously underestimated the resolve of their students and the generosity of the community.

Wayne and Zutz announced that as of Monday, Sept. 26, that students had raised over $18,000.

Wayne, admittedly a little nervous now, is attempting to make sure that the coloring process will be done so that it isn't permanent or cause other problems.

Nevertheless, Wayne said, "I'm very proud of the kids."

Laidley said the project required a lot of effort but believes it was worth it.

Take a classical dance course with Community Ed

Community Education is offering classical dance this fall and winter. Session I already began Thursday, Sept. 29, and Session II begins Thursday, Jan. 12.

Session I is held Thursdays, Oct. 6, 13, 20 and 27; Nov. 3, 10 and 17; and Dec. 1, 8 and 15. Session II is held Thursdays, Jan. 12, 19 and 26; Feb. 2, 9, 16 and 23; March 2, 9, 16 and 23. For each session, classes will be held from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. for 3- to 5-year-olds, 5:35 to 6:35 p.m. for 6- to 8-year-olds, and 6:40 to 7:40 p.m. for 9- to 13-year-olds. Sessions will be held in Challenger Elementary School gym 4. Dance wear is required. Both sessions cost $80 each. The fee for the second session should be paid prior to that session. Kate Anderson-Humble is the instructor.

March 30 is a dress rehearsal, and March 31 is the tentative date for the recital, which will be held in the Lincoln High School auditorium. Parents will be notified of any location and/or date changes. Students should be enrolled in both sessions to participate in the recital.

During the sessions, students will learn the techniques and fundamentals of ballet, tap and creative movement.

To register, go to Community Education at the District Service Center, 230 LaBree Ave. S. Office hours are 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays.

Bob Seabloom (right), Red River Valley District Services representative for the American Red Cross, thanked seventh graders from Franklin Middle School in Thief River Falls for their efforts in raising over $18,000 for hurricane victims. Next to Seabloom is local American Red Cross representative Donna Myhrer.

Community Education offers parenting series

How does one guide a child through the teen years? Are their concerns about the decisions and choices a teen is making about friends, activities and spending money?

A four-session series will identify the joys and challenges of parenting teens. The series will be held Thursdays, Oct. 27; Nov. 3, 10 and 17 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the District Service Center lower level meeting room. The cost is $25. Pre-registration is required. Sue Dupree is the instructor.

This series of classes will identify the joys and challenges of parenting teens. Participants will learn how teens are unique. Participants will learn how to survive and even thrive during their children's teen years. Topics include positive parenting, effective discipline, conflict resolution, communication, decision making, peer influence and becoming an adult.

LSS celebrates 140 years of service

Just as Lutheran Social Service of Minnesota (LSS) is preparing to celebrate its 140th anniversary of service in Minnesota, the organization is working with federal, state and local governments as well as Lutheran Disaster Response to determine LSS' longer term role in assisting survivors of Hurricane Katrina's wrath.

Disaster struck in St. Paul 140 years ago when four Swedish immigrant children were orphaned. One Lutheran congregation galvanized around the needs of these four vulnerable children by establishing Minnesota's oldest orphanage in the tiny southeastern Minnesota community of Vasa near Red Wing.

These early caregivers likely never knew that their genuine concern and act of compassion would be modeled many times over and grow into a statewide safety net of social services called Lutheran Social Service of Minnesota, now helping some 100,000 people in 300 communities to live with dignity, safety and hope.

To recognize Lutheran Social Service on its 140th anniversary and the 2,400 employees, 6,000 volunteers and numerous community partners who are part of delivering vital services that benefit the well-being of Minnesotans, Gov. Tim Pawlenty has named Sept. 18-24 Lutheran Social Service of Minnesota Week.

"While Lutherans can feel proud of their heritage of caring, all Minnesotans can join in this celebration, because LSS serves people from all walks of life and draws support from around the state," said Mark Peterson, president/CEO of Lutheran Social Service.

Now in its third century of service, Peterson said that change has always been a constant in social service. "Our history demonstrates so clearly how dynamic and ever-changing social services are in our society. Thirty years ago, we didn't envision housing services to help homeless families gain stability or debt management plans that get people back on their feet financially when credit card debt has overwhelmed the family budget. You can be certain that our services will look remarkably different, even in the next decade."

Whether the service is adoption, assisted living, welfare-to-work or financial counseling, the vision of the organization is that all people will live and work in the community with dignity, safety and hope.

"We want kids to wake up every morning in a safe place, knowing that they are loved and will have opportunities to develop their potential and that every person with a disability can live and work in community to the best of their ability," Peterson said. "We also want to help our frail, elderly neighbors live in community, with as much independence and dignity as possible."

While Lutheran Social Service has a strong concentration of services in the Twin Cities area, more services are offered in greater Minnesota. In fact, three-fourths of all LSS services, accounting for $51.3 million of the organization's total $68.4 million, help people outside the seven-county Twin Cities metropolitan area.

In Pennington County, with a budget of $365,000, 20 employees and a volunteer corps, LSS provides senior nutrition, caregiver respite, community assisted living services for seniors, foster grandparents and senior companions and offers statewide services for seniors, foster grandparents and senior companions and offers statewide services to local residents, such as adoption and financial counseling. In northwestern Minnesota, LSS has a budget of $19.6 million and employs 773 individuals who reach into local communities with needed services. Historically, the organization has been intentional to respond locally and tailor services to community need. With a high senior population in northeastern Minnesota, for example, LSS offers a variety of senior services. In Duluth, however, the focus is on youth with crisis shelters, housing, health services and independent living skills.

In the next decade, Peterson said that social services will adapt to serve a growing senior population statewide with assisted living options and home care services to help seniors live as independently as possible in the community. He added that, while some services will expand, others will shrink or fade away entirely, largely due to government funding decisions. Person said that 94 percent of all social services in Minnesota are funded by government sources.

"We have a rich history and have much to celebrate in our 140 years, but there are challenges ahead," Peterson said. "Government dollars have not kept pace with needs in our communities, especially with regard to children, but in other areas as well. We will continue to advocate for persons in need at the state legislature, but we will also be looking for creative, new ways to provide important services that will help us retain Minnesota's tradition and commitment to care for vulnerable persons."

In its anniversary year, LSS would like to hear from Minnesotans who have been served by the organization, to share an experience in adoption, refugee services, foster care, volunteer service, or any other service offered by LSS, visit www.lssmn.org/yourstory.

LSS announces service reduction in Thief River Falls

Effective Sept. 30, 2005, Lutheran Social Service of Minnesota (LSS) will be closing the mental health counseling service offered on a part-time basis in the Thief River Falls office. All other local LSS services such as Senior Nutrition, Meals on Wheels, Caregiver Respite, Assisted Living, Foster Grandparents and Senior Companion services will not be affected by this change.

Mark Peterson, president and CEO of LSS, said, "Public monies for mental health counseling have not been sufficient for LSS to break even on this service for many years. Growth and annual surpluses in their lines of service have allowed LSS to continue to provide mental health counseling for the poor and working poor. With reductions in state and county revenue in other lines, we are no longer able to support this service.

Clients will be notified directly of the change in service and LSS will do what it can to help clients find other providers.

As a subcontractor to county social services in several Minnesota counties, LSS also offers Intensive In-Home Family Counseling and Treatment Foster Care. These services will not be affected and will continue without change.

"We regret having to reduce this service in Thief River Falls," Peterson said. "We have had to make reductions in many areas over the past years as a result of State budget cuts to human services made in the 2003 Legislative Session."

Stepping forward on Friday, Sept. 30, for hurricane relief, were seventh graders from Franklin Middle School in Thief River Falls. The students successfully raised over $18,000 during a walk-a-thon at the Multi-Events Center in Thief River Falls.

reading, and 48.1 percent met their goals in math. Wayne and Zutz said they are moving those goals up to 60 percent.

Wayne and Zutz also reviewed committees - Building Leadership Team, Data Team, and Department teams.

They also shared information on a fundraising efforts for victims of Hurricane Katrina, and the construction of a shed at the school for football equipment.

"I'm very proud of the kids," said Wayne.

Annual Report

Carol Ihle, curriculum coordinator for School District 564, presented a preliminary draft of the School District's Curriculum, Instruction and Student Performance Annual Report. Parents and residents of the District will receive the report in the Oct. 15 edition of the Northern Watch.

"It's all about being accountable to the public on how we're meeting our goals," said Ihle.

The report reviews goals, test results and other information by school.

Steve young, chairman of the board of education, asked whether parents are beginning to respond to the information.

Ihle said staff would be better able to answer that question, but she believes they are. She said students are certainly more focused on doing well on their tests, and thinks parents are more engaged.

Troy Bates, a parent and a representative on the board of education, said he likes having the information and allows him to be more prepared to discuss his child's progress with the teacher.

Insurance Coverage

The board of education approved resolutions to terminate coverage with MSBA Insurance Trust effective Oct. 1, and write coverage with Employers Mutual Casualty Co. of Des Moines, Iowa, through Thune Insurance Network in Thief River Falls. Mark Thune appeared before the board to present the proposal. He also explained that switching coverage would save the School District several thousands of dollars.

The next meeting of the board of education is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 10 in the conference room of the District Service Center.

With the exception of an assortment of dumbbells, the Lifetime Fitness Center weight room consists entirely of machine weights. Located at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls, Lifetime Fitness Center is open daily from 4 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Families and friends say goodbye to local guard

Cervantes was among more than 300 family members and friends who attended a departure ceremony for the unit Sunday at the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls. Departure ceremonies were held Sunday and Monday at other locations in Minnesota, including Crookston, Bemidji, Moorhead, Detroit Lakes, Sauk Centre, Grand Rapids, Hutchinson and Fergus Falls.

The soldiers will spend up to six months training in Camp Shelby, Miss. Once they are finished with their training, they will conduct combat operations using Bradley Fighting Vehicles and mortar carriers in Iraq.

Understandably, the deployment will be hard on the soldiers, their families and their friends. "I'm scared for his safety, of course," Shelley Cervantes said about her husband, John.

Shelley and John Cervantes have three kids, including Nick. "It's going to be a lot of responsibility," said Nick Cervantes, who noted he would be helping his mom with his younger sisters, 6-year-old Carley and 3-year-old Josie, while his dad is gone.

The deployment will also be difficult for John Cervantes. Referring to the last time he was deployed, he said, "It was a little tough."

"Tougher than you thought," said Shelley Cervantes.

John Cervantes agreed, saying he was "a little homesick."

Gov. Tim Pawlenty also attended the departure ceremony Sunday and was among several guests who spoke to the soldiers, their families and their friends. "We would not have the country we have without soldiers like the folks standing right over there," said Pawlenty. "They're amazing people."

He added, "These individuals are incredible, strong, focused, patient individuals, and we owe them a great deal."

Referring to society calling rock stars, movie stars and athletes heroes, Pawlenty said about the soldiers, "The people who should be our heroes are the people standing right here."

Pawlenty also spoke to the kids affected by the deployment. He referred to their family members as "super police officers." "I know you may miss your mom or dad for a while, but they're doing important work," Pawlenty said to the kids in the audience.

"To the families, we know you are truly deploying with the soldiers," said Jon Trost with the Minnesota National Guard.

Thief River Falls Mayor Dale Wennberg also attended the ceremony. "We hope that you have a safe trip over and that you'll be back here," he said to the soldiers.

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf and Rep. Maxine Penas, who did not speak to the crowd, were also in attendance. Stumpf noted that not a day would go by that the soldiers wouldn't be in the community's thoughts and prayers. "Once you're gone [on the deployment], that support is going to continue to be there," he said.

The soldiers are living lives that matter – whether they are helping people rebuild after disaster, protecting freedom or keeping peace throughout the world, said Stumpf, who referred to the book "Living a Life That Matters" by Rabbi Harold S. Kushner.

"We all should be living a life that matters – making positive changes to the community, positive changes to the world," Stumpf added.

Trost said what was on a lot of people's minds Sunday, "We truly look forward to the day we welcome you back home from a successful mission."

The deployment will be the unit's second in recent years. In September 2003, the unit was deployed to Bosnia and Herzegovina. It returned home seven months later in April 2004. Some other members of the unit were deployed to Kosovo.

The soldiers are among the more than 2,600 Minnesota National Guard members who will be part of this latest deployment. The deployment is the Minnesota National Guard's largest overseas deployment since World War II.

Families affected by the deployment will be able to receive help from two organizations – the Thief River Falls Family Readiness Group (TRFFRG) and Guard Family Help at Home (GFHAH). To donate to or receive help from TRFFRG, call Julie Bolduc at 686-1877 or access www.bravofrg.com. To receive more information to donate to or receive help from GFHAH, contact Shannon Olson at the Heritage Center at 681-2793. Donations for GFHAH can be sent to the Heritage Center, 301 Fourth St. E., Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

County union employees could have new health insurance option

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Union employees working for Pennington County may have a new option for health insurance. A health insurance plan called the VEBA Plan was introduced to county commissioners by Barb Holthusen of Bakke Insurance at the Sept. 27 meeting of the Pennington County Board of Commissioners. The Pennington County Board heard Holthusen's presentation as it prepares to renegotiate contracts with county employee labor unions.

Administered by Blue Cross and Blue Shield, each VEBA plan utilizes a tax free, interest earning account that can be tailored for single or family plans. VEBA accounts grow through both employee and employer contributions much like traditional health savings accounts. The difference, according to Holthusen, unused VEBA money carries over from one year to the next.

Within the Minnesota Provider Network, each plan provides 100 percent coverage after deductible for office visits, preventative care, lab and X-ray services, emergency care, ambulance services, medical supplies, therapy services and prescription drugs.

Currently, Pennington County covers 100 percent of premium payments for single plans and approximately two-thirds of family plans. Under the VEBA plan, Pennington County would still pay the entire premium, but would add contributions to the VEBA savings account.

According to Holthusen, the VEBA plan will work better for younger employees and those who don't use prescription drugs. At least 10 employees need to be signed up for the VEBA or any other plan for it to be offered.

No action was taken by commissioners. The plan will be presented to union representatives during upcoming contract negotiations. Commissioners Charles Naplin and Oliver "Skip" Swanson will serve on the insurance committee.

Board approves payment of Barzen Avenue improvement costs. County Ditch 70, which lies adjacent to Barzen Ave. was improved during two projects. Improvements include re-sloping and removal of fill. The projects' cost of $8,000 includes hauling. Twenty-five percent of the cost will be paid from the CD 70 fund. The board approved paying the remaining $6,000.

Engineer's Items

- The board accepted a petition to clean a portion of CD 44. A half-mile portion of CD 44, located in Section 20 of Clover Leaf Township will be cleaned. County Engineer Mike Flaagan said a portion of the ditch was over cut at some point, or catch basins were placed too high, causing water to stand in certain places.
- Flaagan reported that the Highway Department has moved out of its old shop location, but fuel tanks and some items are still stored their. Portions of that facility will be occupied by Sentence to Serve while Inter-County Nursing will use one of the shop's bays for records storage.

Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby presented the County Jail's receivables in 2005 - board and care of prisoners report. The report details monthly boarding and medical dollar amounts received from Minnesota counties who have contracted jail services through Pennington County from December 2004 through August 2005.

During the nine-months represented by the report, the Pennington County Jail received an average of $69,356.37 per month from other counties to house inmates and administer medication. According to the report, Pennington County received its lowest monthly total, $55,932 in February 2005 and a high of $86,013.86 in December 2004.

Sheriff's Items

- The board approved a state of Minnesota snowmobile enforcement grant. The grant totals $5,400 and will be used for expenses relating to snowmobile enforcement.
- The board approved a renewal of the Pennington County Sheriff's Department and Northland Community and Technical College's customized training contract from Sept. 5, 2005 through June 30, 2006.

Other Items

- The board approved a new job description for a medical records secretary at Oakland Park Nursing Home.
- The board approved the Human Service Committee's consent agenda.
- The board agreed to meet with Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce representatives during a question and answer luncheon on Oct. 26 from noon to 1 p.m. at the Best Western in Thief River Falls.

The next meeting of the Pennington County Board of Commissioners will be held at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 11 at the Pennington County Courthouse.

install a high-pressure gas main for the future Wal-Mart store. The gas main will begin at Highway 1, east of Northland Community and Technical College and go across the river to serve Wal-Mart, Lindberg said. He noted Aquila hopes to install the gas main this fall. Easements were approved for the project, and property owners will also have to approve easements for that purpose.

City Council approved a temporary 50-foot easement to Pennington County at Chief's Coulee. The easement will enable county employees to remove debris and brush that have blocked drainage at the coulee. The coulee is located from 13th Street northwest to Highway 32. The easement would expire June 1, 2006, according to City Attorney Paul Ihle.

The next council meeting is scheduled at 5 p.m. Oct. 11 at City Hall.

Area bands to perform fundraising concert Oct. 6

Two area bands will get together on Thursday, Oct. 6, at the Eagles Club ballroom in Thief River Falls, from 7 to 10 p.m., to provide music for dancing in support of rural relief for hurricane victims from recent hurricanes Katrina and Rita. Providing music will be "The Auctioneers" (Joe Gust and Arvin Sundby), and "Cathy Erickson" (Cathy Erickson and Jim Matson).

Organizer, Cathy Erickson, states that the RFD TV network is sponsoring matching funds for rural relief to farmers affected by the hurricanes and proceeds from the dance on Thursday night will be sent to the RFD TV network for that purpose.

Dance music will start at 7 p.m. and continue non-stop until 10 p.m. Snacks will be provided throughout the evening.

Plan to attend and support the farmers who suffered losses during the recent hurricanes.

Enderlein to lead "Stop at the Well" sessions Oct. 9-12

Rev. Eugene Enderlein the former director of AFLC World Missions, will be the speaker at what is called, "Stop at the Well" sessions. These sessions will be at Alma Free Lutheran Church 28098 300th Street NW, rural Argyle.

Rev. Enderlein will speak at the 9:30 a.m. worship time on Sunday, Oct. 9 and then he will be speaking at 7:30 p.m. each evening Sunday, Oct. 9 through Wednesday, Oct. 12. Pastor Enderlein is also the former minister at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church of Thief River Falls. He will also be speaking at the Bethania Free Lutheran's Harvest Festival on Sunday, October 9 at 2:30 p.m.

they need," said Collins, who has trained bodybuilding competitors in the weightroom.

Collins said members are also helpful and are willing to assist young and inexperienced lifters.

"These guys are all here with the same goal and they're here because they want to be here," Collins said.

Weightroom hours are weekdays from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The weightroom is open to the public for a monthly rate of $30 or a three-month package for $50. Single day rates are $3.

Lifetime Fitness Center

Much like Marty's Gym, Lifetime Fitness Center offers weight training and fitness programs to participants of all ages and abilities. Its means, however, couldn't be more different.

Life Fitness Center takes a slightly different approach toward overall fitness. More than half of the exercise apparatus, including five Precor brand treadmills and eight Precor elliptical machines, are dedicated to cardiovascular fitness. Weight training equipment at Lifetime Fitness Center is the polar opposite of Marty's Gym – nearly all machine weights.

"Everyone has fitness needs," said Rick Karboviak, personal trainer and acceleration associate. "What is unique about our program is we cater to a very wide range of abilities."

Lifetime Fitness Center offers various weight training and fitness programs that can be tailored for children as young as 13 and adults of all ages. Steve Young, physical therapist, said programs have been made for members well into their 80s. Part of the adaptability comes from offering equipment that is adjustable and easy to use.

"Our staff has spent a lot of time looking for the best equipment available," Young said. "We wanted stuff that's fairly simple for people to use."

Karboviak added that children under the age of 13 are allowed to participate in Life Fitness Center's sports acceleration program, a program uses sport- and activity level-specific exercises to increase athletic performance. Most Lifetime Fitness members are just looking to improve their own personal fitness.

Karboviak said most members began a fitness program to lose weight, increase muscle or reduce body fat. He said a weight training program accomplishes those goals. There is also a hidden benefit: increased bone mass.

"Any type of weight bearing activity will boost bone mass," Karboviak said.

Karboviak's basic recommendation for weight training is a twice a week program, which is the minimum needed to help maintain strength and energy levels. Karboviak added that each program he designs includes between five and seven exercises and can be drastically different from one member to the next.

"You can't assume a fitness ideal and assume that for each person," Karboviak said. He also noted that for beginners, "The less confusing you can make it for the person starting out, the better chance he or she will stick to it."

Karboviak designs a weight training program based on ability and scheduling. He noted that it would be pointless to design a six-day per week program when the club member will only be attending one session per week.

Of Thief River Falls' weight training facilities, Lifetime Fitness Center offers the most hours of availability, open daily from 4 a.m. to 11 p.m. Membership types include NWMC employee, Blue Cross BluePrint for Health, cardiac rehab, Arctic Cat employee and public. Public memberships are available for $26.63 per month, with one-time charges that include a $10 initiation fee and $5 access card.

NCTC and TRF programs

Northland Community and Technical College and Thief River Falls School District 564 also offer weightlifting facilities to the community.

The Lincoln High School weight room is open to the public through community education. Hours are 6 to 7:30 a.m. and 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday. The Franklin Middle School weight room is open to students only on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

Intended mainly for the high school athlete that is attempting to gain strength and muscle mass, the LHS gym is also geared more toward the hardcore lifter.

"Our weight room is a free-weight weightroom," said Jeff Mumm, LHS head football coach and weight training instructor. "We only have two pieces of cardiovascular equipment, so it's more of a weight lifting facility."

Mumm said adults can sign-up for weightlifting through the school district for $30 per school quarter.

Similar to the LHS weightroom, NCTC's weight training facility was designed around the needs of the typical student athlete. It's use is also intended for students and staff.

Anita Lizakowski, a Health and Fitness Specialist. Program director/instructor at NCTC, said quite a few NCTC coaches have requested programs for their athletes.

Aside from a few sport-specific programs, Lizakowski said there is no structured program provided by the college for students who wish to lift on their own. She does offer students some guidelines. For the average student, Lizakowski recommends a two to three days per week lifting program that utilizes eight to 10 exercises, eight to 15 repetitions for each and one to three sets.

The one to three sets per lift goes against traditional strength training for sports programs, which typically utilize three sets per lift, with repetitions varying between one and 12 depending on the phase of the program.

"That's one of the hardest things, is teaching athletes to start lifting like normal people," Lizakowski said. She added that for a non exerciser just starting out, a program using one or two sets per lift is all that is needed to maintain lean muscle tissue.

Langland also feels that limiting repetitions to one set is beneficial for the beginning lifter. He recommends a program that includes 10-12 muscle groups, one set, with six to 12 reps per set. He also admits that there is evidence that a single set program, though not as effective a a multi set program, is much easier to maintain.

Lizakowski said weight training is very instrumental in the rehabilitation of injured athletes.

Lizakowski points out that some people use weight training as their only form of physical activity. Likewise, some fail to reach their fitness goals because they neglect the muscular fitness training that can be attained through a consistent weight training program. This is especially true among many women who workout regularly.

"The misconception among females is they're going to get big because of lifting weights – that just doesn't happen unless they're taking something," Lizakowski said.

Lizakowski recommends lifting two to three days a week, but the same muscle group should not be worked twice in the same 48-hour period. She also suggests incorporating different lifts into a workout to prevent boredom.

Northland Community Band performed Sunday at a departure ceremony for Company B Detachment, 2-136th Mechanized Infantry Battalion at the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls. The unit, which is based in Thief River Falls, left Tuesday for an 18-month deployment. The deployment includes up to six months of training in the U.S. and at least a year of combat operations in Iraq.

The TIMES

Thief River Falls runners were led off the starting line by Evan Jones (center) to begin the boys varsity/junior varsity race during Monday's Prowler Invitational high school cross country meet at the Thief River Golf Club. Bemidji runners won team and individual in both the boys and girls varsity races.

Vermilion wins overtime thriller, 33-32

Northland tied the game on the final play of regulation time, but lost the contest on the final play of overtime Saturday as Vermilion escaped with a wild 33-32 Minnesota Community College Conference football win at Lowell T. Swenson Field Saturday.

You would be hard-pressed to find a game with a more dramatic finish.

Trailing 26-6 through three quarters, Northland scored three final-period touchdowns to catch the Ironmen, with the final score coming after the horn had sounded.

Still down a touchdown, the Pioneers faced a third-and-seven from the Vermilion 15, with time for one more play. The horn sounded just after the ball was snapped – even before Northland quarter Calvin Tolliver's pass was tipped and caught in the back of the end zone by Michael Hall.

The play set off a celebration on the Northland bench and from the smattering of fans in the stands.

With the game now tied at 26 and no time on the clock, the Pioneers wound up with not one, but two chances to kick a game-winning extra point. Austin Johnson's first attempt was off the mark. However, Vermilion was whistled for offside on the play. The Ironmen made up for the faux-pas by blocking the second kick and forcing overtime.

In college, teams begin overtime by alternating series starting at the 25-yard line. Vermilion had first crack. The Ironmen pick up a first play first down and went on to score on an 8-yard pass from quarterback Willie Johnson to a wide-open Patrick O'Malley in the middle of the end zone.

A conversion kick by Phillip Garcia gave Vermilion a 33-26 lead.

Northland's shot on offense generated two first downs and a touchdown by Will Leetch, who lowered his shoulder and powered his way off tackle from two yards out.

This time the Pioneers passed on the kick and went for a two-point conversion. A shift that overloaded the right side and a pitch to the Deonte Lewis appeared to give the Northland halfback a shot at the corner of the end zone for the win. But Vermilion's pursuit forced his knee to the ground just inches short of the end zone as Lewis tried to stretch the ball across the line.

Northland quarterback Calvin Tolliver rolled right and got this pass off despite defensive pressure from Vermilion linebacker Darnell Stanback during the first quarter of Saturday's college football game in Thief River Falls. The pass went to Marcellous Frizzie for a 12-yard gain and a first down on the Pioneers' game-opening touchdown drive. The Ironmen won 33-32 in overtime.

Cross country...

Bemidji runners complete sweep in Prowler meet

Bemidji runners swept team and individual titles in both the boys and girls varsity races Monday during the annual Prowler Invitational high school cross country meet at the Thief River Golf Course.

Cool temperatures and breezy winds greeted runners and fans who dotted a twisting course laid out by first-year Thief River Falls coach Rick Karboviak.

Led by Derek Smith, the Bemidji boys finished with a 37-59 edge over second place International Falls.

In a close finish, Smith was clocked at 17:05, while Waylon Manske of Bemidji and Josh Laltan of International Falls were both given a 17:06 and fourth place Andrew Friesen had a 17:07.

It was also a 1-2 finish for the Lumberjacks and Broncos in the girls race, this time by a narrower 36-40 margin. Jill Smith was the individual winner.

Thief River Falls boys ran sixth in a seven-team field. The Prowlers were fourth among the four complete girls teams.

Top varsity finishers for the Prowlers were Evan Jones with an 11th place 18:18 clocking in the boys 5000 meter race, and Brooke Rundell with a 22nd place 18:10 over the girls 4000 meter course.

Karboviak liked the way his team performed in their lone home appearance of the season. "It was a very brisk day for some brisk running," he said. "We had a really flat and fast course lined out on our home turf. It resulted into a lot of great times, with more personal-bests once again being set by most of the team."

The Prowlers, while still trailing the top teams, are hitting stride for the final races of the year, according to Karboviak. "We're starting to find our edge in all our squads," he

Prowlers get a win vs. Cloquet squad

Winning is a great mascara. It might not have been Thief River Falls' best performance of the 2005 season, but the the Prowlers covered up those flaws Friday by pulling off a 27-22 North Country Conference high school football win over Cloquet.

The winless Lumberjacks put together an upset bid by turning a 21-9 third quarter deficit into a 22-21 lead midway through the fourth quarter before surrendering a late-game touchdown that gave Thief River Falls its second win in five starts this fall.

The spirited effort by Cloquet – maybe one of the best 0-5 teams around – did not surprise Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "I knew they were a very good football team," he said. "They've got a lot of athletes, but like us, they're fighting a lot of injuries. They're very physical. They did things to us up front that nobody else has been able to do.

Park Rapids edges TRF in tennis quad

Park Rapids Area finished with a one-point edge over the host Prowlers to win the Thief River Falls Quadrangular girls high school tennis meet Thursday.

The Panthers edged the Prowlers 17-16, followed by Roseau with 6 points and East Grand Forks 3 on a chilly, windy day.

Thief River Falls had individual winners at first, third and fourth singles, but Park Rapids Area combined a win at No. 2 singles with a sweep in doubles for the team title.

"I think I am starting to sound like a broken record," said Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanson. "We were in great position to win the tournament, but we are struggling at some positions to pull out the big point when we need it. We lost all three doubles matches to Park Rapids in third-set tie-breaks. We have to start winning some of those tight matches or it will be a short post-season."

The Prowlers' singles champions were Ashley Leister, No. 1; Chelsea Daley, No. 3; and Carli Sandahl, No. 4.

"I know this group has the ability to win the big one," offered Hanestad, "The girls need to come to the same realization."

Bemidji sweeps TRF race titles

said, "and we certainly sharpened it at home today. Based on running intensity values on our charts, we are improving greatly from the start of the season. From top to bottom, the boys and girls combined team average have improved almost 15 percent since our first meet. We are getting in better shape as a whole, and running smother as a result."

Over 220 runners competed in the Monday races.

"Having the home crowd support made the event a great success," said Karboviak. "I would like to thank the Thief River Falls Sports Boosters for their support in putting the event together, as well as the volunteers who helped to keep things in order. The Thief River Golf Club also deserves a big thank-you for their generosity in letting us use the course and carts to prepare and run the race."

Prowlers out-score Lumberjacks 27-22

They owned the line of scrimmage."

Led by 5-8, 160-pound senior running back Jon Drees, the Prowlers did rack up 395 rushing yards. Drees scored on runs of 85 and 41 yards during a 19-carry, 269-yard night.

However, what started as promising drives often died out before reaching the end zone. "We got a lot of yards, but we didn't finish," acknowledged Mumm.

Cloquet countered the Thief River Falls ground attack with a 14-for-35, 253-yard passing performance by senior quarterback Bob Mielke.

Thief River Falls struck quickly when Michael Forney found Alex Yaggie open on the right side for a 33-yard pass just two plays into game and Michael Benedict went into the end zone untouched from 17 yards out on play No. 4. A Tom Loe conversion kick made it 7-0 with just 1:37 gone.

Cloquet stopped the next Thief River Falls drive with an interception in the end zone that the Lumberjacks turned into a 14-play possession, ending with a 30-yard Matt Rodlund field goal with 62 seconds left in the first quarter.

Hoping to put the Prowlers deep in their own territory, "the Lumberjacks punted from the Thief River Falls 33. The kick went out of bounds at the 15 and on first down, Drees burst into the secondary off left tackle for the first of his long-range strikes with [illegible] remaining in the half. Loe's kick upped the margin to 14-3.

Cloquet answered with a 10-play, 72-yard touchdown drive that included a 28-yard Mielke pass across the middle to Nate Sanchez to put the Lumberjacks at the Thief River Falls 5-yard line. Josh Terwey took a next-snap counter play to the right corner of the end zone with 3:34 on the clock. The kick was blocked, leaving it 14-9 at the half.

The Prowlers scored on their first possession of the second half when a key downfield block by Ryan Brummund sprung Drees free for a 33-yard gain to the Cloquet 19, and Forney found a wide-open Drees for the touchdown toss from that spot. Loe's third straight PAT kick made it 21-9 with 7:33 to play in the third quarter.

But again, the Lumberjacks had an answer – in the form of a 9-play, 56-yard drive that ended with Mielke rolling right and slicing off tackle on a 2-yard keeper. The kick was of the mark, leaving the score 21-15 with 4:44 to go in the third quarter.

After a fumble recovery stopped a Thief River Falls drive that had reached the Cloquet 14, the Lumberjacks' offense was back at work with a 10-play drive that featured 71 yards worth of Mielke passes. Those completions included a 29-yard toss to an open Terwey in the middle of the field on a fourth-and-20 that left the visitors just four yards short of the end zone.

Terwey bounced outside to the right on the next snap for a tying touchdown. Rodlund's kick put his team ahead 22-21 with 6:44 remaining in the game.

After an exchange of punts, Thief River Falls had the ball at the Cloquet 41 with 2:51 on the clock. With 2:41 left the Prowlers had a 27-22 lead when Drees took the first down hand-off to the left. He appeared to be hemmed in at the line of scrimmage, but squirted through and used his speed to out-run the Lumberjacks' defense for the go-ahead touchdown. A conversion run for a seven-point advantage came up short.

Cloquet picked up two first downs on their final possession and came ever-so-close to scoring again. On a fourth-and-three from the Lumberjacks' 41, Mielke put up a pass that went off the intended receiver's hands. As two two defensive backs closed in on the receiver, the ball caromed into the air and was almost pulled in by a second Cloquet player at at the Thief River Falls 30 – with nothing but open field between him and the end zone.

But the ball fell incomplete, and the Prowlers ran off the final 64 seconds to seal it.

"After being snake-bit the last two weeks (losses to Detroit Lakes 20-121 and Duluth East 29-28), we found way to get it done," offered Mumm. "We've had a tough time overcoming mistakes this year. Our mistakes seem to multiply. We need to be able to make something positive happen after a mistake, and we haven't been able to do that. It's been our downfall. Instead of bouncing back we fall apart. But tonight the kids showed a lot of character and a lot of heart when they were challenged. I was proud of that."

The Prowlers will play their final regular season road game Friday when they head to Grand Rapids for a 7 p.m. kickoff. Thief River Falls closes out the schedule at home with games Friday, Oct. 14, vs. Duluth Central and Wednesday, Oct. 19, against Duluth Denfeld.

Win-E-Mac sweeps Prowlers

An extended second-game victory propelled Win-E-Mac to a 3-0 sweep over host Thief River Falls Monday in high school volleyball.

The Patriots dropped the Prowlers to 6-11 for the year with a 25-12, 26-24, 25-14 victory.

A busy week for the Prowlers also included a Tuesday match at East Grand Forks, a Thursday home contest vs. Detroit Lakes and a Saturday appearance at the Perham Invitational.

Thief River Falls junior varsity remained unbeaten with a come-from-behind 23-25, 25-12, 15-10 win over Win-E-Mac.

The Prowlers also won a three-game C squad match, 24-26, 25-17, 15-12.

NCTC volleyball team still looking for a win

Time is running out on the 2005 Northland Community and Technical College volleyball team. With just four regular season matches, along with an end-of-the-year invitational remaining on the schedule, the Pioneers are still looking for the first win.

Northland saw its record dip to 0-14 with 3-0 weekend losses at home to Rainy River and Hibbing.

The Voyageurs won 30-20, 30-23, 30-21 Friday night.

"We were in it until about 12-12 every game," explained Northland coach Missy Majerus. "Then we would make a couple of mistakes and miss a couple of serves."

The Cardinals won a late morning Saturday match with three identical 30-16 wins.

"We served better than we did the night before (missing just three serves in the match), but they beat us by tipping the ball in the middle," mentioned Majerus. "We made adjustment too late."

The Pioneers have been swept in eight straight matches.

It was a disappointing weekend in front of family day and homecoming crowds, said Majerus. "Those were two matches we had hoped to start a winning streak with," she admitted. "We just didn't get it done."

Northland will go on the road for matches Friday at Mesabi Range and Saturday at Vermilion.

Park Rapids edges TRF in tennis quad

Park Rapids Area finished with a one-point edge over the host Prowlers to win the Thief River Falls Quadrangular girls high school tennis meet Thursday.

The Panthers edged the Prowlers 17-16, followed by Roseau with 6 points and East Grand Forks 3 on a chilly, windy day.

Thief River Falls had individual winners at first, third and fourth singles, but Park Rapids Area combined a win at No. 2 singles with a sweep in doubles for the team title.

"I think I am starting to sound like a broken record," said Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanson. "We were in great position to win the tournament, but we are struggling at some positions to pull out the big point when we need it. We lost all three doubles matches to Park Rapids in third-set tie-breaks. We have to start winning some of those tight matches or it will be a short post-season."

The Prowlers' singles champions were Ashley Leister, No. 1; Chelsea Daley, No. 3; and Carli Sandahl, No. 4.

"I know this group has the ability to win the big one," offered Hanestad, "The girls need to come to the same realization."

said, "and we certainly sharpened it at home today. Based on running intensity values on our charts, we are improving greatly from the start of the season. From top to bottom, the boys and girls combined team average have improved almost 15 percent since our first meet. We are getting in better shape as a whole, and running smother as a result."

Over 220 runners competed in the Monday races.

"Having the home crowd support made the event a great success," said Karbovink. "I would like to thank the Thief River Falls Sports Boosters for their support in putting the event together, as well as the volunteers who helped to keep things in order. The Thief River Golf Club also deserves a big thank-you for their generosity in letting us use the course and carts to prepare and run the race."

Prowlers out-score Lumberjacks 27-22

They owned the line of scrimmage."

Led by 5-8, 160-pound senior running back Jon Drees, the Prowlers did rack up 395 rushing yards. Drees scored on runs of 85 and 41 yards during a 19-carry, 269-yard night.

However, what started as promising drives often died out before reaching the end zone. "We got a lot of yards, but we didn't finish," acknowledged Mumm.

Cloquet countered the Thief River Falls ground attack with a 14-for-35, 253-yard passing performance by senior quarterback Bob Mielke.

Thief River Falls struck quickly when Michael Forney found Alex Yaggie open on the right side for a 33-yard pass just two plays into game and Michael Benedict went into the end zone untouched from 17 yards out on play No. 4. A Tom Loe conversion kick made it 7-0 with just 1:37 gone.

Cloquet stopped the next Thief River Falls drive with an interception in the end zone that the Lumberjacks turned into a 14-play possession, ending with a 30-yard Matt Rodlund field goal with 62 seconds left in the first quarter.

Hoping to pin the Prowlers deep in their own territory, the Lumberjacks punted from the Thief River Falls 33. The kick went out of bounds at the 15, and on first down, Drees burst into the secondary off left tackle for the first of his long-range strikes with 8:07 remaining in the half. Loe's kick upped the margin to 14-3.

Cloquet answered with a 10-play, 72-yard touchdown drive that included a 28-yard Mielke pass across the middle to Nate Sanchez to put the Lumberjacks at the Thief River Falls 5-yard line. Josh Terwey took a next-snap counter play to the right corner of the end zone with 3:34 on the clock. The kick was blocked, leaving it 14-9 at the half.

The Prowlers scored on their first possession of the second half when a key downfield block by Ryan Brummund sprung Drees free for a 33-yard gain to the Cloquet 19, and Forney found a wide-open Drees for the touchdown toss from that spot. Loe's third straight PAT kick made it 21-9 with 7:33 to play in the third quarter.

But again, the Lumberjacks had an answer – in the form of a 9-play, 56-yard drive that ended with Mielke rolling right and slicing off tackle on a 2-yard keeper. The kick was of the mark, leaving the score 21-15 with 4:44 to go in the third quarter.

After a fumble recovery stopped a Thief River Falls drive that had reached the Cloquet 14, the Lumberjacks' offense was back at work with a 10-play drive that featured 71 yards worth of Mielke passes. Those completions included a 29-yard toss to an open Terwey in the middle of the field on a fourth-and-20 that left the visitors just four yards short of the end zone.

Terwey bounced outside to the right on the next snap for a tying touchdown. Rodlund's kick put his team ahead 22-21 with 6:44 remaining in the game.

After an exchange of punts, Thief River Falls had the ball at the Cloquet 41 with 2:51 on the clock. With 2:41 left the Prowlers had a 27-22 lead when Drees took the first down hand-off to the left. He appeared to be hemmed in at the line of scrimmage, but squirted through and used his speed to out-run the Lumberjacks' defense for the go-ahead touchdown. A conversion run for a seven-point advantage came up short.

Cloquet picked up two first downs on their final possession and came ever-so-close to scoring again. On a fourth-and-three from the Lumberjacks' 41, Mielke put up a pass that went off the intended receiver's hands. As two two defensive backs closed in on the receiver, the ball caromed into the air and was almost pulled in by a second Cloquet player at at the Thief River Falls 30 – with nothing but open field between him and the end zone.

But the ball fell incomplete, and the Prowlers ran off the final 64 seconds to seal it.

"After being snake-bit the last two weeks (losses to Detroit Lakes 20-121 and Duluth East 29-28), we found way to get it done," offered Mumm. "We've had a tough time overcoming mistakes this year. Our mistakes seem to multiply. We need to be able to make something positive happen after a mistake, and we haven't been able to do that. It's been our downfall. Instead of bouncing back we fall apart. But tonight the kids showed a lot of character and a lot of heart when they were challenged. I was proud of that."

The Prowlers will play their final regular season road game Friday when they head to Grand Rapids for a 7 p.m. kickoff. Thief River Falls closes out the schedule at home with games Friday, Oct. 14, vs. Duluth Central and Wednesday, Oct. 19, against Duluth Denfeld.

NCTC volleyball team still looking for a win

Time is running out on the 2005 Northland Community and Technical College volleyball team. With just four regular season matches, along with an end-of-the-year invitational remaining on the schedule, the Pioneers are still looking for the first win.

Northland saw its record dip to 0-14 with [illegible] weekend losses at home to Rainy River and Hibbing.

The Voyageurs won 30-20, 30-23, 30-21 Friday night.

"We were in it until about 12-12 every game," explained Northland coach Missy Majerus. "Then we would make a couple of mistakes and miss a couple of serves."

The Cardinals won a late morning Saturday match with three identical 30-16 wins.

"We served better than we did the night before (missing just three serves in the match), but they beat us by tipping the ball in the middle," mentioned Majerus. "We made adjustment too late."

The Pioneers have been swept in eight straight matches.

It was a disappointing weekend in front of family day and homecoming crowds, said Majerus. "Those were two matches we had hoped to start a winning streak with," she admitted. "We just didn't get it done."

Northland will go on the road for matches Friday at Mesabi Range and Saturday at Vermilion.

Northland falls in overtime

Northland players and coaching staff argued the call, but their pleas didn't change the outcome.

It was the 2005 Northern Division opener for both teams. The Ironmen are 3-2 overall; the Pioneers fell to 2-3.

"That was a tough loss, real tough," said Northland coach Guy Finstrom. "It was a cat-and-mouse game. We led early, fell behind and came back at the end."

Indeed, the Pioneers looked impressive early as they took the opening kickoff and put together a smart 14-play, 80 yard touchdown drive capped by a 7-yard Tolliver keeper to the left. He was hit at the goal line, but was able to spin off the tackler into the end zone with just 2:41 elapsed. A bobbled snap turned the aborted conversion kick into an incomplete pass.

Two Northland goal line stands protected that 6-0 lead for most of the first half.

A first quarter pass interference penalty in the end zone gave Vermilion a first down at the Northland 1-yard line. A dive and a quarterback sneak failed to reach the end zone and the threat ended on a third down on a fumble recovery by linebacker Alfred Boyd.

Vermilion had first-and-goal at the Northland 4-yard line in the second quarter, but that opportunity was lost on a second-snap fumble, recovered this time by defensive end Adam Phillipe.

However, after playing that well on defense, the Pioneers suffered a tough break when a pass by Johnson was tipped and nearly intercepted at the Northland 30, only to have the ball land in the hands of receiver Isaiah Osborne, who had an open field to the end zone to complete a 47-yard touchdown pass with just 70 seconds left in the first half. A kick by Garcia gave the visitors a 7-6 lead at intermission.

Johnson then got the Vermilion offense going in the second half. The freshman from Jacksonville, Fla., was 23-for-36 in the air for 394 yards and five touchdowns.

Three plays after receiving the second half kickoff, Johnson hit Osborne with a pass that went for 46 yards as the receiver out-jumped a defender and barely missed a stride. Three plays later Johnson found O'Malley on a 7-yard slant route for a touchdown.

It took the Ironmen just two plays to score the next time they touched the ball. A Northland defensive back missed a diving attempt at tipping the pass away, giving Johnson and O'Malley a 36-yard touchdown and a 20-6 lead 4:06 into the third quarter.

It was 26-6 when the Johnson-O'Malley combination clicked again on an 18-yard touchdown. The freshman receiver from Fairfax, who caught nine passes for 155 yards and four touchdowns, caught the ball in the corner of the end zone with 1:48 left in the third quarter despite close Northland defensive coverage.

"I thought we deserved to win," said Finstrom, "but we made some stupid mistakes. Our offense fell asleep, and our defense took a couple plays off."

The Pioneers' offense woke up down the stretch. Tolliver placed a soft toss into the hands of Marcellous Frizze on a pass over the middle that went for 25 yards and a touchdown on the second play of the fourth quarter. A one-handed diving catch by Terrance Townson on the conversion made it a 26-14 game.

A second straight touchdown-producing Northland possession made it a suddenly-interesting contest when running back Steve Stene went through the middle and stretched the ball across the goal line to finish a 9-play, 64-yard drive with 11:08 still to play. The kick missed, leaving it at 26-20.

Northland's game-tying drive started after the Pioneers forced the Ironmen to punt with 1:48 on the clock. The kick was mishandled, but bounced forward and out of bounds at the Vermilion 46.

The drive's biggest play was a Tolliver pass to Mariano Rosales, Jr., who promptly tossed a lateral to Lewis to turn a third-and-20 into a fourth and-1 at the Vermilion 19 with 48.3 seconds to play. A sneak by Tolliver got the first down. Four plays later he connected with Hall for the tie.

"We came back," noted Finstrom. "We picked it up on defense, and offensively, we started to run over them like we should."

Finstrom said earlier results left him with no choice but to go for the two-point conversion at the end. Combined with losses to Central Lakes 20-19 and Minnesota West, the Pioneers' three straight setbacks have been by a combined four points, and each defeat featured multiple failures to tack on conversion points.

Members of Thief River Falls' 1945 high school football team who were on hand for the Prowlers' vs. Cloquet match-up Friday night at Lowell T. Swenson Field were introduced to the crowd during halftime ceremonies. The Prowlers were 5-0-1 that year, out-scoring the opposition 193-6. A 6-6 tie with Bemidji was the only blemish on an otherwise perfect season. Those who attended the honorary program were, from left, coach Donovan Nelson, Les Vigness, Roger Tunberg, Arnie Narverud, Don Engelstad, Thorton Anderson and Cliff Aaze.

Storm scores early vs. Blue Devils

Stephen-Argyle scored 35 first-quarter points en route to a 55-14 Friday high school football win over visiting Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke.

The winless Blue Devils had a major challenge on their hands against the defending Nine-Man state champions and currently No. 1-rated Storm, but they made it even easier for the winners with a series of first quarter mistakes.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke fumbled away the ball on the second play of the game at the Blue Devils' 25, and after a three-and-out second series, a short punt all but guaranteed another quick Stephen-Argyle touchdown.

"We gave them good field position right away and they took advantage of it," explained Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach John Wilebski.

With the early lead, the Storm substituted freely.

The Blue Devils scored on a 65-yard Brady Olson touchdown run in the second quarter, but it was a short-lived celebration: Jesse Sundby returned the ensuing kickoff 95 yards for a touchdown.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke picked up the final points of the night when Briar Verbout scored on a 15-yard run and Greg Sparby caught the conversion pass from Anthony Gast.

Olson finished with 70 yards on nine carries.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke, 0-5, will face another area power Friday against Kittson Central in Grygla before finishing the regular season with an Oct. 14 game at East Grand Forks Sacred Heart.

Mustangs edge Rams

It was a long, drawn-out affair as Red Lake County Central survived a five-game high school volleyball match against Roseau Thursday at Oklee.

The Mustangs improved to 11-5 by beating the Rams 21-25, 26-24, 25-19, 21-25, 15-11.

"It was a nice win," said Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "They beat us twice in tournaments. It's good for the girls to know they can beat the bigger schools. It gives them a shot of confidence."

The long match padded the scoring statistics. Courtney Halvorson had 27 kills and Betsy Winkler collected 49 assists for the winners.

"We served well," mentioned Bray, pointing to a 94 percent figure at the service line. The Mustangs did not miss a single serve in the final two games.

RLCC Scoring

- Kills - Courtney Halvorson 27, Brittany Gustafson 13, BriAnna Doterman 11.
- Assists - Betsy Winkler 49.
- Aces - Betsy Winkler 2.

TRF freshmen top EGF

All the scoring was done in the second half as Thief River Falls beat East Grand Forks 27-8 Thursday in freshman high school football.

A 1-yard run by Brian Hruby, a 35-yard run by Myles Keefe and a conversion run by Hruby provided the Prowlers with a 14-0 third quarter advantage.

It became 27-0 when Cody Conners scored on a 1-yard run, Tyler Aandal broke away for a 55-yard touchdown and Zack Sorenson added a conversion kick.

The win improved Thief River Falls' record to 5-0.

Elaine Thompson • 874-7945

What a wonderful day we have had. It is a little windy, but fresh outdoors.

Notice: Bethania Church of rural Newfolden will have a Harvest Festival on Sunday, October 9th at 2:30 p.m. Pastor Gene Enderlein will speak and there will be special music by Duane Morey. Supper will be served and everyone is welcome.

Friday evening, Sept. 23rd, Robbin Mathson drove up and spent the evening with her mother Elaine Thompson as she wasn't feeling very good so Curtis could go up to Bill and Shirley Wagners of Greenbush. The occasion was to bring Curtis' sister Janice from Alberta Canada to visit. Those who were there were Junice's brothers, Curtis and David and Bev Thompson, sister Shirley and Bill Wagner and also some many relatives from around Greenbush, Roseau, Badger and those who were neighbors also. They had a very good potluck supper. They all enjoyed the evening. Elaine and Junice had a nice visit via telephone.

Sunday, Sept. 18th, Curtis and Elaine Thompson drove to Thief River Falls to do some shopping and afterwards they went to visit Marvin and Rose Nelson and enjoyed coffee and snacks with them.

Birthdays for October are Gay Voytilla-Oct 4th, James Hjelle & Gilbert Olson, the 5th, Orpha Schaffhauser the 6th, Jackie Chapman and Jim Voytilla the 8th, John B Loreness the 16th, Donna Tunheim the 17th, Gretchen Fiaten, Logan Bring and Caleb Knutson the 23rd, Nichol Nelson and Andrew Juaire —

The anniversaries for October are Hilton and Ruby Hjelle on Oct 19th and Don and Pauline Bygaard on Oct 25th. May god bless each one of you with a happy anniversary.

On Saturday, Kathy Harstad from East Grand Forks had dinner with Hanna. Diane Nelson came later for coffee, also Richard and grandson and Natalie and Colton.

Last Saturday, Sept. 24th, Curt and Elaine Thompson were eating their breakfast when they heard someone saying "Hi, anybody home?" and to our surprise there was our son Mark and his daughter Elaina Rose of Moorhead, Minn. It was so good to see them again, but they have been busy also, as they have bought a new home and there's always a lot of work moving. I know because Curtis and Elaine Thompson were married 12 year and had moved 29 times. That's a lot of moving, but we didn't have any children yet, but God has blessed us with five wonderful and precious children.

Sunday Elona Moen came by for coffee. Later, Diane and grandson came and Marvin came by and cut the grass and enjoyed a visit also. It shows how fast the grass really grows now. But, the yards are beautiful now.

Harvey Skyberg came over one day this past week and had coffee and goodies with Curtis and Elaine Thompson. He is feeling quite good now, but it seems it's up and down.

Tuesday Anita Skadsem had coffee in the morning. Diane came later and did some cleaning for Hanna. Richard and Gwen stopped by for coffee later that day.

Wednesday, Kathy Harstad came by for dinner and later Diane Nelson came by so they all enjoyed dinner together with Hanna.

Thank you kindly. Until next week when we'll see you again.

Brooks Community News

Pearl Laniel • 698-4470

Pamela Paradis, her sister, Mrs. Valorie Walker of Crookston, her parents, Doria and Joyce Rock who were visiting over the weekend, a sister Peggy and Bobby Orrock of Becker, all joined together to attend a bridal shower in honor of Jessica Spong and Adam Rock on Saturday. Among the other attendees were Chelsey Paradis, Francis Kepka, Vanessa and Wayne Ballingtine of Elk River, Christopher R0ck and Carrie Freshwater, Tony and Jessica Martell, Grant Orrock and Cote Martell.

Mrs. Willie Katschke attended a birthday party on Sunday in honor of a great grandson, Brittrian, son of Ross Arlt, held at the home of Lowell and Cindy Arlt of Plummer. Among the guests were great grandparents Arnold and Wilma Arlt, Dwight and Amy Erickson and family, Ann Turra, Jason and Sherri Engen and family and Jessica Brinkman, all of Thief River Falls and Justin Rewertz of Willmar and Ross Arlt. Happy 4th birthday Brittrian.

Many friends and neighbors of Brooks and the surrounding area attended the delicious turkey and ham dinner held in Plummer on Sunday in honor of Lowell Hamrum who had been in a car accident. At this time, Lowell is doing well. The dinner was sponsored by the Plummer Lion's Club.

Mrs. Vi Gagner and Martha Gagner of Red Lake Falls, Mrs. Mary Ann Gagner, Joanne Bradley and Dorothy Myhre were Tuesday guests of Mrs. Myrtle Hamrum.

Mrs. Iona Berry hosted the Oklee and Brooks bridge club on Wednesday. Guests included Rose Mandl, Dorothy Lambert, Jeannie O'Niel, Elaine Radniecki, Dorothy Myhre, Lorraine Cote and Pearl Laniel. Rose and Dorothy L. won the traveling prize.

Dick and Karen Delage and Joanne Bradley traveled to Duluth on Friday evening to attend the wedding of a nephew Jim, son of Mrs. Yvonne Kresh and the late Dan Kresh of Aurora and Susan, daughter of Mrs. Judith Karsel and late Robert Karsel of Duluth. The wedding was held on Saturday in the Cathedral of Our Lady of the Rosary in Duluth. Congratulations Tim and Susan.

Mrs. Mary Ann Gagner, Maurice and Theresa LaCoursier were among those who attended the St. Mary's Catholic Church Bazaar in Fosston on Sunday.

Mrs. Judy Olson drove to Minot, N.Dak. on Friday to enjoy the weekend with her daughter Shannon and Scott Knutson and family and to help her grandson Zach celebrate his birthday.

Mrs. Janet Kovisto of Plummer visited her mother Mrs. Mayme Berberich and brothers on Tuesday.

Agder News

Ida Rupprecht • 681-4440

Ida Rupprecht was a Sunday afternoon visitor and luncheon guest at Alvin and Bernyce Grandstrand's home near Viking.

Carmen and Larry Gustafson and Dennis and Ruth Pederson attended the funeral for their cousin, Robert Dezotell in Grand Forks on Friday morning.

Marlene Beedy was a Wednesday evening visitor at Bernice Knutson's home.

Strandquist Community News

F. Myrtle Vagle • 436-2133

Last week I attempted to change the caption of this column, but when I had to look the paper through twice before I found it, I decided to keep Strandquist in it. That was what it was called when Irene Wollin Larson wrote it when I came back to this area from 30 miles miles away from the west entrance of Glacier Park in Montana. Ms. Larson was ill and I began to help her to get the news out each week. When she no longer could write it, she asked me to do it and then the papers asked me to write for them.

I met the two Borsvold sisters who live in Michigan and were here visiting Beverly Borsvold. She asked me if I wanted a story. I was ready to hear it. She was in Flint, Michigan and there met a very nice elderly man who inquired where she was from. When he heard she was from Minnesota and then from Strandquist, he told her that he was born there. Doc Turnbull was late in coming, so Minnie Elseth's kind face was the first one that he opened his eyes to see in this world. Warren Pihlstrom, son of the depot agent in Strandquist grew up here until his father took a new job in another place. He said William Carlson was his best friend. Remember those days?? I do.

Wednesday forenoon, Pearl Thompson, LaVonne Johnson and I went to Lancaster to attend the funeral of Art and Nellie Vagle's grandson, Neil Balderston, who died in an automobile accident. In the afternoon, we drove to the Canadian border, then back to have lunch in Lancaster. On Saturday, Sandy Hagenbeck from Sturgeon Lake, visited Pearl Thompson, while her husband Wendell visited his mother, Judy Hagenbeck, in Newfolden.

Judy Kleinvachter has been busy at home this week except for Sunday noon when she took June Severson with her to feast at the smorgasbord at Irene's Cafe in Strandquist. On Tuesday, they never miss those delicious potato dumplings that Irene's turns out. They must be early to get there because they have already eaten their dinner while the line of waiting is there. Visitors at Judy's home were Wayne, Pat and Rebecca Larson, Kaye Turnwall, June Kasprowicz, Marie Steffen, Jim Fredricks and Ben Kasprowicz.

On Saturday, Elphie Adlis and Kim, Annika and Amanda Kralt of Minot, N. Dak., visited Elsie Lefrooth. Later in the day, Douglas, Parker and Shelby Holmstrom from Farmington and Dean and JoAnne Holmstrom visited with Elsie. Vance Lefrooth, Jr. visited there on Sunday afternoon.

I was bringing tomatoes to Geneva Nordin at Oakwood Homes and came right into a Kaffe Klatch in the dining room. Coffee is one thing I never pass on and all of them got a big tomato to take home. Geneva's guests were Gloria Shablow, Sadie Krantz, Alice Hodney, Marilyn Johnson, Ella Boen, Helga Hostrup and Evelyn Kline. I enjoyed the party. It made my day.

Gatzke

Mrs. Clifford Klamar • 459-3445

Saturday, Dustin Larson and Monica Stralman of Andover visited at the Karyl Larson home.

Visitors on Wednesday morning at the Howard Lunsetter home were Bruce Lunsetter and Larry Hagen.

HISTORICAL REVIEW OF THE TIMES AND ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR

Out in Society

From the Thief River Falls Times
October 2, 1930

Birthday Party

"In honor of the fifth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Joann, Mrs. Joe Holmes entertained a group of children at a party at her home Monday afternoon. Games were played until five o'clock when a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess, a feature of which was a beautiful birthday cake decorated with five candles. Joann was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts from the guests, who included Alice Buringrud, Judith Hallan, Lois Melby, Juanita Knutson, Darline, Anna, Grace, Doris and LeVerne Israelson, Curtis and Harriet Mae Eshelby and Louis Twete."

Celebrates Birthday

"Mrs. R. H. Burrell entertained a group of children at a party at her home last Thursday afternoon in compliment to her son, Wesley, the occasion being his ninth birthday anniversary. Games were played and a luncheon was served at the close of the afternoon by the hostess, a pink and white color note predominating in the favors and menu. Wesley was the recipient of many nice gifts. The guests included Wesley Burrell, honor guest, Kenneth and Burton Benson, Robert Froseth, Lawrence Brooten, Ralph Gustafson, Ervin Wilson, Earl Burrell, Ardith and Dolores Schultz, Ardith Marie Burrell, Miss Emma Tandberg and Miss Lilah Bjorgo."

Trinity Lutheran Church

R. M. Fjelstad, Pastor

"Graded Sunday school and Bible classes at 10 o'clock a.m.

"There will be no morning services since the pastor will preach the convention sermon at the circuit Luther League convention at Greenbush. He will, however, return for the regular evening worship at 7:45.

"Quarterly business meeting of the congregation at 2:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

"The week: The weekly religious instruction in connection with the public school will be resumed on Wednesday afternoon. Parents, let us not fail to make use of the opportunity here given us to instruct our children in the saving truths!

"Wednesday at 7:30: Church Night. The pastor is giving a series of studies and meditations on the Book of Exodus.

"Thursday, October 9th: Circle Day, circles will meet according to announcements by each group.

"Thursday at 7 and 8 p.m. Junior and Senior choir rehearsals.

"Saturday at 10: Confirmation instructions.

"Trinity Ladies Aid is entertained this afternoon by mesdames J. N. Nesse, O. F. Mellby, A. J. Oden, and L. J. Erickson.

"A cordial welcome to all services and meetings."

Augustana Lutheran Church

"10:00 Sunday School.

"11:00 Sunday Divine Services, theme: 'Christ, the Giver of Life.'

"Thursday, Women's Missionary society meets at the home of Mrs. Ed Forsberg."

Fire! Fire!

"The suffocating smell of dense smoke pervaded the lower hall.

"Miss Leavitt hastily closed the door; Miss Wengeler sniffed the air suspiciously; and Mr. Lanning came running down the hall joyfully seeking the place where the fire was.

"A black column of smoke issued from the cooking room. Around the door were gathered a motley crowd, foremost among whom were our hero, Mr. Lanning and Lloyd Aanstad.

"Forcefully pushing his way to the front of the crowd, and anxiously peering through the smoke, Mr. Lanning discovered Miss Stenson and hastily questioned her as to the fire extinguishers and water supply in the room. But Miss Stenson tactfully avoided the questions and politely informed our hero that the girls were baking biscuits and had spilled a trifle of butter on the wrong side of the pan. Nothing daunted, our brave Mr. Lanning began to talk about the weather, and soon Miss Stenson and he were engaged in a quiet and, as we couldn't help but notice, a very interesting conversation.

"When questioned about the matter later, Mr. Lanning emphatically denied all thoughts of there being a fire. He was positive, however, that he had smelled waffles, which accounted for his immediate presence on the scene of the action."

Carameled Apples Tempt Students at Senior Sale

"The first sale of the year was held Friday, September 26, when the seniors sold caramel-dipped apples. The sale was well patronized by all classes. If it is possible to make any distinction, the freshman, who were unused to these sales, seemed to buy the most. Although a number bought their apples on the installment plan, the majority were able to pay cash for them.

"The salesmen included: Harriet Liden, Eleanor Carlson, Evelyn Bradley, Mildred Egenes, and Nyal Dokken, manager.

"The profit of the sale amounted to over twelve dollars."

Comment:

"While making the rounds this last week, the 'Scraps' writer made inquiries as to how the frosh liked the caramel dipped apples. They said they were fine, but did you notice the caramel on some of their faces when they came to school Monday morning? The writer did and, say, she got a big bang out of that, it brought her back to the time when she ate her first one. She tried for days to get the caramel off her nose, but higher education has taught her how to eat them and enjoy them, too. All the freshmen enjoyed it and the upper classmen as well, so sew a dime in your stocking and wait for the next one. Hip Hip Hooray!"

News Items

"Pull, the hypnotist and mind reader, entertained a fair sized audience at the Imperial Hall last Thursday evening.

"The lumber company has changed its pay days and in the future the employees will receive their pay on the 2nd and 4th Saturday in each month.

"Jens Nelson, J. J. Soll and Charles Fellman and M. E. Bjerk went out to Goose lake for a duck hunt last Saturday. They failed to find much game but report having a lively time during the storm, keeping hold of their tent.

"Manager Evans is not feeling good these days. Orders for lumber are plentiful and cars are scarce and hard to get. In fact they don't come at all and the planer was forced to shut down last Thursday. It commenced work again yesterday and they hope for better luck.

"THE RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE, in writing up a wedding which was held at Judge Tarrant's office, informs its readers that the 'office was handsomely decorated with Climax.' We were under the impression that 'Spear Head' was the Judge's favorite brand. [Refers to tobacco products.]

"J. Hogquist, the tailor, had a narrow escape from fire last Wednesday night about midnight. His gasoline stove had not been shut off enough and when he went to the shop and struck a match there was an explosion. His hands were quite seriously burned putting out the fire that ensued, and it is doubtful if he would have succeeded if help had not arrived. The fire would have been a serious one if it had gained headway. Very little damage was done.

"Jokes: Collector: A man whom few care to see, but many ask to call again.; Evolution: A clever trick performed by one Darwin who made a monkey out of Adam. Jury: Twelve men chosen to decide who has the best lawyer."

Basket Social

"There will be a basket social at the Norwegian Synod Lutheran church this evening, Saturday, October 7th at 8 o'clock. Lunch will also be served to all not having baskets. All are cordially invited to attend."

FROM THE PAGES OF THE TIMES

50 YEARS AGO • OCTOBER 5, 1955

Lincoln High School Homecoming Will Start With Bonfire

"Lincoln High School Homecoming will get under way officially tomorrow night [Thursday] with the traditional snake dance and bonfire. The dance will form at the school at 7:30 o'clock and will be led by a pep band and the cheerleaders to the fairgrounds where the big rally will be staged. The Thursday evening program is being directed by a committee headed by Edward Filiatrault and Pat Clinton.

"The queen-crowning exercises will be held at a high school assembly Friday afternoon. On Friday evening the Queen's procession will move through the streets of the city at 7:15 o'clock, led by the band and cheerleaders. They will proceed to the football field where the Queen will be presented to the spectators. Following the game there will be a dance at the city auditorium."

Big Steamer, Now Obsolete, To Be Impressive Monument

"No. 1024, one of the largest and most powerful of the Soo Line steamers that have been retired from service, will have a permanent home in Thief River Falls. A citizens' committee to be selected by Carl Gjernes, president of the Council, will decide where the giant engine will be placed.

"Alex Cloutier is chairman of a committee that will seek funds to pay the cost of moving and locating the engine. The need will not be great for this purpose but it is hoped that a large number of small contributions can be secured.

"Charles E. Hellquist, veteran Soo Line engineer, also retired, for whom No. 1024 is more than just another machine, says that for him, as for many other 'rails' in this railroad town, the old steamer has a special significance, symbolic of the pioneer period of railroading which they served."

Coldest Sunday

"Sunday was the coldest day of the past week according to the Station KTRF weather observations. On Sunday morning the temperature dropped to 25 degrees. There was a .26 inch fall of rain on Monday with traces of precipitation on several other days."

TR Creamery Has Record Butter And Cheese Production

"The Thief River Falls Creamery finished its fiscal year Friday, September 30, with a record annual production of butter and cheese, Manager G. S. Bergland states. Butter production totaled 805,984 pounds with the total for cheese 1,253,797 pounds, which add up to a plant output of more than two million pounds. The creamery will come close to having a million dollar operation for the year just ending."

FROM THE UPPER FALLS

THE NEWS, JOHN W. EASTMAN, PUBLISHER OCTOBER 5, 1905
THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA

Lumbermen Are Busy
Getting Ready for Winter Cut
Wages Will Quite Likely Be Very High This Season

"'Logging operations will again be quite extensive throughout northern Minnesota, the coming winter,' says R. A. Davis of Bemidji. 'The lumbermen are getting ready for their season's work now. Bemidji is not the logging center it once was, but there is still a considerable amount of timber to be cut off in the tributary district. The new roads northward toward Red lake are opening up a big logging territory, and a number of new camps will be established there this year.

"'Not much summer logging has been done up at that section. The contractors are now, however, preparing to log there and are sending men into the woods to build camps and roads. Those advancemen play quite an important part in the logging operations, for they are the ones who get everything in readiness for the season's work, constructing roads, camps and doing a variety of other necessary things.'

"It looks now very much as if wages in the woods would be unusually high this winter. As high as $35 a month and board is being offered now for common work. There are so many other classes of labor at which a man may be employed that it is not necessary for so many to depend upon work in the woods as ordinarily. Railroad construction work is keeping thousands busy and will keep them busy until winter sets in in earnest. The completion of some of the contracts along in November and the return of harvesters from the West, will greatly increase the labor supply, but there is not much danger of the market becoming flooded at all. So far there has been a scarcity of men in the small towns all along the line, as well as in Duluth and the Twin Cities."

Houses Are In Big Demand
Lots of People Want to Make Their Homes Here

"The demand for houses to rent in Thief River Falls just at present is greater than ever before, notwithstanding the fact that there has been an unusual amount of building this year. The lack of houses is going to keep many families from removing here and it would seem that some enterprising citizen would build the houses to rent.

"The railroad men who are making Thief River Falls their home cannot all find accommodations, and a large number of traveling men also desire to come here and live. This city will also be the headquarters of a number of elevator me-n who have lines along the Soo."

Chinese Pheasants for Fertile

"FERTILE JOURNAL: We learn from good authority that the state game commission intends to stock the sand hills south of here with Chinese pheasants, a new game bird imported and now being bred by the commission. The country about the hills is said to be well adapted for these new birds. It is likely the new bird will be protected from being shot for a number of years or until their number becomes multiplied several times."

No Water Yet

"The men employed in drilling the well for the city were down to 290 feet yesterday and will be down to 300 feet probably today. This will end their contract with the city. As no water has been struck, the council will have to decide whether to continue the work or take the water from the river. It is quite probable that river water will have to be used this winter."

Coal Gas in Water
Cannot Be Used in Locomotives
Soo Has to Build a Pipe Line to the Thief River

"The Soo road has got to build a pipe line to the Thief river and secure the supply of water from that place for the locomotives. This year they sunk a well 340 feet deep at their terminal grounds in this city and found an abundant supply of water. It has been found, however, that this water contains such a large percentage of coal gas that it cannot be used by locomotives and satisfactory results obtained, hence it is necessary to build a pipe line to the Thief river and the supply for the water tank will be taken from that place in the near future.

"The fact that there is so much coal gas in the water, indicates beyond a doubt that there is a bed of coal somewhere in this vicinity, and it would be worth considerable to any person that could locate it, providing of course it was found in quantity and near enough to the surface to be profitably mined."

Want a New County

"ADA INDEX: Editor Wigham and Banker Henry Brikett of Mahnomen arrived in Ada Monday night on a business trip. While here they took legal advice and sounded local sentiment on the county division project, which they intend to push sooner or later. They desire to organize a new county out of that portion of the reservation which lies in Norman county, with Mahnomen as the county seat. This would make a county of sixteen townships, large enough for all practical purposes. Local sentiment is in favor of allowing them to organize the new county, and it is likely that a petition will soon be circulated. The vote, however, cannot be taken until the next general election, which occurs next fall.

"Leading men at White Earth village also have in view a separate county, to be formed out of all the 34 townships on the reservation. In conversation with the INDEX editor, these men say they are confident they can carry out their project and that if they could get the majority of voters on the reservation to support their scheme, in preference to that of Norman county, it would be certain to carry in case the settlers out there favored the project. This would give Mahnomen a genuine boom and make it a leading village in a short time."

No indigestion at this meeting

No word yet whether last week's Lunch with the Mayor at the Best Western caused any heartburn among the City Council representatives who were asked to occupy the hot seats for this event. The audience posed some challenging and uncomfortably pointed questions to the council representatives. They handled the questions with poise, but the questions seem to reflect the need for the council members to communicate reasons behind some of the decisions they've made, or bring more citizens into the decision-making process. Never a single-edged sword, residents could also choose to attend council or committee meetings. The heart of any democracy, after all, is held by those who participate, and these meetings are open to the public.

The very first questions set the tone for the rest of the meeting: "Why do you feel that it is necessary to continue to own and maintain buildings, which are no longer used by the city?, and why do you feel that you need to support these buildings by renting them out and therefore putting yourself in direct competition with the very taxpayers who support or subsidize these buildings with their tax dollars?"

City Council representatives responding to the question indicated that there's no easy answer. Truth is, whoever asked the question probably could have received a better answer had he or she simply asked a more pointed question, such as why are they hosting wedding receptions at the Ralph Engelstad Arena (REA)? But, the council representatives had to address a very broad question, and their responses probably showed their frustration at having to respond to a broad question and a subject they've had to address over and over again.

There appears to be no simple answer. Fact is, the city owns and maintains a lot of buildings in the community for the good of the community, none of which show a profit. Several city representatives said the buildings are offered in an attempt to complement or augment services provided by private business. City rental rates are no bargain. Council representatives assured the audience that there's no intent to compete with or undercut private business. The city council is obligated to maintain the buildings and is obligated to taxpayers to be fiscally responsible. So, how else do you reduce the burden on taxpayers?

Elvera Cullen explained that the city knows it has to walk a fine line, and that council representatives are trying to do the best they can.

The first question set the tone for many other difficult questions, but more importantly seems to indicate a breakdown in the lines of communication between the council and the citizens it represents. Questions about the management of the REA, for example, indicate that the public has not been privy to or has chosen not to participate in the lengthy discussions regarding that issue. The city did have some public meetings regarding this particular issue. Might the council and staff, however, prepare a response that explains what was decided and why; or, I suppose, we could hold more meetings like this.

We look forward to similar meetings with other public officials and thank the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce and its committees for sponsoring it.

Seventh graders receive high marks

Seventh grade - a time that is practically a lifetime away for many of our readers. For most of us, those days are probably lost in a hazy fog, shoved back into some dark corner of our minds, maybe even thankfully so, because, too few of us at this age probably thought beyond ourselves. There are major physiological changes taking place in the awkward bodies of seventh graders, so thinking beyond "I" and reflecting on the plight of others, really isn't in their make-up.

We have underestimated some seventh graders. There is at least one group of seventh graders at Franklin Middle School (FMS), anyway, who stopped what they were doing when Hurricane Katrina swept through the South, listened and then acted. In putting on a walk-a-thon and raising over $18,000 for the victims of Hurricane Katrina, they demonstrated great growth and understanding. In taking on this great responsibility, and in accomplishing their goal, they demonstrated a sense of community beyond self.

When Gary Laidley and the seventh grade teaching staff (Gary Laidley, Mary Anderson, Amy Brandt, Diane Paulson and Lora Rantanen) proposed this idea to students, they had hoped for one, just one, teachable moment for students at FMS. Friday, the students provided the entire community a teachable moment.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Humane Society continues to make a difference

To the Editor:

Horrific images of the devastation caused by the recent hurricanes flood our minds. People who have lost everything. Homes demolished. Pets wandering in the streets looking for food and water. It definitely pulls at our heartstrings and we wonder what we can possibly do to help.

The media has done a good job of portraying the effects of the natural disasters. Nobody can watch the images or read the accounts without feeling overwhelmed and, at the same time, thankful that it hasn't happened to us in northwestern Minnesota.

Unfortunately for many animals, it has. It happens every day. We are overwhelmed at our local shelter with more abandoned and unwanted animals that we can possibly deal with - cats with distemper, feline leukemia, injuries requiring medical intervention, and dogs with parvovirus, heartworm, distemper, and broken bones. For each of these animals, every day is a disaster as they fight to survive.

Our own city pound is filled with kittens which did nothing wrong other than be born, and dogs that have become too much for owners who thought they were cute as pups but didn't bother to put in the time, training and caring for them. It is a disaster, an ongoing disaster that is every much as devastating as what has happened on the Gulf Coast.

Our shelter is fighting for survival, too. Donations, which allow us to keep our facility open and provide care for the animals left homeless or abandoned by our local disaster of ambivalence, are down considerably this year. The building that is used to house cats is substandard in nearly every way. We are trying to put up a better one, but again, money is lacking to do more than the little that finances will allow.

People continue to go to pet stores to buy "cute" or "designer" pets, which grow up to be more than they can handle. People continue to allow their pets to breed indiscriminately, producing litters of young that they don't want. People continue to opt not to vaccinate their own pets for preventable diseases, leading to outbreaks and epidemics resulting in many innocent lost lives. People continue to shrug their shoulders and shrug responsibility, thinking we (the Pennington County Humane Society) will take care of the problem for them.

But we can't. We can't save them all. We can't solve the problem or continue to deal with the daily local disaster on our own. We need help. We need local involvement. We need people to be aware and responsible. We need people to stop looking away and start looking for a way to help. More than anything else, we need money.

We will be putting on a fundraising benefit on Oct. 14 called "Woof Stock 2005" at the Eagles Club. It is open to adults and children of all ages. There will be a burger feed (freewill offering), silent auction with items donated by local businesses and individuals, a "celebrity" dessert auction; followed by a dance with music provided by the local band Chasing Daylight. Raffle tickets with a top prize of $1,000 are now being sold. If you haven't been asked to buy one, stop out at the shelter and we will gladly sell you as many as you want. The money raised from this event will hopefully allow us to keep our doors open, and maybe even allow us to complete another phase on our building.

Help us deal with this disaster. Give what you can. Take care of your own pets. With your help, Pennington County Humane Society can continue to make a difference in northwestern Minnesota.

Respectfully,
Dawn Williamson
Operations Manager
Pennington County Humane Society

Commissioner
MN Dept. of Agriculture

For farmers, harvest is the most exciting and grueling time of the year. Many of us will work long hours into the night to get our crops harvested in time. It's important to get the job done on time, but it is just as important to get it done safely.

Each year, we see a peak in the number of farm injuries around harvest time. These incidents are tragic but avoidable aspects of farm life. According to John Shutske, a farm safety and health specialist with the University of Minnesota's Extension Service, 26 people died on Minnesota farm workplaces in 2004. That's the same number of farm deaths as Minnesota has experienced in the previous two years.

We have been successful in bringing Minnesota's rate of farm injuries down over the last two decades, but our goal should be to get that number to zero. It's a goal we can reach by keeping some important safety tips in mind throughout the year.

According to Shutske, one of the most common farm-related causes of death in Minnesota is being pinned under or between a tractor or other piece of equipment. Other causes of death included falls, road way accidents, being suffocated under grain, and becoming entangled in a power take-off.

There [illegible] simple steps farm [illegible] to prevent [illegible]

Take the time to be safe. During harvest, it is tempting to take shortcuts that save time but may compromise safety. Farmers should always block up the combine header before working underneath it, and they should make sure safety shields are in place when operating equipment.

Be cautious on the road. In Minnesota, more than half of all fatal motor crashes happen in rural areas. The fall harvest season is a particularly dangerous time on rural roads because many farm tractors, combines and other vehicles share the road with motorists. Speed is the biggest single factor affecting the severity of a highway crash, so drivers can help themselves and others by driving within the posted speed limit. Farmers can also help by making their slow-moving vehicles (SMV) as visible as possible by using flashing warning lights and equipping all farm machines and tractors with SMV emblems.

Be prepared for combine fires. Farmers should keep the combine and other equipment as clean as possible to minimize the chance of fire. They should watch for sources of combustible materials that could lead to a fire. They should make sure they have at least one 10-pound ABC dry chemical fire extinguisher on every combine.

Take breaks to stay alert. Taking several short breaks helps farmers reduce their stress and risk of injury. It's important to get off of a machine every two hours or so, even just to stretch your legs for five minutes. Eating healthy snacks, such as fruits, vegetables and whole grains, can help keep energy levels high.

In addition to these steps, farmers should keep in mind the risks that come after harvest. As they store grain, farmers face the risk of being trapped underneath flowing grain in bins and silos. They also may face the risk of inhaling dangerous dusts and gases that can build up in the storage facilities following harvest.

For more details on what farmers and others can do to make 2005 our safest year ever, check out the University's Web site at http://safety.coafes.umn.edu/.

20 percent by 2020 proposed

The Minnesota House of Representatives held a joint hearing recently to consider Rep. Aaron Peterson's (DFL-Madison) proposal for a 20 percent Renewable Energy Standard (RES) by 2020.

Peterson first offered this proposal during the 2005 legislative session. The Sept. 27 hearing was held jointly by the Agriculture and Rural Development Policy Committee and the Regulated Industries Committee.

"Since the proposal was voted down last session, enthusiasm for renewable energy has grown even stronger - especially in light of the recent surge in gas prices, dependence on foreign oil and imports of expensive natural gas," said Peterson. "As much as possible, we need to make Minnesota-generated power a priority."

"Minnesota has great potential to expand our use of renewable energy," Peterson continued. "Rural Minnesota is rich with renewable energy resources."

Peterson said that while everyone knows the wind doesn't blow all the time, the wind power strength in Minnesota is strong and can take a significant bite out of rising energy costs.

Strong testimony was given during the hearing about the economic benefits of expanding the renewable energy market. One estimate indicated that as many as 5,000 new jobs could be created and sustained as the result of this standard, many of them across rural Minnesota in the form of manufacturing, installation, operations and maintenance.

Currently, three-fourths of Minnesota's electricity comes from coal, which Minnesota does not produce, and has environmental costs in addition to energy costs. The RES would greatly reduce this financial and environmental cost, primarily through the use of wind turbines.

"Technology advances have made wind power prices as economic as new coal power, making it the lowest cost way to generate electricity," said Peterson. "Yet, there is still strong opposition from some utility companies."

Peterson said that his next step is to request a meeting with Gov. Tim Pawlenty to ask him for his support on the renewable energy standard. He also plans to re-introduce the standard in March, and is hopeful that his fellow legislators will join him in supporting this bill that will make Minnesota a leader in renewable energy again.

"Every time we discuss renewable energy, more people become believers," said Peterson. "I believe a majority of Minnesotans support expanded development of renewable energy and it's time for us to step up and get it done.

Renewable energy is real and it works."

Biodiesel?

Minnesota Farm Bureau President Al Christopherson issued the following statement regarding today's implementation of Minnesota's biodiesel mandate. From this day forward, all diesel fuel sold in Minnesota will contain a 2 percent biodiesel blend.

"This is indeed a step forward in the quest to remove our dependence on foreign sources of oil," said Minnesota Farm Bureau President Al Christopherson. "I believe that the 2 percent blend is only a start. As we move forward and especially with the increase in energy prices, we will gain a greater level of acceptance for this renewable fuel."

REGULAR SCHOOL BOARD MEETING
Board of Education
Independent School District No. 441
Marshall County Central High School Conference Room
Newfolden, Minnesota
September 20, 2005 – 7:30 p.m.

The Board of Education of Independent School District No. 441 met in regular session on September 20, 2005, in the Marshall County Central Conference Room, Newfolden, Minnesota.

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by Chairperson Mark Carlson, who presided. Others present: Wendy Blazejowski (came at 7:45) Judy Duray, Robert Hestekind, Myles Hogberg, Mark Knutson, Supt. Ron Paggen. Absent: Marlene Rokke. Others present: Bryan Thygeson, James Hodny, Mona Olson, and Greg Hestekind.

In Open Forum Greg Hestekind expressed his opinion that the school should keep and preferably display all sports trophies received for all sports for all grades, 7-12, and for any place among any number of teams. Greg Hestekind also expressed his opinion that class pictures similar to those displayed prior to the 1991 fire should be replaced and displayed. Greg Hestekind also expressed his opinion that the 5th Grade Class is too large for a single section and that the class should be divided into two sections.

A motion was made by Mark Knutson and seconded by Wendy Blazejewski to accept the agenda with the additions of recognition of National Guard families with free season passes, recognition of New Maine 4-H club for the flower bed, and Preschool admissions. UC.

Minutes of the previous meeting had been mailed to members for review. Judy Duray made a motion to approve the corrected minutes of August 16, 2005, and Myles Hogberg seconded the motion. UC.

A motion was made by Mark Knutson and seconded by Wendy Blazejowski to approve payment of September bills. UC.

The Treasurer's report was presented by Wendy Blazejowski.

There were no Committee reports.

Principal Jim Hodny reported on the following:

1) The After school program has begun

2) The Elementary students are raising money for Hurricane Katrina victims

3) The School Report Card for 2005 reports good results for the elementary schools

Principal Bryan Thygeson reported on the following:

1) The Testing Calendar for the 2005-2006 school year

2) Yearbook Update

3) Improvement Initiatives for staff including Centerpoint and Curriculum Mapper

4) Finalized Football schedule for the 2006 season

5) Vending Contract with Pepsi Cola and Coca Cola

Supt. Paggen reported on the following:

1) MSBA All State Board nominations

2) MREA Board of Directors – Nominations

3) Tiny Tots Expo Saturday, October 8 from 10:00 – 1:00 in our High School gym

4) District financial investements

5) Carol M. White Physical Education Grant

A motion was made by Myles Hogberg and seconded by Judy Duray to nominate Mark Carlson to the MSBA All State Board of Education. UC.

A motion was made by Wendy Blazejewski and seconded by Myles Hogberg to approve the property tax levy for 2005 payable 2006, to be set at the maximum amount of levy permitted. UC

The bus routes will be reviewed at the October meeting.

Supt. Paggen updated the Board on the Enrollment of K-12 for school year 2005-2006.

A motion was made by Mark Knutson and seconded by Judy Duray to approve the Annual Report on Curriculum Instruction and Student Achievement for 2004-2005 as presented by Mr. Hodny. UC.

A motion was made by Wendy Blazejewski and seconded by Myles Hogberg to approve the revised budget for 2005-2006 as presented along with the District Revenue and Expenditure Budget Publication for the Thief River Times on September [illegible] 2005. UC.

A motion was made by Myles Hogberg and seconded by Judy Duray to [illegible] hiring Debra [illegible] as Special Education teacher and Carla [illegible] as Title I Teacher [illegible] and [illegible] Elementary Schools. UC.

Supt. Paggen discussed with the Board a possible art teacher candidate for the 2nd semester of school.

Supt. Paggen discussed with the Board the possibility of the school bus purchase of a new Mini/Micro 14 passenger bus. More information will be presented in October.

Supt. Paggen reported that there has been some interest in the purchase of two parcels of land owned by the district. After discussion, the board directed the superintendent to proceed with advertising for the sale of a 3 acre parcel near Viking and to report on additional information regarding the possible uses for the other parcel of land.

A motion was made by Myles Hogberg and seconded by Wendy Blazejowski to approve a resolution to participate in Quality Compensation Program (Q Comp) and to submit the letter of intent to the Minnesota Dept. of Education. UC.

A motion was made by Judy Duray and seconded by Mark Knutson to approve the two staff development applications for Exemplary Grant for school year 2005-2006. UC.

Member Robert Hestekind proposed that the board should recognize the National Guard families by approving a free pass for extra-curricular events if the family member of the Guard is serving overseas on a combat mission. After some discussion, the consensus of the board was that the proposal was good, but the wording of a resolution required more thought and appropriate written form prior to formal action. Supt. Paggen will develop wording of a resolution for consideration in October.

A motion was made by Robert Hestekind and seconded by Wendy Blazejowski to commend the New Maine 4-H Club on the beautiful flower bed in front of the high school building. UC.

A discussion was held regarding the limitation on the number of participants in the school readiness pre-school program. A motion was made by Wendy Blazejowski and seconded by Judy Duray to have the program available to more than twenty students and to have the administration develop written guidelines for the pre-school program. UC.

A motion was made by Myles Hogberg and seconded by Mark Knutson to authorize the superintendent to sign on behalf of the school district the Marshall County Collaborative Governance Documents. UC.

Annoucements:
Next Regular School Board Meeting October 18, 2005 – 7:30 p.m.

A motion was made by Judy Duray to adjourn. The motion was seconded by Myles Hogberg. The meeting adjourned at 10:40 p.m.

Attest:

Bothum completes basic military training

Air Force Airman First Class Kevin G. Bothum has graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

During the six weeks of training, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization, and military customs and courtesies; performed drill and ceremony marches, and received physical training, rifle marksmanship, field training exercises, and special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Bothum is the son of Grant and Ivy Bothum of Halma.

He graduated in 2001 from Heritage Christian School, Karlstad and received an associate degree in 2004 from Crown College, St. Bonifacius.

NWRDC seeks representatives for commission seats

The Northwest Regional Development Commission (NWRDC) is seeking nominations for 13 public interest representatives on the commission for the following areas: agriculture, business, financial institutions, industry, labor, low income, minorities (two), seniors, soil and water conservation districts, vocational schools, watershed districts and women.

The commission encourages groups with expertise or special interest in any of these areas to nominate a representative for a position. These are two-year terms of office and members receive a $50 per diem payment as well as travel expenses for the days on which they attend commission meetings.

The NWRDC is a policy-making body comprised of 35 individuals who serve as representatives of counties, municipalities, townships, school boards and public interest areas. The NWRDC serves Kittson, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau counties.

Anyone interested in placing a nomination should contact the NWRDC for the nomination form to be used when nominating an individual. Nominations should be submitted by Nov. 11. Appointments for public interest seats will be made at the commission's annual meeting scheduled in December. Contact Carol Sorensen at [illegible] for a nomination form or for further information.

Great Alaskan Gold Rush

Kathie Johanneck and Ray Johanneck pull Lars Brevik who is sitting on a gunny sack. Also participating in this little group was Zack Landman. All of them were participating in The Great Alaskan Gold Rush, an activity day for boys interested in Cub Scouting. The event, which was held Saturday at the Northland Community and Technical College campus at the Thief River Falls Regional Airport provided youth (and parents) with many challenging activities. Over 150 signed up for the event, far surpassing what organizers had anticipated.

LHS students learn to be "Street Smart"

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Lincoln High School (LHS) students learned a grim lesson Oct. 5. The pictures and stories were graphic. Down the road, however, the Street Smart presentation may have saved one or more lives.

Ronny Garcia, a Tampa, Fla., paramedic/firefighter, and Kirsten Svela, a Tallahassee, Fla., paramedic, shared stories and pictures of people who acted irresponsibly and died as a result of their actions. By doing so, they may have helped students remember the risks of teen drinking, drunk driving, illegal drug use and not wearing seat belts.

Garcia told the students their age group is represented more than any other age group when it comes to trauma calls or those calls involving shootings, stabbings or accidents. "Most trauma calls are preventable," said Garcia. "They don't have to happen."

In two groups, students listened to Garcia and Svela as they told stories of trauma calls that didn't have to happen. Svela told a story about a group of high school students who had taken Quaaludes and then gone pool-hopping from house to house. At each house, a homeowner caught the students in the pool, and the students were told to leave. The students eventually decided to break into their high school and swim in the school's swimming pool.

No one noticed there was yellow caution tape around the swimming pool. A girl decided to dive into the pool. She got onto the diving board and dove into the pool. "She hit her head so hard on the bottom of that empty swimming pool that her spinal cord was blown out of her body," Svela said.

Years ago, a group of high school and college students were on spring break in Florida. They arrived early at their hotel, so they decided to drink alcohol in the hotel's parking lot and play football there. As more guests arrived at the hotel, the parking lot became too crowded for the students to play football. One of them scoped out another area to play football. "He had a better idea – the roof of their 11-story hotel," Svela said.

They went onto the hotel's roof where they played football – until one of them fell off of the roof. When law enforcement and firefighters arrived, all they could do was spray body parts off of five or six cars, Svela said.

People are also acting irresponsibly when they don't wear seat belts. To highlight the reason why individuals should buckle up before leaving in a vehicle, Garcia and Svela showed graphic photos of people

As part of the Street Smart presentation, students listened to a fictitious story in which a student was injured. Kirsten Svela, a paramedic from Tallahassee, Fla., described what paramedics would do following an accident as Ronny Garcia, a firefighter/paramedic from Tampa, Fla., strapped LHS sophomore Jordan Needham onto a spine board.

"Titus Andronicus" performed at NCTC

A bundle of joy comes home to TRF

Luck may be on Madison Jo Dahl's side. Born premature at 1 pound, 1 ounce, Dahl went home Sept. 13 to Thief River Falls. Despite her prematurity and low birth weight, Dahl suffered only one complication.

Dahl was born on her mom's birthday, June 28, at the University of Minnesota Medical Center, Fairview in Minneapolis. At the time, Leslie Renfroe was only 26 weeks and four days pregnant.

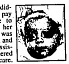
Renfroe was hospitalized in Minneapolis after it was determined blood wasn't flowing properly from the placenta to her baby. Doctors believed the baby would do better outside of the womb.

Even though Dahl was premature, her father, Adam, and mother probably didn't expect their baby to be 1 pound, 1 ounce at birth. "You worry," said Renfroe. "You're paranoid over every little thing, but I'd have to say it definitely brought us all closer together and bonded us even more."

Dahl suffered from one complication, a hole in her small intestine. "I make babies wonderfully, but they just have intestinal problems," Renfroe recalled telling a surgeon. Her 6-year-old son was also born with an intestinal problem.

Dahl underwent surgery to repair the hole, and an ostomy bag was put in place to remove waste from her body. The ostomy bag was expected to be in place for three to six months, Renfroe said. Given that Dahl's next surgical appointment is not until Thursday, Renfroe said it will be closer to six months before the ostomy bag is taken out.

While her daughter gained strength and recovered from her surgery, Renfroe stayed at the Ronald McDonald House in the Twin Cities. She had heard about the Ronald McDonald House in the past, but she said, "You don't realize exactly what it's about until you're there."



Madison Jo Dahl

Renfroe didn't have to pay for a place to stay while her daughter was hospitalized, and medical assistance covered Dahl's care. Some insurances also cover the type of care Dahl received, Renfroe said.

Dahl is lucky. Premature babies are more likely to suffer from serious health problems. In addition, babies who are less than 5 pounds, 8 ounces at birth are at a higher risk to

Getting Fit Together

Even a little weight loss can yield many benefits

Weight Watchers and TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) weight loss programs in Thief River Falls examined

by Scott DCamp,
Reporter

Without a healthy diet, you can't see the benefits of exercise. Without exercise, you can't see the benefit of a healthy diet. These are two statements that health professionals often preach and their patients have often heard.

In a society that centers around food, where obesity is becoming a greater and greater concern, the importance of a balanced diet that includes exercise is more important than ever.

Deanna Skaar, a licensed clinical dietitian at Northwest Medical Center, Thief River Falls, treats patients on both an inpatient and outpatient basis for health issues ranging from obesity and heart disease to cholesterol and diabetes. All her clients are from doctor-referral, with most referrals made to treat type two diabetics, including children as young as age 5.

"With type two diabetes, we know that with even a 10 percent weight loss, your dependency on medication will decrease, your diabetes can get better – it can go away."

Skaar designs each weightloss program for each individual she sees. The balance of one's diet depends on factors such as age, size and activity level, according to Skaar. Typically she recommends a diet plan that balances an intake of 50 percent carbohydrates, 30 percent protein and 20 percent fat.

A program for diabetics will pay much closer attention to carbohydrate totals than a generic weight loss program, while one that is aimed at lower high cholesterol and triglyceride levels may focus on decreasing the intake of saturated fat.

"We try to teach people to cut down on the saturated fat and replace it with unsaturated fat that's found in canola and other oils," Skaar said.

Skaar also feels its important for patients to understand the difference between complex carbohydrates and refined carbohydrates. Complex carbohydrates include whole grains and are a plentiful source of long-lasting energy, while refined carbs found in soft drinks and sweets can cause rapid potentially dangerous short-term increases in blood sugar and should be used only in moderation.

Skaar said another often overlooked area of a balanced diet is in the fruits and vegetables category. Because of their ability to boost a slow metabolism, Skaar tells her patients to eat a minimum of five servings of fruits and vegetables each day.

No diet can truly be successful without exercise. Skaar, like most experts, encourages her client to exercise at least 30 minutes per day. Not only does exercise increase one's metabolism, but it also strengthens the heart and increases lung capacity.

Man charged for punching windshield with fist

Third degree criminal damage to property: On Sept. 7 at 9:19 a.m., police received a report of property damage in the 600 block of Greenwood St. E. Kelly Dan Graves, 37, unknown address, allegedly got into an argument with a woman and then smashed a windshield with his fist. The 1994 Ford Explorer sustained $280 in damage. Graves has been charged with third degree criminal damage to property.

Malicious punishment of a child: On Sept. 28 at 10:32 p.m., police received a report of malicious punishment of a child in the 1200 block of Stephen St. Christopher Carl Prickett, 38, Thief River Falls, allegedly grabbed a boy under the age of 16 by the throat and neck, and threw him to the floor. The criminal complaint indicated that a wrestling match basically ensued between Prickett and the juvenile. A woman then allegedly hit Prickett on the head with a phone in order to stop him. Prickett has been charged with malicious punishment of a child.

Disorderly conduct and criminal damage to property: On Sept. 25 at 11:23 p.m., police received a report of disorderly conduct and criminal damage to property at Campus Court Apartments. People were allegedly throwing eggs. As a result, a piece of siding broke off of a building. A 17-year-old Thief River Falls female has charges pending for disorderly conduct. The following Thief River Falls residents have been cited for disorderly conduct and criminal damage to property: Dillon Charles Berg, 18; Steve Marcelin, 21; Justin Gregory Mann, 18; Michael Keith Hall, 18; and Giovanni Gonzalez, 20. Tia Shalise Sauls, 18, Thief River Falls, was cited for disorderly conduct. A damage amount was not listed in the report.

Accident: On Sept. 26 at 10:18 p.m., the sheriff's department received a report of an accident in the 13000 block of 140th Ave. N.E. At the time of the accident, Tara Beth Podenski of Red Lake Falls was driving a 1999 Chrysler LHS southbound on 140th Avenue Northeast. The report indicated she dropped her cell phone and looked away from the road. When she looked up, she noticed the vehicle was heading toward a ditch. Podenski over-corrected and then lost control of the vehicle. The vehicle then rolled. The vehicle was totalled.

Underage consumption: On Sept. 29 at 10 p.m., police received a report that someone who was too young to be at a Northland Community and Technical College dance was at the dance. The 16-year-old Thief River Falls female has charges pending for underage consumption.

Fifth degree assault: On Sept. 30 at 9:02 p.m., police received a report of an assault at Lowell T. Swenson Field. A 13-year-old Thief River Falls male allegedly punched another male in the face numerous times. The juvenile has charges pending for fifth degree assault.

Theft: On Oct. 3 at 8:41 a.m., police received a report of a theft in the 400 block of St. Paul Ave. S. Items were taken from a boat that was parked at a residence. The stolen items included an ABU Garcia reel; another reel; two fishing poles – one green fishing pole with gold eyes on the pole and a gray graphite fishing pole; and a green tackle-box with numerous tackle. The theft loss is estimated at $570. The incident remains under investigation.

Accident: On Oct. 1 at 8:21 a.m., the sheriff's department received a report of an accident near the intersection of 180th Avenue Northeast and 180th Street Northeast. At the time of the accident, Katie Sarah Reed of Thief River Falls was driving a 1991 Buick Century southbound on 180th Avenue Northeast. The report indicated she lost control of the vehicle while she was driving on the gravel road. The vehicle went into a ditch and hit a road sign. The vehicle sustained $1,500 in damage. The report did not list the damage amount for the sign.

Accident and failure to stop for a stop sign: On Oct. 4 at 3:26 p.m., the sheriff's department received a report of an accident at the intersection of 150th Avenue Northeast and 180th Street Northeast. A 1990 Chevy GMT 400 driven by Daniel Curtis Barth of Thief River Falls and a 1994 Chevy GMT 400 driven by Henry Theodore Hastad of Thief River Falls collided. According to the report, Barth was eastbound on 180th Street Northeast when he failed to stop for a stop sign, causing a collision with the northbound Hastad vehicle. Barth was cited for failure to stop for a stop sign. Both vehicles were totalled.

Theft: On Oct. 4 at 9:05 p.m., police received a report of a theft in the 200 block of Kendall Ave. N. An orange Stihl chainsaw with chainguard was stolen. The theft loss is estimated at $328. The incident remains under investigation.

Accident: On Oct. 5 at 4:11 p.m., police received a report of an accident at the Wells Fargo drive-through exit. A 1998 Plymouth Voyager driven by Kristen Ruth Bjerklie of Thief River Falls and a 1992 Buick Regal driven by Merlin Wesley Drake of Thief River Falls collided. At the time of the accident, Bjerklie was exiting the bank's drive-through area and attempting to turn south, and Drake was northbound on Main Avenue North. Bjerklie's vehicle sustained $1,500 in damage, and Drake's vehicle sustained $500 in damage.

Burglary: On Oct. 5 at 6:02 p.m., police received a report of a burglary in the 500 block of LaBree Ave. N. Nothing appeared to be missing; however, couch cushions were taken off of a couch and a mattress was taken off of a bed frame. The incident remains under investigation.

Accident: On Oct. 6 at 6:19 p.m., police received a report of an accident at the intersection of Eighth Street and Davis Avenue. A 1997 Nissan Pathfinder driven by Wade Kim Alten of Thief River Falls and a 1992 Ford Tempo driven by William Thomas Larson of Thief River Falls collided. At the time of the accident, Alten was turning east onto Davis Avenue when the collision occurred with the eastbound Larson. Alten's vehicle sustained $2,500 in damage, and Larson's vehicle sustained $3,000 in damage.

Hit and run accident: On Oct. 7 at 9:15 a.m., police received a report of a hit and run accident in the Northland Village parking lot. A 1995 Chevy Monte Carlo owned by Richard and Darlene Rue of Fosston sustained $300 in damage. The vehicle was parked at that location by Jennifer Lynn Rue of Thief River Falls. The incident remains under investigation.

Burglary: On Oct. 7 at 10:49 a.m., the sheriff's department received a report of a burglary in the 12000 block of 200th St. N.E. Someone stole a tackle-box from the entryway of a residence. The gray tackle-box, which has a blue lid, was full of tackle. The theft loss is estimated at $100. The incident remains under investigation.

Accident and failure to yield: On Oct. 7 at 6:03 p.m., police received a report of an accident at the intersection of Highway 32 and Greenwood Street. A 1994 Chevy pickup truck driven by Dale Duane Opdahl of Thief River Falls collided with a 1996 Ford Aerostar driven by Carmen Jenny Olson of Thief River Falls. At the time of the accident, Opdahl was northbound on Highway 32 and attempting to turn west onto Greenwood Street. His vehicle then collided with the southbound Olson vehicle. Opdahl was cited for failure to yield. Opdahl's vehicle sustained $2,500 in damage, and Olson's vehicle sustained $3,000 in damage.

Burglary: On Oct. 8 at 5:50 p.m., the sheriff's department received a report of a burglary at DW's Dining and Dancing in Goodridge. Someone stole seven to eight cartons of cigarettes. The theft loss is estimated at $310. The incident remains under investigation.

If readers have any information about the aforementioned crimes or offenses, they are urged to contact the Law Enforcement Center at 681-6161.

These reports include names of* individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

TRF man sentenced to 43 months in prison for meth charge

A Thief River Falls man was sentenced Sept. 29 in Pennington County District Court on a felony drug charge.

Matthew Kirk Osell, 38, pled guilty to a felony offense of conspiracy to manufacture methamphetamine. Osell was sentenced to 43 months in prison. He was ordered to submit a DNA sample. Osell was also ordered to pay $120 in fees and fines. The charge stemmed from a Jan. 20 report from a Kmart employee, who told police that Natalie Kay Kolberg-Osell, 39, had gone to the store on three separate occasions. On one occasion, she purchased two 96-count boxes of pseudoephedrine. On a second occasion, she purchased a gallon of Coleman fuel. On a third occasion, she purchased an additional box of pseudoephedrine. A search warrant was executed in the 700 block of Conley Ave. S. Batteries, battery casings, empty cans of Coleman fuel, full and half-full cans of Coleman fuel, Sudafed boxes and other meth ingredients were found there. Kolberg-Osell pled guilty to possession of meth precursors. In July, a three-year stay of imposition was granted, and she was ordered to serve three years on supervised probation.

James Michael Smsky, 27, Trail, was sentenced on a felony offense of first degree driving while impaired (DWI). Smsky was sentenced to 36 months with all but 180 days stayed for seven years. He was placed on supervised probation for seven years. Smsky was ordered to have an alcohol assessment. He was ordered to pay $1,098 in fees and fines. On April 10, a trooper was impounding license plates in the 700 block of State Ave. N. He heard two pickup trucks with loud mufflers as well as the revving of engines. The trooper noted Smsky and the other driver seemed to be traveling in an exhibition manner. Their vehicles were stopped, and Smsky was charged with the above offense. The criminal complaint indicated it was Smsky's fourth DWI offense in 10 years for having blood-alcohol concentrations of 0.10 or more in 1998, 2000 and 2001.

Numerous traffic offenses and other misdemeanors are included in the latest edition of the Pennington County Citation Disposition Bulletin.

Pennington County Sheriff's Department cases: Bruce Duane Jones, 38, Thief River Falls, issuance of a worthless check, $132, $80 restitution; Alex Lee McIntyre, 19, Thief River Falls, third degree driving while intoxicated, $882, one year in jail with all but 30 days stayed for two years, supervised probation for two years.

Thief River Falls Police Department cases: Tyeshia E. # September traffic crash totals: 23 deaths, 24 serious injuries

The Minnesota Department of Public Safety (DPS) announced recently that preliminary Minnesota State Patrol traffic crash repots indicate 23 people died in 22 crashes and 24 were seriously injured on the state's roads in September. To date, the statewide preliminary traffic death number is 395.

Following September's deadly end, two men were killed Oct. 1, and five men and one woman were seriously injured on Oct. 1 and Oct. 2 across the state in crashes in which alcohol, speed, distraction and the non-use of seat belts were factors.

The September deaths included 18 vehicle occupants, three motorcyclists, one pedestrian and one all-terrain-vehicle (ATV) operator. Of the vehicle occupants killed, six were not wearing seat blets and it is not known whether five others were belted. Alcohol is a known factor in four fatal crashes; the State Patrol is investigating to determine if alcohol was a factor in nine other crashes.

In September, five motorists, one motorcyclist and one pedestrian died in the metro region; and 13 motorists, two motorcyclists and one ATV operator died in Greater Minnesota. There were two deaths in Kandiyohi, Scott, Sherburne and Washington counties, and one death each in Aitkin, Anoka, Benton, Blue Earth, Carlton, Dakota, Fillmore, Isanti, Lake Morrison, Ramsey, Rice, St. Louis, Winona and Wright counties.

Of the 23 September traffic fatalities, 18 were male. The deaths were distributed among many age groups: five were in their 20s, five were in their 30s, seven were in their 40s and six were 60 or older. Of the 24 seriously injured, 17 were male and nine were age 20 or younger.

Jury duty scam leads to identity theft

The Better Business Bureau of Minnesota and North Dakota is warning the public of a scam involving jury duty. Several states, including Minnesota, have reported calls from the public complaining of someone trying to get personal account and Social Security information by posing as a worker for the court system.

Callers claim to be court officials and say they are following up on the person's failure to show up for jury duty. When the victim states he or she never received notification to report for jury service, the caller asks for Social Security or personal account information to verify the person's identity. The scammer sometimes threatens the victim with fines or even a warrant for arrest. Many times, the victims are caught off-guard and agree to furnish personal information.

This is just the latest in a series of identity theft scams hitting Minnesota and North Dakota. The public can protect themselves by simply refusing to give personal information over the phone to unknown callers. The judicial system will never contact people by phone and ask for personal information. If a resident receives this type of phone call, hang up and call the local police department to report it. Individuals may also contact the Better Business Bureau at 1-800-646-6222.

Here are some other tips to protect people from identity theft:

- When ordering checks, have them sent to the bank. Having checks sent to a home address can put you at risk for identity theft if someone steals from your mailbox.
- Do NOT reveal personal account or Social Security information to anyone unless you are familiar with the company requesting the information and are certain how the information will be used.
- Do not mail bill payments from your mailbox. Instead, drop them at the post office or postal collection boxes.
- Do not use common words or numbers for passwords and Personal Identification Numbers

Mn/DOT and DPS announce "the HEAT is on"

"The HEAT is on," officials from the Minnesota Departments of Transportation and Public Safety announced Sept. 26. Highway Enforcement of Aggressive Traffic (HEAT) is a new statewide speed management program designed to better control speeding, increase safety on state roadways and remind drivers that the posted speed limit is the speed limit.

During the program's first week, 3,403 vehicles were stopped for various traffic violations by participating law enforcement agencies statewide, and 1,363 drivers were cited for speeding. The reporting period was Sept. 26 through Oct. 2.

The highest concentration of vehicle stops and speeding violations occurred in the Twin Cities metro area with 982 and 572, respectively. Stops and speed violations for the rest of the state were reported by coordinating State Patrol districts: Brainerd (240/62), Detroit Lakes (160/50), Duluth (209/93), Mankato (258/84), Marshall (354/90), Rochester (481/166), St. Cloud (370/159), Thief River Falls (163/20) and Virginia, Minn. (186/67).

HEAT is supported by $2.5 million in federal funding for speed limit enforcement on state roadways for one year — translating into nearly 1,400 hours of additional enforcement across the state.

Additionally, the speed limit on 930 miles of state highways will increase from 55 mph to 60 mph.

"The program's goal is to make Minnesota's roadways safer," said Lt. Gov. Carol Molnau, commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT). "The funding means law enforcement will have more resources to rein in drivers who speed. We want to remind motorists that the posted speed limit is the speed limit and that the HEAT is on. Engineering shows that the slight five mph speed limit increase on these specific highways will foster consistent speeds and help motorists operate more safely."

Traffic analysis indicates that drivers currently travel anywhere from 55 mph to more than 65 mph on these highways, a spread that poses a safety hazard.

"Increased enforcement of traffic laws on our roads increases public safety for all," said Michael Campion, commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Public Safety (DPS). "Illegal and unsafe speeding is as dangerous and costly as impaired driving and not wearing seat belts. It is not acceptable and will not be tolerated.

"To be effective and with as large a scope as possible, law enforcement at local, county and state levels are working in close coordination in this effort. Ultimately, motorists need to drive responsibly at the posted speed."

Mn/DOT will study the effect of the increased enforcement and increased speed limit over the next year according to Bernie Arseneau, director of Mn/DOT's Office of Traffic, Safety and Operations. "Mn/DOT and DPS are partnering with the University of Minnesota to thoroughly evaluate the program," he said. "We are measuring before- and after-data on actual speeds of vehicles, number of citations issued and number of serious crashes. In addition, we will conduct market research to determine the effect of the enforcement on the perception of motorists relative to safety and driver behavior."

September traffic crash totals: 23 deaths, 24 serious injuries

The Minnesota Department of Public Safety (DPS) announced Monday that preliminary Minnesota State Patrol traffic crash repots indicate 23 people died in 22 crashes and 24 were seriously injured on the state's roads in September. To date, the statewide preliminary traffic death number is 395.

No injuries reported after accident Saturday

No one was injured Saturday after a collision between a semi and a pickup truck five miles west of Thief River Falls.

A 1996 GMC pickup truck driven by Harold Gene Thompson, 65, Thief River Falls, and a 1994 Peterbuilt semi driven by Gary Lee Johnson, 49, Thief River Falls, collided. At the time of the accident, both drivers were westbound on Highway 1. Thompson slowed down to make a left turn onto 120th Avenue Northwest. Johnson came up from behind, not realizing Thompson was turning left, according to the Minnesota State Patrol report. Johnson then drove to the left to avoid Thompson's vehicle. Thompson then turned into the side of the semi.

Thompson's vehicle sustained extensive damage, and the semi, which is owned by Thygeson Construction of Thief River Falls, sustained moderate damage. The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 10:50 a.m. Saturday.

Police animal pound holds 12 animals

The following animals are being held in the police animal pound.

The animals are listed with a description, the date impounded and where they were found:

- A black labrador was found. It is being held in Pen 18.
- On Sept. 13, two orange kittens were found near Markley Avenue South. They are being housed in Pen 11.
- On Oct. 6, three husky mixed-breed dogs were found in St. Hilaire. They are being housed in Pen 19.
- On Oct. 8, two orange and white cats as well as two other cats were found in the 300 block of LaBree Ave. N. The orange and white cats are being held in Pen 3. The other cats are being housed in Pen 2.
- On Oct. 8, two cats were found near 140th Street Northeast. They are being housed in Pen 1.

Each animal will be kept for a minimum of five days from the date of impoundment. Animals may be claimed by proving ownership. Pound fees, license fees and any other expenses incurred by the department will be assessed prior to release. Contact the police department at 681-6161.

Unemployment benefit claims increase for Sept.

The number of initial claims filed for unemployment benefits in September rose 4.3 percent over the previous month, according to the Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development (DEED). On a seasonally adjusted basis, initial claims increased from 25,164 in August to 26,250 in September.

A total of 16,955 initial claims were filed in September, representing an increase of 15.1 percent over the same month one year ago. This increase is primarily the result of another temporary plant shutdown by a major manufacturer -- new claims in manufacturing were up 1,727 over September 2004.

The industries showing a significant increase in initial claims over the year were transportation and warehousing (up 120.1 percent), construction (up 13.5 percent), and wholesale trade (up 17.8 percent). Despite the overall increase in new claims, 13 of the 20 major industry sectors had a drop in new claims.

"Despite this month's increase, most major sectors showed improvement, and the number of people exhausting their unemployment benefits before returning to work fell to another monthly low of 2,668," said DEED Commissioner Matt Kramer. "This is the lowest level for this indicator since June 2001."

Financing schools

School finances are in the news again across Minnesota as we are quickly approaching the heating season and buses are on the roads. Higher energy costs are affecting schools just like they are affecting everyone in their homes and businesses. Our school finances are vulnerable to many outside forces and we are unable to do much to combat many of these forces. Energy costs are just one of the forces. Another is the effect state and federal laws have on our revenue sources and how they mandate some of the expenditures.

Fall is levy time in Minnesota. The state legislature this summer determined how much increased revenue schools would receive for the 2005-06 school year. It also determined what part of our revenue would be levied on local property owners and what portion would be considered state aid. In several cases, it changed what used to be state aid categoricals to locally levied programs. A prime example is our capital outlay fund. Two years ago that was 100 percent aid. There was no local levy portion. Last year that was changed to 10.4 percent local levy, amounting to just over $50,000 of local levy dollars - not an increase in revenue, just switched to levy from aid. This fall, the local levy portion of the capital outlay revenue is 25.4 percent, or a total of over $120,000. Our total capital outlay revenue for the year will be DECREASED by over $12,000 - but local property owners will be responsible for a $70,000 shift of capital outlay revenue from state aid to local levy. That same shift from state aid to local levy occurs in other areas of our budget.

Market value of all the property within our district is also increasing significantly. As people compare the market value of their parcels with the market value from last year on the same parcels, they will likely see a significant increase. This also leads to increased levies. District wide our total market value is up nearly $37 million. That is more than an 8 percent increase. Market values are used in formulas in St. Paul to determine the amount of equity aid that goes into many of our funding formulas. The bottom line is that the state legislature and the governor increased education spending by about 4 percent, but shifted many areas of revenue from state aid to local levies - and did that "without raising taxes" (tongue in cheek). They did not raise state income taxes and they did not raise sales taxes. Those are the two main sources of state revenue for funding the state and portion of school revenue. They did cause local levies to increase at a much higher rate in most school districts across the state this year than in recent years. This [illegible] up the property tax relief that the legislature provid[illegible] [illegible] ISD [illegible] ating referendums to push that figure to over 20 percent statewide. Over 80 school districts in Minnesota have operating referendums on the ballot this fall.

Although our K-12 students did not have classes on Friday, October 7, our teachers became students for the day. We had consultants, teachers, and other experts in our district sharing information, ideas and strategies with our faculty to help them become better teachers. Teachers also had time to examine and work with Northwest Evaluation Association testing results from recent tests our students took, to enable them to use data to improve instruction for their students in the classroom. As a school district committed to continuous improvement, this is another important step in that direction as each of us seeks to improve everyday. It is exciting to see staff learning and sharing information through collaborative efforts at the various grade levels and in their department meetings.

All public schools in the nation are under a federal mandate during this school year to develop and adopt a student wellness policy. The policy is mainly to address student nutrition and physical activity and health concerns. Committee members will include our food service director, physical education and health instructors, administrators, school board members, students and community representatives. If anyone in the community is interested in serving on this student wellness committee, please call the district office at 681-8711 to express your desire to be on this committee.

We're at the midpoint of the first quarter of the school year. Parent-teacher conferences are around the corner. If you have children in school, I hope you take advantage of the opportunity to dialog with your children's teachers to gain a better perspective of their coursework, individual, classroom and statewide standards and goals, and possibly learn of some areas to be able to help your children in their learning process. Thanks for your efforts to help in the education of the young people and children of our community. God bless.

Nominations sought for NW MN Women's Hall of Fame

Nominations will be accepted until Dec. 1 for women to be considered for induction into the Northwest Minnesota Women's Hall of Fame. Nominees, who may be living or deceased, must demonstrate a connection to the area of northwest Minnesota that includes the counties of Beltrami, Cass, Clearwater, Hubbard, Kittson, Koochiching, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau.

A selection board will review the nominees based on their significant contributions to art, athletics, business, government, philanthropy, humanities, science or education. In particular, the nominee's achievements and contributions must be of enduring and lasting value to society, significant groups within the region, or to the progress and freedom of women.

In addition to the individual's name and contributions, a nomination should include the person's accomplishments, biographical data, educational background and awards. Additional items such as evidence of a lasting legacy, including the nominee's impact in the region, news articles or publications written either by or about the nominee and letters of support are strongly encouraged.

Those selected will be inducted into the Hall of Fame on March 4, 2006 at the opening celebration of Women's History Month at Bemidji State University. An original oil portrait will be commissioned of each inductee. The portraits are hung in the permanent Women's Hall of Fame exhibit, located on campus in the A.C. Clark Library.

Individuals and groups wishing to recommend outstanding women for this award may receive application materials by contacting the Northwest Minnesota Foundation at 1-800-659-7859 or www.nwmf.org/html/hall_of_fame.htm.

Completed forms and supporting material can be mailed to the attention of Lisa Peterson, Northwest Minnesota Foundation, 4225 Technology Dr. N.W., Bemidji, MN 56601 or faxed to her attention at (218) 759-2328.

Additional information is available by contacting Patricia Rosenbrock, director of women's studies, at PE 233, Bemidji State University, 1500 Birchmont Dr. N.E., Bemidji, MN 56601-2699; (218) 755-2766; or prosenbrock@bemidjistate.edu.

Fundamentals of ice skating offered in TRF

Join the USFSA "Skate with U.S." program. Learn to skate, have fun, meet new friends and be healthy. The recreational skating program offers skating lessons to all area youth.

Registration for the recreational skating "Learn to Skate" program takes place from 9:30 a.m. to noon on Saturday, Nov. 5, at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

The Learn to Skate program is divided into three sections:

Snowplow Sam introduces preliminary moves to preschool-age skaters not yet ready for the Basic 1 level.

Next, eight carefully planned levels allow the beginning skater to feel comfortable on the ice while gaining the basic skating knowledge needed to advance into any of the next levels of the Skate with U.S. program. This part of the program is called the Basic 1-8 or badge programs.

Junior Advanced classes offer skaters a chance to further their skills in four areas. Free Skate 1-6 teaches skaters to jump, spin and other exciting, athletic and artistic moves. Dance 1-6 teaches participants footwork, timing, patterns, and dance holds. AIM (Artistry in Motion) 1-4 incorporates overall body awareness, choreography, composition, and artistic expression to skating techniques. While skating in the Junior Advanced class, skaters may join the Skating Club and test or compete in competitions. Skaters in Basic 6-8 and the Junior Advanced skaters may join a precision line.

A fall clinic is also being planned. Registration takes place from 5 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 13, in the lobby of the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

A non-competitive synchronized skating line will be offered after the clinic.

For more information, contact Ila at 681-2056.

Young artists invited to participate in solo competition

KCCM 91.1 FM (Minnesota Public Radio) and the Fargo-Moorhead Symphony Guild will co-sponsor the 25th Annual Young Artists Solo Competition on Saturday, Jan. 7, 2006 at the Hvidsten Hall of Music on the campus of Concordia College in Moorhead.

This competition is open to all high school students (grades 10 through 12) living within 150 miles of Fargo-Moorhead. Students must play a piece from the approved competition repertory, and can compete using any orchestral instrument, including piano.

Cash awards of $500, $400 and $300 will be offered for first, second and third place winners. Scholarships from all three of the Fargo-Moorhead area colleges will be offered to the first place winner.

The first place winner will also win the Musical Arts Award – parents/guardians will escort the winner to a two-night Twin Cities arts event with the help and cooperation of the Minnesota Orchestra, the Guthrie Theater and the Walker Art Center. Accommodations are provided by DoubleTree Guest Suites in downtown Minneapolis.

The top performer will also have an opportunity to win the Grand Award – a solo performance with the Fargo-Moorhead Symphony during its family concert March 30, at the discretion of the symphony's executive director.

The competition consists of a closed (no audience members) preliminary session the morning of Jan. 7 with finals beginning at approximately 1 p.m. Finals are open to the public at no charge, and families are welcome to attend.

Applications and fees must be received in the KCCM (Minnesota Public Radio) office in room 216 of the Concordia College Outreach Center, 1118 Eighth St. S., Moorhead, no later than 5 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 1.

Over 600 applications, repertoire lists and posters/flyers have been mailed to area music teachers and others. Additional copies may be obtained by writing to: Young Artists Solo Competition, KCCM (Minnesota Public Radio), 901 Eighth St. S., Moorhead, MN 56562; or by calling (218) 299-3666.

NMF offers human resource class

The Northwest Minnesota Foundation (NMF) will host Basic Human Resource Management, a course in the Individual Excellence Series, Nov. 15 in Crookston or Nov. 16 in Bemidji.

Registration is at 8:15 a.m., and class begins promptly at 8:30 a.m. Class will be held until 4 p.m. The Crookston class will be held at the Northland Inn along Highway 2 West. The Bemidji class will be held at Beltrami Electric Cooperative along Highway 71 North, one mile north of Highway 2. Lunch is included.

NMF is delivering a comprehensive, integrated training program to build the capacity of the region's nonprofit organizations and agencies. The Individual Excellence Series, featuring 13 courses designed and delivered by the Center for Nonprofit Management, University of St. Thomas, is now in its third year.

The goals of the human resource session are to provide insight into how human resource management can be a key contributor to organizational effectiveness and to equip participants with tools for implementing basic human resource management functions.

Participants will:

- Review how human resource needs are currently addressed in their own organizations.
- Learn the functions of human resource management and the role it plays in the work organization.
- Review the exchange theory of employment and learn how this can benefit both employer and employee.
- Learn the basics of regulatory requirements that impact human resource activities and why compliance is important.
- Review the Fair Labor Standards Act and types of exemptions.
- Review the challenges employers face in the area of employee benefits.
- Understand the basics of recruitment, selection, background checks and hiring.
- Examine issues to consider in preparing employee handbooks and in setting up employee personnel files.

Instructor Jacqueline J. Hill is a consultant in human resource management and is an adjunct faculty member for the University of St. Thomas Center for Nonprofit Management. She brings more than two decades of experience as a leader in human resource management to her consulting practice. From 1992 to 1999, she was the human resources director for the Amherst H. Wilder Foundation, a human service organization of 1,450 employees, and she also directed the human resources division for Lutheran Social Service.

Throughout her career, Hill has been active in the Twin Cities area professional community. Her involvements have included serving as past president of the Twin Cities Human Resource Association; director of the Minnesota State Council, Society for Human Resource Management; member of the St. Paul Technical College Advisory Committee on Programs in Human Resources; and chairperson of the Human Resource Advisory Committee for the United Way of St. Paul.

In 1992, Hill earned life certification as a senior professional in human resources from the Human Resource Certification Institute. In 1996, she was honored with the 1996 Award for Excellence in Human Resources from the Twin Cities Human Resource Association.

Each class is limited to 25 participants. Early registration is strongly encouraged; the deadline is Nov. [illegible] There is a $50 fee for each class, which includes materials and lunch. For more information, contact Rebecca Weir at 1-800-659-[illegible] or rebeccaw@nwmf.org. Scholarships are available.

Rodnes Church to host special meetings

The Rodnes Lutheran Church of rural Erskine announces that they will have a special series of meetings titled, "It's Time to Seek the Lord" with Rev. Dale Finstrom of the Maranatha Free Lutheran Church of Glyndon.

The meetings will commence at the morning service on Sunday, Oct. 16, at the 9 a.m. service titled "Something is Wrong," based on Exodus 32: 7-14; Sunday evening service at 7 p.m. titled "Something Must be Done," based on Ezekiel 8-9; Monday evening's meeting will deal with the theme of "Something Must be Done," part two, based on Deut 9: 7-21; concluding with Tuesday night's meeting topic, "Something Must Happen," based on II Chronicles 7, 11-21.

There will also be special music each evening. The Lindberg and Overmoe families will sing during the Sunday evening service; Monday evening the Rodnes Men's Choir will sing; on Tuesday, there will be a gospel sing-along with Pat Dorr at the organ and Rayome Koehler at the piano. Refreshments will be served ater each meeting.

Rodnes is located on County Road 210, three miles south of U.S. Highway 2 between Erskine and Mentor.

Local educators attend national high school symposium

Lincoln High School was one of more than 560 schools represented at a High School Reinvention Symposium, in Washington, D.C., October 1-3. The symposium was sponsored by the International Center for Leadership in Education, Rexford, N.Y.

At the High School Reinvention Symposium, 2,000 education leaders from 35 states convened to learn about exemplary high schools across the country and how to apply their successful approaches and strategies. Attending the symposium from Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls were Principal Tom Hunt, Associate Principal Scott Brekke and Counselor Bill Stock.

The symposium explored in depth the successful approaches identified in schools involved in the high school initiatives being conducted by the Council of Chief State School Officers and the International Center for Leadership in Education. Participants attended presentations, panel discussions, and facilitated work sessions and had opportunities to interact with education leaders who have implemented innovative programs in all types of successful high schools.

The symposium offered six action areas for improving high school: using data, focusing on instruction, starting with student needs, building relationships, strengthening grade 9 and 12, and taking a systems approach to school improvement. The Lincoln High School team concentrated on using the data and systems approach.

By the end of the Symposium, the educators from Lincoln High School had developed an action plan for implementing highly effective strategies for all students.

Kolar reappointed chief public defender for Ninth District

Kristine Kolar was recently reappointed as the Chief Public Defender for the Ninth Judicial District by the Minnesota Board of Public Defense. Kolar has served as the Chief Public Defender for the Ninth Judicial District since her initial appointment in 1995.

The Ninth Judicial District Public Defender's Office provides legal representation for indigent defendants in felony, gross misdemeanor, misdemeanor and juvenile cases. The Ninth Judicial District is comprised of the Counties of Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Polk, Pennington, Red Lake, Norman, Mahnomen, Beltrami, Clearwater, Koochiching, Itasca, Hubbard, Cass, Crow Wing and Aitkin. In her role as Chief Public Defender, Kolar supervises the activities of 52 public defenders and staff throughout northwestern Minnesota.

Kolar stated, "I look forward to another term as Chief Public Defender in this District. It has been my privilege to provide quality legal representation to the poor and disadvantaged people in the criminal justice system. I look forward to the challenges and opportunities that face public defense in the next four years, and I am thankful for this chance to continue in a profession I admire."

For further information contact Kevin Kajer, chief administrator of the Board of Public Defense, (612) 349-2565.

Tax counselors needed for AARP tax assistance program

Volunteer tax counselors are needed for the AARP tax assistance program for the elderly and low income residents in Thief River Falls.

Almost all tax returns are prepared on the computer. Trained volunteers, IRS and Minnesota Department of Revenue will provide about 40 hours of computer and tax preparation training. The training will be held in Thief River Falls if there are enough volunteers willing to assist in this program.

Training materials include the 1040 books, publication 17, a workbook and an open book test. The open book test will be completed on the computer. Upon satisfactory completion of the open book test, volunteers will become certified as an AARP tax counselor.

Volunteer counselors are asked to provide at least 40 hours of counseling. The AARP Foundation provides all certified counselors mileage reimbursement for the training sessions and while providing tax preparation assistance. Accident insurance is also provided to volunteers.

Individuals interested in assisting with this program should contact LaVerda Lamaack at 218-435-6202 or lamaack@gvtel.com.

UCare Minnesota to host UCare for Seniors plan meetings

UCare Minnesota will hold informational meetings about UCare for Seniors, a Medicare Advantage plan now available in Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Polk, Pennington and Red Lake counties. Members of UCare's sales staff will discuss the UCare for Seniors Grand and Superior plans, the two health plan options being offered in northwestern and other Greater Minnesota counties.

- Thursday, Oct. 13, 2005: 2:30 p.m., Hallock Senior Center, 210 North Second Street, Hallock
- Tuesday, Oct. 25, 2005: 9:30 a.m., Warren Senior Center, 110 West Johnson
- Wednesday, Oct. 26, 2005: 9:30 a.m., Stephen Senior Center, Stephen
- Thursday, Oct. 27, 2005: 9:30 a.m., Warroad Senior Center, 222 Virginia Ave., NE, Warroad
- Thursday, Oct. 27, 2005: 2:30 p.m., Four Seasons Senior Center, 114 West Center Street, Roseau

The UCare for Seniors Superior Plan features comprehensive coverage plus coverage for prescription drugs, eye wear and hearing aids. The UCare for Seniors Grand Plan offers comprehensive coverage but at a lower monthly premium. With more than 29,000 members, UCare for Seniors is the state's largest Medicare Advantage risk plan.

Eligible individuals can enroll at any time. To register for a meeting or for more information, call 1-877-523-1518 (toll free).

Pulitzer Prize-winning columnist to speak at EMP Conference

Author, social critic and Pulitzer Prize-winning columnist Anna Quindlen will be the keynote speaker at the Education Minnesota Professional Conference Oct. 20-21 in St. Paul. The conference is the state's largest professional development event for educators and is expected to draw up to 10,000 people. Quindlen will speak at an 11 a.m. general session on Oct. 20.

Digi-Key hosts blood drive

Digi-Key has once again hosted a successful blood drive.

"They had an outstanding turnout," said Lisa Moellenkamp, donor recruitment representative at United Blood Services. "Out of 204 people who volunteered to donate, 168 were able to give, and 203 units were collected. There were 22 people who donated for the first time."

Forty-one donors donated on the 2RBC machine, which collects two units of red blood cells at once.

The availability of blood is dependent on the success of blood drives held at area business and community blood drives.

Embassy to host Haining family gospel concert

The Embassy Community Center of Fosston will present the six members of the Haining Family of Fergus Falls in gospel concert. They are the winners of the 2004 Minnesota Bluegrass and Old Time Music Festival.

This family, from western Minnesota, has enjoyed making music together for a number of years. The family band consists of Mike (Dad) on mandolin, Peggy (mom) on autoharp, recorder and vocals, and their four children, James on guitar and vocals, Ruth on fiddle and vocals, Pearl on harmonica, mountain dulcimer and vocals, and Grace on fiddle, recorder, dobro, vocals and yodeling.

The Haining family has performed at numerous churches, nursing homes, music festivals and many other places throughout Minnesota. Their unique blend of old time Gospel bluegrass, fiddle tunes, yodeling originals and instrumentals and three and four part vocal harmonies will warm the heart.

Devotions, an attendance gift and potluck refreshments are all to be a part of the afternoon planned by the Embassy's board of directors.

Artists of Minnesota hold Fall Conference

The Swenson House was filled with visual artists from all over Minnesota Sept. 18 when Thief River Falls was the host of the Artists of Minnesota's Fall Conference. Thirty artists spent the day networking and critiquing each other's work.

Participants voted on the People's Choice Award, which was awarded to Kathy Gustafson of Bemidji for her steel metal sculpture titled "A Butterfly."

Mara Wittman, Northwest Regional Arts Council (NRAC) director, from Warren, was the featured speaker. Wittman first spoke about her own textile artwork, which includes woven pieces and embellished fabric pieces. Then she led the group through a mini-grants informational workshop. Her talk included grants and services available at the NRAC Web site (www.nwrdc.org/arts.htm) and the Minnesota State Arts Board Web site (www.arts.state.mn.us) as well as the other 10 Regional Arts Councils in Minnesota.

During part of her presentation, Wittman discussed the impact of the arts on the state of Minnesota. She asked participants to complete an Arts Economic Impact survey. After compiling the 30 completed surveys, Wittman was pleased to see that over $4,350 was generated from the conference being held in Thief River Falls.

Wittman also stressed the importance of arts advocacy. She referred to Minnesota Citizens for the Arts Web site (www.mtn.org/mca/), which includes the desktop lobbyist link. This new feature makes contacting legislators an easy process and should encourage advocacy.

Thief River Falls watercolor painter LaVonne Forsberg was instrumental in bringing this group to northwestern Minnesota and coordinating its location and speaker. Bernie Wilebski of Kennedy assisted Forsberg.

The Artists of Minnesota's next event will be their spring show in Stillwater. They invite anyone interested to check out their Web site (www.artistsofminnesota.org) and consider becoming a member.

17 Operation Round Up grants awarded

Red Lake Electric Board of Directors awarded 17 grants at its Sept. 21 meeting. Grants are awarded semi-annually to nonprofit community organizations and charities. Grant money is provided by Red Lake Electric Cooperative members who voluntarily "round up" their monthly electric bill to the next highest dollar.

"The Operation Round Up program continues to be a resounding success," said Kim Swanson of rural Thief River Falls. Swanson was recently elected president of the board of directors. "Eighty-four percent of the Red Lake Electric membership participates in the program, a tribute to the community and charitable spirit of people in our area."

Four holiday gift programs were each given $800 to purchase Christmas gifts for needy children and adults. The four organizations are Inter County Nursing Service, which administers the program in Red Lake County, the Marshall County Social Services program which administers the program in Marshall County, Toys for Tots in Crookston and the Christmas [illegible] Pennington County [illegible]

[illegible] in Pennington and Marshall counties were given $500 and $250 respectively. The Thief River Falls/Pennington County Safety Camp program was awarded $500; and the ECFE Youth Safety Camp in Red Lake Falls was awarded $300.

Two grants were made specifically for senior citizens. The Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls was awarded a $300 grant to provide a "jam session" musical entertainment to seniors in the area. A $500 grant was awarded to the Valley Home Assisted Living facility in Thief River Falls to pay for a new outdoor grill for the residents.

Finding profits in farming

by Betsy Jensen
FBM instructor
East Grand Forks

It seems a little strange to be filling your truck with diesel fuel well over $2 a gallon, just so you can deliver the corn worth $1.50. At some point in 2005, it became very expensive to raise $1.50 corn, $5 soybeans, and $3.50 wheat, but yet the market is unwilling to offer us higher prices for what we produce. We're stuck with high fertilizer and fuel input costs, and low income for the outputs we produce.

Unfortunately, the laws of supply and demand still apply to commodity prices, and we expect to have large supplies of corn, wheat and soybeans. Fortunately, all of those laws were meant to be broken, and as a result, farmers may have an opportunity to find some profits for the 2006 crop year. Current supply and demand factors do not support high commodity prices, but traders can become nervous, a weather phenomenon can change supplies, demand can be stronger than expected, and farmers need to be ready to take advantage of these opportunities even if they are brief.

Looking back at the summer of 2005, soybeans topped $7 and corn traded around $2.75, only to drop sharply by harvest. The laws of supply and demand were temporarily broken while traders tried to assess drought possibilities. Looking ahead to the 2006 crop, it's likely the laws will be broken once again. It might not be because of drought, but maybe because of shipping problems in South America, or export sale to China, or cold spring weather.

Try to estimate your cost of production for the 2006 crop year, and if we can get close to meeting those costs, you need to make some sales. It's never been easy to make money farming, but trying to make money with these high-input costs is going to be next to impossible, so it's important to take advantage of any profitable opportunity. Remember that your contracted price could also include an Loan Deficiency Program payment at harvest. There is still hope for the 2006 crop year, but it will require a little extra planning.

For more information on your cost of production or developing a marketing plan, contact a Farm Business Management instructor at 1-800-959-6282.

...Just tell them - it's fun

As I've gotten older, I've decided that there is no time like the present to give a compliment. It just isn't right to wait until tomorrow to tell someone they look especially nice, have lovely hair or eyes, or that they are especially talented, or kind or sweet, or have done something especially wonderful. I figure, who knows, one of us might not be here tomorrow, so tell them that good thing today, right now.

Compliments are cheap and easy to give. They cost nothing and take no extra effort on my part. And it's fun to give them. People get all flustered when they are complimented. I love to compliment my grandchildren because they blush and stammer and then strut off as if I had given them the best gift in the world. Who knows, maybe I have. And now that I think of it, some of the adults I compliment act the same way.

It is so enjoyable to see what a little compliment does to another person. Usually they will smile, and sometimes they look a little embarrassed. Often their eyebrows go up and they blink a couple of times, like they are really surprised, and then they grin a big grin. Little children giggle, older people give a little wave, and nearly everyone looks pleased when they walk off with that little wiggle in their walk. Really, doesn't everyone deserve a compliment for something?

Recently, someone brought a chocolate cake with mint icing to work for a treat. It was very good, and it made me remember when I used to make cakes just like that. I loved to make cakes when I was growing up, and there were lots of different little bottles of flavoring and coloring for me to use in my cake creations. I would make those creations every chance I had, and they were often served to those who came to visit at my house, no matter how strange they looked (the cakes, not the people).

Sometimes my creations were a little unusual and sometimes they were downright odd. But my Uncle Ben always appreciated my baking. He was such a nice man that he would never say anything bad about things anyway, but he really did like my cakes. I could tell. He ate them - with gusto - and he always said, "Sherry, this is good cake. It is the best one you've ever made. You're getting to be a good cook."

God bless my Uncle Ben. He made me feel 10 feet tall. He made me want to bake cakes for him everyday. Frankly, it may be because of my Uncle Ben that I still like to bake cakes, although nowadays they aren't so odd looking (or tasting, perhaps). Uncle Ben knew how to give a compliment and he was a prince of a man. He never waited to give his compliments either. He did it right away when it did the most good.

It's easy to forget to tell people the good things about themselves. Sometimes I feel embarrassed to tell someone they look nice, or have done something special. Sometimes I'm afraid they won't like it or think I am being forward.

But I've found if I start passing those compliments around, even though I'm a little shy about it, they just roll out, and after a while I don't care what the recipient thinks, even if I am telling a fellow he looks nice that day, or has on a pretty shirt. And I've found the person on the receiving end hardly ever gives me a strange look. Heck, giving a compliment makes me feel almost as good as getting one. Try it yourself.

Computers are vastly overrated

Finally, a study has concluded what I have long suspected: The more hours per day a student spends on a computer, the lower their academic performance.

The study by the University of Munich, which included 174,000 students in 31 countries, also found that students who spend almost no time on a computer do far better academically than students who spend any amount of time at all staring at a computer's blue screen.

So, it is time to stop assuming that just because Junior sits sullenly in front of his computer eight hours per day doesn't mean he's a budding Einstein. In fact, it is more likely that he is fast becoming a zombified digi-dope.

Computers as an educational tool are vastly overrated. Oh, you can learn on the computer and you can find out almost anything you want on the Internet, assuming you are curious.

But you can also shop, listen to music, gamble, chat with friends, check sports scores and any number of other wastes of time. Given the choice between passing digital notes to their friends and looking up facts about history, which do you suppose a student will chose?

~~Last~~ fall, I attempted to teach history at a school which outfits each student with a laptop computer. I could tell I had a problem on my hands when I walked in the classroom the first day to dead silence – everybody was staring at their computer.

Despite my attempts to ban any Internet activity while I was teaching, it was obvious that my lectures couldn't hold a candle to whatever was happening on those screens.

When I tried to ban computers all together, howls arose. "We have to use the computer to take notes!" the students protested. Apparently, forcing the use of a pen is cruel and unusual punishment.

As I walked amongst the diligent note-taking students during class, I figured out what was going on. They kept one window open on their screen for notes, just in case I said anything interesting, which apparently wasn't often, and kept other windows open to chat with their friends both in the classroom and around the world.

A surefire sign that I was losing the attention of the computer addicts was when they smiled at their screen. You knew then that they weren't typing notes about the Ming Dynasty in China, but were passing digital messages to each other about last night's kegger.

No, by the end of the semester, I was ready to bring a drill press into class and ceremonially sacrifice a laptop to make my point. Computers in the classroom, particularly those connected to the Internet, are a menace to learning.

Computers and the Internet have educational uses, to be sure, even in the field of history. Type in the name of some obscure 13th Century war and within seconds you will discover all kinds of conflicting accounts. So conflicting, in fact, that you might soon agree with the philosopher George Santayana, who once said history is a pack of lies.

And that would be good. No college education is complete until a student's faith in the written word is shaken to its very foundations.

The Internet provides a wide range of sources, both good and bad. By comparing the accounts you can learn how elusive the truth is even in the grayest of textbooks.

It is especially important now that we are inundated with information that students learn how to separate the important from the trivial, rumors from facts, legend from reality. Computers and the internet can be valuable in that quest to the student who actually cares.

But a computer hooked up to the Internet contains a host of other temptations which usually win out, especially amongst the young.

Educational institutions today pride themselves on providing technology for their students. Most campuses are wired or, more exciting yet, are equipped with wireless Internet service.

But if studies continue to reveal that computers are harmful to learning, we might live to see the day when a truly progressive college bans the machines all together.

She's the only one you'll ever have

Up until the age of 3, I wanted one of two things: to be an only child or to have a little brother. Luck worked against me.

On Feb. 11, almost 15 years ago, I ended up with a little sister. I kind of liked her. . . for the first week. That was mostly because everyone would visit to drop off presents when the new baby was not yet home. It was great! I got all the attention and recognition for being a big sister. Eventually she came home. . . now what? I was in pure astonishment as I watched everyone crowding around the crib to touch, look, and even smell her. She wasn't impressive at all.

To welcome her home, I decided to lock her in her room away from the guests that were visiting that evening.

"Kyja, you need to be nice to your sister! She's the only one you'll ever have!"

My parents reprimanded me with those words. I ignored them and burst into tears almost immediately knowing it would work in my favor.

Throughout the next few years, I always had to outdo her. When my parents videotaped her trying to crawl or walk for the first time, there I was in front of the camera lens.

Sometimes, I could not believe someone "up there" had cursed me with this little sister they called, Hannah.

The time came for me to enter middle school. It was finally my turn to shine again. I was above my elementary school sister, much more adult-like, and refused to take part in anything involving her. That was when the bad became worse. I could barely sit in the same room as she, which made car rides even more interesting. No matter what, we would find a reason to argue. Yes, I swore I hated her. To express the way I felt about her, I would find her favorite Barbie doll and rip its head clean off.

High school finally came for me; and she had just entered middle school. Not only had we grown apart, but everything familiar to us was out of control. I was alone in one of my greatest times of need, and adding to it was my family support crumbling to pieces. In times like these, contrary to what I believed, I couldn't do it myself. Parents? No. They have nothing to offer a teenage girl. Plus, I was too rebellious and they had themselves to worry about. Friends? Probably not, they're the ones who help you escape your problems, not think about them. It finally hit me – Hannah: someone who knew exactly what I was going through, yet someone who needed help through it like I did.

We have helped each other through so many times since: first boyfriends, bad tennis matches, fights with friends, and bad days in general. We don't need words, being together is enough. I thank God everyday when I come home, and she is home safely. I sleep soundly at night knowing my sister and best friend is mere steps down the hallway.

Here I am, senior year, soon to leave Hannah to fend for herself in high school. Even though she can hold on better than I, it scares me to think I cannot save her from every bad thing. It's indescribable how much I love her. The words "she's the only one you'll ever have" ring through my thoughts each day. My parents were right; she is the only one I'll ever have. Then again, I'd never want another one; she's the best I could ask for.

Eugene Polansky, 75

Thief River Falls - Eugene Polansky, 75, died on Saturday, October 8, 2005 at St. Mary's Hospital in Rochester.

Mass of Christian Burial will be held at 1 p.m. on Wednesday, October 12 (today), at St. Bernard's Catholic Church, Thief River Falls, with Father Tim McGee presiding. Casket bearers include Peter Polansky, John Polansky, Timothy Polansky, Nathan Polansky, Gavin Polansky and Preston Scott. Honorary casket bearers include Jacquel Polansky, Nicole Polansky, Danielle Polansky, Rebecca Polansky, Daniel Polansky, Katie Scott, Elizabeth Polansky, Mary Friedt, Andrew Friedt, Hannah Friedt and Mathew Friedt.

Military honors will be provided by Middle River American Legion Post 444 and Thief River Falls Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2793.

Interment will be held at St. Bernard's Catholic Cemetery, Thief River Falls.

Visitation will be one hour prior to services at the church, Wednesday.

Eugene John Polansky was born November 21, 1929 in Thief Lake Township, Marshall County, the son of George Paul and Mary Catherine (Musial) Polansky. He was baptized and confirmed at Jane Church, Thief Lake Township. The family moved to Rollis Township in June, 1938. He started Thief Lake School and attended Rollis School until eighth grade. He graduated from Middle River High School in 1947. Following high school, he went out and worked for farmers in North Dakota. Eugene served his country in the United States Army from March 1951-April 1953. He spent two Christmases in Korea.

Following his honorable discharge, he went to work at Sorkness Construction, as foreman, doing telephone cable splicing. He worked in many states in the upper Midwest and while working near Kent, he met and eventually married Marjorie Mae Neppl, on October 24, 1959 in St. Francis de Sales Catholic Church, Moorhead.

The couple lived in Montana and South Dakota for a short time. In May of 1960, they moved to the Polansky farm in Rollis Township near Gatzke. The couple retired and moved to Thief River Falls in December 2004. While on the farm, Eugene milked cows, farmed small grains and began driving school bus for Gatzke School District since 1968 and retired from Grygla School District in 1997.

Eugene was very active at St. Clement Catholic Church, Grygla, where he was a lector, Eucharistic Minister, usher and also served on the parish council as a trustee. He served on the Deanery Council for the Diocese of Crookston. He transferred membership to St. Bernard's in Thief River Falls, when they moved to town. He was an NFO member, member of American Legion in Middle River for over 50 years and a member of VFW in Thief River Falls and Gatzke Senior Citizens. He always enjoyed watching his kids and grandkids play sports. He also loved gardening, playing cards, woodworking, fixing and tinkering. He enjoyed driving school bus and knew all the kids by name. Eugene was a very patient man.

Survivors include his wife, Marge of Thief River Falls; children, Mark (Marlene) Polansky of Rochester, Gary (Laurie) Polansky of Gatzke, Cindy (Ray) Scott of Red Lake Falls; two sisters, MaryAnn (Robert) Verbout and Angeline (Donald) Verbout, all of Grygla; brother, Harold Polansky of Thief River Falls; two sisters-in-law, Betty Polansky of Menomonie Falls, Wis., and Clara Polansky of Pahrump, Nev.; and numerous grandchildren, nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents, brothers, Lawrence and George, godchild and niece, Patty Polansky and godchild and nephew, Donovan Verbout.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Q: My daughter was getting Social Security survivor benefits until she quit school. Fortunately she is now returning to high school. Since she is still under age 19, can her SSA benefits start again?

A: Yes, SSA benefits would be payable again until approximately age 19. This assumes she continues to meet other SSA requirements such as being in full-time attendance at school and being unmarried.

Q: I get Social Security benefits. Because I get benefits my daughter also gets a check as does my wife. If we separate or divorce, would their checks continue or stop? Would my wife or I get the check for our daughter?

A: Social Security checks payable to people on your record, such as your wife and child, are based on their relationship to you. Child benefits are based on the relationship of child to parent, not of the parents to each other. Most eligible children such as your daughter are paid whether the parents are currently married, divorced or had never been married at all. Stepchildren are an exception to this general rule. In other words, SSA benefits to your daughter from your record would likely continue whether or not your marriage does.

Checks for her normally go to the parent with custody but this can vary. Coming back to the issue of relationship, if you and your wife separate the marital relationship still exists and benefits to her could continue. Divorce ends the marital relationship and would end checks to her as your spouse.

Not to confuse matters here but spousal benefits are payable for different reasons including age of the spouse and if they have a child-in-care. If your wife gets Social Security benefits from your record because of your daughter, then a change in that living arrangement could change her eligibility. For example, if you separate and she retains child custody then her benefits could continue. If she does not have custody then benefits to her would usually end even though the marriage has not ended. Since Social Security benefits are involved, keep SSA updated on any changes in your addresses, child custodial changes, or marital status. This can be done by contacting your local office or by calling the national SSA toll-free number 800-772-1213. Last item for your information: in case your family is unable to work out its problems, Social Security benefits can be garnished for child support. That is accomplished through county child support agencies, not directly through Social Security.

Anna Biskup, 91

Thief River Falls - Anna Biskup, 91, died at Oakland Park Nursing Home in Thief River Falls on Wednesday, October 5, 2005.

Funeral services were held on Monday, October 10, at the First Lutheran Church in Middle River, with Pastor Curt Matz officiating. Casket bearers included all of Anna's grandchildren. Interment was held at Gust National Cemetery in Strathcona.

Anna Biskup, the daughter of the late Vaclav and Antonia (Hodka) Pesek, was born on March 27, 1914, on the original Pesek farm near Strathcona. She grew to womanhood there, attending the former Grass Lake School near her home. She was baptized and confirmed in the Christian faith. On June 20, 1934, Anna was united in marriage to Joseph C. Biskup at Roseau.

The couple farmed in Thief Lake Township of Marshall County, near Middle River, until 1945, when they moved into Middle River. Anna cooked at the Middle River school for several years, and also worked at the turkey processing plant in Thief River Falls. She was a long-time member of the First Lutheran Church of Middle River and of the Ladies Aid there.

She also was a member of the W.F.L.A. Lodge for 60 years. Anna loved growing flowers and gardening. She enjoyed visiting with her neighbors over a cup of coffee and eating her variety of breads and rolls she baked. In 1990, the couple moved to Thief River Falls. Joe passed away on June 15, 1994, and Anna later moved to the Valley Home in Thief River Falls. Since Feb. of 2005, she has resided at Oakland Park Nursing Home in Thief River Falls where she passed away on Wednesday afternoon.

She is survived by one daughter: Carol (Bill) Halme of Middle River; three sons, Joe (Judy) of Warroad; Fred of Lancaster, Calif.; and Leslie (Susan) of Lakeville; 12 grandchildren; 21 great-grandchildren; in addition to several nieces, nephews, and other relatives.

Anna was preceded in death by her husband; her parents; two sisters, Emma Kopecky and Mary Lapour, and four brothers, William, John, Frank, and Joseph.

Brett Bushelle, 67

Plummer - Brett Bushelle, 67, died on Thursday, October 6, 2005, in rural Plummer.

Brett was born in Glasgow, Montana to Billy and Duska Bushelle. He grew up in Culver City, Calif., and Forest Grove, Mont., attending school in California and at the N-Bar school on the North Fork of Flat Willow Creek in Montana. He joined the United States Air Force and was stationed in Misawa, Japan, where he met and married his first wife, Tomoko Kawamura (JoAnn).

Brett returned to Great Falls, Mont., in 1961 with JoAnn and Annette and continued his Air Force service until after Billy was born in 1962. He bought his family's original homestead on Hackshaw Creek near Forest Grove from his grandmother and aunt shortly before Bobby was born, and ranched there until 1967. He bought a ranch near Sebeka in 1967. JoAnn died in 1976 and in 1977 he left Sebeka and moved north to Gonvick and married Cindy Bourcy. They ranched in Gonvick and in Plummer and raised their three children, Jesse, Becky and Katie there.

Brett owned and operated two livestock auctions in the 1970s, one in Bemidji and one in Thief River Falls. Even after the sale of the auction yards, he enjoyed his life as a cattle buyer. He spent years on the telephone and on the road, "in the country, looking at cattle."

According to his family, over the years he made and lost a lot of money, drank too much whisky, loved too many women and lived his life to the fullest. His blend of work and social life led him to treasured friends, many who died before him, and many who are here today. He was proud of all of his children and delighted in his grandchildren. In recent years, he especially enjoyed Jesse and Katie's little girls coming to the house.

However, there were facets to his life that many did not know. In his younger years, he ran in track for the Air Force, including the Asian Games. He was a sprinter and especially enjoyed relays with his Air Force buddies. He was an avid reader and read everything from Playboy magazines to Shakespeare plays. He loved music, country ballads and rodeo dances for sure, but he also loved classics, Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, Van Cliburn on the piano and Charlotte Church belting out superb opera at age 14. A few were fortunate enough to hear him play Tchaikovsky on the piano at Libby's Bar in Grass Range or in the Blue Ox in Bemidji.

Brett died in the corral at his home in Plummer, shipping calves with Katie, Jesse and Tiffany and friends. He was excited to sell at the first big sale of the year in Bagley.

To keep with Brett's routine, funeral services were held at the Bagley Livestock Auction on Monday, October 10. Cremation will take place at a later date with a memorial stone next to JoAnn at the Sebeka Cemetery and a final fall trip to Montana where his ashes will be scattered at the family homestead on Hackshaw Creek near Forest Grove.

He is survived by his mother, Duska Bushelle and sister, Linda Bushelle of Woodland Hills, California; aunt Muriel Vihinen of Bellevue, Wash.; his children, Annette (Steve) Hill of Anaconda, Mont., Billy of Bagley, Bobby of St. Paul, Jesse (Tiffany), Becky, and Katie Bushelle of Plummer; Michelle McManus of Bemidji; one niece; and his former wife, Cindy Bushelle of Plummer; 11 grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his first wife, Tomoko (JoAnn); daughter-in-law, Karen Bushelle; father, Bill Bushelle and brother, Barry Bushelle.

William F. Bernstein, 90

Gatzke - William "Bill" Fredrick Bernstein, 90, of Gatzke, died, Tuesday October 4, 2005 at the Roseau Area Hospital.

Funeral services were held on Friday in the Helgeson Funeral Chapel in Roseau, with a visitation one hour prior to the service. Interment was held at Sacred Heart Cemetery in Roseau.

He was born to Albert S. and Anna A. (Sefert) Bernstein July 13, 1915 on a farm in Golden Valley Township, Marshall County near Mud Lake.

The family moved to a farm in Rollis Township in 1924. Bill attended school in the Bungalow school for a few years and later continued his education in the Rollis School in Rollis Township.

William "Bill" Bernstein was united in marriage to Mathilda "Tillie" Kavanaugh on November 3, 1937 in Westhope, N.D. They lived on a farm near Souris, N.D., for five and one half years.

Bill and Tillie then moved to the Bernstein farm near Gatzke in 1943 where they had since resided. Bill was a long time dairy farmer who continued milking cows until his retirement. He loved to sing and had a fine voice, neighbors recall hearing him yodeling over the sound of his tractor as he worked his fields.

He never tired of hunting, fishing and trapping. He ardently pursued these activities until his recent ill health forced their curtailment.

In his younger years he played amateur baseball on teams in North Dakota and Minnesota and was a Minnesota Twins fan.

He was preceded in death by his parents, a baby sister, two brothers Glenn and LeRoy and two sons Gary and Lynn.

Bill is survived by Tillie, his wife of 68 years; a daughter, Mary Ann (Howard) Lunsetter of Gatzke; three sons, Roy (Doris) of Williston, N.D.; Tim (Sandy) of Grygla; Tom of Gatzke; eight grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren; one sister, Anna Rose (Glenn) Evans of Bottineau, N.D., and several nieces and nephews.

Janet Roy, 61

Naytahwaush - Janet Roy, 61, of Naytahwaush, died on Saturday, October 8, 2005 at home under hospice care, surrounded by her family.

Mass of Christian Burial will be [illegible] Wednesday, October 12, at St. Anne's Catholic Church in Naytahwaush. Interment will be held at St. Anne's Catholic Cemetery in Naytahwaush.

Janet is the sister of Judy (Rod) Greene of Thief River Falls.

Ernest J. Moe, 81

Detroit Lakes - Ernest J. Moe, 81, of Detroit Lakes, and formelry of Thief River Falls, died on Wednesday, October 5, at the Emmanuel Nursing Home in Detroit Lakes.

Mass of Christian Burial was held on Monday, October 10, at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church, Warsaw, N.D., with Father John Kleinschmidt, celebrant. Interment was held at St. Patrick's Catholic Cemetery, Minto, N.D.

Ernest James Moe was born December 15, 1923 in Emerado, N.D. to James and Dorothy (Curtin) Moe. He grew up on a farm in the Minto area and attended country school. Ernest was drafted into the United States Army and later served in the United States Maritime Service; 1942-1946. After his discharge from the service he farmed in Minto. He was united in marriage with Adelaide Roleczynski in April of 1947 at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church in Warsaw, N.D. Following marriage they moved to Grand Forks, N.D., where they also farmed.

In 1971 they purchased a Dairy Farm near Thief River Falls. Adelaide died in January of 1996. Ernest retired from farming that same year. In September of 1996 following Adelaide's death, Ernest moved to Fargo and lived with his daughter, Judy. He moved to Emmanuel Nursing Home in Detroit Lakes in 2004.

Ernest loved farming and being with the animals, and he enjoyed music. Ernest was a member of Holy Rosary Catholic Church in Detroit Lakes, the American Legion, and the Blind Veterans Association. He was a past member of St. Bernard's Catholic Church in Thief River Falls.

Ernest is survived by two daughters, Judy (Jim) Antonovich of Fargo, N.D., Carol (Tom) Johnson of Vancouver, Wash.; three sons, Roger Moe of Minneapolis, Jeff (Susan) Moe of Brighton, Mich., Larry (Holly) Moe of Frazee; one sister, Evelyn Johnstone of Bellevue, Wash.; five grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his parents; his wife, Adelaide in 1996; four brothers, Edwin, Willmar, Erwin and Harold.

Digi-Key celebrates Customer Service Week

Submitted by Digi-Key

Thirty-three years ago, Ron Stordahl founded Digi-Key with a simple business philosophy in mind – to offer customers the best possible service. Today, that same standard holds true and is the catalyst that has thrust Digi-Key to its place among the fastest growing distributors of electronic components in the world.

With service at the root of the company's success, it's fitting that Digi-Key made special note of Customer Service Week October 3-9. The International Customer Service Association began Customer Service Week in 1988, and in 1992, Congress proclaimed Customer Service Week a nationally recognized event to be celebrated annually during the first full week of October.

While banners proclaiming Customer Service Week were found throughout the company's 600,000 square foot facility and all of Digi-Key's employees enjoyed daily treats and prize drawings, it was the company's customer service department which took on a particular flair throughout the week. Decorations were tropical in nature, and the overall theme was "We Treasure You as You Treasure Our Customers."

Customer Service Manager Kim Gilbert and her team of 14 supervisors spent weeks planning the event, and Gilbert deems it was worth it. "National Customer Service Week is an opportunity to recognize the importance of everyone's role in providing excellent customer service while giving our employees the chance to have some fun," she said.

In addition to the overall theme, each day featured its own theme with coordinating games, activities, and treats. There were also three dress-up opportunities, including dress code appropriate beachwear on Friday for "Luau Day."

One hundred fourteen employees make up Digi-Key's customer service department. Specialized areas within the department include international customer service, VBD (volume business division) customer service, Web chat, order management, logistics management, traffic, quality and corporate mail, as well as several others.

In addition to the eight weeks of training required for Digi-Key sales, customer service requires an additional eight to 10 weeks of classroom training.

Linda Timm, a 10-year veteran of Digi-Key, has worked in the customer service department for six years and currently works with volume customers. "I enjoy the challenge," she says, "and the opportunity to turn frowns into smiles. The more smiles we make, the more customers we retain, and the more Digi-Key profits, which is good for all of us."

New customer service representatives are drawn to the department for a variety of reasons. Junna Wojahn and Dustin Carlson are among six employees who are currently being trained. "I truly enjoy providing our customers with excellent service," Wojahn says. "Being part of this department will give me a sense of pride and accomplishment." She has worked at Digi-Key just over three years and previously worked in its distributor sales department. Challenge and variety is what attracted Carlson, employed at Digi-Key since April, to customer service. He's looking forward to a new work schedule, too, when he joins the department's "late evening" crew. He will work four 10-hour days with four consecutive days off every other week.

If there's one thing that surprises Digi-Key's customer service representatives, it's the number of compliments they receive. To hear a customer say something like, "You people are amazing," is not unusual. It is also not uncommon to receive an e-mail that states similar accolades or expresses a simple "thank you."

Evidence of the company's commitment to customer service extends beyond individual feedback, however. Recently, Digi-Key was rated #1 for "Overall Performance" for the 14th consecutive year by a distributor preference study. Other categories that brought Digi-Key top ratings were on-time delivery, availability of product, breadth of product offering, and responsiveness.

In just four years, Digi-Key has grown from the 20th to 6th largest among North America's more than 500 electronic component distributors. With the capability of processing an order – from order entry to shipping – in as little as 20 minutes, Digi-Key ships products to more than 120 countries worldwide and offers in excess of 530,000 products from over 320 of the world's leading manufacturers. The company also has the largest direct-mail program in the industry and will distribute more than five million print catalogs this year to customers and prospective customers around the world. Currently, Digi-Key employs just over 1,500 people.

Digi-Key's president, Mark Larson, attributes the superior customer service his company provides to be the catalyst propelling the company's growth. "Service is what differentiates one distributor from another," Larson says. "Exceptional service is what distinguishes Digi-Key from other electronic component distributors."

Customer service supervisors and Manager Kim Gilbert turned up at Digi-Key Oct. 5 and dressed as island natives and the castaways from "Gilligan's Island." The fun was part of the company's National Customer Service Week celebration. Supervisors include (not in order) Allie Enge, Chris Ueland, Cindy Nessen, Deb Howe, Kim Holmes, Kim Tunheim, Leah Vigen, Marie Weets, Robert Manuelito, Delyne Felling, Sarah Brevik, Michelle Nieland, Cindi Kotrba and Tiffany Neumann. # Weather challenges runners

The weather turned out to be the most difficult opponent for marathon runners from northwestern Minnesota runners competing in marathons these past few weeks.

For Pat and Laura Brickson of Thief River Falls, who competed in marathon and half-marathon events (26.2 and 13.1 mile events respectively) in Appleton, Wis., it was rain. For the half dozen runners from the region who competed in the Twin Cities Marathon on Oct. 2 it was heat and humidity.

Pat and Laura Brickson competed in the Fox Cities Marathon and U.S. Cellular Half Marathon in Appleton, Wis., Sept. 25. Pat, 36, finished the marathon in a time of 3:44:03, 132nd out of 560. Laura, 34, finished the half marathon in 2:12:30, 721st out of 1,330 finishers.

Pleased with his time, Pat described the terrain for the marathon as pretty reasonable - a gradual rise, but not too noticeable. The weather, on the other hand, was much more interesting. Brickson said rain, which began the night before subsided at about 8 a.m. when the event started. Unfortunately, it started up again about 10:30 a.m. or when he was at about mile 18. In an ironic twist, he said he noticed that just before it started to rain he was passing by a business called Tsunami Hobbies. "I ran in a downpour for about two to three miles, and then a steady rain until the finish." Brickson noted that the temperature was in the mid-60s so he didn't get too chilled.

The winners of the marathon were Elly Rono, 35, Chapel Hill, N.C., who completed the course in a time of 2:18:55; and Angie Paprocki, 30, Hoffman Estates, Ill., who completed the course in 2:54:30, winning the women's division.

Twin Cities Marathon

The St. Paul Pioneer Press described the Twin Cities Marathon in bold headlines as a "Battle of attrition." The average high temperature for the Twin Cities this time of year is 65. When runners put their toes to the starting line at 8 a.m. on Sunday, the temperature was 65-degrees. Putting an even heavier blanket on the event was humidity, which had steamed up to 61 percent.

Several area runners competed in and completed the event, but not without weather-related suffering - a loss of time or cramps.

According to a story in the St. Paul Pioneer Press, about 240 people went through the medical tent, which was a record. That number doesn't include those who were taken off the course and taken to emergency rooms. Officials said this was the "hottest race in the event's 24 years."

There were no reports of serious injuries or deaths.

The weather affected times, as well. The overall winners were Mbarak Hussein, 40, Albuquerque, N.M., who finished in 2:18:28, and Nicole Aish, 29, Boston, Mass., who finished in 2:40:21. Though impressive, those finishing times were the second slowest in the history of the marathon.

There were 10,500 registered entrants. A total of 7,754 finished.

Heads up High

Prior to the start of Sunday's race, Kent Warne of Newfolden was aiming for a completion time that would qualify him for the Boston Marathon. Those hopes were dashed early during the race on Sunday. As a queasy stomach and dizziness began to occupy more of his thoughts than running, Warne slowed down. Later, he took the slow finish time in stride, stating that "the runners at the back of the pack are a pretty fun group."

Chris Wright of Thief River Falls took a more strategic look at what was happening. Wright was also attempting to qualify for the Boston Marathon. At mile 19, when he realized that the conditions were such that he wasn't going to reach his goal, he pulled out of the race. By doing so, he hoped to recover more quickly and be better prepared for another shot at his goal in two weeks. Wright will be competing in the Whistle Stop Marathon in Ashland, Wis., Oct. 14 and 15.

Rob Burkel of Thief River Falls felt the effects early. After all the training, Burkel said he was stunned when his legs felt beat at Mile 3. "It was not a lot of fun," said Burkel. However, he said he gained strength to finish when at Mile 13 or 14, his son said, "OK, Dad, you better get going."

Results - David Hill, 45, Thief River Falls, 663 overall, 61 in division, 3:26:11; Lori Warne, 36, Newfolden, 2,224 overall, 94 in division, 3:58:42; Alex Mohrbacher, 21, Warroad, 2,987 overall, 52 in division, 4:06:42; Mary Mohrbacher, 50, Warroad, 2,988 overall, 28 in division, 4:06:43; Kent Warne, 37, Newfolden, 4,877 overall, 546 in division, 4:40:11; Tim Sayler, 16, Thief River Falls, 5,792 overall, 89 in division, 4:53:51; Rob Burkel, 37, Thief River Falls, 7,194 overall, 736 in division, 5:31:52; Ben Sayler, 22, Thief River Falls, 7,597, 845 in division, 5:50:20;

Extension Home Stretch program begins Oct. 3

Buying a home is one of the most important decisions that a person makes today. In order to prepare home buyers for this important step, the University of Minnesota Extension Service and Minnesota Housing Financing Agency will offer a "Home Stretch" Home Buyer Workshop on Thursday's, October 20 and 27, and November 3. The workshops will be held from 7 to 9:45 p.m. in the Courthouse Meeting Room, Thief River Falls.

The three-session workshop is designed for the first-time home buyers of low to moderate income, for homeowners ready to finance a contract for deed, or for persons just interested in exploring the possibilities of home ownership.

Participants will gain a thorough understanding of the home buying process. They will find out - how much home they can afford, what lenders look for in a buyer, how to eliminate the barriers to home ownership and what kinds of mortgage assistance programs are available. Various speakers from agencies or companies that work with home buyers will present the material and answer questions.

A certificate of completion will be provided to all participants who attend all three workshop sessions. Many lending programs now require completion of a home buying workshop to be eligible for their mortgage products.

The registration fee for the workshop is $20 per household. Call the Pennington County Extension Office at 218-683-7030 or 1-800-681-2116 to receive a registration brochure with more information. Registration deadline is Monday, October 17.

Even a little weight loss can yield many benefits

"The big thing that I'm finding is that people aren't active enough," Skaar said. "We try for at least 30 minutes a day and encourage up to 60."

Skaar noted that in many cases 30 minutes is too difficult for a patient who is just beginning a program. For those patients she recommends working up to 15 minutes twice a day, gradually increasing workout times as workouts become easier.

Skaar said she is most concerned over the increase in the number of child and adolescent cases of obesity she has seen recently. She has created diet programs for children between the ages of 5 and 15 who have already developed high cholesterol and triglyceride levels, many of whom already developed type two diabetes and already have an increased risk of heart disease. Most weight-related health problems, according to Skaar, can be prevented with education.

"I think people just need to learn to eat healthier," Skaar said. "We need to choose healthier foods."

Skaar also tells patients that no food is totally off limits adding that with any food, moderation is the key.

Weight loss programs

Several weight loss programs are available for those who wish to take weight loss and weight maintenance into their own hands. Programs like Weight Watchers, Atkins, eDiets, South Beach Diets, Nutri System, Jenny Craig and countless others appear to have unlimited success stories using drastically different diets.

Those success stories aren't always permanent, which may say something about how easy or how hard a diet is to live with.

Skaar said many of the patients she has seen had success with commercial diets. Most fail though, as weight loss tapers and the diet grows monotonous.

TOPS

One way to battle the discouraging affects of a diet stalemate is through group dieting programs and two of the oldest and most successful programs are available in the Thief River Falls area.

TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) is a non-profit organization that has helped people lose weight in a healthy, caring and supportive atmosphere since 1948. According to the company's Web site, www.tops.org, it is the oldest international, non-profit, non-commercial weight loss support group. Currently the organization includes over 200,000 members and more than 10,000 chapters in the United States, Canada and other countries throughout the world.

Unlike other diet plans, TOPS participants get their diet and exercise plans from their own doctor or licensed healthcare professional. TOPS chapters meet weekly. National dues are listed at $20 per year in the United States and $25 per year in Canada. Weekly dues are approximately $5 per week.

Four TOPS chapters are located within 30 miles of Thief River Falls.

- Northwest Medical Center – Meetings are held on Mondays in the north conference room. Weigh-ins and group meetings are held from 6 to 7 p.m.
- Trinity Lutheran Church – Meetings are held on Tuesdays. Weigh-ins are held from 8:15 to 8:45 a.m. Group meetings are held from 8:45 to 9:15 a.m. Call Trinity Lutheran Church at 681-1310 for more information.
- Goodridge area – Meetings are held on Saturdays at the home of Donna Horachek. Weigh-ins are held from 9:15 to 9:30 a.m. Group meetings are held from 9:30 to 10 a.m. Call Donna at 218-378-4338 for more information.
- Third Base Supper Club, Brooks – Meetings are held at the Third Base Supper Club on Mondays. Weigh-ins are held from 10-10:15 a.m. Group meetings begin at 10:15 a.m.

Weight Watchers

Weigh Watchers International was founded in 1963 by Jean Nidetch. It became a publicly held company in 1968 and a publicly traded corporation in 2001. For the past 42 years, the Weight Watchers program has grown to include more than 46,000 weight loss groups, meeting in more than 30 countries.

Since its inception, Weight Watchers has used a state of the art approach to help millions successfully lose weight using a program that teaches its users to make wise food choices, eat healthy and be more active.

Like other weight loss programs like Nutri System and Jenny Craig, Weight Watchers sells pre-portioned meals that are available at most grocery stores. Unlike those programs, in which all meals are purchased through the weight loss program, Weight Watchers doesn't require participants to buy Weight Watchers' food. Instead it teaches participants to eat smart in all situations, and no food is off limits.

When beginning the Weight Watchers program, a new participant will be weighed-in and will select one of two plans available under Weight Watcher's Turn Around Program.

The Core Plan is a weight loss plan that allows participants to choose foods from a core list of nutritious foods without counting or tracking. The list includes foods from all food groups, vegetables and fruits, grains and starches, lean meats, poultry, fish, eggs and dairy products. It also allows consumption of foods outside the core list in a controlled amount.

Participants may also choose the POINTS Flex Plan. This program allows participants to eat any food they wish as long as they keep track. Foods are assigned point values based on total calories, fiber and fat. Nutritious foods are assigned a lower point value..

Three weekly Weight Watchers meetings are offered within 30 miles of Thief River Falls.

- United Methodist Church, Thief River Falls - Meetings are held at 6:15 p.m. on Mondays and 5:15 p.m. on Tuesdays. Weigh-ins are held 5:45 to 6:15 p.m. on Mondays and 4:45 to 5:15 p.m. on Tuesdays.
- Our Savior's Lutheran Church, Warren - Meetings are held at 5:30 p.m. on Mondays.

Weight Watchers is offering free registration through Oct. 15. Nationwide registration fees range from $17 to $20 and weekly fees are between $10 and $14.

LHS students learn to be "Street Smart"

who died in vehicle accidents. None of the people were wearing seat belts. At various times throughout the slide show, not a sound could be heard among the students attending the first Street Smart presentation in the LHS auditorium.

"All those people in the pictures thought it wasn't going to happen to them," Svela said.

Students have given Garcia and Svela many excuses as to why they don't buckle up. "We hear just about every story," Garcia said.

Svela's favorite was that someone didn't wear a seat belt in case he or she had to run from the cops. Svela heard that excuse from someone incarcerated at a juvenile detention center.

One excuse Garcia and Svela frequently hear is that someone doesn't wear a seat belt because his or her vehicle has an air bag. However, in the event of a collision with another vehicle or an object, there is nothing to protect an unbuckled driver or passenger from a secondary collision. That secondary collision may be with a third vehicle, an object or even another person.

The students saw a photo of a driver whose car collided with another vehicle. Since the driver wasn't wearing a seat belt, his head went through a window and hit a concrete post after the impact of the initial accident. His skull and part of his brain were visible in the photo.

"The air bag is there to supplement the seat belt, not replace it," Garcia said.

Drivers aren't the only people who should wear seat belts. Svela told a story about four people who were traveling together. Someone pulled in front of their vehicle, and the vehicles collided.

Since they were travel[illegible] 40 to 45 miles per hour prior to the crash, their bodies continued to travel at that speed. The two people in the backseat were not wea[illegible] belts. Their bodies [illegible] continued to move at [illegible] after the collision. [illegible] back of the heads of the [illegible] seat," Svela said. [illegible] surviveable crash. All four people died of head injuries – even the two people who buckled up.

Seat belts also keep people from being thrown out of a vehicle after a crash. "The only thing that guarantees we stay in a vehicle is a seat belt," said Garcia, who noted vehicle occupants are 25 times more likely to die in a vehicle accident if they are ejected from a vehicle.

Referring to a photo of someone on an autopsy table, Svela said, "When he was killed, he left friends and family behind. Now, everyday, they have to think he was killed in a car crash."

To illustrate the impact of a car crash involving an unbuckled driver, a student volunteer was selected from the audience. Garcia and Svela told a fictitious story in which the volunteer, sophomore Jordan Needham, went to a party, drank alcohol and then decided to drive home.

As Needham drove home, he grabbed a CD. Once he looked up, he saw a dump truck, but wasn't able to stop his vehicle in time. His car rear-ended the dump truck.

Crash one is with the dump truck, crash two is when the unrestrained body hits the interior of the car, and crash three is when the inside organs hit the body, Svela said. "The brain went slamming into his skull at 45 miles per hour."

Paramedics, firefighters and law enforcement are dispatched to the scene. When responding to an accident, they may encounter three scenarios. One scenario is that the accident victim is dead. A patrol officer is sent to Needham's grandma's house. "He has to struggle to find the words to say 'Your grandson Jordan was killed in a traffic accident,'" Garcia said. Needham's grandma [illegible] to identify the body.

Since his arms are mangled, they put IVs on either side of his neck.

They check his vital signs again and notice that he is struggling to breathe. The steering wheel crushed his sternum, causing one of his lungs to collapse. Needham's blood pressure is low. Giving him pain medication would further decrease his blood pressure and possibly kill him. As a result, they are unable to give him pain medication before they plunge needles into his chest cavity to relieve the pressure on his lung.

A paramedic looks into Needham's mouth to determine if a breathing tube can be inserted down his throat. Broken teeth have dropped to the back of his throat, and it is not possible to place a breathing tube down Needham's throat. Instead, a paramedic uses a scalpel to slice an opening into Needham's windpipe in his neck.

As the paramedics help Needham stay alive, a naked Needham is lying on a spine board. "The truth is he doesn't know if he's going to live or die, and neither do we," Svela said.

A helicopter arrives to transport Needham to a trauma center. After he is wheeled into the trauma center, healthcare professionals determine that Needham needs a chest tube for his collapsed lung. His blood pressure is still low, so he isn't given pain medication. Several people hold him down as the chest tube is shoved into his body to keep blood and air out of Needham's chest cavity.

A needle is inserted into Needham's abdomen to determine if he is bleeding internally. Needham has no internal bleeding and is not taken to an operating room.

A urine sample is taken from a catheter placed inside Needham's body, and a doctor inserts his finger into Needham's rectum to determine if Needham is paralyzed.

Someone wheels Needham into a hallway where he lies on a stretcher with only a sheet covering his naked body. He lies there for what may be [illegible] is a busy night at [illegible] suffer from cerebral palsy, sepsis, chronic lung disease, hypothermia and death, according to the National Institutes of Health.

Those born at less than 28 weeks, like Dahl, also have the most complications. Those premature babies also account for less than 1 percent of the babies born in the U.S., according to the March of Dimes.

Dahl had what is classified as a very low birth weight. About 20 to 40 percent of babies with very low birth weight have "serious lasting disabilities," the March of Dimes noted.

Dahl, who now weighs 4 pounds, 12 ounces, is remarkably fine even though she was premature and had a hole in her small intestine. Her brother was excited to have a little sister, especially one who has the same scar he has. However, he was a little scared when it came to holding his little sister for a photo. He told his mom his sister was too small to hold.

Renfroe's children aren't the only ones who have had medical problems. Renfroe has been on dialysis since June. She began dialysis three days before Dahl was born, and she continues to undergo hemodialysis in which blood is taken out of the body, cleaned in a machine and returned to the body. Renfroe drives to Grand Forks, N.D., three days a week and waits for four hours each time while the blood is removed, cleaned and replaced. However, Renfroe may be able to have dialysis at home in the near future if she is able to have a peritoneal dialysis catheter placed in her body.

Renfroe has suffered from kidney failure for about eight years. She was born with only one kidney. Her ureter, the body part that carries urine from the kidney to the bladder, wasn't properly connected to her kidney. Renfroe underwent surgery to reconnect the ureter; however, the birth of her daughter sped up the need for a kidney transplant.

Renfroe's family members were tested to see if any of them were matches. Her aunt and uncle Candy and Jim Rude, and her cousin Shawn Hawkinson, all of Thief River Falls, were matches. Renfroe said they have yet to decide who will donate the kidney to her.

If anyone else is interested in being tested to donate a kidney to someone who might need it, he or she should call Cathy Garvey at the U of M Medical Center, Fairview at 1-800-328-5465, ext. 581.

Prowlers-Stayin' Alive in 2005

It's Homecoming at Lincoln High School (LHS) in Thief River Falls once again, and the Prowlers are "Stayin' Alive in 2005" celebrating this theme throughout the week of October 10-14, 2005.

The celebration began on Monday, Oct. 10, at 2:30 p.m., with the coronation ceremony held in the Lincoln High School auditorium. This year's homecoming King and Queen are Blake Haviland, son of Dr. James and Alicia Haviland and Allyson Helling, daughter of Ron and Marcy Helling. They were crowned by the 2004 King and Queen, Joel Olson and Jenna Dillon. This year's court includes senior attendants Jessica Gustafson, Michael Forney, Chelsey Osborne, Jeremy Gibson, Allyson Helling and Blake Haviland; junior attendants Lauren Daniels, Johnathan Quamme, Amanda Hoard and Michael Benedict; sophomore attendants: Ashley Narlock, Jordan Espeseth, Alicia Rader, and Kasey Trontvet; freshman attendants: Jessica Hutchinson, Justin Olson, Sara Sisler, and Seth Torstveit.

The "junior" attendants are Kora Torkelson, daughter of Danita and Brett Torkelson, and Tayton Zutz, son of Maya and Shane Zutz. The court will also be presented at the pep fest on Friday, and during half time at the football game.

Emcees for the events throughout the week are Juniors Sara Michaels and Barrett Holen. Performing at the coronation were Callie Adamson, accompanied by Ben Willis on bass and Scott Rakozy on piano, Haeli St[illegible]ke accompanied by Vanessa Martell on guitar, and the band "One Day Away" with Adam Sisler, Joel Lunsetter, and Josh Kuznia.

Spirit events for the week include button sales and dress-up days. Monday was Dress Up Day, Tuesday was Pajama Day, Wednesday is Super Hero Day, Thursday is Sports Day, and Friday is Spirit Day.

The pep fest will begin at 2 p.m., on Friday, Oct. 14, in the gym. It promises to be alive with spirit with percussionists, the LHS pep band, skits, dancers, and the return engagement of "Larry and The Lunch Ladies." Of course, the football team will be present getting ready for Friday night's game against the Duluth Trojans at 6 p.m., at the Lowell T. Swenson Field. The homecoming dance will take place from 9 p.m. to midnight, with XL93 in the LHS gym.

The Thief River Falls TIMES

Prowlers have another big night at Grand Rapids...

TRF offense does it again

There's something about playing in Grand Rapids that seems to bring out the best in the Thief River Falls offense.

The Prowlers won their third straight game on the Thunderhawks' home turf Friday, 39-20.

In those three road victories, Thief River Falls has shredded the Grand Rapids defense for 136 points – an average of over 45 points per game. The Prowlers outscored the host Thunderhawks 35-29 in 2001; rolled to a 62-34 blowout in 2003 and added a six-touchdown performance this time out.

"I love playing there," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "To me, there's no better facility to play on Friday night than in Grand Rapids. The setting in the trees, and their marching band make it a special place."

The win squared the Prowlers' season at 3-3 and bumped their North Country Conference record to 3-1. They finish the 2005 regular season with games at Lowell T. Swenson Field Friday, Oct. 14, vs. Duluth Central and Wednesday, Oct. 19, against Duluth Denfeld.

It was another big offensive night for Thief River Falls back Jon Drees. Coming off a 19-carry, 269-yard game in a 27-22 win over Cloquet the week before when he had touchdown runs of 85 and 41 yards, Drees rushed for another 192 yards on 15 carries and scored four times – on a 75-yard kickoff return, runs of 71 and 5 yards, and a 8-yard pass from quarterback Michael Forney.

"Jon has been playing really well," said Mumm.

Thief River Falls finished the night with 438 yards of offense and 23 first downs.

Progress made in the offensive line has helped spring Drees and the other backs, mentioned Mumm. "All of our backs run hard, and our offensive line is getting better," he said. "Offensively we've toned it down considerably since the start of the season. We're settling into what the kids up front do best. We're big, but we don't have a lot of speed. We've made some adjustments and their confidence level is pretty high right now."

It appeared that the Prowlers and Thunderhawks were geared up for an offensive shoot-out when they combined for five first quarter touchdowns.

Grand Rapids took the game's first drive downfield to score on a 1-yard run by quarterback Sam Shaw.

Drees returned the ensuing kickoff for a touchdown and broke off his 71-yard scoring play when the Prowlers' offense stepped onto the field for the first time.

The Thunderhawks came back to an 8-yard Grant Grell run and two-point conversion for a 14-14 tie; then Forney hooked up with Alex Carlson on a 48-yard touchdown pass. With Tom Loe tacking on three conversion kicks, the Prowlers had a 21-14 lead at the close of the first quarter.

Grand Rapids, however, couldn't keep pace. It was 39-14 before the Thunderhawks picked up the game's final touchdown.

"At the start, it was a matter of us not lining up properly on defense," explained Mumm. "Once we got that squared away, we really played well defensively. We settled down and played very, very well on defense the last three quarters."

It was a solid team effort on defense, according to Mumm, but it was the Prowlers' play in the secondary that really caught his eye. "Our defensive backs played well," he noted. "Even though we play a lot of zone, we told the kids back there to be more physical, more aggressive and challenge people. They did a nice job. We've got some new kids back there who are getting better."

Forney complemented the Thief River ground game with a 9-for-11, 116-yard passing performance that included three touchdowns and no interceptions.

This week's contest against Duluth Central will be the Prowlers' homecoming game. Kickoff is scheduled for 6 p.m.

Pioneers golf in state/region meet

Members of the 2005 Northland Community and Technical College golf team saved the best for last as the Pioneers turned in their top scores of the year during the combination Minnesota Community College Conference state and National Junior College Athletic Association Region 13 tournament Oct. 3-4 at Madison, Wis.

Defending NJCAA Division III national champion Central Lakes finished with a 602-610 winning margin over runner-up Rochester. Northland finished tied for seventh in a field of 13 teams with a 681.

After shooting a four-man first-day 356, the Pioneers improved to a 325 on Day 2.

While it wasn't a championship-caliber outing for Northland, head coach Tom Williams was nevertheless excited about the Pioneers' finish to what had been a disappointing fall season. "I'm very happy with our second round," said Williams. "That's the best we've shot all year by far."

Tournament medalist was Theo Frentzos of Central Lakes, who shot an eye-opening second-round 67 after a first-day 76 to finish at 143.

The entire Central Lakes team, along with the top-ten non-Central Lakes finishers, qualify for the NJCAA Division III national tournament in New York in June.

Northland will have a post-season shot

It's a three-game run to the 2005 Minnesota Community College Conference state football playoffs for Northland starting Thursday when the Pioneers play Rainy River in a 7 p.m. game at International Falls.

The Pioneers, after three straight close losses, became a post-season contender again last week with a 24-13 Thursday victory at home against Itasca.

The win evened the Pioneers' overall record at 3-3 and put them at 1-1 in the Northern Division.

With the top two teams in the final regular season Northern Division standings playoff-bound, the Pioneers can extend their season by winning out. They will host Mesabi Range Thursday, Oct. 20, and finish at Hibbing Saturday, Oct. 29.

A loss last week against Itasca would have likely knocked the Pioneers out of the playoff race.

"I was happy with the win, of course," said Northland coach Guy Finstrom. "I thought we were going

■ Pioneer Classic high school volleyball tournament

Clearbrook-Gonvick beat Ada-Borup 25-20, 25-21 in the championship match of the first Pioneer Classic high school volleyball tournament Saturday at Northland Community and Technical College.

In other trophy round matches, Red Lake County Central defeated East Grand Forks 25-23, 25-23 for third place; Red Lake Falls downed Mahnomen 25-19, 25-17 for fifth place; and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart stopped Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke 25-11, 25-19 for seventh place.

Round-robin pool play results earlier in the day determined the pairings in the finals.

Prowlers 1-3 at Perham

A 24-26, 25-19, 15-11 seventh place match win over Crookston closed out Thief River Falls' Saturday appearance at the Perham Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

The Prowlers lost to the host Yellowjackets 25-13, 25-10 to start the pool play portion of the tournament.

A Round 2 Thief River Falls-Bemidji match-up produced three close games, with the Lumberjacks emerging a 25-23, 20-25, 15-13 winner.

Melrose defeated the Prowlers 25-22, 25-14 to complete pool play competition.

The Prowlers, 7-20 overall heading into a Tuesday match at Lake of the Woods, will close out their 2005 regular season home schedule Thursday against Fosston.

TRF Tournament Scoring

Halvorson leads Mustangs to 3-1 win vs. Patriots

Twenty-five kills by Courtney Halvorson led Red Lake County Central to a 25-17, 25-21, 21-25, 25-10 Thursday high school volleyball win over host Win-E-Mac.

"It was a well-played match," reported Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray.

The Mustangs did struggle at times passing, and a 90 percent figure at the service line needs improving, admitted Bray. "The players need to stay focused and not miss serves," she stated.

RLCC Scoring

■ Kills - Courtney Halvorson 25, Brittany Gustafson 7, BriAnna Determan 5, Molly Hagen 5.

■ Assists - Betsy Winkler 32, Mallory Gerardy 3.

■ Service aces - Brittany Gustafson 2.

Storm stops Freeze offense in a 3-1 win

Stephen-Argyle defeated the visiting Northern Freeze 25-20, 25-21, 12-25, 25-21 in Thursday high school volleyball.

"They (Storm) had a scrappy defense that did not let anything drop," said Northern Freeze coach Missy Thompson. "Our hitters could not get the momentum we needed and became passive, looking to tip instead of hit."

The two teams played even until the midway mark of the first game when the Storm picked up the pace while Northern Freeze began to have trouble getting passes to the setters.

Northern Freeze started Game 2 with a 5-1 lead, but watched the Storm turn things around with six straight point-producing serves.

A 7-1 Northern Freeze lead stood up for the third-game win, but the Marshall County Central/Tri-County cooperative was unable to turn the victory into Game 4 momentum.

Northern Freeze Scoring

■ Kills - Jaci Heath 10, Alycia Dahl 5, Chelsea Boen 2, Lacey Peterson 2, Andrea Maki 2.

■ Assists - Alycia Dahl 10, Morgan Halvorson 5, Chelsea Boen 2.

■ Service aces - Alycia Dahl 8, Sasha Magner 2.

Pioneers lose weekend matches

Mesabi Range and Vermilion tacked two more losses onto the season-long losing streak for the 2005 Northland Community and Technical College volleyball team with 3-0 weekend decisions.

The Norse won 30-22, 30-21, 30-20 Friday night in Virginia.

"We competed," said Northland coach Missy Majerus. "Obviously, we're still having trouble overcoming our mistakes. We always seem to have a bad stretch in a match where we fall behind."

Vermilion swept the Pioneers 30-23, 30-28, 30-22 Saturday afternoon at Virginia.

"Same 'ol, same 'ol," offered Majerus. "We were ahead early, but then we would self-destruct, again. Actually, we did a better job fighting through the bad stretches than we did the night before. But we couldn't finish."

Northland is 0-20 for the year and 0-12 in the Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division.

The Pioneers host Central Lakes tonight (Wednesday) in their final home division match of the season.

as the fifth alternate on the list of national qualifiers. The freshman from Warroad finished with a 159 on rounds of 84-75.

The tournament was played in record-high 80-degree temperatures over a challenging, narrow course, reported Williams. "If you didn't hit the fairway, you're in the marsh," he said.

Rest of the Northland tournament golfers and their scores included a Nick Moen (Stephen) with a 167, Ryan Anderson (Karlstad) 171, Alex Sumner (East Grand Forks) 184 and Steve Stall (Mahnomen) 198.

"We didn't have the best season, but we had good kids," noted Williams. "That made it an enjoyable season, and I can say that I saw a lot of improvement by the end of the year."

Warroad puts 40-6 end to TRF freshman win streak

Warroad grabbed a 12-0 first quarter lead and was never headed in a 40-6 freshman high school football win over Thief River Falls Thursday.

The visiting Prowlers pulled within 12-6 at halftime, but it was an 18-6 difference heading into the final quarter. Warroad widened the gap down the stretch.

It was the first loss in five starts for the Prowlers, who scored on an 84-yard Cody Conners-to-Zach Sorenson passing play.

Tammy Sparby is guest speaker at Booster Club

Lincoln High School volleyball coach Tammy Sparby will be the guest speaker Thursday during the Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club noon luncheon meeting at the Elks.

The group will not meet Oct. 20 due to the MEA school break.

Northern Freeze volleyball cooperative from Marshall County Central and Tri-County won the East Grand Forks Sacred Heart Invitational eighth grade volleyball tournament Sept. 24. Other teams in the event included the host Eagles, Climax/Fisher, Red Lake County Central, Kittson Cental, East Grand Forks and Warren-Alvarado-Oslo. Members of the championship squad included, front row from left, Meagan Krantz, Ashley Swenson, Katie Hanson, Lauren Hahn; back row, coach Patty Davidson, Nicole Stusynski, Kinzie Magner, Lisa Waterworth and Mariah Richard. ## Tailgate contest is part of homecoming events

Thief River Falls' 2005 high school homecoming football game Friday vs. Duluth Central will be enhanced by a Tailgate Contest in the Lowell T. Swenson Field parking lot.

Presented by the Prowler football program, the event will award the "best tailgating group" with a $150 gift certificate at Universal Screenprint.

A committee will select a winner based on three categories: a) best set-up; b) food selection; c) enthusiasm.

Judging will start at 5:30 p.m. The North Country Conference game has a 6 p.m. kickoff.

Special game-night recognition will go to Thief River Falls players in the sixth, seventh and eighth grade middle school football programs.

A reminder, too, that when the Prowlers return to the field for the second half, the players will be passing out miniature footballs and team pictures to all the kids who line the sidewalk to the field.

TRF football JV ends with a win, 6-2 record

A 41-26 Monday win over Devils Lake, N.D., closed out a 6-2 season for the 2005 Thief River Falls junior varsity high school football team.

The Prowlers turned a 7-0 first quarter edge into a 27-7 halftime spread and had a 34-7 cushion through three quarters.

Jordan Swanson threw three touchdown passes for the winners – a 9-yard toss to Andy Rook, a 71-yarder to Jake Stuckey and a 4-yard throw to Chase Haviland.

Thief River Falls also scored three times on the ground, with Tom Loe breaking away on a 93-yard scamper, Haviland 20 and Aaron Langan 69.

Loe was 4-for-5 on extra-point kicks.

"The progress this team made from the start of the season to the end was very satisfying," said Jay Forney, who coached the team, along with Scott Brekke.

Thief River Falls wins came against East Grand Forks 27-6, Roseau 36-24, Roseau 23-2, Warroad 49-0, Crookston 20-6 and Devils Lake. The losses were to Grand Forks Central 41-8 and Detroit Lakes 28-12.

Take snowmobile safety training early

If people wait until cold, snowy weather arrives before taking snowmobile safety training they may be too late to enjoy the season. So says the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

"Some snowmobilers wait to see how much snow is in the forecast or on the ground before getting around to taking a DNR snowmobile safety training course," said Capt. Mike Hammer, DNR Enforcement Education Program coordinator. "In some instances, it's too late because classes have already concluded or are full. No Snowmobile Safety Certificate, no snowmobiling."

Hammer said plenty of snowmobile safety training classes are available now.

Minnesota residents born after Dec. 31, 1976, must complete a DNR snowmobile safety training course before they can legally ride a snowmobile anywhere in Minnesota, including private land.

By taking a snowmobile safety course, snowmobilers learn about all aspects of their sport and their recreational machines. Students learn about the machine, the laws, safe operation, the ethics of the sport and how to avoid the most common causes of snowmobile accidents.

Until recently, the only way to get a Snowmobile Safety Certificate was by completing a snowmobile safety training course from a DNR-certified instructor (either an 11-hour youth course or a four-hour adult course for those 16 and older). But the DNR now has a CD-ROM available for those16 or older. "They can study the information at home and print-out the forms/tests and send them in along with the $10.00 fee to receive their safety certification," Hammer said.

The Snowmobile Safety CD-ROM is available from the DNR by calling toll free 1-888-MINNDNR (646-6367), or by email info@dnr.state.mn.us.

More than 1,800 volunteer instructors teach DNR snowmobile safety courses across the state. For information on the dates and locations of these courses, visit the DNR Web site: www.dnr.state.mn.us or call 1-800-366-8917.

Mistaking a swan for a goose costly

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources cautions hunters not to mistake a trumpeter swan for a goose during the waterfowl hunting season. The cost is high for people who shoot swans in Minnesota, with stiff fines up to $700, possible confiscation of their shotguns, and restitution charges of $1,000 for a trumpeter swan.

The 2005 waterfowl season began Oct. 1.

According to Steve Kittelson, DNR Trumpeter Swan Restoration Project leader, the trumpeter swan disappeared from Minnesota in the 1880s. The restoration of the trumpeter swan in Minnesota began in the 1960s and continues today. Minnesota's flock of trumpeter swans now consists of more than 2,000 adult swans and at least 500 young of the year.

Because of their increased numbers and expanding range, trumpeter swans may be found in areas where they were never seen before. "These free-flying birds could show up virtually anywhere in the state," Kittelson said. "Hunters must become familiar with the differences in both size and markings between protected swans and legal ducks and geese."

Swans are three to four times the size of a Canada goose. The all-white adult swans and the light gray young swans are much larger than geese and have necks equal to their body lengths. The much smaller, dark gray Canada goose has a distinctive black head with white cheek patches and its neck is half of its body length.

Snow geese are much smaller than swans, their necks are shorter and they have black wing tips. Trumpeter swans usually travel in small family groups of two adults and two to six cygnets. In contrast, geese usually travel in larger flocks of up to 100 birds.

To learn more about identifying trumpeter swans and their calls, visit the DNR's Nongame Wildlife Program at www.dnr.state.mn.us.

Strandquist Community News

F. Myrtle Vagle • 436-2133

The weather in northwest Minnesota is hanging on to summer yet, and I hope it has a good grip on it for another couple weeks. The dahlias are loaded with buds and I would appreciate those beautiful blossoms for Sunday bouquets. This has not been a good year for the gardens. First, so cold and wet and in between we had unusually hot days which stunted the growth of most vegetation. These days are short-sleeved weather.

Mary Lou Aulwes called me from Chugiak, Alaska Saturday evening to learn how things were going in the lower 48. We have to realize that the difference in the hours of nights and days that we have in their state is almost twice as much as we have here. When December 22nd comes, they have little or no daylight where we have daylight from about 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. By the same token, they have enough daylight that they can read the newspaper on June 22nd at midnight without artificial light. It could be a few days off after that tsunami this summer. The world did shift again on its axis a bit more than 23 degrees. It was calculated 400 years after the flood when the earth was divided, there were islands in the Pacific which moved over 100 feet at that time and some islands actually disappeared.

There is one happy camper in town today and she's busy looking out her window and listening to the jackhammers breaking up the concrete in front of her house. No more draining the water against her domain because they are pouring it higher near the house and the drain goes to the curb. Elsie Lefrooth isn't the only one who has fallen on that ice and she has been waiting all summer to get it done, but many workers have been building in TRF on that big store. At 94 years of age, she didn't even take a nap this noon. She was so excited. Last week, Pearl Thompson and I had to let her win playing "Aggravation" because she was almost tripping on her lip. She thought it wouldn't get done this year. Now this make us all happy.

Last week Buzz and Dorothy Chaffee of Wibaux, Mont. spent Saturday and Sunday night with Morris and Hazel Anderson. They were guests, as was Morris Anderson, for supper at Paul and Shirley Anderson's. They were also guests for Sunday dinner there. On Sunday afternoon, Dorothy and Shirley helped rearrange the room to put a new washer and dryer next to the kitchen. Paul, Buzz and Jim Wetterlund delivered and put the machine in place. Sunday evening, Buzz and Dorothy Chaffee, Paul and Shirley Anderson and Donal and Lynn Grahn visited Ellen Johnson.

Kristopher Anderson spent the weekend at Paul and Shirley Anderson's and left for Idaho on Monday morning. Sunday, Dusty Swanson was a dinner guest at the Anderson's.

Saturday afternoon Shirley Anderson was among those who gathered at the Community Center in Karlstad to wish Roberta Anderson a happy 50th birthday.

Pearl Thompson had dinner at Danny and Becky Johnson's and on Saturday Becky and Danny enjoyed dinner at Pearl's home.

Judy Kleinvachter attended the birthday party for Jeremy Folland at Tracy Folland's home. She took June Severson with her to feast on those delicious potato dumplings at Irene's Cafe on Tuesday. She had Joan Gehris and Matt Hammer for some of her good coffee.

I've been unable to contact Joyce Sjodin for two day's trying. I wonder what news she wanted me to know. She was trying to get to me on Saturday when I was at a Gideon meeting in Crookston together with Les and Lucille Wikstrom, Sander and Ruth Gustafson and Lucille Haugan.

Ida Rupprecht • 681-4440

Joan Nelson, Bernice Knutson, Ida Rupprecht and Clara Hesse went to Warren on Saturday to attend the Fall Gathering of Cluster 2, Women of the ELCA.

Joan Doeden, from Detroit Lakes, spent the weekend at Ida Rupprecht's.

Bernice Knutson visited at Helga Nelson's home Wednesday afternoon.

Joan Nelson, Dale and Brandi Nelson, Jordan and Jadyn from Karlstad were Saturday afternoon visitors at Leslie and Margaret Nelson's home.

Kermit and Jean Maidment were Wednesday evening visitors at Ruth and Lowell Hanson's home bringing belated birthday wishes to Lowell.

Bernice Knutson was a Sunday afternoon visitor at Myrtle Olson's home.

Ida Rupprecht, Joan Doeden, Lori Jones, Walter and Lewis were afternoon visitors and supper guests at Judy Jones home on Sunday.

Angie Larson was a Sunday evening visitor at Bernice Knutson's home.

Brooks Community News

Pearl Laniel • 698-4470

On Thursday, the Red Lake County Central Red Hat Chapeaux group enjoyed dinner at the Ness Cafe in Erskine. At noon and after entertainment from the group, they drove to Maple Lake and were coffee and dessert guests of Mrs. Delarose Bushy with members, Mrs. Joan Carpenter, Mikki Duden, Jan Freetage, Fern Eskilla, Bunny DuChamp, Ann Jaeger, Joanne Derosier, Ella Mae Derosier, Violet Gagner, Val Gagner, Cecil Serpemaut, Mary Ann Gagner, Joyce Rock, Eunice Qunell, Crystal Martell, Mary Schindler, Joanne Bradley, Pearl Laniel, Dorothy Myhre, Willie Katsckhe, Allie Joll, Louis Lessard, Kitty LaCoursier, Lola Anderson and two guests Srs. Mary Jean Gust and Srs. Cornelius Gust of Fertile. Mary Schinder won the door prize.

George and Marlene Neys of Warren were Sunday evening guests of Joe and Laurie Neys.

Gene and Pat Proulx of Maple Lake, hosted a Tuesday dinner with guests Mrs. Dorothy Myhre, Myrtle Hamrum, Mary Ann Gagner, Pearl Laniel, Mrs. Violet Gagner and Martha Gagner of Red Lake Falls.

Our community is sadden to hear of the passing away of Del Doterman's mother, Mrs. Margaret Doterman of Marshall who passed away this past week. Our sympathy goes to the the family.

Mrs. Rennette Walter of Plummer visited with her parents Walter Sr. and Monica Novak on Sunday.

FROM THE PAST ECHOES

FROM THE UPPER FALLS

THE NEWS, JOHN W. EASTMAN, PUBLISHER DECEMBER 4, 1905
THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA

Mayor Warns Public

"Mayor Bakke desires to announce to the people of Thief River Falls that more care should be taken in driving across the bridge across the Red Lake river. Two years ago a watchman was kept at the bridge to see that not more than two teams were upon the bridge at one time, but now it is a common thing to see several heavily loaded teams and sometimes fast driving upon the bridge."

Loggers Are Busy

"Sex Bulman came down from the Tamarac last week where Bulman Brothers are conducting logging operations. Mr. Bulman says that work is progressing in a very satisfactory manner and that already they have one million feet of logs on the skidways. A crew of thirty-five men is now employed."

Fine Set of Fixtures
Thief River Post Office To Be Swell
Will Be in New Location in About a Month from Now

"The new post office fixtures to be used in the post office when it is removed into the Dobner-Meehan building are expected to arrive here this week. They are said to be a swell set of fixtures and will far surpass any other set of post office fixtures in the northern part of the state.

"The fixtures will not be the personal property of Postmaster Richardson, but are the property of the Dobner-Meehan block and it means that the post office is to be located in this building for a long time. A ten-year lease has been made with the government.

"Postmaster Richardson states that he expects to get in his own quarters in about a month."

Water Works Soon Completed

"The work of putting in the water works system is expected to be completed in a few days. Contractor Patterson says that nearly all of the mains and hydrants have been put in and about all that is left to do is to complete the tank and tower. The city will have considerable work to do in getting the pumping station in working order before it freezes up and it may be possible that water will not be turned into the mains until next spring."

Is Ready for Business
Henry Diebel Looking for a Site
Intends to Have His Factory Built by January First.

"Henry Diebel, the gentleman who is organizing a stock company and is going to start a woodworking establishment here, returned to this city Tuesday from North Dakota where he had been in consultation with his brother who furnishes part of the capital for the new enterprise. To the NEWS, Mr. Diebel stated that from now on he would continue to make Thief River Falls his home. He will spend a few days looking for a suitable site for his factory and also for residence lots to build houses upon for men employed in his factory. Mr. Diebel has four sons, all married men, who will remove here at once, and, as houses cannot be rented, he will build.

"Work of building the factory will be commenced at once and it is expected to have the institution in running order by the first of January."

Manitoba People Guests Sunday At C of C Breakfast

"Nearly 1,000 persons, a large percentage of them Canadian visitors, taking advantage of Canada's Thanksgiving holiday, were treated to a breakfast of pancakes, sausages and coffee by the Chamber of Commerce trade promotion committee in the Eagles auditorium Sunday morning. Serving started at 7:30 a.m., and continued until 11:30. The Junior Chamber of Commerce lent valuable assistance in the project, taking charge of the dining room.

"The visitors from Winnipeg and other towns in Manitoba filled local hotels and motels to capacity, and more than 100 were accommodated in private homes."

Mrs. Earl Jensen Is Superintendent Of O.P. Rest Home

"At a meeting of the Oakland Park Rest Home executive committee Wednesday, October 7th, the committee appointed Mrs. Earl Jensen as superintendent of the home. Mrs. Jensen has been employed there as office manager, and had previously been office manager of the former Oakland Park Sanatorium."

Goodridge Church Is Serving Dinner

"St. Anne's Catholic church will hold its first annual ham dinner at the Goodridge gym Wednesday, October 12, beginning at 5:30. There will be an needlework and apron counter, a country store, parcel post, and a 'white elephant' sale. Games will be played. Everyone is invited to attend."

Makes Way For New Oil Station

"What has for many years been referred to as the Soo Cafe building on Third street at Horace [northwest corner] is now making way for a new Conoco service station, construction of which will be started immediately. The structure consists of two framed buildings that were erected back around the turn of the century. The corner building will be moved by William Reese to a location on Highway 32 south of the city. The inside building is being wrecked.

"Until recently the building was owned by Gordon and Raymond Johnson, who operated the Sportsman's Store and Western Auto. They are now occupying the corner location of the Elks building on Third and LaBree."

Male Chefs Experiment In Camp Cookery Lesson

"Last week a student gazing out of an assembly window, suddenly sat up quickly and exclaimed enviously, 'There goes Miss Stenson's cooking class on a picnic!'

"This certain student may have received the impression that the class was going on a picnic, while it really had a problem in mind. It was the Foods class going out for a camp cookery experiment.

"The students hiked down to the Tourists' Park where they experimented in preparing foods over an open fire. A few of the dishes prepared were: squaw dish (a combination of bacon, eggs and corn) prepared by Billy Korstad, Arthur Johnson, and Ellsworth Rolland. Ethel Burstad and Dolores Amundson were responsible for the cocoa. Ruth Johnson, Ruth Cronkhite and Margaret Thill prepared the baked potatoes. Each member of the class prepared his own breadstick and corn bread with Bernice Saugen and Alice Hall responsible for the batters. The dessert was the only thing not prepared over the open fire."

It's time to focus on binge drinking

Good timing? The death of a Moorhead State University student quickly followed by reports of the hospitalization of three Concordia College students for abuse of alcohol, propelled the subject of binge drinking by college students into the headlines. Not that there haven't been efforts in the past to curb this behavior, but the recent news propelled this serious issue into the limelight and caused people to wonder what more could be done. Just in time to take advantage of the publicity, Street Smart brought its message to students in Thief River Falls.

Our reporter who attended the Wednesday event at Lincoln High School described Street Smart as well done, informative, and very graphic.

The program overview describes "Street Smart" as a program that "reminds students of the dangers of teen drinking, drunk driving, illegal drug use and not wearing seat belts."

The program shows, in a very graphic presentation, the consequences of these activities. And, rather than preaching or lecturing students, the program engages students by getting them involved in assisting paramedics with the procedures and activities they would perform to help save lives.

The purpose of this program, and efforts by educators and professionals, is to discourage teen drinking, binge drinking, drunk driving, illegal drug use and not wearing seat belts. The health and well being of youth is the primary concern of the professionals and adults standing in front of them, and the sponsors like Northwest Beverage. The purpose is not to demonstrate that they're a bunch of hypocrites. Yes, most adults have experienced the consequences of overindulgences in alcohol. Their primary concern remains, however, to be the health and well-being of young adults. They understand that testing limits is part of growing up, and understand that the young will do just that. They just don't want you to cease to exist. It is hoped that youth will use this information and feel empowered, utilize resources at their disposal, visit with counselors and even parents when confronted with situations that involve unsafe activities.

Why focus on youth when it is obvious that it is a problem for many older adults, too? Youth are the focus of many of these types of efforts precisely because of their inexperience. It's a fact that youth are involved in a larger proportion of alcohol-related incidents. In Pennington County, of the 119 DWIs in 2004, 44 were to individuals under the age of 24. Perhaps some growing up still needs to be done at all levels, but youth are often the focus of such programs because it is hoped that by focusing on youth they won't have to "relearn" these lessons at a later time in their life. No one wants that experience to come about from death or injury.

Last week, the Minnesota Department of Public Safety released its annual summary of traffic crashes and deaths. Among its findings was the lowest tally of alcohol-related deaths since 1984. Nevertheless, alcohol related crashes accounted for 177 deaths. In 2003, there were 655 traffic-related deaths and 255 were alcohol-related.

We hesitate to call all the publicity surrounding the recent death and the binge drinking incidents as good, as in good news. But, they do present us with an opportunity to make a point - a point that may prevent others from following that same path. Let's take advantage of the opportunities we have to make a good point about being safe.

Dinner anyone?

A Columbia University survey found that teenagers who eat with their families at least five times a week are more likely to get better grades in school, and are much less likely to have substance abuse problems. The survey suggests that family time may be more important to children than many parents realize.

The National Center on Addiction and Substance Abuse at Columbia University has developed this list of 10 benefits of frequent family dinners. Children and teens who have frequent family dinners:

- are at half the risk for substance abuse compared to teens who dine with their families infrequently;
- are less likely to have friends or classmates who use illicit drugs or abuse prescription drugs;
- have lower levels of tension and stress at home;
- are more likely to say that their parents are proud of them;
- are likelier to say they can confide in their parents;
- are likelier to get better grades in school;
- are more likely to be emotionally content and have positive peer relationships;
- have healthier eating habits;
- are at lower risk for thoughts of suicide;
- are less likely to try marijuana or have friends who use marijuana.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

What is the mission and goal of the REA?

To the Editor,

After researching Ralph Engelstad and the philanthropic process for the past two years I would like to make some salient points about the Thief River Falls Ralph Engelstad Arena (TRFREA).

Ralph Engelstad was a simple man living in a complex world. Although sometimes his gifts were unfairly criticized, in his mind his gifts were always given with heartfelt intentions. In regards to both University of North Dakota Ralph Engelstad Arena and the TRFREA, he was "giving back" to those people who greatly influenced his life in one way or another. One must understand that he loved hockey and that was truly his focus area.

Reading the press releases and talking to city council members forces me to contemplate the following ideas:

1) Are we implementing the mission and values first stated wherein this was a facility for the youth of Thief River Falls?

2) Remember, Engelstad's vision was that TRFREA is a world class high school hockey facility with the ability to host other events.

3) Are we making the running of what basically is a hockey facility so complex that no one knows who is ultimately in charge?

I do not assume to speak for Ralph Engelstad but I do know he was a penny pinching billionaire who would not take kindly to excess management positions. As for the city council - perhaps the interim director should have been in place a little longer so you indeed could have held community input forums. Focus groups have been known to last anywhere from one to five years. Engelstad stated that the city is ultimately in charge, therefore the people in the community should have a voice. If it were to be run independently, this would not be needed.

Finally, it is important that the people who work at the city of Thief River Falls' showcase facility, have a commitment to youth, the original vision, and the community as a whole. Whatever one's feelings are, both Tom Goddard and Dale Wennberg have proven their loyalty to Engelstad's original vision and their commitment to the community at large.

Be sure to get out and vote in November

To the Editor:

In a year when there are no statewide elections - for governor or president or U.S. Senate, for example, doesn't it seem easy for voters to get a sense that the local elections taking place are not worth their time?

Yet local elections can be some of the most important to our everyday lives. Decisions made by local government bodies often have a greater and more immediate impact on us than ones made at higher levels. These include decisions about issues like property taxes, school policies, and public safety.

Local elections have been important historically. To underscore just how important: It was 130 years ago this November that the Minnesota constitution was amended to allow women to vote on school officers and school questions. This was the beginning of voting rights for women in our state.

Local elections can be historic for individuals, as well. Local elections are a great opportunity to take the historic step of voting for the first time. I always encourage young people to become involved and learn the voting process in non-major election years like 2005, when everything is less hectic.

This year, Election Day is Tuesday, Nov. 8. If your locality is holding an election, I encourage you to vote and also to take a first-timer with you. If you are a parent, I encourage you to take your children, especially teens, to the polls to see the process and learn about voting.

It really is important and really does make a difference.

Sincerely,
Mary Kiffmeyer
Minnesota
Secretary of State

Bernie Lieder: Now is the time to move aggressively toward energy independence

by Rep. Bernie Lieder

With gas prices inching toward $3-a-gallon and dire warnings about the cost of home heating fuels, most Minnesotans understand how valuable it would be for the state to wean itself off of its dependence on outside sources of energy. Nobody likes paying high prices for gasoline or sources of energy. It would take a bit of the edge off, however, if you knew the profits were staying and working in Minnesota.

The thing is, we're closer to that goal than many realize. New emerging technologies, many of which would utilize products and resources grown here in Minnesota, offer the potential to provide our state with as much as 95 percent of our energy needs by the year 2020. They would also do it in way that would allow Minnesota's economy to remain competitive with the rest of the world.

However, if we're to have any hope of reaching that goal, we need to act now. Although the high price of gasoline and home heating fuel is wreaking havoc on the family budget – not to mention the budgets of businesses, schools and local government – they also present us with [illegible] opportunity to nurture [illegible] and build an infrastructure that supports their use.

Ethanol is a good example of what can be done. Ten years ago, we had the foresight to invest in ethanol production in this state. As a result, Minnesota is a national leader in both the use and production of this homegrown energy source.

Last week, we took our first steps toward establishing Minnesota as a leader in the production and use of biodiesel with the enactment of the state's biodiesel mandate, which will require diesel fuel sold in the state to be blended with 2 percent biodiesel. That means an estimated 50,000 diesel cars and light trucks in the state, as well thousands more heavy-duty trucks, buses, boats and construction equipment, will be partly fueled by soybeans and other homegrown products under the first law of its kind in the nation.

If the ethanol and biodiesel have shown us anything, it's that these kinds of alternative sources of energy need to be encouraged and nurtured. Although Minnesota has some natural advantages when it comes to the use and production of alternative fuels – a favorable climate, significant soil and water resources, a strong agricultural and transportation infrastructure and a skilled and educated workforce – Minnesota is a leader in these industries because of the past foresight of state leaders.

We need to renew that commitment today. Recently, there have been efforts at the legislature to set a renewable energy standard of 20 percent by the year 2020, a goal that is more easily achievable than many realize. We have options. In addition to E-85 and biodiesel, there's methane-from-waste conversion, biomass fuels and solar and wind power. All of these offer legitimate and economical alternatives to petroleum.

They also enjoy the support of the public. A recent state poll showed that close to 80 percent of the public support expanded development and use of renewable energy sources, with no difference in opinion between parties, level of education or where they live in the state.

Minnesotans support these alternatives because they're tired of being at the end of the energy pipeline. They want to lead. If we begin today, we can put Minnesota on the path to energy independence so future generations won't have to lurch from energy crisis to energy crisis as we have been doing for the past 20 years.

Newspapers give readers a forum

by Chuck Baldwin

Bond issues and rezonings. Sewer projects and street repairs. Housing projects and redevelopment. Elections and recalls.

And discussion of it all - back and forth, give and take, pro and con.

Sure, there's the local coffee shop, after-church lunches, public forums. But really, there's only one central place to get all this.

It's your local newspaper.

And that's the theme for this year's National Newspaper Week - "Your Newspaper: Your Community's Town Hall."

Sometimes, that's easy to forget. We get wrapped up in all the other benefits of a newspaper, the ebb and flow of a community. Weddings and births. Graduations and deaths. Local sports. Recipes. Church services. Community events and celebrations. The latest sale at the local store.

Sometimes we tend to overlook one of the most important roles of our local newspapers - that of a weekly or daily town hall meeting, where the latest news of government and schools, as well as other issues in the community, is laid out for all to see.

In the news columns and on the editorial pages, newspapers play an integral role in both supporting and shaping our communities.

News stories explain the issues, from all points of view.

Editorials offer the newspaper's take on those issues and suggest a course of action.

Letters to the editor give community members a chance to sound off with their own ideas.

And even if the newspaper has missed something of importance, very little gets past the community members who speak up in those letters.

Through newspapers, we have community discussions. We engage one another and debate the issues before us.

Providing that "town hall" is a responsibility the folks at newspapers take seriously. We have to. There is no other avenue that provides such varied opportunities on a regular basis for everyone in the community.

Public forums and community meetings are good only for those who attend and speak up. Radio and television are limited by air time.

Newsletters from cities and counties and school districts typically provide only one point of view, only one side of an issue.

Only a newspaper has the capability and reach - and mission - to provide a forum for everyone in the community. To frame the issues and the debate. To offer praise, when deserved, and criticism when needed. And to invite the community into the debate.

This newspaper - your newspaper - is the community's town hall. And we wouldn't have it any other way.

Dayton farm bill defeated

Sen. Mark Dayton introduced legislation on Sept. 22 that would have improved protections for northern Minnesota farmers who receive prevented planting payments – crop insurance payments provided to farmers who are unable to plant their primary cash crop, due to adverse weather conditions. The amendment failed 47 to 52.

Farmers who receive prevented planting payments are required to plant cover crops, which protect and improve soil, on their prevented planting acres. Under the current system, farmers may not access those cover crops for haying or grazing until after Nov. 1, when the ground is often frozen in northern Minnesota. The Dayton Prevented Planting Amendment would have changed that date to Oct. 15.

"I am appalled that my amendment to move this year's prevented planting date to Oct. 15, for farmers in counties with emergency disaster designations, was defeated," said Dayton. "I deeply regret that this common sense way to help beleaguered farmers in northwestern Minnesota was defeated."

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
PENNINGTON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS
SEPTEMBER 13TH, 2005, 10:00 A.M.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Pennington County Board Room in Thief River Falls, MN, Tuesday, September 13th, at 10:00 A.M. Members present: Bob Carlson, Donald Jensen, Oliver "Skip" Swanson, and Charles Naplin. Members absent: Arden "Bud" Comstock.

Lee Meier, Executive Director of the NW MN Housing and Redevelopment Authority, along with Tina Gramer, met with the Board to discuss the levy situation. He said that in addition to the $40,000 levy approved at the previous Board meeting, they would like to ask for an additional $25,000, which would be used exclusively for new construction purposes. If approved this would bring the total levy to $65,000. Motioned by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Jensen, to approve an additional $25,000 for new construction purposes only, thus bringing the total 2006 HRA levy to $65,000. Motion was unanimously carried.

County Engineer Mike Flaagan, along with George Broadwell and Godfred Svir of the County Highway Department, then met with the Board. The first item was the opening of the bids for the motor grader to be purchased in 2006. Two bids were received, one being from Ziegler, Inc. of Crookston, MN, and the other from RDO, Inc. (John Deere) from Grand Forks, ND. The bid amounts, net of the trade-in of a 1990 Caterpillar motor grader, were as follows:

|---|---|
| Ziegler, Inc | $191,210.10 |
| | $165,497.81 |
| | (used < 500 hours) |
| RDO, Inc | $140,580.00 |

After some discussion on the options of used and buybacks, the Board recommended that Mike, George and Godfred discuss the matter further and report back to the Board with their recommendations.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Carlson, and upon vote was unanimously carried.

Resolution

WHEREAS, Contract No. 04002 has in all things been completed, and the County Board being fully advised in the premises,

NOW THEN BE IT RESOLVED that we do hereby accept said completed project for and in behalf of the County of Pennington and authorize final payment as specified herein.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Jensen, and upon vote was unanimously carried.

Resolution

WHEREAS, Contract No. 05001 has in all things been completed, and the County Board being fully advised in the premises,

NOW THEN BE IT RESOLVED, that we do hereby accept said completed project for and in behalf of the County of Pennington and authorize final payment as specified herein.

Mr. Svir then discussed the need for the County to acquire another mower. They would like to get a new 15 foot mower and have received quotes from Anderson Power of Thief River Falls and Tri-Steel of Grand Forks, ND. Net of trade-in, Tri-Steel's bid was approximately $9,700 and Anderson Power's bid was approximately $9,500. Godfred said that either one will require a reverse gear to be put in, adding approximately $500 to the final cost. Motioned by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Swanson, to approve up to $12,000 for the purchase of a 15' replacement mower from Anderson Power. Motion unanimously carried.

Mr. Flaagan then said that he would like to post for the position of Maintenance IV motor grader to replace Roger Kriel, as he would like to hire and have that person trained in before Roger retires at the end of the year. Motioned by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Swanson, to approve the job posting for one Maintenance IV motor grader operator. Motion was unanimously carried.

Mike then mentioned that they would like to clean County Ditch No. 55, but has not received approval from the landowners at this time. He will report on this at a later meeting.

Stan Hruby has contacted Mike and requested the County clean .5 miles of C.D. #44 along Section 24 of Cloverleaf Township. Mike said that he will check the ditch to determine the need before any approvals occur.

Mike then said that the City is going to redo its 10-year Comprehensive Plan, and that he would like to be on the committee. After some discussion, there was a motion by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Swanson, to appoint Commissioners Naplin, Swanson, and County Engineer Flaagan to the City Comprehensive Plan Committee. Motion unanimously carried.

Mike then stated that Ron Lindberg, Public Works Director, has received calls from concerned residents about an abandoned house on North Dewey Ave. It was decided that perhaps the fire department might like to do a controlled burn in that location. Mike will find out more information and report back to the Board on the issue.

The Board then discussed when the Road, Bridge, and Culvert Committee should meet for the semi-annual inspection. It was decided that they will meet on September 28th, 2005 at 8:00 a.m.

The Red River Corridor Meeting will be held on October 20th, 2005 at 7:00 p.m. at the Red Lake Falls Community Center. They will be discussing the Red River Corridor plan for the Oakland Park site.

County Auditor Ken Olson then said he received a letter the Area Agricultural Information Center requesting $6,000 in support. No action was taken by the Board at this time.

Mr. Olson then discussed the rising costs of health insurance for the County. He mentioned that Orrin Bendickson and Dan Weir could come and meet with the Board to discuss possible options for health insurance. The Board thought this would be a good idea and would like to invite them to the next Board meeting on September 27th.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Carlson, and upon vote was unanimously carried.

Resolution

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Performance-Based maintenance Grant Trail Assistance Agreement of the Riverland North Snowmobile Trails in the amount of $12,800 for fiscal year 2006 effective July 1st, 2005 to June 30th, 2006 be approved as presented.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Pennington County Board Chairman and County Auditor be authorized to sign the Snowmobile Trail Grant Agreement on behalf of Pennington County.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Carlson, and upon vote was unanimously carried.

Resolution

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Traditional Snowmobile/Cross Country Ski Grant Agreement for the Wapiti and 4G North snowmobile Trails in the amount of $20,252.38 for fiscal year 2006 effective July 1st, 2005 to June 30th, 2006 be approved as presented.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Pennington County Board Chairman and County Auditor be authorized to sign the Snowmobile Trail Grant Agreement on behalf of Pennington County.

County Engineer Mike Flaagan, along with Godfred Svir, then returned to the Board meeting with their decision on the motor grader bids. They recommended the purchase from RDO, Inc. of the 2006 John Deere 770B at a cost of $140,580, net of the trade-in. Motioned by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Swanson, to accept the bid from RDO, Inc. of $140,580, for the purchase of a 2006 John Deere 770B motor grader. This bid amount includes the trade-in of a 1990 Caterpillar motor grader. Motion was unanimously carried.

Chairman Naplin then presented a letter from the Pollution Control Agency stating that feedlots in this area look fine and there are no concerns at this time.

Mr. Naplin also presented a letter from Betty Wilkins in regards to the Hunters Against Hunger program. She wanted to inform the County of the program and see if there is any county/local interest in it. No action was taken by the Board at this time.

The Board then took up the issue of the 2006 budget and proposed levy. Motioned by Commissioner Carlson, seconded by Commissioner Jensen, to approve the following resolution. Motion was unanimously carried.

Resolution

WHEREAS, the Pennington County Board of Commissioners have reviewed the 2006 budgets submitted by the various departments; and

WHEREAS, the proposed levies have been reduced by the amount to be received from the state of Minnesota for the following: County Program Aid $810,540 (CPA)

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING

The Pennington County Fair Association, Inc. will hold its annual meeting on Monday, October 17, 2005 at 7:30 p.m. at the Pennington County Courthouse meeting room. All members and prospective members are invited to attend.

/s/ Linnae Engo, Secretary

Sentence to Serve crews, city employees and Pennington County Fair Association crews planted several trees at the Pennington County Fairgrounds Tuesday, Sept. 27.

Tree planting takes place on county fairgrounds

by David Hill
Editor

There's a tree at the fairgrounds...well, now there's 35.

Except on its boundaries, the Pennington County Fairgrounds has been rather barren in terms of trees and shrubs. Someone, or several people noticed that there was a need for trees.

Tuesday, Sept. 27, Pennington County Fair Association representatives, City of Thief River Falls employees, and Sentence to Serve crews planted 35 trees on the fairgrounds. All of those trees were donated by local people.

LaVerne Hamre of the Pennington County Fair Association said the experience of getting the trees was quite remarkable. In one afternoon of going from business to business seeking donations for trees on the fairgrounds, he raised $2,500. "Not one person turned me down," said Hamre.

Hamre sought the assistance of the city of Thief River Falls, and the expertise of City Forester Myles Olson. Olson said the city purchased the trees for the fairgrounds from Lee Nursery and then provided staff, time and equipment to help plant the trees.

Olson said they obtained and planted 18 prairie spire ash, seven shamrock linden, eight fall gold ash, and two manicana ash. Most of them ranged in height between seven and 10-feet high.

There will be more changes on the fairgrounds this year. Plans call for the removal of a couple of buildings, so the trees that they were planting Tuesday were planted mostly next to fences.

Hamre said they would like to plant more trees at the fairgrounds. Individuals interested in donating to the cause can contact Hamre, or any Pennington County Fair Association board member.

Pulitzer Prize-winning photographs on display in St. Paul

The largest and most comprehensive exhibition of Pulitzer Prize-winning photographs ever shown in the United States opens at the History Center in St. Paul on Oct. 15. "The Pulitzer Prize Photographs: Capture the Moment," features more than 130 photographs – color and black and white – representative of instantly recognizable historic moments and other lesser known shots from around the world. The exhibit will be on display for a limited time only – through Jan. 15, 2006.

Registration deadline for ACT test Nov. 4

College-bound high school students can take the ACT college admission and placement exam on Dec. 10, 2005, the next national test date. The deadline for postmark or online registration is Nov. 4. The late registration deadline is Nov. 17 (an additional $18 fee is required for late registration). Students can get registration materials from their high school counselor or they can register online on ACT's student Web site (www.actstudent.org). Students can also find the testing location closest to them on this Web site.

The ACT is an achievement test that measures what students have learned in school. The basic ACT exam includes four parts: English, reading, mathematics and science. An optional writing test is also available.

Someday in the future, these ash trees will provide some shade at the Pennington County Fairgrounds. Tuesday, Sept. 27, 35 trees were planted on the fairgrounds.

Sanitation rates approved

Thief River Falls City Council approves sanitation rate adjustments

Not all council representatives approve of new changes

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Sanitation rates will increase for some Thief River Falls residents and decrease for other residents Jan. 1. By a vote of 5-1, the Thief River Falls City Council approved new sanitation rates at its Oct. 11 meeting. Two council members were absent.

"That would recover an additional $31,000 per year to cover an estimated $29,000 per year in expenses. That should hopefully get us through 2007 without coming to you for any rate increases," Public Works Director Ron Lindberg said to the council.

Lindberg added the rates will offset increases in city operational costs as well as in fees from Omega Corporation, Pennington County, and the Grand Forks, N.D., landfill. Between the latter three entities, garbage transfer and disposal costs have increased from $57 to $60.30 per ton this month. In January, those rates are expected to increase again to $62 per ton.

Those changes will mean an increase in sanitation rates for some residents. Customers receiving 75 garbage bags a year will see the highest increase – $1.75 per month. Those receiving 37 and 50 garbage bags a year will see an increase of $0.50 per month. Customers getting 100 garbage bags a year will see an increase of $1 per month.

City sanitation customers using Dumpsters will also see increases in their monthly fees. Those using three-cubic-yard Dumpsters will see an increase from $25 per month to $90.50 per month. Customers using six-cubic-yard Dumpsters will see an increase from $50 per month to $163.50 per month. Those increased fees include a Dumpster rental rate of $8.50 per month.

"Our rates before were too reasonable," Lindberg said.

Additional categories for 350, 400 and 500 garbage bags a year were also included in the event someone chooses not to use a Dumpster due to the increased costs.

While some customers will see sanitation rate increases, others will see decreases in their sanitation rates. Customers receiving 300 garbage bags a year will see a decrease of $10.75 per month. Other rate decreases range from $0.75 to $7.75 per month for users of more than 100 garbage bags each year.

After the council meeting, Lindberg noted that all city sanitation customers paid a fixed cost for the first 100 garbage bags they used in the past. That fixed cost was about $9.92 per month. They also paid for the garbage bags and tipping fees. If they were in a category for more than 100 garbage bags a year, they also paid about $4.96 for each additional set of 100 garbage bags. Starting Jan. 1, those customers who are in a category with more than 100 garbage bags will not pay $4.96 for each additional set.

Those decreases affect approximately 425 customers, according to information provided to the council. A total of approximately 3,712 sanitation customers are affected by sanitation rate increases.

Council member Elvera Cullen said she had an issue with increasing some sanitation rates while

County purchases transfer station scale

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

The Pennington County Board of Commissioners unanimously approved the purchase of a new scale for the Pennington County Solid Waste Transfer Station to weigh incoming and outgoing solid waste trucks. The Solid Waste Transfer Station's existing scale was damaged during a thunder storm and is not in working order.

Scale price quotes were received from Northwest Scale of Fargo, N.D., and Fairbanks-Morris of Duluth. The County Board accepted the quote from Northwest Scale, which was actually the higher estimate of $39,460 to Fairbanks-Morris' estimate of $39,433, to install its scale.

Both of the new scales include a steel driving surface. The old scale, a Fairbanks model, had a concrete surface.

Fairbanks-Morris was forced to raise its initial estimate because its scale would have to be modified to fit into the existing 11-by-70-foot enclosure. The Northwest Scale product dimension-wise is identical to the existing scale.

Another deciding factor for commissioners was the availability of the scales. Northwest Scale's model

Working on the Railroad

With pieces of concrete roadway piled nearby, a Canadian Pacific (CP) Rail employee moved dirt Monday from the Eighth Street railroad crossing to another area. The work is part of an Eighth Street (Highway 1) railroad crossing resurfacing project in which old railroad tracks will be replaced. The improvements will enable trains to travel faster in the city of Thief River Falls. CP Rail workers hoped to have the work finished Wednesday evening (tonight), according to a CP Rail employee. In the meantime, drivers traveling along Eighth Street were greeted with a detour that took them around the crossing. Traffic on Third Street was also affected by the project as traffic detoured there. A three-way stop was placed at the intersection of Third Street and Davis Avenue to compensate for the increased traffic.

School told to start saving more

School District also approves lease agreement for city facilities

by David Hill
Editor

In the past several months, School District 564 has received numerous requests to fund new or expanded programs, but the Board of Education is now being told by its auditor to save more.

Roy Lunde, auditor for the district, said the district's budget was right on track, but it needs to put more into its general fund balance reserves. Currently, the balance in that fund is about $1.5 million or about $634 per pupil unit. Lunde said ideally the District general fund balance reserve should be at about $2.8 million or $1,200 per pupil unit. Lunde explained that amount is about what the District needs to fund operations for two months. He noted that not all that money is on hand due to the nature of state funding, but the District needs about that much, he said, for cash flow.

According to Lunde, the District is pretty much in line with what auditor's are seeing in other Districts. This District might be in better shape, he said, because an excess operating fund levy was approved by voters last November. Quite a few Districts, he said, have been asking voters for an operating fund levy referendum, some are still trying to convince voters that it's needed.

When asked how much the District should be setting aside for the reserve fund, Lunde said it's a process that takes years. He said he thought it would take four to five years to build the fund up to where it should be at. Unfortunately, he noted, the reserve funds have a tendency to go down much faster than they go up.

Last year, the District balanced its budget by cutting roughly $650,000 in expenses, and then taking $700,000 from the reserve fund.

One of the more important items that Lunde said he looks at is the District's budget. "How," he asks, "does your budget compare to your actual results?"

In scrutinizing the budgets and results, Lunde said the District's actual results were within one percent of projected budget revenues and expenses. "Harry did an excellent job of budgeting," said Lunde of Harry Nelson, business manager for the District.

Factors bearing on the future of the District, said Lunde, would include how the District responds to its fund balance decrease, its contracts with non-certified employees, contracts with teachers, and energy costs.

The Board of Education approved a resolution accepting the auditor's report.

Use of City Facilities

The Board of Education discussed and then approved a lease agreement with the City of Thief

Getting Fit Together

Walking together at the arena

Thief River Falls Arena Walking Program turns 20

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

For 20 years, the city of Thief River Falls has offered one of the most simple and inexpensive fitness programs available. Known as Arena Walking, this simple program costs a little more than $2 a month and is open to participants of all ages.

The Thief River Falls arena walking program is entering its 21st year in 2006 and third year in the Ralph Engelstad Arena. The walking program is available for $25 per year for participants under the age of 60 and $20 per year for participants age 60 and up. The Ralph Engelstad Arena is typically open for walking 5:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on weekends. Events like last weekend's gun show and hockey games preempt the walking schedule on occasion.

Beginning a walking program

Northwest Medical Center and Dakota Clinic offer these suggestions for beginning a walking program. Start slow. They recommend starting with only 10 minutes of walking. If 10 minutes seems easy after one week, add five minutes. Keep adding five minutes each week until the program reaches its most beneficial length.

The second suggestion is posture. It is important to walk tall. Walking hunched may be troublesome for back and leg muscles. Northwest Medical Center also recommends drinking plenty of water before and after walking, walk five days per week, work towards a 30 minute program, if walking for weight loss, walk at talking pace for 30-45 minutes, and if walking for cardiovascular fitness, walk three to four days per week at a very fast pace.

While combining recreation and physical fitness, walking is one of the most popular outdoor activities during warm summer months. Conversely, cold winter weather can cause even the most dedicated walkers to take to a warm shelter.

With weather extremes in mind, the Arena Walk program began in 1986 at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. It offered a wide-open area for recreational walkers and runners and more importantly, a warm place to walk during Thief River Falls' cold winter months and humid summer months.

"It's nice to walk in the arena because the weather is controlled," said Curt Quesnell, a frequent arena walking participant. "It's never raining, there's never any bugs, it's never too hot, too cold or too sunny and you get to walk around a beautiful arena."

The walking program, according to Bergland, is most utilized in the winter months, but it does have a fair amount of participation during humid summer months as participants take to the airconditioned arena on humid days. Bergland said participation in the program continues to remain high, with more than 500 memberships.

Walkers will typically have their choice of two walking surfaces within the arena. Each offers its own benefit. The arena concourse (upper

Roseau man faces charges for DWI and criminal vehicular injury after vehicle accident

Accident, first degree driving while intoxicated, driving after revocation – inimical to public safety and criminal vehicular injury: On Sept. 30 at 3:12 p.m., police received a report of an accident in the 1200 block of Main Ave. N. A 1993 Mercury Grand Marquis driven by Chelsey Lee Shanahan of Thief River Falls and a 1999 Chevy pickup truck driven by Travis Ray Austad of Roseau collided. At the time of the accident, Shanahan was northbound on Main Avenue North and attempting to turn east onto 12th Street. According to the report, Austad attempted to go around Shanahan's vehicle on the left side, but his truck collided with her vehicle. Austad's truck then left the roadway and collided with a fence at 1202 and 1206 Main Ave. N. The report noted Shanahan complained of a sore neck. She was treated and released from Northwest Medical Center (NWMC), according to the NWMC nursing director. Austad allegedly fled on foot. Police apprehended him a few blocks away in the impound lot, where he was allegedly hiding. Austad has been charged with first degree criminal driving while intoxicated, driving after revocation – inimical to public safety, and criminal vehicular injury. Austad's vehicle sustained $4,000 in damage, and Shanahan's vehicle sustained $2,500 in damage.

Fourth degree assault: On Oct. 8 at approximately 4 p.m., police were called for assistance in the Northwest Medical Center Emergency Room (ER). While responding to the call, police were notified that Dean Scott Skogstad, 37, Roseau, had left the ER. Police then saw Skogstad walking in the 100 block of Main Ave. S. A police officer allegedly told Skogstad several times that he had to return to the ER with the police officer. Skogstad then allegedly punched the police officer in the head, kneed him and then punched him another time. The police officer wrestled Skogstad to the ground to handcuff him. Skogstad then allegedly bit the police officer in the hand, causing the officer's hand to bleed. Skogstad has been charged with fourth degree assault.

Felony check forgery: On Sept. 2, police received a report of a check forgery at Wells Fargo. James Charlie Garner, 21, Auburndale, Fla., allegedly cashed a $500 forged check. He has been charged with felony check forgery.

Felony theft by check: The following individuals have been charged with felony theft by check. Their names, ages, cities of residence and the amounts of the checks were as follows: Kari Lillian Thompson, 20, Thief River Falls, $1,301.91; Edward Cyril Vacura, 35, Thief River Falls, $850.

Burglary: On Oct. 13 at 2:34 a.m., police received a report of a burglary in the 1100 block of Green Hill Dr. A female resident awoke to a noise in her home, according to the report. She then found someone who didn't belong at her residence inside her home. She yelled at the person, who ran out of the home with the woman's purse. The theft loss is estimated at $50. The incident remains under investigation.

Vehicle theft and recovery: On Oct. 13 at 5:07 p.m., police received a report of a vehicle theft in the 1100 block of Duluth Ave. N. A white 1992 Mercury Sable was stolen. The vehicle was later recovered at 12:01 a.m. Oct. 15 in the municipal parking lot located near the intersection of Fourth Street and LaBree Avenue. The vehicle, which is valued at $2,500, was not damaged. The incident remains under investigation.

Theft by check: Paul Tracy Baker, 38, Fargo, N.D., has been charged with theft by check after allegedly writing $340 in worthless checks.

Forgery: On Oct. 5 at 3:06 p.m., police received a report of a forgery at Wells Fargo. A 16-year-old Thief River Falls female allegedly stole a check from a closed account and then tried to cash it for $150. She has charges pending for forgery.

Underage consumption: On Sept. 27 at 8:55 p.m., a deputy sheriff went to a residence in the 17000 block of 132nd Ave. N.E. to return property seized after an investigation into an assault. While there, he allegedly observed an underage drinking party. The following Thief River Falls residents were cited for underage consumption: Alex Ray Sumner, 18; Joshua Donald Morgan, 19; Stacy Alan Wiseth, 20; Zachary Allen Neva, 19; and Robert Matthew Champagne, 20.

Underage consumption: On Oct. 8 at 1:12 a.m., police received a loud noise complaint regarding an apartment at Country Acres Apartments. The following individuals were cited for underage consumption: Stacy Ann Skoglund, 19, Thief River Falls; Cody Lars Berg, 18, Cavalier, N.D.; Larissa Lynn Kajewski, 18, Thief River Falls; John Donald Hagen, 19, Plummer; Lisa Ann Wigand, 19, Thief River Falls; Joseph Tyler Contreras, 18, Cavalier, N.D.; and Adam Kenneth Ferguson, 18, Thief River Falls. A 17-year-old Thief River Falls female has charges pending for underage consumption.

Possession of alcohol: Through an investigation, police learned underage individuals allegedly had alcohol in a vehicle. At 11:04 p.m. Oct. 8, the vehicle was stopped near the intersection of Third Street and Horace Avenue. Two 12-packs of alcohol were allegedly found in the vehicle. Ryan Scott Olson and Cody Robert Shaun Schindler, both 18 and from Thief River Falls, were cited for possession of alcohol. Two 17-year-old Thief River Falls males have charges pending for possesion of alcohol. The incident remains under investigation.

Theft: On Oct. 9 at 8:25 a.m., the sheriff's department received a report of a theft at Kruse In. Brian Bruce Hower, 44, Grand Forks, N.D., allegedly failed to pay for $83.96 in gasoline. He has been cited for theft. As a result of this case, Hower is under investigation in Polk County, according to the Polk County Sheriff's Department.

Underage consumption: On Oct. 9 at 7:23 p.m., police received three separate complaints pertaining to a vehicle. One caller reported that a person was allegedly driving in the Taco John's parking lot and causing a disturbance. Another caller reported that a person had allegedly pulled over and asked a male individual if he wanted to "get beaten up." A third caller reported someone was "tearing around" the Knight Avenue parking lot in a vehicle. The vehicle was located in the Knight Avenue parking lot. Trace Joseph Hegel, 20, Thief River Falls, was cited for underage consumption.

Theft: On Oct. 10 at 11:48 a.m., police received a report of a theft at the Valley Home construction site. Someone stole TGI engineering trusses. The trusses, which are 14 inches high and 40 feet long, are valued at $3,500. The incident remains under investigation.

Property damage: On Oct. 12 at 8:13 a.m., police received a report of property damage in the 800 block of Dewey Ave. N. All four tires on a 1993 Dodge van were slashed. The van sustained $300 in damage. The incident remains under investigation.

Theft: On Oct. 12 at 7:58 p.m., police received a report of a theft in the 400 block of Markley Ave. S. Someone stole a 14.4-volt yellow and black DeWalt drill with a battery pack from a garage. The theft loss is estimated at $100. The incident remains under investigation.

Accident: On Oct. 13 at 6:13 a.m., police received a report of an accident in the Kmart parking lot. At the time of the accident, Quentin David Schaible of Thief River Falls was driving a 1992 Chevy Lumina when it collided with a pole. The vehicle, which is owned by Bridget Michelle Pierre of Thief River Falls, sustained $2,000 in damage. The pole did not sustain any damage.

Public nuisance: On Oct. 13 at 11:13 p.m., police received a loud noise complaint regarding a residence in the 300 block of St. Paul Ave. S. Steven Jacob Stene, 21, Thief River Falls, was cited for public nuisance.

Possession of a small amount of marijuana: On Oct. 14 at 11:30 a.m., a police officer apprehended someone whom he believed had an outstanding warrant. Upon taking Dylan Peder Hansen, 19, Thief River Falls, to the Law Enforcement Center, it was determined there was no longer a warrant out for Hansen's arrest. Hansen was cited for possession of a small amount of marijuana after a plastic baggie of marijuana was allegedly found in the police squad car.

Underage consumption: On Oct. 15 at 1:56 a.m., police received a report that a 17-year-old Thief River Falls female hadn't returned home from the Lincoln High School homecoming dance. She returned home at 3:21 a.m. Oct. 15. The juvenile has charges pending for underage consumption.

Violation of a restraining order: On Oct. 15 at 11:34 a.m., the sheriff's department received a report of a restraining order violation. Donald George Fanfulik, 48, Thief River Falls, allegedly called and spoke to a woman who has a restraining order filed against him. Fanfulik was cited for violating a restraining order.

Accident: On Oct. 16 at 8:52 p.m., police received a report of an accident near the intersection of Third Street and Knight Avenue. A 2003 Kia Spectra driven by Joshua Mark Hagen of Thief River Falls and a 1992 Chevy pickup truck driven by Louis John Malone of Wadena collided. At the time of the accident, both drivers were westbound on Third Street. According to the report, two kids ran in front of the Hagen vehicle. Hagen stopped his vehicle, and Malone's vehicle then rear-ended the Hagen vehicle. Hagen's vehicle sustained $3,000 in damage, and Malone's vehicle sustained $500 in damage.

Possession of a small amount of marijuana in a motor vehicle: On Oct. 17 at 12:44 a.m., police received a loud noise complaint regarding a vehicle in the 700 block of State Ave. N. Jeremy Charles Wind, 23, Red Lake, was cited for possession of a small amount of marijuana in a motor vehicle.

If readers have any information about the aforementioned crimes or offenses, they are urged to contact the Law Enforcement Center at 681-6161.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

Nearly 3,300 vehicles stopped in second week of HEAT

During the second week of Highway Enforcement of Aggressive Traffic (HEAT), participating law enforcement agencies stopped 3,281 vehicles for various traffic violations and cited 1,340 drivers for speeding. The reporting period was Oct. 3 through 9. The results of the first two weeks are 6,684 vehicle stops and 2,703 speed citations.

"The consistent numbers reflect ongoing, consistent enforcement of all traffic laws, including speed limits," said Col. Mark Dunaski, chief of the Minnesota State Patrol. "We are not going to relax. We are committed to ensuring safety for all on our roads."

The number of vehicle stops and speeding violations in the Twin Cities metro area were 1,053 and 617, respectively. Stops and speed violations for the rest of the state were reported by coordinating State Patrol districts: Brainerd (188 and 49, respectively), Detroit Lakes (92 and 24), Duluth (213 and 60), Mankato (205 and 67), Marshall (391 and 108), Rochester (489 and 160), St. Cloud (329 and 128), Thief River Falls (118 and 62) and Virginia (203 and 65).

The figures represent only HEAT vehicle stops and speed citations, and do not reflect other traffic violations or warnings issued or the results of ongoing, regular traffic enforcement. All traffic citations other than speeding will be reported on a quarterly basis.

HEAT, a year-long $2.5 million federally funded enforcement program, is supported by nearly 1,400 hours of additional weekly traffic enforcement by the State Patrol, county sheriffs' offices and local police departments.

In the five-year period 2000 to 2004, more than 3,000 people were killed in traffic crashes on Minnesota roads; speeding was a factor in 864 of those deaths. Twice as many speed-related fatal crashes occurred in rural areas than in urban areas.

Police animal pound holds 7 animals

The following animals are being held in the police animal pound.

The animals are listed with a description, the date impounded and where they were found:

- On Oct. 8, a white cat was found in the 600 block of Duluth Ave. N. It is being housed in Pen 12.

Females lead in state's record 84 percent seat belt use

Minnesota motorists are buckling up more than ever, the Minnesota Department of Public Safety Office of Traffic Safety (OTS) reported. An August two-week observational survey of nearly 13,000 motorists in 37 counties concluded 84 percent of front-seat vehicle occupants are wearing seat belts, a 2 percentage point gain from last year. The national seat belt use is 82 percent and 75 percent for states with a secondary seat belt law, such as Minnesota.

The survey found females (89 percent belted) are more likely to buckle up than males (80 percent), and drivers are more often belted than their front seat passengers (82 percent).

Cell phone use is 3.67 percent, translating to nearly 14,000 Minnesota motorists dialing and driving at any given hour. OTS said this rate probably could be higher as downtown roads in the Twin Cities were not surveyed. The 2004 national cell phone use rate was 5 percent.

Among vehicle types, Minnesotans are most likely to be belted in sports utility vehicles (87 percent). Pickup truck occupants had the lowest seat belt use at 75 percent, yet had the largest gain in belt use among vehicle types, up from 71 percent last year. Passenger car and van occupant belt use was 86 and 83 percent, respectively.

Youth are still neglecting to buckle up. Of motorists, 16 to 29 years old, 79 percent were belted while motorists 65 years or older have a belt use rate of nearly 90 percent.

The OTS survey also recorded motorcyclist helmet use of 43 percent. The national rate is 48 percent and 38 percent in states without a mandatory helmet law, such as Minnesota.

From 2000 to 2004, there have been 2,511 vehicle occupant traffic deaths in Minnesota and more than half of those killed – 1,330 – were not wearing seat belts. OTS estimates that increasing the belt use rate 10 percentage points from 84 to 94 percent could save 49 lives, prevent more than 400 injuries and save $89 million annually.

Minnesota's belt use was 20 percent in 1986, the first year the survey was conducted.

Bemidji man killed Monday after accident near TRF

A Bemidji man was killed Monday morning in a one-vehicle rollover about three miles south of Thief River Falls. A female passenger was injured in the crash.

Royal David King, 23, was dead at the scene of the accident along Highway 59, near County Road 20, according to the report from the Minnesota State Patrol. Susan Alisha Neadeau, 21, Red Lake, was injured in the crash. She was taken to Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls and was later transferred to Altru Hospital in Grand Forks, N.D. Neadeau was listed in satisfactory condition Tuesday morning, according to an Altru Nursing Services employee.

At the time of the accident, King was driving a 2000 Dodge Stratus southbound on Highway 59. The vehicle went off of the road into the right turn lane to County Road 20, the report indicated. The vehicle continued on the southbound shoulder. King over-corrected, and the vehicle rolled.

Neither King nor Neadeau were wearing seat belts, according to the report. The State Patrol, Pennington County Sheriff's Department, Great Plains EMS and Thief River Falls Fire Department were dispatched to the scene at 5:07 a.m. Monday. The accident remains under investigation.

Sheriff's department investigates two deaths in separate incidents

The Pennington County Sheriff's Department is investigating two deaths in separate incidents over the weekend.

Roger Daniel Wold, 35, Goodridge, was found dead at about 9:30 p.m. Friday at a residence in the city of Goodridge, the sheriff's department report indicated. He had a gunshot wound to the chest, according to Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby. The block and street of the residence were not listed in the sheriff's department report.

In a separate incident, James Thomas Stoltman, 42, Thief River Falls, was found dead at about 5:19 a.m. Saturday at a residence in the 14000 block of 158th St. N.E.

No further information was available for either case. Both incidents remain under investigation, and autopsies are being conducted.

Pedestrian killed, one in custody after Roseau County accident

A pedestrian was killed after an accident with a motor vehicle Sunday morning in Roseau County.

Larry James Lane, 47, was pronounced dead at Roseau Area Hospital, according to the Roseau County Sheriff's Department. The driver of the vehicle is in custody pending formal charges. As of press time, the sheriff's department refused to release the driver's name until charges were filed.

At 12:24 a.m. Sunday, the sheriff's department, Roseau Ambulance, Minnesota State Parol and U.S. Border Patrol were dispatched to the scene six miles northwest of Roseau. No further information was available from the sheriff's department as to where the accident occurred or how it happened.

The case is still under investigation by the sheriff's department, State Patrol and Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension.

New Solum 4-H Club hosts October meeting

The New Solum 4-H Club held its monthly meeting on Sunday, Oct. 9, at 7 p.m., at the club house. The meeting was called to order by Barb Natvik (it is parents month). ### The Times' Wedding and Engagement Announcement Policy

When submitting an announcement, please be advised of our policy regarding weddings and engagements:

• Engagement announcements should be submitted at least 30 days prior to the wedding date.

Wedding write-ups will be published as follows:

• If the wedding took place within six weeks from date of receipt at The Times office, a detailed write-up will be published from information provided, along with a picture, if submitted.

• If the wedding took place from six to 12 weeks before submission to The Times, we will run a brief social announcement or a picture with a short caption stating names of the bride and groom, names and addresses of parents, date and place of wedding and where the couple is residing.

• If the wedding took place from three to six months before submission to The Times, we will run a brief story or short caption under a picture announcing when the wedding took place.

• There will be no publication of weddings after six months have elapsed.

Every effort will be made to publish the wedding write-up within two issues of receipt. Forms are available at The Times office to help in organizing information regarding weddings and engagements.

"Taste of France" scheduled Oct. 24 for NCTC contributors

The Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) Foundation's Annual Contributor Appreciation Event will be held Monday, Oct. 24 at the Swenson House, 1020 Centennial Dr., Thief River Falls. The "Taste of France" event will begin at 6 p.m. with a social hour and light meal of French cuisine.

The annual event is a time for all contributors to receive an official report on the foundation and be personally thanked for their contributions. Entertainment will be provided by Vanessa Martell and the NCTC Fine Arts Department. A program begins at 7 p.m., during which the foundation will honor the following endowments: the Marge and Orin Green Endowment, Gigstad Education Endowment, Duane A. Holland Memorial Endowment, Dr. Juho (Joe) Krepp Memorial Endowment and the Thief River Falls Times Endowment. Contributors are asked to RSVP by calling Michelle Benitt at 681-0777 or e-mailing michelle.benitt@northlandcollege.edu.

For more information on how to contribute to the foundation, contact Bonnie Stewart, executive director, at 681-0751.

Challenger students meet Chee Chee

Four hundred students sat expectantly Oct. 6 in the Challenger Elementary School gym. They were anticipating seeing an author. Chee Chee, who wrote "The Enchanted Garden," shared her passion for stories with the students. While visiting the school, she made two presentations to a total of close to 700 students.

One child asked, "How old do you have to be to write stories?" Chee Chee responded, "How old are you?" The little girl said, "I'm 8 years old." Chee Chee responded, "That is the perfect age to start writing your own stories."

When asked how she started writing, Chee Chee explained that she always told stories even as a young child. As the presentation continued, Chee Chee read a story that she had just written.

For Chee Chee, choosing the correct title is the hardest part of the book process. She challenged students to come up with a good title for the book, and suggested that the students mail her their ideas. The students were excited to help.

Chee Chee has already written 13 stories, but only one has been published. Her next book is going through the publishing process. When a student asked if Chee Chee would come back and visit the school again, she responded, "I will come back anytime you will have me."

Elks Lodge to sponsor essay contest for youth

The Elks Lodge is once again sponsoring an essay contest for youth. The subject topic is "What I Feel When I Look Up At The American Flag."

Eligible participants must be students enrolled in the fifth, sixth, seventh, or eighth grade at the time of the contest. Essay lengths must not exceed 250 words, and must be typed or legibly printed in ink. Essays must be submitted for judging to the Elks Lodge nearest to the address of the entrant on or before Jan. 10, 2006. The participant must be identified by name, grade, school and sponsoring Elks Lodge.

There are two divisions. Division I is for fifth and sixth graders. Division II is for seventh and eighth graders. At the local level, prizes will be $50 for first, $25 for second place, and $25 for third place.

Award winning entries will eligible for competition in the national contest. First, second, and third place for the national essay contest in Divisions I and II will be announced at the Grand Lodge Session in Orlando, Fl., July 9-13. Prizes will be $500 U.S. Savings Bonds for first place, $300 U.S. Savings Bonds for second place, and $200 U.S. Savings Bonds for third place in each division.

For more information about entering an essay in the local contest, contact Marci Lindahl at 218-681-2664 (home), or 218-681-3045 (lodge).

District NARFE meeting held in Fergus Falls

A successful informational and motivational district National Active and Retired Federal Employees Organization (NARFE) meeting was held at the Bigwood Event Center in Fergus Falls on Sept. 26. Eighty-six people from five states, three federations and 15 chapters were in attendance.

The meeting was a kick off for the upcoming year for NARFE and promoted October as chapter month. Emphasis at the meeting were goals for 2005 and 2006, legislation, recruitment and retention, use of publications, service officer responsibilities and health benefits. It stressed the importance of becoming active and committed and working together as a team at the grass roots level.

Speakers included Richard Thissen, Region Five field vice president; Frank Boys, Frank Blake, Ed Keyser, Mary Burkett and Carolyn [illegible], Minnesota Federation [illegible]; Harvey [illegible] and [illegible] North Dakota Federation Officers; Deb Shea, Area Agency on Aging; Suzanne Acton, Blue Cross Blue Shield; Valerie Gravseth, Sen. Mark Dayton's aide; and Sharon Josephson, Rep. Collin Peterson's aide. John Halvorson, aide from Sen. Coleman's office was unable to attend.

Local organizations host Halloween events

It will be a fun and spooky Halloween for local kids and grown-ups this year. They will have an opportunity to go to a haunted house, the Halloween Carnival and/or the Halloween parties hosted by local residents and organizations.

Hilda's Haunted House

Hilda's Haunted House will be open from 6 to 10:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 28 and Saturday, Oct. 29 at the Eagles Club in Thief River Falls. The cost is $5. A portion of the proceeds will go to Girl Scout Troop 412 for its trip to Niagara Falls.

Halloween Carnival

The Thief River Falls Women of Today will host their annual Halloween Carnival Saturday, Oct. 29 from 1 to 4 p.m. at City Auditorium in Thief River Falls. The cost is $1 for three tickets. Tickets are used to play games as well as buy concessions, such as popcorn, hot dogs, pop and water. Some of the games include pumpkin toss, sucker spin and bubblegum bingo, which is a new game this year.

Halloween parties

The Thief River Falls Lions Club will host its 61st annual Halloween parties on Halloween, Oct. 31 at the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls. There is no admission charge for either of these parties, and all young people from the area are invited.

The first Halloween party will be held from 4 to 5:30 p.m. for toddlers through fifth graders. All children and their parents are invited. Parents are urged to bring their children in costume to the party. Costumes will be judged several times during the party, and prizes will be given to the winners. Prizes in the form of $2 bills will be provided by the Lions. Children will be able to play games, and all who participate will receive a prize for each game. Upon arrival, each child will receive a book of tickets for the games and a Halloween bag to be used for their prizes and tricks or treats later as they go door-to-door in their neighborhoods.

The second party will include dancing, activities and a pizza party for all children in sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Pizza and pop will be furnished free to all who attend. This party, also at the Armory, will be held from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Chris Melbye of the Melbye Music Machine will serve as the disc jockey. Drawings for $2 bills will be held from time to time during the evening. Lions members and their spouses will chaperone the event, and school rules apply.

Bothum wedding reception and dance planned for Oct. 22

A wedding reception and dance for Leah (Vigen) and Dallas Bothum will be held on Saturday, Oct. 22, at the Eagles Club in Thief River Falls. The reception will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. The dance will follow from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

During his mission trip to Mexico, Thief River Falls resident Pete Rakozy cut the hair of (from left) "Satan," this man's nickname; Roberto and Pasqual. Rakozy said the men almost cried because they were so thankful for the haircuts. Rakozy spent approximately two years in Mexico as a missionary with the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. ## Operation Support Our Troops fundraiser set for Nov. 3

It's that time of year again…time to donate items for a silent auction and time to bid on items. It's time to come Nov. 3 and enjoy homemade soup, a sandwich, treats and good company with 100 percent of all proceeds going to improve the welfare and morale of U.S. troops.

An Operation Support Our Troops (OSOT) soup and sandwich dinner, and silent auction will be held Thursday, Nov. 3 at the United Methodist Church in Thief River Falls. It will be held from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and then again from 4 to 7 p.m. A freewill offering will be accepted with a suggested donation of $5.

"Last year's auction and meal was a tremendous success for our soldiers, and this year we look forward to creating an even greater success!" said Thief River Falls resident Alicia Haviland, the OSOT local provider and coordinator. "Operation Support Our Troops was originally initiated by military moms and wives. The effort has grown to include a continual nationwide effort which sends care packages to every branch of the armed service throughout the world. OSOT sends a touch, taste and smell of home along with personal messages. If you want your soldier's name added to the OSOT mailing list and have their permission to give it to us, feel free to provide it to me. I will then forward the name and address to the National Operation Support Our Troops database. The soldier will then receive gifts and notes of encouragement and support."

This fundraiser is an opportunity for the community to come together and unite behind the people serving in a wide variety of posts around the world. To date, 400 tons of care packages have been sent to troops in harm's way. The project's donations also are sent to hospitals and recovery centers. The proceeds from this local project have been directly responsible for funding two computers with printers at the Texas-based Brooks Burn Center for soldiers' use. The local project has also provided support for the "Wheels For Warriors" project, which is funding conversion vans especially equipped for the wounded soldiers' needs.

Local residents can participate in this event in a variety of ways:

• Donating items to the silent auction. Drop the item off at the United Methodist Church in downtown Thief River Falls during business hours. All functioning items are acceptable, including handmade items, computer services, gourmet meals, gift certificates, baskets of homegrown items, baskets of special occasion treats, games, baskets of reading material, or treasures that one wishes to share.

• Stitch up neck coolers to send to the troops. Instructions are available at the church office.

• Sponsor a care package – Each box costs approximately $50 to assemble and $20, which includes shipping and customs.

• Donate items to be included in a box. A list of suggested items may be obtained at the United Methodist Church office, or contact Haviland at 681-8450 or lah@mn.cable.net.

• Write a greeting to a soldier. Letters must be written to "Dear Soldier" and will be forwarded to a troop on the OSOT data list. Perhaps the soldier will return a letter, and the letter writer have then established a pen pal who will appreciate the "news from home."

• Volunteer to pack boxes. Contact Haviland to be added to the volunteer list of people who are willing to pack boxes. The packing and shipping of the boxes is under Haviland's direction and is done at the United Methodist Church.

• Eat at the soup and sandwich dinner, and bid on items at the silent auction. Auction bids will be taken all day. Call 681-4388 to keep a bid up to date. Doors are open all day for "browsing." Auction bids close at 7 p.m. Items go to the highest bidder.

To add a soldier to the National OSOT database, contact Alicia Haviland at lah@mncable.net.

Media workshop for native students November 2-5

Native Community Studio, a new journalism workshop for Native American high school students, will be held at the University of North Dakota (UND) in Grand Forks Nov. 2-5. The School of Communication Native Media Center will host this educational event. Workshop presenters will include media professionals and University of North Dakota (UND) faculty members.

Native Community Studio will feature a variety of hands-on activities to introduce students to the field of journalism. Students will use state-of-the-art computer hardware and software in the newly remodeled Native Media Center, 231 O'Kelly Hall, UND.

Native students will write news stories, feature articles and personal columns, and take digital photographs as well as assist in design and layout. The best articles and photos will appear in the Red Nation News, an online newsmagazine also hosted by the Native Media Center.

Students will arrive on the UND campus for a reception on Wednesday, Nov. 2. Full days of educational activities will take place on Thursday, Nov. 3, and Friday, Nov. 4. Students will give presentations and enjoy a farewell lunch on Saturday, Nov. 5.

The workshop will be geared toward high school and tribal college students from American Indian reservations in the region. There will be a limited number of openings, so students and their advisers are encouraged to enroll early.

Students will also have an opportunity to tour UND, which has the largest enrollment of Native American students in the state.

For more information about "Native Community Studio," call the Native Media Center at (701) 777-2478 or (701) 777-6388.

Rakozy serves as a missionary in Mexico

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Thief River Falls resident Pete Rakozy probably didn't think he'd be cutting hair while he served as a missionary, but he did. From November 2003 until Aug. 31, 2005, Rakozy served as a missionary in Mexico.

"I just did it because I wanted to do it," said Rakozy. "I wanted to share with the people the things I've learned from the doctrine of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints."

Rakozy is a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Grand Forks, N.D. Once he decided to go on a mission trip, the prophet and 12 apostles of the church were notified. Through divine revelation, they determined whether Rakozy could go on the mission trip and where he would serve as a missionary. By letter, Rakozy was notified where he was being sent to serve. With the help of his family, he raised the $10,000 needed for his mission trip.

Prior to leaving for Mexico, Rakozy attended classes for two months at the church's missionary training center in Provo, Utah. While in Provo, he learned Spanish from former missionaries.

Once in Mexico, Rakozy served in several cities in the state of Veracruz, including Acayucan and Minatitlan. He described Acayucan as a "green farm town" with landscape similar to Minnesota. Minatitlan, a petroleum city, was like downtown Thief River Falls, but a little larger. Rakozy lived in apartments in each city. Two to four Mormon missionaries usually resided in an apartment.

Rakozy and the other missionaries worked in pairs. About 12 hours each day, they visited members and looked for people to teach, Rakozy said. They read the Book of Mormon and the Bible to residents. Through the missionaries' work, it is hoped the residents would stop drinking and smoking. It is also hoped they will obey the Ten Commandments, enter into a covenant of baptism and maintain that covenant.

The missionaries also completed service work for residents. "If someone needs help with something, we help out," said Rakozy, who noted that included such things as cutting people's hair or cleaning their yards.

The missionaries are abroad for two years and don't return home at all during that time. They are allowed to call their families twice a year – on Christmas and Mother's Day, Rakozy said. The mission president determines how long those phone calls can be. Rakozy was also allowed to e-mail his family every Monday.

While in Mexico, Rakozy didn't go to movies, listen to music or read magazines because he noted that is self-gratification. "We're trying to focus only on the people we're trying to teach and improve their lives," he said.

Rakozy's mission trip included some surprises. "It was a complete cultural shock when I first got down there," Rakozy said. He noted many of the people lived in cement houses in the communities where he served as a missionary. Sewage from some of the communities drained into rivers.

Rakozy recalled one home with aluminum siding where 10 people lived. They had a dirt floor, but also had a big-screen TV and a huge stereo system, he said.

While Rakozy wouldn't mind going on another mission trip, it isn't recommended that Mormons go on more than one mission trip. Instead, they are encouraged to find a spouse and start a family.

Steiner 4-H Club holds monthly meeting

The Steiner 4-H Club held its monthly meeting Sunday, Oct. 9, 2005 at 6:30 p.m., at the Steiner Hall. The meeting was called to order by President Justine Erickson. There was no secretary's report. Roll call was taken with the response of: "Your favorite use of a pumpkin." Many interesting combinations came of this – the favorite with the boys of the club was either target practice or feeding the deer. The treasurer's report was given by Jade Kilen and was approved.

Old business: Introductions were made and new members were welcomed: Dick and Deb Wittenberg, and their daughter Leah. The Pennington County Fair Board Auction went well. Next year, each club may be asked for only two dozen bars. The 4-H Carnival was Oct. 7. Thanks to all that helped out! Steiner covered the popcorn machine and had two games at the carnival: "Robinhood," a bow and arrow game, and a cork gun game, where someone shoots over pop cans. There was a great turnout, and everyone had a great time. The ambassadors helped at the cake walk, too and had lots of fun organizing that. During National 4-H Week, Steiner represented many churches in the area for 4-H Sunday by handing out treats and thanking people for their support of 4-H. Thanks to all adults who helped with the record judging.

New business: Officers were elected, including Leah Wittenberg, team recreation; Matt Schaumburg, president; McKayla Erickson, team recreation; Justine Erickson, vice president; Jade Kilen, reporter; Maura Nelson, team historian – scrapbook; Lorie Erickson, treasurer; Olivia Kilen, team historian – scrapbook; and Lauren Picquet, secretary.

The leadership retreat will be held Oct. 19 and 20 in Lake Bronson. It's for youth sixth grade and up, and rides may be available. Let the Extension Office know if you plan to attend. It costs $10 to attend, and the Leader's Council pays the other $10. Ambassador roadside garbage pickup will be Oct. 15. Sign-up by Oct. 13 at the Extension Office. Marshall County 4-H Horse Camp is scheduled Oct. 21 to 22 in Warren. Contact Kim at the Extension Office to sign up. The awards banquet will be held Sunday, Oct. 23 at 5 p.m. at the Eagles Club. Families are needed to bake potatoes. The potatoes and foil can be picked up at the Extension Office on Thursday, Oct. 20 and sponsors are still needed for some of the awards at the banquet. Cindi Kilen will bring buns and pickles for the club.

Cloverbuds begin Nov. 8 at Challenger Elementary School from 3 to 4:30 p.m. Jump into Action workshops are coming Oct. 29 to Ada. Register by Oct. 18. These are great workshops; all leaders and junior leaders are welcome to attend. Leaders training on "Making Clubs Fun" is Monday, Oct. 17 at 6 p.m. in the boardroom of the Pennington County Courthouse. All leaders and junior leaders were encouraged to attend. Curriculum training will be held in Fergus Falls on Nov. 19; rides are available from Erskine. Contact the Extension Office for more information.

Congratulations to Matt Schaumburg (from Steiner 4-H Club) and Jennifer Holand, who were selected to attend National 4-H Congress in Atlanta. Way to go! The State Horse Show Judging Team is advancing to Denver in January 2006. Good luck!

The Make it with Wool Contest will be held in Fergus Falls on Nov. 19. The County Fair Board is requesting donations for tree planting at the fairgrounds. Being that funds are low, it was voted that this be tabled until after the club does fundraising to increase its funds.

Studies show benefits of mammograms

Most women know that getting a mammogram is an important step they can take to protect their health. Two new studies show just why this breast cancer screening tool is so critical.

One, published in the journal Cancer, shows that, on average, women are being diagnosed with smaller tumors now than in past decades. This is in large part thanks to earlier detection by mammograms. The other study, published in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute (JNCI), finds that women whose breast cancer is first spotted with a mammogram tend to live longer than those who find their breast cancer some other way (by feeling a lump, for instance). And this held true even when the researchers looked at women whose tumors were found at the same stage.

"These findings provide additional support for the importance of adherence to regular screening," said Robert Smith, PhD, director of cancer screening for the American Cancer Society. The American Cancer Society (ACS) recommends that women begin getting yearly mammograms at age 40 if they're at average risk of developing breast cancer. Women at high risk may want to start screening before 40.

Tumor stage important

Although mammograms can't always find every problem in a breast, it's well known among doctors that these x-rays can find smaller tumors than a physical exam can. Finding a small tumor has many advantages; for one thing, a woman who has a small tumor may be eligible for breast-conserving surgery, rather than a mastectomy, to remove it.

But smaller tumors are also more likely to be early-stage tumors, meaning they're less likely to have spread to surrounding tissue or lymph nodes or other parts of the body. Tumor stage can range from Stage 0, the earliest form of breast cancer (called carcinoma in situ), to Stage IV, the most advanced form (where the breast cancer has spread to other organs).

But tumor characteristics can vary even within a stage.

"For example, within stage II disease there is a range from 'barely a Stage II' to 'nearly a Stage III,' Smith explained, and prognosis depends on which end of those extremes one is at.

The research published in Cancer shows that mammograms not only find smaller tumors, but also tumors that are more favorable within their stage, Smith said.

Survival advantage to smaller tumors

In that study, researchers from Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York reviewed the size of breast tumors diagnosed between 1975 and 1999. The information came from SEER (Surveillance, Epidemiology, and End Results), a huge National Cancer Institute database of U.S. cancer statistics.

Tumor size "decreased substantially" over those 25 years, Elena Elkin and colleagues wrote. From 1975-1979, fewer than 10 percent of localized tumors (those confined to the breast) were under 1 centimeter in size. But by 1995-1999, about 25 percent of tumors were that small. Even tumors that had spread beyond the breast into surrounding tissue or lymph nodes got smaller over time. About 20 percent of these more advanced tumors were smaller than 2 centimeters in 1975-1979; by 1995-1999, that proportion was up to 33 percent.

Breast cancer survival also improved over that time period, both for women with localized tumors and for those with more advanced breast cancer. Much of that improvement was due to smaller tumor size, the researchers determined. Especially in women older than 65, smaller tumor size provided a big survival advantage.

The study published in JNCI suggests that there's even more to the story than just improvements in tumor size and stage. In that study, researchers from MD Anderson Cancer Center in Houston tried to compare survival between women who got mammograms and those who didn't, but were diagnosed with the same stage of tumor.

They used data from three large studies conducted in the 1960s and the 1980s, before mammograms were routine. As expected, women who got screened were more likely to be diagnosed with earlier stage tumors. But even when they compared women with the same stage of tumor, those whose tumor was found by a mammogram did better.

Too soon for mammograms to influence treatment

The researchers, led by Donald Berry, PhD, say clinical trials should start collecting information about how a breast cancer was detected so doctors can learn how important this factor may be in predicting a woman's outcome. But it's too soon for treatment decisions to be made based on that information, Smith and other experts say.

The studies Berry and his colleagues used were older and didn't have the same level of detail about the tumors, including the precision concerning size, that is routinely collected today. This information would also include whether the cancer has hormone receptors, for instance, or expresses other biological markers that could influence treatment.

When you take all those factors into account, Smith said, the biggest advantage that mammography offers is that it gives women an opportunity to start treatment earlier.

In an editorial published along with the study, other breast cancer experts from Canada's Princess Margaret Hospital and the University of Toronto say there haven't been enough studies to evaluate whether how a tumor was found should influence treatment. Until more research is done, they say, doctors and patients should rely on the established methods of deciding treatment.

New Breakthrough Technology in Cataract Eye Surgery

Cataract surgery has become one of the most successfully performed surgical procedures in modern medicine. Now there is a new technique for cataract surgery that makes the experience easier and more comfortable for the patient.

The Clear Cornea technique makes an incision 1/8th of an inch long. The opening is so small, that in most cases, no eye patches or sutures are required.

When making this tiny incision, your doctor uses a sharp diamond blade that causes very little trauma to the eye and allows clearer vision more rapidly than with older techniques. Patients can return to normal activities with minimum interruption in their daily routine.

If you or someone you love has signs of cataracts; such as blurred vision or glare, call or visit your local eye care provider and learn more about this new procedure.

With my eyes shut

I always loved going to Grandma and Grandpa's for cookies and milk. My grandma, in my opinion, makes the best chocolate chip cookies. After cookies and milk, we always played cards on her more-than-once painted patio table. Grandma always did her fingernails and spilled nail polish remover, and I could see all the different colors underneath. I never knew its original color.

Even after I moved to Minnesota, I would still dream about being there. The few times I traveled to California, I always asked Grandma to make cookies in advance so they would be ready when I arrived. Even so, my favorite part about Grandma and Grandpa's was Grandpa. I loved the conversations that we had each time we were together. He always had something to say about everything. He always told me about how he wanted so badly to be in the Army that he had one of his friends tell him the colors for the test. He was colorblind. I laughed every time. I loved listening to all his little stories.

My favorite part about Grandpa Al were his jokes. He always tricked me. He always got me with, "Did you take a shower this morning?" Every time I would reply, "Duh, Grandpa." He told me, "You better go put it back." I never caught on. He would also ask me to ask him how he slept last night. I always thought I was being rude if I didn't, so I would. He would answer, "With my eyes shut." He always got me to laugh. I loved him.

Grandma and Grandpa took each of their grandkids on a trip. When they told me they wanted to go to the United Kingdom and wanted to take me with, I was ecstatic. My trip to the United Kingdom was so much fun. My favorite part was not just seeing all the historic landmarks, but being with my grandpa for a full three weeks. I was devastated to hear that he almost wasn't able to come because of his health. I hadn't seen him in so long, and when Grandma and Grandpa picked me up from the airport, I barely recognized Grandpa. He had lost so much weight since his hospitalization; I could have wrapped my arms around him twice. I was scared – I had never seen anybody so sick.

When I was in 10th grade, I was horrified when my dad called to say that Grandpa Al had passed away. I didn't want to believe it. I had never experienced a family member dying. I didn't know how to feel. Everything that was said made me think of him. I couldn't believe it.

The last day of 10th grade, my whole family was at the year-end assembly, except Grandpa Al. My sister, a senior, was part of the Channel 1/2 production. I laughed many times - until they showed the seniors' baby pictures. When they showed my sister's picture, tears fell down my cheeks. There he was, my grandpa Al, holding my sister.

Rummage sale challenges

Last Saturday morning, I was nominated to serve as the cashier at my great aunt's rummage sale. A panel of relatives unanimously confirmed the appointment. Before I knew what hit me, there I sat with a Tupperware tray full of change.

I didn't realize I was in way over my head. I have no background in rummage sale law whatsoever. I only know that there are to be no early sales.

No problem enforcing that provision, I thought, assuming that nothing more than a few kindly Scandanavian ladies would stop by to pick up a dish towel or two for fun.

How wrong I was. Fifteen minutes before opening, a gruff-looking battalion of formidable women clad in single-ply cotton cling-pants swaggered through the door and began to plunder with a vengeance.

"No early sales!" I shouted, but my plea fell on deaf ears. The Rummage Sale Women gathered armloads of pots and pans and piled them at my feet, warning me that if I sold them to anybody else I would be in deep trouble.

I didn't doubt it. This bunch meant business, and they had access to a box full of sharp knives priced at 25 cents apiece.

To salvage a little of my self-respect, I refused to take money until the sale officially opened. By then, there were nine piles of stuff around my chair for which I was responsible.

The clock struck 10 a.m. As I began to add 10 cents for this, 25 cents for that, my attention was diverted, and the piles of stuff at my feet started to disappear.

At that point, the rule of law collapsed and wholesale looting broke out.

A confrontation arose over a plastic strand of ivy. It was priced at a dime. One woman claimed that I was supposed to have saved it for her. Another argued that she had already paid for it.

To buy time, I said, "Wait a minute!" with as much authority as I could muster. Lacking any background in rummage sale jurisprudence, I relied on the Old Testament wisdom of King Solomon as precedent. I would cut the thing in half.

It worked. The women were shamed. The younger one deferred to the older one, who received the plastic ivy intact. Apparently, in the field of rummage sale justice, age comes before heft.

My next case came 30 seconds later. A kindly lady set down a bundle of bath towels priced at $7.50. I took her money, said, "Next!" and came face-to-face with a tough-looking woman bearing an identical bundle of towels, this one priced at 10 cents.

Ten cents for five fluffy towels? I knew that couldn't be right. That sticker had to have been swiped from a tarnished gravy spoon, or a plastic poinsettia wreath, or a half-burnt candle.

"Are you sure that is the right price?" I said, hoping for a smidgen of honesty.

"That's what it says on the sticker," the woman said in a tone of voice that made it obvious she would crack my skull with the nearest cast iron skillet if I challenged her any further.

A minute later, a woman came with a little key chain, priced at a dime, and a clock radio which she claimed must have come with the key chain because the key chain was on top of radio and the radio wasn't priced. So obviously, you get the complete pair for a dime, right?

By now, my integrity and self-respect was gone. "Of course!" I whimpered. Don't clock radios always come with a key chain? I took her warm, sticky dime, stuffed the combo in a bag and said have a nice day.

After the longest 20 minutes of my life, the Rummage Sale Women disappeared as quickly as they had arrived. The room looked like a trailer park after a tornado.

I wandered through the wreckage, dazed and disoriented, determined to never again accept an appointment for which I was so completely unqualified.

Fall round-up is around the corner

by Doug Fjerstad
FBM Instructor, Fosston

When autumn is in the air and we are analyzing our pastures to see how they are going into the winter season, it is important that we do not graze our pastures too tight to inhibit growth in the spring. Stockpiling, a practice that is often overlooked, is where you leave sufficient growth in the fall to help get the pastures off to a good start in the spring.

Several producers have been creep-feeding for the past several weeks. When the pastures lose some of the nutritional value and the cows are getting low in milk, they are choosing to bring in the creep feeders to keep the rate of gain at the highest level possible. Every farm has different circumstances and needs to analyze the situation that will work best for its operation. It is important to keep the calves satisfied at all times.

When should we start feeding hay to the herd? Some producers like to leave feed hay in their pastures to keep the animals out there longer and not force the cows to eat the pastures real tight. We want the cows to go into the winter in good shape and by giving them some good hay along with the pasture feed, it will keep them milking better and their body condition will be better for winter.

Working the cattle again in the fall needs to be done in time for you to anticipate the sale of calves. Fall round-up is a fun time of the year, a time when you can see the calf crop that you have worked so hard to put together come home. I hope everyone has a safe and productive harvest.

PARENTING TIPS
Too Many Toys?

Eventually almost every child will have more toys than he/she can use or more than you have room for. When this happens, your child may drift from one toy to another for only brief or superficial play. One solution to this problem is to put some of the toys away for a while.

When you pack some of the toys away for a while, several things can happen.

- Fewer toys are easier to pick up and put away.
- Fewer toys encourage your child to be more resourceful and inventive in looking for ways to play with the available toys.
- When you rotate the toys, the "new" toys that are coming out of storage will be interesting and fun.

If your child is old enough, he/she can help decide which toys to put away and which ones to bring out. These periodic switches also offer a good opportunity for you to examine the toys. If repairs are needed, make them. If the toy is damaged beyond repair, discard it or salvage whatever may be reusable. A "junk" box of old toy parts can be a treasure chest to an older child who likes to tinker with construction projects.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Name the toys that you are taking out of storage. Ask your child what he/she might do with each thing.

LHS Class of 1940 meets for 65th reunion

The class of 1940, Lincoln High School, Thief River Falls, held its 65th reunion on Friday, Sept. 30, at the Best Western Inn in Thief River Falls.

Registration and reminiscing was held in the afternoon with the banquet following at 5 p.m. Arthur Buringrud welcomed the classmates, spouses and guests. The invocation and benediction was given by Ken Ose. Doris Hostvet Peterson of Grand Rapids, brought greetings and also read correspondence from the many classmates who could not attend the reunion. She also performed an entertaining skit, assisted by Virginia Buringrud. Derek Mosloff of Thief River Falls, a senior at Lincoln High School, entertained the group royally, playing many musical selections on the viola.

A memorial service, presented by Clifford Vigness, followed the program, with Vigness reading the names of each of the 55 departed classmates.

Classmates sending greetings to the class were Mary Baker Cooper, Oakdale, Calif.; Sylvia Christopherson Worth, Allyn, Wash.; Alan Conner, Fountain Hills, Ariz.; Elaine Douglas Dausch, Corral de Tierra, Calif.; Kay Engelstad, Waterloo, Iowa; Carrie Groven Vensland, Pequot Lakes; Carole Hicks Everhart, Aurora, Colo.; Henry Clifford Iverson, Sunburst, Mont.; Mildred Jensen Stone, Portland, Ore.; Lois Jordahl Dahlen, Coon Rapids; John Magnuson, Santa Rose, Calif.; Marquerite "Peg" Simonson Quale, Red Wing; Edna Teigland Brooks, Tucson, Ariz.; and Dagny Tungseth Rolph, Seattle, Wash.

Door prizes were awarded at the end of the program. Rodney Brodin, Arden Hills, received the prize for coming the furthest distance. Dode Votava Wilson was awarded the prize for having the most grandchildren, and Clifford and Catherine Anderson Vigness received the award for having the most great-grandchildren.

Those attending the reunion were Rodney and Marion Brodin, Arden Hills; Doris Hostvet Peterson and son, Chris, Grand Rapids; Art and Virginia Buringrud, Clifford and Catherine Anderson Vigness, Ken and Lillian Ose, Owen Scramstad, Gay and Ruby Warnecke, Emil and Audrey Heieren, Vern and Fern Stenberg, Marion Holmen Wold, Doris Carlson Stromberg, Dode Votava Wilson, all from Thief River Falls, and Berneil Nelson and Tillie Paulson Gebhardt from Crookston.

...My Black Cat

Since the big Halloween holiday is coming up, I was thinking about my black cat and how she would sit on the front steps on Halloween night and watch the trick or treaters come. I think she really enjoyed Halloween night. It was a night she was admired and feared. Some of the trick or treaters would take one look at her and decided to bypass our house entirely, never mind playing any tricks. She was a formidable sight.

I recently came across this column I wrote about my black cat. Here's to Bibsy, may she be happy chasing mice and boy cats whenever she wants, loving up numerous batches of kittens, and sitting on the steps to St. Peter's gate watching people come in. I miss her sometimes, especially at Halloween time.

Yes, I have a cat, but lest you think I am only a cat lover, I also have a dog. My animals are getting on in years. It works out just fine because I am too. We all tend to be a little stiff when we first get up after sitting around for a while, and we all get a little crotchety when we don't get our meals on time. When there is too much noise and activity around us, we often curl up and take a nap to escape from it. We are a lot alike.

My cat is the most independent and reserved of us all. She really does not care what goes on around her as long as it doesn't directly involve her unless she wants it to. She pays very little attention to anyone unless she wants something.

My cat is black. She has a little patch of white on her chest, so we call her Bibs. Actually, I named her Beelzebub because she was quite a little devil when she was a kitten, but that name was too long and no one knew how to spell it anyway.

Sometimes (but rarely) Bibs wants to be petted. Then you just cannot get rid of her. She twines herself around legs and rubs her black cat hair on everyone's pants. She will find your hand no matter where it is and rub her head on it over and over. When she does that, there isn't much a person can do except pet her or scratch the top of her head. I am sure she thinks that is what people's fingers were made for - scratching her.

When she was younger, she used to hate it when people read the paper when she wanted their attention. She would climb on to the table or the couch and park herself right on top of the newspaper and stare into the person's face.

Of course, when she was younger, she would also jump on the cupboards and lick the butter out of the dish, which is why, to this day, I have a cover on my butter dish. Everyone in the house could tell when the cat had been licking the butter - it was all smooth on top - and no one, including me, would eat it, even after all of the smooth part was scraped off. I threw away more butter in those days.

I remember once when she helped herself to the partridge dinner off of a serving plate in the middle of the dining room table when my back was turned. She grabbed two large partridges and ran away with them. Dinner was rationed out from the tiny portions of partridge that were left on the plate that night.

But now she seldom jumps on cupboards or the table. I doubt that it is that she has finally gotten some sense into her head. I rather think it is because she is just too heavy to jump much any more.

Our cat had litters of kittens, too many to count. Then she had a little surgery so she could not have kittens any more and got to be a little heavy to jump much any more. I always fed her correctly - she only had table scraps when she helped herself - but she gained a lot of weight. Actually, she looks like a large black puff ball with legs and a tail sticking out, and the worst part is that she is a short-haired cat. The puff ball is not her fur - it is her.

My cat understands that I do not like her on my bed. She knows that she can take a nap anywhere in the house except on my bed. When she wants her food or water early in the morning, she knows just how to get it without jumping on my bed. She sits quietly beside the head of my bed and stares at me. I can't tell you how many times I have awakened in the morning to find myself face-to-face with staring green cat eyes. Indeed, it is a startling thing! And she knows I will be startled enough to get up and feed her just to keep her from staring at me. The smarty-cat!

Rubert Wolfgram, 82

Thief River Falls - Rubert Wolfgram, 82, died on Wednesday, October 12, at Oakland Park Nursing Home in Thief River Falls.

Funeral services were held on Saturday, October 15, at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Radium, with Rev. Thomas Zeller officiating. Casket bearers included Herb Fuller, Jim Fuller, Raymond Fuller, Marvin Koop, Dale Koop and Myles Koop. Interment was held at Riverside Cemetery, St. Hilaire.

Rubert Lex Wolfgram was born on March 15, 1923, the son of Theophil and Charlotte (Herman) Wolfgram. He was baptized in April, 1923 in Niagara, N.D., and confirmed on August 22, 1937 at St. John's Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls. When Rubert was nine years old, in 1932, the family bought their farm in Rocksbury Township, Pennington County and Rubert attended school in Rocksbury Township.

Rubert lived and worked on the family farm. He loved gardening and sold and gave his vegetables to many people in the area. He also enjoyed woodworking in his later years. Rubert was very musical and could play several instruments, mostly the accordion and mouth organ and enjoyed singing second tenor in church.

He moved to the Highrise in Thief River Falls in 2001 and then to Valley Home in December of 2004 and to Oakland Park Nursing Home in March of 2005.

He was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls until joining Immanuel Lutheran Church at Radium in 2003.

Rubert is survived by one sister, Esther Charlotte Fuller of Thief River 'Falls; six nephews and nieces. He was a good neighbor, relative and friend and will be dearly missed.

He was preceded in death by his parents; brother-in-law, Donald Fuller, and one nephew, Steve Holmes.

Robert R. Olson, 78

Thief River Falls - Robert "Corn" R. Olson, 78, died on Thursday, October 13, 2005 at Northwest Medical Center, CNC Unit, Thief River Falls.

Funeral services were held on Monday, October 17, at Zion Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls, with Rev. Gary Johnson officiating. Casket bearers included Scott Olson, Brian Olson, Larry Gulseth, Tim Olson, Mike Korczak and Rodney Knutson. Honorary casket bearers included Class of 1945; the Hardee's Coffee Club and the Saturday Mini Reunion Group at the American Legion. Interment was held at Greenwood Cemetery, Thief River Falls.

Robert Raymond Olson was born on June 29, 1927 in the dining room of their home on 313 State Avenue to Carl and Mathilda (Stokke) Olson. He was baptized and confirmed at Trinity Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls. He grew up and attended school in Thief River Falls, graduating from Lincoln High School in 1946.

He was a player on the championship Prowler hockey team and also had a Shoeshine business in Thief River Falls. Robert joined the US Navy and was proud of his military service. He served his country from June 14, 1945 until his honorable discharge, August 4, 1946. Robert returned to Thief River Falls and worked as a salesman, selling cigarettes and pharmaceuticals.

He married Gayle Michalek in 1953 at St. Bernard's Catholic Church in Thief River Falls and to this union two children were born. His family moved to California in 1965. Robert then moved to Montana and was an over the road truck driver for many years. He lived in Great Falls, MT for 23 years hauling steel, and then Polson, Mont., where he was a sub contractor hauling mail for many more years. After retiring from truck driving, "Corn" moved back to Thief River Falls in 1998.

"Corn" was active in the Heritage Center, delivering meals and he volunteered to drive people to their doctor appointments. He never missed a Prowler hockey game since moving back. He also enjoyed gambling at the Casino. Fall was "Corn's" favorite time of the year; in his younger days he was a great hunter, who enjoyed duck hunts. During his time in Montana he owned a race horse. He was a member of the VFW and American Legion in Thief River Falls.

Robert is survived by two sons, Scott (Sharon) of Ontario, California, and Brian (Alison) of Hesperia, Calif.; three grandchildren; one brother, Wallace (Sylvia) of Rapid City, S.D.; one sister, Mavis Peterson of Stevens Point, Wis.; and nephews; and many close nieces.

Robert was preceded in death by his parents; two brothers, Clifford and Kife; three sisters, Lilah Christianson, Agnes Gulseth, Ellen Hartley; and one great-niece.

Walter D. Peterson, 74

Goldsboro, N.C. - Walter Dale "Pete" Peterson, 74, died on Sunday morning, October 2, 2005, at Wayne Memorial Hospital in Goldsboro, N.C.

He was born July 11, 1931, in Akeley, the son of Carl and Lilabelle Peterson. He was a graduate of Akeley High School, class of 1949.

"Pete" was dedicated serviceman in the U.S. Air Force for more than 20 years, having attained the rank of MSgt. He served three tours of duty in Vietnam during the war. He also served on Thule, Greenland, Presque Isle Air Force Base, Dow Air Force Base in Bangor, Maine, Kadena Air Force base on Okinawa, Nellis Air Force Base in Las Vegas, Nev., and Reese Air Force Base in Texas. Upon retirement, he remained a loyal veteran by staying in touch with Air Force friends, attending squadron reunions, enjoying as many air shows as he could to see the Thunderbirds.

He was the director of the Outreach Program for the University of Maine at Presque Isle and assisted active duty and veterans with enrollment of college courses. He also was an active member of the Air Force Sergeants Association. He was a loving, caring father and grandfather. Everything he did revolved around his family and friends. He was an avid sportsman, including fishing, hunting, snowmobiling, and golfing. He took pride in his gardening and shared the bounty that was harvested each year.

Walter is survived by his daughter, Kathy Jones and her husband, Bill, of Lewiston, Maine; his sons, Kevin of Goldsboro, N.C., and Karl of Mount Olive, N.C.; his granddaughter, Amanda, (fiancé, Corey), of Auburn, Maine; his grandson, Matthew of Auburn, Maine; his sister, Ruth Sustad of Viking; his brother, George of Brooklyn Park; and his sister Janice Adams and her husband Richard of Weeks Mills, Maine; Kathy Bradshaw, a very close friend to Kevin and Pete, from Clinton, N.C., Ralph and May Jo Wiggins, of Grantham, N.C., and many dear friends.

He was predeceased by his loving wife, Pauline (Hoffses), of Mapleton; his parents, Carl and Lilabelle of Akeley; four brothers, Lewis of Louisville, Kent., Linus of Superior, Wis., Harry "Bud" Peterson of Backus and infant brother Calvin.

Funeral services were held 11a.m. on Saturday October 8, 2005 at the Duncan-Graves Funeral Home in Presque Isle, Maine. Interment was held at Southside Cemetery in Mapleton, Maine. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that donations be sent to help defray funeral expenses in memory of Walter D. "Pete" Peterson, in care of Duncan-Graves Funeral Home, 30 Church St., Presque Isle, Maine 04769

The helmet was too big and they probably couldn't see when they wore it, but students in Konnie Christensen's kindergarten class were more than willing to try on a firefighter's helmet Oct. 12. The students visited the Thief River Falls Fire Department as part of National Fire Prevention Week. Their class from Challenger Elementary School was among the many kindergarten classes in Thief River Falls that learned last week about fire prevention and the jobs firefighters do. Thief River Falls firefighters also talked about fire prevention with kids from Challenger Preschool and Discovery Place last week.

Myrtle T. Olson, 99

Greenbush - Myrtle Theressa Olson, 99, died on Monday, October 10, 2005 at the Greenbush Community Nursing Home in Greenbush.

Funeral services were held on Saturday, October 15 at the United Free Lutheran Church of Greenbush, with Pastor Ken Hart officiating. Interment was held at Zion Lutheran Cemetery of rural Greenbush.

Myrtle Theressa Olson was born on February 1, 1906 in Barnett Township, near Greenbush, to Tom and Mary (Peterson) Nelson. She was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith at Zion Lutheran church and attended school at the District 61 Evergreen School.

Myrtle grew to womanhood in the Greenbush community and following school worked on the family farm, cooked in the threshing fields, worked as a housekeeper in a hotel in Warroad and also worked in both Duluth and Minneapolis for a number of years in housekeeping.

Myrtle was united in marriage to John Olson on July 29, 1936 in Duluth and the two made their home in Cotton for 10 years.

She and John moved to their farm west of Greenbush in 1948 and continued to make their home there until John passed away in 1960. Shortly after John's death, Myrtle built and moved into a house in Greenbush where she resided for a short period before moving to the Twin Cities area. Myrtle retired in 1971 and moved back to the Greenbush community and lived the life of a retiree until moving to the Greenbush community nursing home in 1999.

Myrtle was a member of Zion Lutheran church and Zion Ladies aid. She was very fond of knitting, embroidering and handiwork and especially enjoyed, throughout her life, working on the farm with her animals.

Myrtle is survived by seven nephews; seven nieces; three great-nieces; four great nephews; and many other relatives.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her husband; four brothers, Obert, Arthur, Melvin, and Gehard Nelson; two sisters, Hilda Foss and Hjordis Penas; and one nephew, Robbie Nelson.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q: My wife had a stroke a few years ago and returned to work. Since that time she has struggled to continue working. Even though her stroke was some years ago can she still apply for Social Security disability if she has to stop working?

A: Yes. Questions on the disability application help determine when a disability began, called the disability onset, for SSA purposes. These questions include asking when the illness or injury first started and when the illness or injury prevented the person from being able to work. For example, the date of her stroke would be when your wife's illness first started. Coupled with any work changes such as hours worked, duties performed and any employer subsidiaries, this information is used by the SSA representative to determine the person's date of onset. The onset date is then used in making the decision of whether she is medically disabled for Social Security benefit purposes and when any benefits payable should begin.

Q: My sister is going to adopt a child now receiving Social Security from a biological parent. Will the Social Security end after the adoption becomes final?

A: SSA benefits should continue. Adoption of a child already entitled to benefits does not terminate the child's benefits. As always, this assumes that all other entitlement factors continue to be met. Your sister should file application to be representative payee for the child once legal custody is established. This means that she would receive the SSA benefits on behalf of the child instead of wherever payments are now going.

Q: I get 50 percent disability from the VA. Can I get Social Security disability too?

A: The two programs are separate with different requirements. You can certainly file for SSA disability but would have to meet both the work (insured status) and medical requirements to be found eligible. The fact of having a VA disability rating, no matter what the percentage of disability, does not establish disability for Social Security purposes. If eligible for both, your VA benefits will not lower any Social Security benefits payable. Note that your VA benefits or other income will lower any Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits you might be eligible for.

48 donate blood during Thief River Falls drive

A total of 60 people volunteered to donate blood, 48 were able to give and 64 units were collected during the Thief River Falls' blood drive on Sept. 27. Sixteen donors donated on the automated 2RBC machine, which collects two units of blood at once. Four of the donors gave blood for the first time.

Lisa Moellenkamp, donor recruitment representative for United Blood Services, commented, "This is a clear example of concerned people in this area responding unselfishly to a great need – the need for blood. You can feel pride that these volunteer donors are your friends and neighbors."

Those who assisted with the drive were Kay and Buzz Nelson, Eagles Aerie/Auxiliary, United Methodist Women, McDonald's, Lynda Scholin and Helen Klop. The Eagles provided space to hold the drive. Donations will also help meet the blood needs of many patients in 74 area hospitals served by United Blood Services.

Winslow Chapter 182 Order of the Eastern Star celebrates 100th anniversary

Winslow Chapter 182, Order of the Eastern Star celebrated its 100th anniversary on Friday, Oct. 14, with a dinner at the Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls.

The chapter was named after C.E. Winslow, first worshipful master of the Northern Lodge No. 236 AF & AM, who a few months previously had lost his life in the Iroquois Theater fire in Chicago. Their Charter was issued May 11, 1905, with 30 charter members. Warroad Chapter 194 consolidated with Winslow Chapter on Feb. 11, 1991.

Worthy Grand Matron Ellen Caufman and Worthy Grand Patron Larry Lennon, with nine appointed grand officers, were in attendance. The guest speaker was Keith Kennedy, PGP, Knights Templar Eye Foundation General Grand Chapter Committee member. Remarks were also given by Leo Luettjohan, PGP, Shriners Hospital General Grand Chapter Committee member; and Glen Carlson, PGP and personal secretary to Pat Rasmussen, most worthy grand matron and General Grand Chapter committee member.

Northwest Minnesota's largest gun show, the Thief River Falls Gun Show, was held on Saturday and Sunday at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls. # County purchases transfer station scale will be available and shipped within three weeks. Fairbanks-Morris' model would be delivered in seven weeks.

Crane time to remove the old scale and install the new scale was not included in either bid. Approximately $13,000 of the scale's purchase or installation will be covered by insurance money from the previous scale. Additional funds totalling $4,900 will be used from S.C.O.R.E. (Select Committee on Recycling and the Environment).

All weighing will temporarily be conducted using a scale located at Northern Pride Inc.

Board approves advertising sale of County Compost Facility. Sealed bids will be received until the morning of the Nov. 8 Pennington County Board meeting. Bids will be opened during the Nov. 8 board meeting.

Board approves increase in snowplowing rates. The early October snowfall was a surefire reminder that winter is on its way. With snowfall in mind, the Pennington County Board of Commissioners discussed and approved an increase in Highway Department blading and snowplowing rates.

To help local contractors remain competitive the Pennington County Board of Commissioners approved increases in the Highway Departments blading and snowplowing rates for 2006. County snowplowing rates for businesses have been increased from $60 an hour to $70 and minimum charges increased from $25 to $30.

Pennington County Engineer Mike Flaagan addressed the board about the change. Flaagan reported that Roseau and Red Lake counties have each raised their rates. Roseau County is charging $80 per hour for snowplowing and Red Lake County is charing $63 per hour. Marshall County does not offer snowplowing for hire. Local contractors based in the Thief River Falls area are charging between $59 and $80 per hour for snowplowing.

Most local contractors raised their snowplowing rates to battle an increase in fuel costs. A motion to increase snowplow rates was unanimously carried.

Engineer's items

- The board accepted a petition to clean portions of CD 55, located in sections five, eight, 17 and 20 in Hickory Township.
- Flaagan reported that Dean Philipp wants to petition into the JD 30 ditch system. No action was taken. A joint ditch meeting will be necessary.
- The board continued discussion on replacing a damaged culvert that drains into CD 36 in Sec. 23 of Smiley Township. The jurisdiction of the culvert is still being investigated.
- The board approved advertising within the Highway Department for fulltime-part-time employees.
- Flaagan reported that the soil survey for the Highway Department's cold storage building has been completed. Black dirt will be removed and replaced with gravel this week.

Board approves Thief River Falls Sno-Drifters Snowmobile Club request to change designated snowmobile route. Prior to accepting the route change, the trail followed CR 62 from South Kendall Ave. to U.S. Highway 59 South. The snowmobile club requested the change because of the location of a drainage ditch along CR 62, that poses a danger to snowmobilers.

The Sno-Drifters requested to reroute the trail south at 150th Ave. N.E., one mile to CR 8 (the Challenger Road) and then east one mile to U.S. Highway 59.

The board approved the Programatic Standards for Combination Programs Serving Battered Women, General Crime and Sexual Assault Victims program proposal. According to information submitted to the board, the overall goal of the program is to increase victims' safety and ensure victims have access to services that meet their self-defined needs. Program services should be relevant to the point that exist within the community.

Other items

- The board reappointed Dave Strong, Bob Wald and Arlene Thune to the Board of Adjustments.
- Commissioners were informed that a retirement party for Judge Dennis Murphy will be held on Nov. 4.
- The board accepted a S.C.O.R.E. block payment for 2006 totalling $49,070. Pennington County must match 25 percent of any S.C.O.R.E. funds used.
- Auditor Ken Olson reported that Rural Cellular Corp. has expressed interest in constructing a cell tower in Wyandotte Township.

The next meeting of the Pennington County Board of Commissioners will be Tuesday, Oct. 25, beginning at 5 p.m.

Social security announces 4.1 percent benefit increase

Monthly Social Security and Supplemental Security Income benefits for more than 52 million Americans will increase 4.1 percent in 2006, the Social Security Administration announced last week.

Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits increase automatically each year based on the rise in the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Consumer Price Index for Urban Wage Earners and Clerical Workers (CPI-W), from the third quarter of the prior year to the corresponding period of the current year. This year's increase in the CPI-W was 4.1 percent.

The 4.1 percent Cost-of-Living Adjustment (COLA) will begin with benefits that more than 48 million Social Security beneficiaries receive in January 2006. Increased payments to seven million SSI beneficiaries will begin on Dec. 30.

Some other changes that take effect in January of each year are based on the increase in average wages. Based on that increase, the maximum amount of earnings subject to the Social Security tax (taxable maximum) will increase to $94,200 from $90,000. Of the estimated 159 million workers who will pay Social Security taxes in 2006, about 11.3 million will pay higher taxes as a result of the increase in the taxable maximum in 2006.

It is important to note that no one's Social Security benefit will decrease as a result of the 2006 Medicare Part B premium increase, announced last month. By law, the Part B premium increase cannot be larger than a beneficiary's COLA increase. Information about Medicare changes for 2006 can be found at www.cms.hhs.gov.

Manufacturing and Technology Week to be celebrated

More than 342,000 Minnesota workers are employed by manufacturing companies, according to the Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development (DEED). Each year, local residents honor those companies and workers by observing Manufacturing and Technology Week.

Here in Thief River Falls, the week is observed at the annual manufacturing breakfast, which is scheduled from 7:30 to 9 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 20 at the Best Western Inn. Debra Bultnick, DEED manufacturing industry liaison and Minnesota Precision Manufacturing representative, will speak at the event. Bob Knudsen, general manager of Homark Company in Red Lake Falls, will also speak at the breakfast.

The event is sponsored by the Minnesota WorkForce Center, Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, Northland Community and Technical College, JOBS Inc., Border State Bank, Northern State Bank, Wells Fargo Bank and Unity Bank North.

In 2004, manufacturing accounted for 29 percent of the total private sector employment in northwest Minnesota, according to DEED. In 2004, northwest Minnesota saw a 2.7 percent increase in manufacturing.

River Falls. The lease agreement covers use of the Ralph Engelstad Arena, the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center, the Engelstad Park Tennis courts, the Multi-Events Center Softball and Baseball Complex, and the Thief River Falls Auditorium.

Nelson explained that the "real driver" of the lease expense is the Ralph Engelstad Arena (REA). He added that the lease costs are funded by a lease levy, which means taxpayers pick up the tab. Nelson also said that the city has been "very good to work with and that there have been very few issues."

The District will be leasing the facilities for $90,000 for the period of July 1, 2004 through June 30, 2005; $92,700 for the period of July 1, 2005 through June 30, 2006; and $95,481 for the period of July 1, 2006 through June 30, 2007.

Audio Enhancement

Every classroom at Challenger Elementary School has an audio enhancement system. The system amplifies the voice of the instructor.

Parent and School Board Representative Randy Twistol said he has heard from parents and students that it's a wonderful device.

The effort to put an audio enhancement system in every class began about four years ago. Joyce Kopari, Diedre Nordin, and Kathy Olson, who took the lead role in the project, noted in their presentation to the Board of Education on Monday, that they applied for grants and gifts from foundations, individuals, civic and community groups, and even printed a cookbook. Eventually, they raised over $80,000. To date, the District has invested $77,000 of these funds in this technology.

Kopari, Nordin and Olson believe it has made a difference, at least part of which can be observed in better test results. Initially faced with some reluctance on the part of a few teachers, they said teachers have now enthusiastically embraced the technology and use it every day.

But, there are malfunctions and breakdowns. Monday, Kopari, who is retiring after 35 years of teaching, and Nordin and Olson, asked the Board of Education for support. Eventually, they would like to see a person with the technical skill and knowledge put in charge of the program, which they said has taken them about one hour a week each to cover. They don't want to see the system fall into disrepair because maintenance and replacement costs aren't funded. Warranties, they noted, begin running out in March.

Parental Involvement

The Board of Education took time Monday night to discuss parental information and involvement. The new format to the board discussion item on the agenda, is meant to allow representatives on the Board of Education an opportunity to bring forth any issue they feel might be relevant for all members to discuss. This item was brought forth because of the wide disparity of learning that exists between students entering kindergarten.

Barb Kalinoski believes there is a need to involve more parents in programs that teach proper pre-kindergarten learning techniques. Kalinoski has even offered a resolution to the Minnesota School Boards Association (MSBA) that urges legislators to add class work in child development to Minnesota high school curriculums for the purpose of educating future parents and caregivers of children's intellectual, emotional and physical development.

Other representatives on the Board of Education suggested developing a wide variety of approaches - from developing a pamphlet to creating a new Community Education course.

Kalinoski said that the problem crosses all social and economic boundaries, and the solution will necessarily involve more than just reading to children.

The next meeting of the Board of Education for School District 564 will take place at 6:30 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 24, in the conference room of the District Service Center.

Sanitation rates approved

decreasing others. Cullen voted against the motion. Council members Conrad Holten and Glen Kajewski were absent.

In addition to changing sanitation rates, city leaders have proposed purchasing two large containers for the recycling of plastic, glass, tin and aluminum. They plan to ask Pennington County to pay processing fees to recycle those items.

The council approved a facility use agreement with School District 564. Mayor Dale Wennberg abstained from voting as he is the interim Ralph Engelstad Arena (REA) manager. The lease agreement spans from June 30, 2005 to Aug. 31, 2007. Under the agreement, the school district will lease REA, Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center (HOMCC), the Ole Engelstad Park tennis courts, the Multi Events Center softball and baseball complex, and the Thief River Falls City Auditorium for $90,000 for the 2005-06 school year. The agreement specifies that the lease payments will increase 3 percent for the 2006-07 school year and an additional 3 percent for the 2006-07 school year.

"The school board approved it last night," City Administrator Jodie Torkelson said.

City Council approved a preproposal for funding from the Northwest Minnesota Foundation to update the city's Comprehensive Plan.

"They provide 50 percent of the cost up to a maximum of $25,000," said Community Development Director Mike Moore.

The pre-proposal includes a request for that maximum grant amount of $25,000. Moore noted it was not known how much it would cost to update the Comprehensive Plan, which serves as an advisory document to help city leaders plan for the future development of Thief River Falls. The Ad-Hoc Joint Planning Team, which includes City Council members, Planning Commission members, city division supervisors and representatives from each of the two surrounding townships, has requested proposals from four firms for the plan. The proposals are due Oct. 19 (today).

The council approved a three-month contract extension with Tim Bergland for the sale of advertising at REA and HOMCC. Council member Ken Schmalz voted against the motion. Wennberg abstained from voting as he is the interim REA general manager. Holten and Kajewski were absent.

"Is there any reason this isn't turned over to our events manager?" asked Schmalz.

Council member Harriet Worker responded that all advertising contracts are up for renewal within the next three months. She noted it would be easier to have Bergland continue doing this work while the arenas marketing and events manager gets acquainted with his job.

The arenas marketing and events manager, Gary Martinson, starts his job Oct. 24.

A public hearing will be held Oct. 19 (today) at 7 p.m. at City Hall. The hearing will cover the proposed assessments for the 2005 Street and Utilities Improvement Project.

The next council meeting is scheduled Oct. 25 at 5 p.m. at City Hall.

Rankin to take part in BSU production of Macbeth

Teresa Rankin of Thief River Falls will take part in Bemidji State University's theatre production of "Macbeth." Rankin, a freshman majoring in theatre and English education, plays a witch in the production. The witches are evil prophets that guide Macbeth's destiny with incomplete information regarding his future as king.

Written by William Shakespeare in 1606, "Macbeth" is the last of his four great tragedies. Based on an actual 11th century General, Macbeth receives a prophecy from three sinister witches, and becomes consumed with ambition for the throne of Scotland. When the first of the prophecies comes true, his wife persuades Macbeth to murder the King so he can realize his destiny. The play continues to follow the mayhem, guilt and madness that Macbeth and Lady Macbeth encounter as a result of the murder.

floor) doubles as the upper walking floor, while a shock absorbing rubber floor manufactured by Mondo Flooring, was installed in the basement hallways shortly after construction. Most participants who prefer walking on the upper level note that it is more open, while lower level patrons choose that location specifically for the shock absorbing floor.

Group walking

Walking groups have become popular in recent years, Bergland said on weekdays, typically between 8:30 and 9 a.m. and again over the noon hour.

"You don't have to worry about on-coming cars and there's generally not a lot of traffic," Bergland said. He added that the staff is exploring other potential programs, including classes geared toward walking.

A group that includes residents Debbie Hyland, Joan Ber[illegible] and Curt and Deb Quesnell, walks together five days a week during each's lunch hour. They have walked on a regular basis for the past year and a half. Curt Quesnell, who may be considered the vocal leader of the group, said that walking is a safe and effective form of exercise.

"When you run, you run the risk of pulling muscles, you pull muscles all the time, Quesnell said" "Walking is a low impact form of cardiovascular exercise and you can go back to work after doing it."

Using Quesnell's group as an example, Bergland said some walkers walk for a predetermined time like 30 minutes, while others may try to walk a certain distance. Five laps around the upper concourse or six laps in the basement are approximately a mile in length, though Bergland admits some walkers have argued the accuracy of those distances. He noted that participants also have successfully incorporated stairs into their walking and running programs by alternating laps on the upper and lower levels.

When the arena walking program deputed in 1986, annual dues were $5 to $10 or less than $1 per month. Today, the walking program remains one of the least expensive fitness options available.

Bergland also mentioned that the arena is home to a state of the art fitness center, co-operated by Life Fitness Center. The fitness center includes both weight training and cardiovascular training equipment, but unlike the Life Fitness Center located at Northwest Medical Center, it is geared more towards weight training for the competitive athlete.

Unlimited access to weight training and cardiovascular training equipment is available for $27 per month, from 5 a.m. to 8 p.m. on week days. Bergland said that he hopes the arena can offer more fitness programs like arena walking and weight training, but noted that it wasn't the city's goal to compete with private businesses.

Franklin Middle School Principal Bob Wayne gets some coloring and designs added to his hair during an assembly at the school on Friday.

Prowler Prides spreads to colored hair at FMS

by David Hill

All for a good cause.

I blame Franklin Middle School Principal Bob Wayne and Vice Principal Shane Zutz.

Never, never under-estimate students' determination to have fun and poke fun of their teachers. Of all people, they should know better than to put that kind of challenge before middle school students.

I am not Papa Smurf. After the coloring, there wasn't any gray left in my hair. And, if anyone looked like a Smurf it was Shane Zutz, though Zutz is much too tall.

It all started with the seventh grade team at Franklin Middle School which decided to conduct a walk-a-thon fundraiser for Hurricane Katrina victims. As readers of this newspaper know - the students raised over $18,000, which was donated to the American Red Cross. The eighth graders then collected over 300 pounds of school supplies for victims. Out of respect for what Franklin Middle School students accomplished, and a silly bet posed by Wayne and Zutz, administrators that students couldn't raise more than $3,500, teachers and administrators agreed to have their hair colored blue and gold on Friday by students from the cosmetology department at Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC).

Superintendent Irv Peterson congratulated the students. Reading, writing and math are all important, said Peterson, but so is service to the community.

Peterson, and Principal Wayne told the students they did a super job, and that the victims of Hurricane Katrina are thankful too.

One by one, or in nervous groups of two or three, most of Franklin Middle School's teachers and staff sat down to have their hair colored...or, they were urged, teased, or otherwise cajoled into sitting down.

Diane Rothschadl, cosmetology instructor at NCTC, was impressed with the enthusiasm of the students. "It's a pleasure to be involved," said Rothschadl. In fact, Rothschadl said she felt enriched by the experience.

Fourteen students from the college's cosmetology program participated in the event. The cosmetology program has been in existence at the college for many years and has graduated many students. Rothschadl noted that service learning is part of the requirement.

Fortunately for participants, the coloring was done with a colored spray that could be washed out, so it was good fun for a good cause.

▲ Superintendent Irv Peterson even agreed to having his hair colored.

◀ Urged, teased and otherwise cajoled, Times Editor Dave Hill finally caved in to students who wanted to see his hair colored. Administrators had agreed to have their hair colored blue and gold if students raised over $3,500 for Hurricane Katrina victims. The students raised over $18,000. During the assembly on Friday, several staff, teachers and one editor joined in the fun.

Illegal baiting! Unfair! Someone ought to fine this hunter. Pat Marinello and Joe Field created this decoration just in time for Halloween and deer hunting season. It's located on Sixth Street, just west of Eighth Street in Thief River Falls.

Several Franklin Middle School teachers posed for a photo Friday after their hair was colored during an assembly at the school. Teachers and administrators agreed to allow their hair to be colored blue and gold if students raised over $3,500 for Hurricane Katrina victims. The students raised over $18,000.

Prowlers defend Section 8A True Team swim title

Thief River Falls successfully defended its Section 8A True Team girls high school swim team title Saturday in the 2005 state-qualifying event at Warroad.

The Lacy Knott-coached Prowlers finished the day with 1,106 points, followed by Park Rapids Area with 1,010, Fosston/Bagley 1,008.50, Roseau 921, Perham 830.50, Warroad 536 and Lake of the Woods 130.

Winning the section title will send the entire Thief River Falls squad to the True Team state meet Friday and Saturday at the University of Minnesota Aquatics Center in Minneapolis.

True Team competition is designed to reward schools for overall team strength instead of having one or two individuals score enough points to determine the meet's champion.

The format suited the Prowlers. Their only individual winner was Allyson Helling, who swept the 50 and 100-yard freestyle races.

Thief River Falls again won without the benefit of a diver. Diving isn't permitted in the Franklin Middle School pool, so the Prowlers forfeit those points come meet time. Runner-up Park Rapids Area picked up 74 points in the diving, but it wasn't enough to challenge for the team trophy.

Ashley Leister takes No. 8AA singles title

Ashley Leister played through an ankle injury to win the singles title, and the doubles combination of Sarah Larson-Amanda Hoard joined their Thief River Falls teammate as a sectional qualifier during the individual portion of the North Sub-Section 8AA girls high school tennis tournament, Thursday at the Center Court Fitness Club in Grand Forks, N.D.

The Prowlers advanced to the Section 8AA team tournament semifinals with 7-0 and 4-3 wins over Brainerd and Fergus Falls, respectively, during Wednesday sub-sectional play in Grand Forks.

Top four finishers in the Thursday singles and doubles brackets advanced to the Section 8AA individual competition.

The No. 1-seeded Leister, a senior, received a first round bye, then posted straight-set victories over Cathryn Nelson of Moorhead 6-2, 6-3 in the quarterfinals, Dani Evans of Bemidji 6-0, 6-1 in the semifinals and Nicole Christiansen of Bemidji 6-1, 6-2 in the championship match.

"Ashley's results on Thursday were nothing short of amazing," said Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestad. "She rolled her ankle last Thursday in practice and has had extreme pain while playing since that time. We were able to default her two matches Wednesday because we had already secured four points before her matches began. Going into the first match on Thursday, I thought she would be fortunate to be able to complete one match. She not only completed the match, but she blew all three of her opponents off the court. She controlled the middle of the court very well, and simply overpowered her opponents in every match."

In the few points where Leister was challenged and had to move, the ankle held up and her mobility was good, according to Hanestad. "There is only one explanation for the way that Ashley was able to compete Thursday, and that is prayers were answered," offered Hanestad. "Seeing the pain she was in on Wednesday and then the way she was able to compete on Thursday – I was speechless. On behalf of Ashley, and myself, I would like to thank all of the people who prayed for her."

Larson and Hoard, a pair of juniors, were seeded third. They qualified for the Section 8AA tournament with a 6-4, 6-2 first round win over Jamie Blackburn-Tara Sprague of Detroit Lakes and a come-back 2-6, 6-2, 6-3 quarterfinal victory over Jessie Arett-Emma Hughey of Moorhead.

Second-seeded Ashley Bremseth-Michelle Piekarski of Fergus Falls stopped Larson-Hoard 6-7(1), 6-1, 6-2 in the semifinals, while Whitney Eisel-Laura Stern of Alexandria downed the Prowlers' duo 6-3, 6-1 in the third place match.

"It was really great to have Amanda and Sarah qualify for the section tournament," said Hanestad. "They were very close to winning in the semifinals, but could not win the big points when they really needed them. They were capable of beating any of the other doubles teams, but I think the toll from Wednesday was pretty apparent."

Thief River Falls junior Kassi Sparby lost in first round singles play.

"Kassi was emotionally and mentally drained from the team play," pointed out Hanestad. "We got back to town at midnight Wednesday, and she had to play again Thursday at 8 a.m., which was too much to ask. She lost to a very nice player from Brainerd, and did the best she could do under the circumstances."

A second Thief River Falls doubles entry featuring junior Kelly Hanson and sophomore Mauri Gonsorowski posted an opening round win before being eliminated in the quarterfinals.

"Kelly and Mauri played very well, but you could also see that they were exhausted and had some minor injuries that affected their level of play," explained Hanestad. "It was good for them to get a win in the tournament. They may be the combination we use next year. Their games compliment each other very well, and they really stuck together in their matches."

Section 8AA tournament matches were scheduled to be played in St. Cloud. Tuesday's team draw featured Bemidji vs. Willmar at 4 p.m.; Thief River Falls vs. St. Cloud Tech at 6 p.m.; and the championship match at 8 p.m. Individual competition will be completed today (Wednesday).

"Our team really put it all together Wednesday," said Hanestad, referring to the North Sub-Section 8AA wins over Brainerd and Fergus Falls. "In the big matches during the regular season, invariably we had a bad day at one or two positions and we would lose 4-3. But that was not the case this time. You could feel that the girls were confident they could beat any team in the tournament."

The site also favored the Prowlers, according to Hanestad. "The girls really enjoy playing indoors," he said. "Playing indoors is a big advantage for offensive ball-striking team like ours. The indoor court removes elements like wind and allows big hitters to go for their shots with more consistency and accuracy, which is exactly what our girls did."

A season's worth of hard work paid off in the post-season matches, mentioned Hanestad. "This group of girls has practiced with more intensity and focus than any girls team I have had, and they were rewarded on Wednesday," he said. "We not only won both matches, we dominated. It was never a question in either match whether or not we were going to win."

Lucas Genereux (2) looks to turn the corner against the Duluth Central defense during this second-quarter run. Genereux led all Thief River Falls backs with 124 yards on 20 carries. Thief River Falls was victorious the back-and-forth homecoming contest, 34-27.

Prowlers win homecoming game 34-27...

TRF out-scores Central

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

The 2005 Lincoln High School homecoming football game lived up to its competitive billing as the host Prowlers narrowly defeated a much-improved Duluth Central squad 34-27 at Lowell T. Swenson Field on Friday night. Thief River Falls never trailed while winning its third consecutive contest, thanks to a one-yard, tie-breaking fourth quarter touchdown run by Chad Johnson. The run capped a 13-play, 72-yard drive that also included a 17-yard gain on a fourth down conversion two plays earlier, that moved the Prowlers from the Duluth Central 19- to the 3-yard-line.

Duluth Central's attempt to answer Thief River Falls' score was thwarted by the same Prowler defense that did not force a Duluth Central punt all game. With under two minutes to go and needing only two yards for a first down, Duluth Central quarterback Derek Reder was sacked by Sean Sorteberg for a win-clinching nine-yard loss.

The fact that Friday's contest wasn't decided until the final minutes was no surprise to Thief River Falls head coach Jeff Mumm.

"We knew we were going to get 48 minutes of football, no matter what the score was," Mumm said. "I know the last few years we've have their number and put up a lot of points. Those kids have played very, very hard from start to finish and I wouldn't expect anything else from them."

The Trojans and Prowlers each brought in identical 3-1 conference and 3-3 overall records into the contest and Mumm knew that junior-dominated Duluth Central was a team that should not be taken lightly.

"They have two veteran coaches, two guys who have been in college who have really helped with that," Mumm said. "(Head coach) Chris Vold, who played at Bemidji and coached at University of Minnesota Duluth and (Vince) Repish, who was a defensive coordinator for ever at Minnesota Duluth, before he came over to our side at Superior. When I was in college, he was our defensive coordinator. He's the real deal and they know how to run a football program the right way from the bottom. They are very physical, they're as physical as any team we've seen all year and they compliment that with their skilled kids."

Duluth Central returned the game's opening kickoff to the Thief River Falls 41. The Thief River Falls defense quickly halted Duluth Central's momentum by causing a fumble on the game's first official play from scrimmage. With momentum on its side, Thief River Falls drove 59 yards in seven plays for its first points, as quarterback Michael Forney scored on a one-yard run.

Duluth Central answered with another big kickoff return, this time to the Thief River Falls 33-yard-line. The Trojans needed only four plays to knot the score, 7-7 as 220-pound fullback Michael Primozich blasted his way into the end zone from five yards out.

Thief River Falls moved the ball well on its next possession, marching all the way to the Duluth Central 23-yard-line before a costly holding penalty halted the drive, and two negative yardage plays forced the team's only punt. A solid punt backed up the Duluth Central offense back to its own 12-yard line. Thief River Falls' defense gave some ground on the Spartan's next possession. Duluth Central advanced to the Thief River Falls 35-yard-line, where the Prowler defense made a key fourth and one stop.

The teams again traded scores after the Prowler defensive stand. Thief River Falls capped a 10-play 65-yard drive when Forney completed a seven-yard touchdown pass to Alex Yaggie. The extra point attempt by Tom Loe was no good. Duluth Central only needed one play to tie the game as tailback Noah Pauley scored on a 61-yard run from scrimmage. The PAT snap was mis-handled and the game remained tied at 13.

Using the clock to its advantage, Thief River Falls took 13 plays to drive 63 yards for the final score of the first half. Forney and Yaggie connected for their second touchdown on a four-yard pass and catch. Loe added the extra point and Thief River Falls took a 20-13 lead into the locker room.

It didn't take long for Thief River Falls to expand on its seven point halftime lead. The Prowlers kept the ball on the ground for the first seven plays of a [illegible] yard scoring drive that was capped by Forney's third [illegible]

Northland, Mesabi will be playing for post-season spot

■ Thursday afternoon college football match-up

It will be a playoff atmosphere Thursday when Mesabi Range and Northland square off in a 3 p.m. Minnesota Community College Conference football game at Lowell T. Swenson Field.

The two teams are currently tied for second place behind Vermilion in the Northern Division, where the top two finishers are post-season qualifiers. With the regular season wrapping up the following week, the already-spirited Mesabi Range-Northland rivalry will have even more at stake than just bragging rights and possession of the Pick-and-Shovel Trophy that goes to the winner each year.

Northland stayed in the playoff chase by beating Rainy River 20-14 in overtime Thursday (Oct. 13) at International Falls. The win put the Pioneers at 2-1 in the Northern Division and 4-3 overall.

The second Northern Division overtime game of 2005 for Northland turned out better than the first one – a 33-32 loss at home against Vermilion Oct. 1.

And while it might not have been the Pioneers' finest performance of the year, the final outcome overshadowed any deficiencies, according to Northland head coach Guy Finstrom, who summed it up by simply saying: "We won. In overtime. On the road."

Part of the Pioneers' troubles certainly had to do with the performance by underdog Rainy River. "They (Voyageurs) played hard," offered Finstrom. "You can't take anything away from them."

Rainy River began overtime on offense. The series started with a first down, but ended moments later on an interception.

Northland's overtime offense was a six-play scoring drive that ended with Steve Stene reaching the end zone on a 7-yard run.

It was the second touchdown of the night for Stene, who carried 28 times for 124 yards. Deonte Lewis added a 23-carry, 116-yard night to an offense that rushed for 300 yards.

Prowler defensive end Sean Sorteberg (10) locks onto Duluth Central's most potent weapon, junior running back Noah Pauley during the second quarter of Thief River Falls' homecoming victory over Duluth Central. Pauley was held in check most of the night, gaining 109 yards on nine carries, including a 61-yard touchdown run in the second quarter.

Nordics beat Mustangs 35-7

Marshall County Central closed the first half and opened the second half with touchdown passes as the Nordics beat Red Lake County Central 35-7 in a Friday high school football game at Newfolden that closed out the 2005 regular season for both teams.

With the game tied at 7-7, the Nordics beat the halftime horn with a 59-yard Andy Kragness screen pass to Cameron Peters.

If that didn't break the backs of the Mustangs, then the first play of the second half did when Kragness and Nick Johnson hooked up on a 76-yard touchdown pass.

Both teams brought a 1-5 record into the contest.

"This was another rough game for us," acknowledged Red Lake County Central coach Ethan Marquis. "Marshall County Central played hard and made a few huge plays that really swung the momentum of the game in their favor."

Red Lake County Central opened the year with a 26-0 win over Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke, but finished with six straight losses.

"We played quite evenly in the first half," mentioned Marquis. "In the second, however, it was all-MCC. We were unable to establish any solid offensive drives. Meanwhile, when they had the ball, they controlled it quite well."

The Mustangs' limited offensive output included an 11-carry, 46-yard night for Mikel Magnell and a 9-carry, 33-yard effort by Dale Rystad.

Red Lake County Central defensive leaders were Nathan Whalen with six tackles (one for a loss, one sack and a forced fumble) and Bud Nelson with five tackles (two for a loss and 1.5 sacks).

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke drops 3-2 match to Freeze

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke and the Northern Freeze battled in a five-game high school volleyball match Thursday eventually won by the Marshall County Central/Tri-County cooperative 12-25, 25-10, 23-25, 25-18, 15-13.

"It was a very fun match to watch," said Wolverines coach Jean Schulz. "It could have gone either way."

It was the 17th loss in 19 decisions for the Wolverines, but Schulz liked the effort. "The girls worked real hard," she said.

Northland, Mesabi eye playoff spot

Quarterback Calvin Tolliver was limited to a 1-for-9, 27-yard passing performance.

After taking on Mesabi Range, Northland will close of the schedule with a Saturday, Oct. 29, trip to Hibbing.

The MCCC state playoff semifinals will be Saturday, Nov. 5, when the top teams in the North and South will host the second place teams from the opposite division.

Winners advance to the state championship game Saturday, Nov. 12, at St. Cloud.

"Mesabi will be tough," warned Finstrom. "They have a pretty good team. They're big, fast and strong. They can score, and they've got a good defense."

'05 season ends for winless Blue Devils

Eight Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke turnovers added up to a 55-28 loss at the hands of host East Grand Forks Sacred Heart in Top of the State Conference high school football Friday.

The outcome completed an 0-7 season for the Blue Devils, who will not be part of the Section 8 Nine-Man playoff field.

It was the highest Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke offensive output of the year, but still not enough to compensate for the turnovers.

"We actually played really well," said Blue Devils coach John Wilebski, who watched his team come up empty-handed on two trips inside the Eagles' 5-yard line, and had another pointless visit inside the 15. "If we score on those chances, and eliminate some of the turnovers, we have ourselves a barn-burner," he offered.

Sacred Heart turned early turnovers by the visitors into a 28-8 first quarter lead. It was 42-14 at halftime. Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke did shave two touchdowns off that spread in the third quarter, but the Eagles got those points back down the stretch.

Still, it was a much better showing, pointed out Wilebski, than the Blue Devils had in a 56-6 blowout at the hands of Kittson Central the week before. "We got hammered that night," he acknowledged.

Tim Polansky had a big offensive night in the Blue Devils' finale when he rushed for 98 yards, came up with 102 receiving yards and scored three touchdowns. Brady Olson had 110 yards of offense (59 rushing, 51 receiving), while Kris Klamar added 59 receiving yards to the visitors' offensive numbers.

Tom Fontaine had a five-touchdown game for the winners.

Thief River Falls fullback, Michael Benedict (33) gets some room to run with this second-quarter carry during Friday's homecoming contest against Duluth Central at Lowell T. Swenson Field. Benedict gained 43 yards on 11 carries. Thief River Falls won the contest 34-27.

Firearms safety course a must

Completion of a Hunter Education/Firearms Safety course is a must to purchase a hunting license for anyone born on or after Dec. 31, 1979, according to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

"A previous hunting license, that does not indicate hunter safety training was completed, is no longer enough to buy a new hunting license in Minnesota for anyone born after Dec. 31, 1979," said Capt. Mike Hammer, DNR Education Program coordinator. Hunters born before that date and those with proof of completing the training in another state are not affected.

Hammer said previous license buyers on record as not completing the training were sent a letter in August outlining the requirement. But DNR officials want to make sure everyone has gotten the word.

"We've had indications that some hunters in that age group never completed a Hunter Education/Firearms Safety Training course and were still somehow able to purchase a hunting license in past seasons," Hammer said. "But during the recent extended Legislative session, lawmakers clarified legislation that was passed in 1992 that mandated a person born after Dec. 31, 1979, could not purchase a hunting license without first completing the training and having proof of that training. So, no firearms safety certificate, no hunting license for people in that age group."

Anyone born after Dec. 31, 1979 must have completed a training course in Minnesota or another state before obtaining a license to hunt wild animals by firearms and must have proof of having taken the training.

"When you attempt to purchase your license this year you will be required to show proof of having taken a Firearms Safety/Hunter Education course," Hammer said. "Unfortunately, the 2005 Minnesota Hunting and Trapping Regulations Handbook went to print before the clarification requiring "hard copy" proof of training was made in statute."

Of particular concern to DNR officials are those preparing for the upcoming Firearms Deer Season, which gets underway Nov. 5. "We're encouraging those hunters to complete a hunter education course on line or through home study now," Hammer said. "They can also attend a local hunter education class."

For assistance in locating a class or for assistance in locating proof of having previously taken a Firearms Safety/Hunter Education course in Minnesota, contact the DNR Information Center toll free at 1-888-646-6367. You can also visit the DNR Web site at http://www.dnr.state.mn.us/safety/firearms/index.html.

Otherwise, be sure to bring proof of completing a Firearms Safety/Hunter Education course with you to the license agent this year. Proof of having completed the course can include:

■ A valid Firearms Safety/ Hunter Education certificate from Minnesota or an equivalent certificate from another state.

■ A Minnesota Driver's License or Minnesota Identification card that has a valid Firearms Safety/Hunter Education indicator on the back side of the license/card.

■ A previous hunting license from Minnesota or another state with a valid Firearms Safety/Hunter Education indicator. The 'indicator' is a Firearms Safety Training identification number that appears on the license. Note: a previous license that does not have the indicator is no longer acceptable; and is not acceptable as proof of having completed the required course.

■ Other documentation that you have completed a Firearms Safety/Hunter Education course in Minnesota or another state.

Failing to complete the Firearms Safety/Hunter Education course as required and unlawfully purchasing a license can be a misdemeanor violation with a maximum fine of $1,000. If a wild animal is taken under the license, the penalties can include loss of hunting privileges, loss of firearms, and wildlife restitution costs, in addition to the criminal fine.

DNR program repairs damages

A 2003 law that offers both public and private landowners reimbursement for repairs and restoration to property damaged by illicit off-highway vehicle (OHV) use was extended an extra three years by the 2005 legislature. Applicants now have until July 1, 2008 to make application to the Department of Natural Resources for damage reimbursements.

The OHV damage account makes funds available to repair damage caused by OHVs operating in unauthorized areas. The damage typically includes soil disturbance, soil erosion, rutting or the associated destruction of vegetation or property. The OHV damage account is funded from dedicated OHV revenues and is administered by the DNR's Division of Trails and Waterways out of its area offices located across the state.

Private individuals, public agencies and local governments are all eligible to apply. In order for a claim to be approved, all of the following criteria must be met:

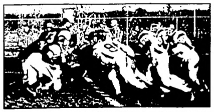
■ Damage must have been caused by the operation of OHVs, which include off highway motorcycles, all-terrain vehicles, or off-road vehicles (4 x 4 trucks).

■ Damage must have occurred after August 1, 2003 in an unpermitted location.

■ Reasonable efforts must have been made to identify responsible parties, to seek restitution for losses and damages incurred, and to prevent reoccurrence or additional damage.

All claims must be supported by documentation confirming these conditions have been met.

To submit a damage account claim, fill out a damage claim form (available on the DNR's Web site) and send it to the DNR Trails and Waterways area office nearest the location where damage occurred. To find the nearest area office, call (651) 297-1151.



Thief River Falls quarterback Michael Forney momentarily disappeared from sight during this quarterback sneak that resulted in the Prowler's first points of the day.

Prowlers top Trojans

down pass of the game, a 32-yard strike to Alex Carlson. Loe's PAT attempt was good, for a 27-13 Prowler lead.

Duluth Central didn't stay down for long. The Trojans began their next possession at their own 38-yard-line and drove 62 yards in 10 plays to cut the lead to seven. Duluth Central's defense stepped up its game on the Prowlers' next possession as Pauley intercepted a Forney pass and returned it to midfield on the second to last play of the third quarter. Duluth Central tied the game nine plays later when Reder scored on an eight-yard run.

The Prowlers began the eventual game-winning drive on their own 28 yard. Thief River Falls kept the ball on the ground for the drive's first 10 plays. The Prowler running game was temporarily halted at the Duluth Central 19-yard line, where Forney again connected with Yaggie, this time on a 16-yard completion, to the Duluth Central three-yard line. That set up Johnson's game-winning run two plays later.

Following his team's victory, Mumm said he had fun coaching in this game.

"Neither team quit, it was fun to be a part of. I'm very proud of that group and there's times, like I just told them, its your time, you guys enjoy it," Mumm said.

"I was proud of the offensive line when the game was like that. We came through and our backs ran hard. That's the key. Our quarterback, Michael (Forney), did a real nice job of finding open receives and we just executed," Mumm said. "It's a fun part of coaching, watching what you work on during the week in practice and have it work out here in the games."

Elaine Thompson • 874-7945

Hello to all my friends. Did you you like the snow we had the first part of the week. It brought back memories of our five children when we got the first snow. They had to go out and play in it and make angels with wings. The snow was nice and clean.

Saturday, the 1st of October, we attended the farewell gathering for Ruben Haugen held at the community center. He is going to be with his family in Texas and California It was a very nice farewell party. Everyone enjoyed the beautiful music and songs and also those who shared. There was a very large crowd there. Ruben sang some of our favorite songs. "Jesus Signed My Pardon", Grandma's Rocking Chair", and "All Worn Out". When he sings those songs the tears come. We shall miss him and his singing very much. We also got to talk to many people we having seen for some time and had a very tasty lunch.

Ruben will be moving right after the sale on Monday, Oct. 10th. He will fly out at 6:00 a.m. to El Paso, Texas, and live with his son and his wife.

Merle and Beulah Bjornrud attended the morning service at the Karlstad Tabernacle on Sunday morning. In the afternoon, they visited at the Karlstad Healthcare Center. From there they visited with Gwen Wikstrom at her home in Karlstad.

Harvey Skyberg was a recent lunch visitor at Curt and Elaine Thompson's.

The Alma Free Lutheran Church in Argyle celebrated the 125th anniversary of the church on Sunday, Oct. 2nd. Everyone sang the theme hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past". This is a very special song for the occasion. Also, Todd and Cara Bjorgaard sang a special hymn, "Amazing Grace" which is a beautiful song.

Our president, Rev. Robert L. Lee of our AFLC, gave a wonderful message. There were several greetings from those who couldn't make it and sent them to the pastor to read. The closing hymn was "On Our Way Rejoicing". The ladies had many Scandinavian goodies and also a lovely decorated anniversary cake which we had with our lunch. It sure was good. Those who wanted to buy some later on we could. Also, there was real good lefse.

Coming up at Bethania Church they are having their Harvest Festival October 9th at 9:30 a.m. with Rev. Eugene Enderlein speaking. The Alma Church is hosting the District Annual meeting on Sunday, October 23 at 2:30 p.m starting with coffee and the business meeting beginning at 4 p.m. followed by supper.

Monday through Wednesday, Oct. 10-12, Pastor Eugene Enderlein spoke on the topic "Stop at the Well" It sounds very interest. Pastor Dennis Gray is serving the Alma Church.

Visitors and luncheon guests at the Merle Bjornrud home Sunday evening were John and Rebecca Anderson and their son Zachary. They are our new neighbors and a beautiful family.

Curtis Thompson stopped in to see Harvey and visit a while on Tuesday. He feels quite well. He goes for his walk every day if the weather is nice so he can go. He loves company and also telephone calls. It does get a little lonely at times, but we are so thankful we have God with us all the time. Isn't it wonderful.

I don't like to write this, but it is my last time I'll write news. It takes up a lot of time and I don't really get much news. I can't keep calling everyone always. Nor do you leave any news at the Sethre's Store or my home. I want to thank those who were faithful in sending me the news.

Sunday, Oct. 9th, Lisa Sparhawt and Kennsey, Isaac and Joshua came over to Grandma and Grandpa Elaine and Curtis and we all went to take in Ruben Haugen's sale. It was good to see such a good turn out at his auction sale. He went back to Texas with his family that were here and will live with them. He is a very well liked person. We will all miss him. He always had a smile for everyone he met. We will miss his beautiful singing and his instrument he played. We will keep in touch.

Curtis Thompson went over to Harvey Skyberg's for awhile on Sunday afternoon.

Pastor Gray stopped in at the Curtis Thompson home on Wednesday forenoon or awhile.

Harvey Skyberg was a recent visitor at the home of Dan and Lynnae Rasmussen.

The happy camper in Block 7 south is really excited today. She was actually giggling when she called to say the trucks of cement where pouring the stuff all the way to the sidewalk. Elsie Lefrooth was almost sure her front yard would be an open grid until next spring, but we are blessed with nice warm weather again and she has assurance of easy getting out this winter.

On Wednesday, Vance and Adrenne Lefrooth visited Elsie Lefrooth. On Sunday, Vance Jr. and Dean and JoAnne Holmstrom were there.

On Tuesday evening, Virginia Dolt of Livermore, Colo. visited her Aunt Pearl Thompson. On Saturday, Glen and Audrey Rasmusson of Walker, Minn. visited Pearl and me before attending the auction sale. Pearl was the dinner guest of Danny and Becky Johnson on Friday evening.

Judy Kleinvachter's great granddaughter Kristin Kleinvachter of Fargo and friend Yancy, also from Fargo, visited Grandma Judy on Sunday. Judy had been to Irene's Cafe earlier together with June Severson and other friends.

Pink ribbon is a powerful symbol

The pink ribbon lapel pin has become a powerful symbol to increase awareness about breast cancer. I doubt, in fact, that despite all the copy-cat efforts, that there isn't anyone out there who doesn't automatically associate pink ribbons with breast cancer awareness.

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month. During this month people will wear a pink ribbon to honor survivors, remember those lost to the disease, and to support the search for a cure. According to the American Cancer Society, in 2003, an estimated 211,300 women will learn they have breast cancer, 1,300 men will get the same news, and 40,200 people are expected to die from the disease.

We encourage you to wear a pink ribbon throughout the month of October and join the American Cancer Society in the fight against breast cancer. We also encourage women to schedule their annual mammograms. Early detection improves your chances of surviving a brush with cancer.

Warm, cozy and safe this winter

The winter heating season is upon us and sounds like it's going to be expensive. While looking for ways to cut back on expenses, don't forget to be safe.

We've all heard the reports, now it's supposed to be official: The Department of Energy's Energy Information Administration (EIA) says natural gas bills this winter will be one-third to one-half higher than last year.

According to the Energy Information Administration (EIA), roughly 55 percent of U.S. homes are heated with natural gas. The EIA is projecting a 61 percent increase in bills

About 7 percent of U.S. homes, primarily concentrated in the Northeast, use heating oil. Homes that rely on heating oil can expect to pay $378, or 32 percent, more than last winter.

Propane is used by about 4 percent of homes primarily in the Midwest. Propane-heated households will pay roughly $325, or 30 percent, more than a year ago.

The 29 percent of homes that are heated by electricity are likely to see the smallest jump in their heating bills this winter, with an average increase of $38, or 5 percent, the report said.

While some of our readers may be hoping for a warm winter, they'd be better off pining their hopes on insulation and doing things to improve conservation in their homes.

Some of our readers may rely on wood stoves. Last week, we printed an advertisement reminding our readers that October is Fire Prevention Month. This event encourages citizens to be safe. On average in the United States, every one-and-a-half minutes a fire is reported to a fire department and every two-and-a-half hours, someone dies in a home fire. Please take time to inspect fireplaces, wood stoves, furnaces, chimney connections and flues. While you're at it, check smoke detectors to make sure they are working properly. Be warm, and be safe.

What are your media habits?

I think we all know that Americans are utilizing media more than ever, and multi-tasking more than ever. Here are a couple of conclusions reached by a student from Ball State University's Middletown Media Studies project which readers may find interesting:

- Americans spend almost two-thirds of their day interacting with one medium or another - more time than eating, sleeping or any other activity.
- And, we spend one-third of that time with multiple media, such as using the Web and watching television at the same time, or using an iPod and reading e-mail. Our television use gobbles up most of our time at 240.9 minutes per day. Twenty years ago, our computer usage might have been described as "minimal" or even so small as to be described as nonexistent. Today, computer usage has climbed in to second place with 135.8 minutes per day.

Proof of our multi-tasking of media was also highlighted by this study. In general, Americans spend up to 18.5 minutes per day on the TV and Web at the same time, 9.8 minutes on TV and e-mail; 9.6 minutes on TV and telephone, 9.0 minutes on TV and computer software; and 8.3 minutes on computer software and music.

Obviously, these are vast generalizations that may not apply to everyone. Nevertheless, such studies force us to look at our habits - in this case, media habits. These habits may indicate new and growing trend. It also obviously raises a host of challenging questions.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Rep. Aaron Peterson's 20 percent Renewable Energy Standard proposal is premature

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to the Oct. 5 editorial comment authored by Rep. Aaron Peterson and titled "20 percent by 2020 proposed." This article was promoting Peterson's proposal for a 20 percent Renewable Energy Standard (RES) by 2020. This proposal would require all utilities to produce 20 percent of energy sold in Minnesota from renewable sources such as wind.

Peterson stated that technology advances have made wind power prices as economic as new coal power, making it the lowest cost way to generate electricity, yet there is still strong opposition from some utility companies. To say that there is strong opposition is not correct. Peterson has missed a very important part of what we in the energy business deal with. While the cost of producing a kilowatt-hour of energy is very close for wind and new coal, the value of energy from these two sources is very different. Coal energy is a steady 24/7 resource; wind is very intermittent. As a result, wind energy has only 50 percent of the value of coal energy, much like the off-peak energy that many of the customers in this area purchase for about one-half of the cost of firm energy. Equal cost with only 50 percent of the value of coal energy does not make wind energy a good economic choice.

I also find it discouraging that Peterson is planning to re-introduce the 20 percent Renewable Energy Source (RES) legislation in March 2006, in spite of a 2005 Minnesota legislatively mandated study on the impact of a 20 percent RES, which will not be completed until November 2006. As we always do, any time that we add generation to our system, we do so only after thorough study by our system planners and engineers. Beginning the process of adding 20 percent renewable wind energy without completing the legislatively mandated study of its impact on the electric system is unwise and counter to how we, in this business, operate. We will ask the Legislature to wait for the results of the study before passing a 20 percent RES. The study should provide many answers about how a 20 percent RES will impact our electric grid's reliability and stability, and how it will impact the cost of energy in Minnesota and the region. It should also tell us if adding 20 percent renewable energy is truly a good idea. Peterson's legislation will once again be premature if introduced in March 2006.

As to the comment that some utilities are opposed to wind energy, I would say that we are in support of any source of energy that provides an economic choice. Frankly, wind is not yet our economic choice.

Yours very truly,
Darryl Tveitbakk
General Manager
Northern Municipal Power Agency

Time to get our priorities straight in MN

To Gov. Tim Pawlenty and Minnesota legislators:

Shame on you for even thinking about a special session for building a stadium for the Minnesota Vikings when all schools are struggling to educate our children.

Why don't you build a brothel and tax the Vikings for use of it like you tax my charities that sell pull-tabs? It's time to get our priorities straight.

Sincerely,
Ron Hamre
Thief River Falls

A few ways to save on high heating prices

by Rep. Brita Sailer

Minnesotans are bracing for a big spike in their heating bills this winter. Natural gas, heating oil and propane prices are all climbing, and the price spike could not have come at a worse time. Most people turn on their heat for the first time in October, and probably did last week with the first few nights of cold weather. CenterPoint Energy, the largest natural gas utility in the state, is charging 77 percent more for natural gas this October than one year ago, the largest single-year jump in prices in 30 years.

The price increases have been linked to several causes. Heating fuel prices closely follow gas prices, which have reached record highs in the last several months. Hurricanes Katrina and Rita severely damaged U.S. oil refineries and disrupted natural gas production. But prices were climbing long before the hurricanes, in part because of increased global demand for petroleum from the growing economies of India and China.

Whatever the cause, there are a few steps folks can take to lower their heating bills and save money this winter. There are also resources available from the state and federal governments for low-income people who can't afford to pay their heating bills. Remember Minnesota's Cold Weather Rule protects residents from getting their heat cut off between Oct. 15 and April 15, provided they frame out a payment plan with their utility. If you know anyone, especially seniors, who you think may be at risk of losing their heat, please connect them with the [illegible]

Keep heating costs low with conservation

These include turning down the thermostat at night and when you're out; the Commerce Department reports that reducing the energy from 70-degrees Fahrenheit to 65-degrees Fahrenheit while at home, and down to 60-degrees Fahrenheit while you're away or sleeping, can save up to 25 percent on your heating bill. Other steps include locating and sealing air leaks around chimneys, plumbing pipes, and ducts; installing a programmable thermostat; getting oil and gas furnaces tuned every year; and replacing older, inefficient furnaces and water heating equipment. For more information, see the Commerce Department's Energy Information Center Web site at www.commerce.state.mn.us (click on "consumer info", then "energy info") or call 1-800-657-3710. Call your local utility to see if it offers home energy audits. Most utilities also offer their customers payment plans to spread the high cost of winter heating over several months.

Weatherization, including insulation and systems repair and replacement, is available free to households at or below 50 percent of the state's medium income. Applications can be requested by contacting the Energy Assistance provider in your county (see below) or downloaded at www.commerce.state.mn.us (click on "heating assistance").

Apply for energy assistance

Assistance is available for low income customers having trouble paying their heating bills. The first place to call is [illegible] energy assistance office at [illegible]. Forms can [illegible] picked up [illegible]

Finally, the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency offers loans and grants to homeowners and landlords (1-800-710-8871).

Consider solar energy alternatives. For some homeowners, solar energy has appealing environmental and economic advantages. Solar energy is completely renewable, produces no harmful greenhouse gases or air pollution, and can pay off financially over the long term. Solar thermal (hot water) systems and solar electricity are both eligible for a 30 percent federal tax credit and a Minnesota sales tax exemption. In addition, the state offers a rebate of $2,000 per Kilowatt-hour of solar electricity installed (up to $10,000), and some utilities offer rebates as well. Solar thermal systems can offset heating fuels or electricity, and are more cost effective than solar electricity. For more information on solar power and rebates, and a list of solar dealers in Minnesota, go to www.commerce.state.mn.us or call 651-296-5175.

If you have comments or questions on these or any other legislative issues, call [illegible]

Coleman bill protects disaster relief volunteers

Senator Norm Coleman has co-sponsored legislation to protect disaster relief volunteers, medical professionals and non-profit organizations from liability and the fear of litigation during disaster recovery efforts. The Good Samaritan Liability Improvement and Volunteer Encouragement (GIVE) Act of 2005 relieves this burden by providing special protections for disaster relief volunteers and those who facilitate their efforts.

"Tragedy can be transformed into triumph through the will of generous people," said Coleman. "The destruction caused by Hurricane Katrina was an unprecedented human tragedy. But at the same time, the outpouring of generosity and desire to help on the part of all Americans has been overwhelming. To stifle their efforts through frivolous lawsuits could leave many who need help without it. While we cannot prevent natural disasters, we can take a step toward eliminating barriers for those who want to assist in the aftermath, and I believe this bill accomplishes that goal."

Specifically, the GIVE Act will provide protection for disaster relief volunteers through the following:

- Disaster relief volunteers will not be held liable for harm caused in carrying out their volunteer activities in connection with disaster relief unless their act constitutes willful, knowing or reckless misconduct;
- Medical and other professionals can volunteer their services for disaster relief services if licensed in their home state regardless of where the declared disaster occurred;
- A disaster relief volunteer is protected from liability even if the volunteer is not working for a specific nonprofit organization;
- Disaster relief volunteers can offer their services without subjecting their business partners or employers to liability;
- Disaster relief volunteers are protected from punitive damages if actions are not willful, knowing or reckless, and non-economic damages are apportioned according to percentage of fault;
- Nonprofit organizations are not liable for the acts or omissions of their volunteers unless the organization has willfully disregarded or is recklessly indifferent to the safety of the individual harmed.

Comprehensive ag bill proposed by Peterson

House Agriculture Committee Ranking Member Collin C. Peterson has introduced a comprehensive bill to provide resources and relief to rural and agricultural communities that have been devastated by Hurricane Katrina and other disasters this year.

"In response to the extraordinary damage done by Hurricane Katrina, the needs for food and farm assistance are unprecedented," Peterson said. "We need to be sure that government agencies are authorized to respond to the immediate and long term needs of those impacted by this and other disasters."

Peterson's proposal would enhance and extend the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) authority to assist families displaced by Hurricane Katrina with disaster food stamps and other food aid. It also provides for crop and livestock loss assistance, emergency conservation programs and other measures to address the agricultural disaster.

"The crop loss provision of the disaster bill will cover losses in certain areas in my district, especially the northwest corner of the state where agriculture disaster has been declared," Peterson added.

The legislation also highlights the need for a permanent standing food and farm disaster authority that would assure affected communities that emergency government assistance will be available when it's needed.

"When a disaster like Hurricane Katrina, floods, or droughts hit, the response needs to be fast and effective," Peterson said. "We need to have a plan in place that looks at short and long term needs to help rural and agricultural communities recover from disasters."

FROM THE PAST

ECHOES

FROM THE UPPER FALLS

The News, John W. Eastman, Publisher — October 19, 1905
Thief River Falls, Red Lake County, Minnesota

Purchased an Engine

"Erskine Echo: President H. H. Finrow and Recorder Charles Latta of the village of Plummer were here Wednesday and purchased our old fire fighting apparatus including the hand pump and hose cart for the small consideration of $150, and will have the same shipped to them just as soon as a suitable building has been erected for it. The people of Plummer are wide awake and believe in having something on hand to combat the fiery fiend.

"The apparatus was of little use to Erskine since the installation of their more up-to-date fire engine. The village now has a fire department that can favorably be compared with any town in the northwest, and its citizens feel justly proud of it. The department is now equipped with a 32 horsepower pump, two hose carts, a complete hook and ladder truck and 150 feet of hose."

About Three Weeks More
Sawmill Will Not Close Until It Freezes

"The sawmill will not close down this year until the river freezes over and that quite probably will not be before three weeks from now. There is an abundant supply of logs in the river, enough to run the mill a good many weeks next spring. There are about 8,000,000 feet in the booms here and about 10,000,000 feet stored in the booms up along the river."

Married Yesterday.

"At the residence of Father Charles yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, occurred the marriage of James Connelly and Miss Katherine McMahon, both of this city. The young people are well and favorably known here and start life with the best wishes of a large circle of friends. The bride is a daughter of Louis McMahon of the East Side, and the groom is a son of Dennis Connelly, the well known town of North farmer." [James Street on the East Side is named for James and Conley Avenue is named for Dennis.]

The Water Pipes Leak
Test Made Monday by the Contractor
Was Not an Official Test and Plant Not Accepted by the City

"Water was pumped into the city water mains Monday, the fire engine being used for this purpose. Several leaks were discovered in different parts of town. The pipe in the bottom of the Red Lake river was also found to leak and this will have to again be taken up and repaired. The test was not an official one by the city, as many had been led to believe, but was made for the benefit of the contractor. It is said that Mr. Patterson, the contractor, has not done any too good work and considerable trouble is anticipated before a final settlement is made.

"The matter of accepting and paying for the sewer system will not be taken up for some time, and Oscar Clausen, the engineer employed by the city, will come up from St. Paul and look over the work before settlement is made. As the city will not be in a position to pay for the sewers until after the money has been received for the sale of the bonds, it will probably be a few weeks before the matter is settled. The work on the sewers has all been completed, but the contractor, Chris Johnson, is in no great rush for his money."

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR

St. Hilaire, Red Lake County, Minnesota — October 21, 1905

News Items

"C. H. Martz got after a flock of wild geese near his place last Tuesday and had the good luck to bag six of them.

"We had quite a respectable sized snow storm last Monday night and the weather has been rather cold ever since.

"Miss Annie Hakinson gave a 'hard times' party for her young friends at the residence of Dr. Blomburgh last evening.

"Leonard Holmes is building a good sized building in the rear of his dwelling in which he will store coal and other articles.

"A. O. Davison, cashier of the Bank of Wylie, was here last Monday looking for a dwelling. The Wylie Bank will go out of business November 1st and Mr. Davison has accepted a position with the Merchants State bank here.

"Rev. and Mrs. B. A. Barker left last Tuesday for Menahga, Minnesota where Mr. Barker will have charge of the Methodist Episcopal church for the coming year. His many friends here wish him success in his new home.

"The sawmill will run until it freezes up, says Manager Evans. The demand for lumber is very good and as long as the river keeps open the mill will keep at work.

"The men on the sorting platform got wet during the snow storm last Tuesday morning and quit at 4 a.m. and the balance of the crew also quit, losing a couple of hours."

Lumber Goes East

"When the mill was built here in 1897, it was thought that all of the lumber cut would have to be sold in northwestern Minnesota and North Dakota. Previous to that time nearly all of the lumber used here was shipped from Minneapolis and it was not considered probable that lumber would go from here in that direction. Times, however, have changed and the greater part of the lumber shipped from here goes to Minneapolis and beyond. Quite a large shipment was recently made to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and orders from Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City are common. Shipments are made where the freight rate is nearly ten dollars a thousand feet. It will only be a few years more when the lumber business will be a thing of the past in Minnesota and it will all have to be shipped from the coast."

Out in Society

From The Thief River Falls Times
October 16, 1930

Celebrates Birthday

"Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hustad were hosts at a six o'clock supper at their home on Wednesday evening of last week when they entertained in honor of their granddaughter, Mary Anne, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Greendahl, who celebrated her second birthday anniversary. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Greendahl and daughter, Mary Anne, Miss Christine Clausen and Miss Pearl Hustad."

Lute Fisk Supper

"The lute-fisk super served early each fall by the Zion church has gotten to be an annual event looked forward to by all who relish this Norse dish or who otherwise enjoy a real good meal of other victuals. Remember the date, Friday evening, October 24, 5:30 o'clock. Come early. Usual price."

St. Hilaire
Hard Times Party

"The sophomore class of the local high school were hosts Friday evening to the faculty members, freshmen, juniors and seniors when they entertained at a Hard Times party. A good program was given at 8 o'clock, the main feature being the orchestra, playing under the name of the 'St. Hilaire Racketeers.' The rest of the evening was devoted to playing 'Cootie'. Lunch was served at 10 o'clock."

Methodist-Presbyterian Church
Will S. Emory, Pastor

"Sunday: Church school, 9:45 a.m.

"Divine worship, 11 a.m.

"Young Peoples service, 7 p.m.

"Evening service, 7:45 p.m. Subject: 'Religion is Friendly.'

"Subject of sermon Sunday evening: 'The Ambulance Corps.'"

Trinity Lutheran Church
R. M. Fjelstad, Pastor

"Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Special choir anthem. Sermon subject: 'Some Proofs of the Deity of Christ.' In the evening at 7:45, the pastor will begin a series of special evening sermons throughout the winter on Christian Fundamentals. The subject for next Sunday evening will be, 'The Bible, Our Chart and Compass.' The Junior choir will sing.

"The week: Tuesday at 8 p.m., social meeting of the Luther League.

"Wednesday afternoon, religious instruction of grade pupils.

"Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Church Night.

"Thursday at 7 and 8: Junior and Senior Choir rehearsals.

"Saturday at 10 a.m. Confirmation class.

"Bazaar and Food Sale by Trinity Ladies Aid in the church parlors during the afternoon.

"A cordial welcome to all."

High School Progress
Feature That!

"Toothless the First: 'What's the matter with Howard's right foot?' Toothless the Second: 'Why? What makes you think it ain't in working condition?' Toothless the First: 'Didn't you notice in the Pepster he is kicking the football with his left foot?' (What's the matter with Aanstad?)

"David Belcher: 'Will somebody make a motion for the meeting to adjourn?' Frosh: 'I adjourn it.'

"Becoming tired of the conventional and dignified high school attire, one freshman girl rolled her socks after school, hoping that she would encounter no one of importance on her way home."

FROM THE PAGES OF THE TIMES

Halloween Festival Planned By Lions For Monday, Oct. 31

"The Thief River Falls Lions club again will sponsor its annual community Halloween festival Monday, October 31, Sig Quam, president, announced today. Heading the committee on arrangements are John Peterson, Morris Howick, and Ted Kusmak. The festival, the committee stated, will follow the pattern established during the past few years, opening at 4 o'clock in the afternoon with a free movie show in the Lincoln high school auditorium for children of pre-kindergarten age through the fourth grade, following which treats will be given the youngsters.

"A costume parade through the business district will get under way at the arena at 7 o'clock, and will wind up at the Lincoln auditorium, where a second movie program will be given for pupils from the fifth through eighth grades and treats also will be distributed. Children in costumes are asked to report to the arena at 6:45, where the costumes will be judged preceding the parade.

"Teenage students of grades nine through 12, will be entertained at a dance tentatively set for the municipal auditorium beginning at 9 o'clock."

County Woman Wins $550 Cash In Contest

"Mrs. Roy V. Nelson, wife of a farmer in the Goodridge area, this week received a $550 cash prize by virtue of winning the Prizeword Pete contest sponsored by the Minneapolis Sunday Tribune. One of the five solutions submitted by Mrs. nelson proved to be the only correct one among 102,670 sent in last week. The contest is based on a variation of the long-popular crossword puzzle, and no correct answer has been received in any of the preceding four contests, bringing the accumulated prize money to $550.

"Mrs. Nelson said most of the money would be used to pay bills, with part to be used to buy a few things for her seven children, including James, 7; Leland, 6; Roger, 5; Jacqueline, 3; Steve, 2; Marilyn, 1; and Jeffrey, 3 months.

"One of two other entries who almost shared in the prize money, getting only one word wrong was Mrs. Ethel Fournier of Oklee."

City Parking Lot Is Blacktopped

"A decided improvement in local car parking facilities was made late last week when a city crew applied a heavy blacktop surface to the municipal parking lot on the east side of LaBree avenue at First street. The lot across the street, also owned by the city, is not expected to be blacktopped until next year, due to the lateness of the season."

Firemen To Stage 61st Annual Ball Friday Evening

"Believed to be the oldest social event in the Thief River Falls community, the annual firemen's dance will be staged for the 61st time in the municipal auditorium Friday evening, October 21, Fire Chief Roy Langevin announced today. Music will be supplied by Aaseby's Band, and two door prizes and a grand prize will be awarded in the course of the evening.

"Admission will be free to students upon presentation of their high school activity tickets, Langevin added."

Permit for mega fertilizer facility approved

North Township supervisors approve rezoning, conditional use permit for Northwest Grain facility

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Despite strong opposition from nearby landowners, the North Township Board of Supervisors unanimously approved rezoning a tract of land in section 21, North Township from urban/residential to industrial. The township board also approved a conditional use permit, which will allow Northwest Grain to construct a mega fertilizer plant on the 27 acre property.

Northwest Grain first presented plans to construct its facility to Township residents in September during a North Township Planning Commission meeting. By a three to two vote, the North Township Planning Commission recommended that the North Township Board of Supervisors rezone a portion of North Township Section 21 from urban/residential to industrial.

Plans call for Northwest Grain, a local co-operative and division of Cenex Harvest States, to construct a 24,000-ton capacity mega fertilizer plant. The large fertilizer plant would serve as both a storage facility for mixed dry fertilizer, chemicals and seeds, and for Northwest Grain offices.

Northwest Grain general manager Tim Miller made it clear that nothing would be manufactured in the fertilizer plant.

"We're not manufacturing anything in these warehouses," Miller said. "Dry fertilizer products are brought in by train, mixed and returned to the field or to another storage facility by truck."

Miller also presented an artists conceptual drawing and slides of existing facilities to give residents and idea of what the facility will look like and what proven safety measures will be taken.

Like the Sept. 26 meeting, several residents, whose property lies in close proximity to the proposed facility, were in attendance to voice concerns over potential hazards associated with constructing the fertilizer plant in a residential area.

Concerns from residents varied from the distance the plant will be from wells, the amount of dust that typically escapes from rail cars and the concern over the time it takes to load rail cars.

Miller responded that he didn't know off hand how far the facility needed to be from existing wells. In response to other concerns, Miller stated that very little dust can escape from the bottom of the railcars; the space between the bottom of cars and the rail is less than 18 inches; and the typical 60-to-70-car train will be unloaded within 12 hours.

During the Sept. 26 meeting, Miller stated that several locations were considered for construction of the plant. In response to questions as to why a less residential location was not chosen, Miller stated, "We are in Thief River Falls right now and we are dual served by the CP (Canadian Pacific) and the BNSF (Burlington Northern-Santa Fe) railroads. We want to continue to be dual served. If we go south beyond the city limits, we're only served by the BN, if we go north, we're only served by the CP. The way the rail*road access is, this is the best spot.*"

LHS Choir prepares for musical journey

For nine months during the school year of 2005-2006 the 186-member choir program at Lincoln High School will be taking a cultural, historical, and musical journey. This journey will expose them to three minority groups that make up part of this country. The African-American, Jewish, and American Indian groups will be woven throughout the choir curriculum the entire year.

The "Woven Voices, Woven Threads" production will take place on May 21 and 22, 2006 in Thief River Falls. The show will then be taken on the Concert Choir June tour to the East Coast. Two years ago, the "Looking Back to Remember" show along with Guest Artists Dr. Boyer, Patricia Brown, and Ahanti Young, traveled to Harlem and Princeton, New Jersey. This year, the curriculum will focus on the early days of their people and the trials and tribulations that each one faced. Presenters will talk about how music and other art forms fit into these groups and how the various sounds are produced by the different groups.

"Whether it is the Gospel sound of the black people, the Hebrew text and sounds of Jewish people, or the singing and drumming of the American Indians," said Director Darcy Reese, "I believe that my singers need to be exposed to it and to experience it. Understanding these three groups is crucial to the success of the curriculum. Once the students understand the three groups they will be able to perform their music in a much deeper and meaningful way. They will truly have faces and stories to place on each song and dance, which will enable them to sing and dance with the heart and soul that each of the pieces was meant to be performed. This will be a living history lesson with the end result being an "edutaining" event in May and June."

Reese is confident that the experts chosen to present this information will convey an important message. "I feel that I have picked the experts in each of the groups," said Reese.

The following is a list of professional artists that have said yes to being a part of the journey. Most of Butterflies have a symbolic meaning in many cultures. To many American Indians, butterflies represent a life in transition, change or transformation.

Life altering changes are nothing new to Delana Smith. She overcame some "tough times" when she was younger, adopted traditional ways of her Red Lake Nation heritage, and became Miss Indian World in April of 2004. Last week, Smith shared her knowledge with Lincoln High School choir students who are embarking on what may be a life-altering experience of their own called "Woven Voices, Woven Threads."

Delana Smith is the daughter of Paul and Norine Smith. She grew up in Maple Grove, but her family moved to Red Lake when she was 19. Currently, she is a Head Start teacher at Red Lake, but she sometimes takes time in her busy schedule to share her knowledge and artistry with others.

Her artistry and knowledge of dance and American Indian tradition and culture was what captivated the attention of students last week at Lincoln High School.

Manufacturers' economic power add to influence

by David Hill

"Never underestimate your influence," said Debra Bultnick, to local manufacturers. Talk with business leaders, educators, city council representatives and other government representatives. Careers in manufacturing, she said, are a viable and important part of the economy.

Local entrepreneurs and manufacturing representatives kicked off Minnesota Manufacturing and Technology Week (Oct. 24-28), Thursday, Oct. 20, at a breakfast held at the Best Western in Thief River Falls. The guest speaker for the event was Debra Bultnick, Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development Manufacturing Industry liaison and Minnesota Precision Manufacturing Association representative.

Bultnick spends much of her time traveling from one business to another looking for best practices and helping manufacturers adopt those practices by directing resources to where they'll do the best job.

Debra Bultnick

Minnesota produces $32 billion worth of manufactured goods for Minnesota's economy, the third largest share (18 percent) of gross state product. Here in northwest Minnesota, manufacturing comprises 29 percent of total private employment and 39 percent of total payrolls. In 2004, manufacturing employment in northwest Minnesota increased 12 percent, while statewide it increased by 6.2 percent.

Bultnick and manufacturers in northwest Minnesota are aware of their contribution to the economy of the region and state. They are also

Dear Mr. President...

Young TRF resident writes to the president

by April Scheinoha

Each year, thousands of letters are addressed to the president. Yet, a Thief River Falls resident's letter was probably more direct and to the point than most.

Six-year-old Jared Lundstrom was even more direct when asked what he wrote, but his grandma filled in the blanks to tell a reporter exactly what he wrote. "My mom smokes cigarettes, but my dad doesn't," is what he wrote, said his grandma Melannie Lundstrom.

That was the entire letter.

"I saw this commercial on TV about cigarettes and smoking, and then I sent a letter to the president," said Jared, the son of Felicia Lundstrom and Leon Lundstrom.

He asked his grandma to spell a few words, but she noted the letter was his idea. Jared drew a cigarette lighter and a pack of cigarettes on his letter as well.

Jared wrote the letter while he was staying at his grandparents' house. He and his grandma put the letter in the mailbox together.

Jared thought he would get a letter back from the president. His grandma wasn't as confident. "I had to show him that I respected his effort," said Melannie. "Actually, when he put the letter in the mailbox, I thought he wouldn't get a response."

Needless to say, his grandma was surprised when she recently opened her mailbox and found a large envelope from the White House. At the

Getting Fit Together

Laparoscopic gastric bypass boom

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Northwest Medical Center and Dakota Clinic are offering a new type of gastric bypass surgery that will increase a patients' rate of recovery from surgery by 66 percent. Virtually identical to traditional gastric bypass surgery, Laparoscopic gastric bypass surgery offers a recovery time of just two weeks.

Traditional gastric bypass surgery uses a single incision for all portions of the surgery. Recovery time for the traditional surgery is four to six days in the hospital and patients can return to their full activity level in approximately six weeks. Laparoscopic gastric bypass surgery uses six small incisions that will heal much faster and allow a patient to resume his or her life much sooner. Hospital recovery time is reduced to three to four days and patients can return to a full activity level in approximately two weeks.

"After two weeks, they can do what they could do before," said Dr. M. Brook Redd, M.D. of Dakota Clinic.

The Laparoscopic gastric bypass procedure has been in use since the week of Sept. 12. Of the early cases he's seen, Redd said patients are "getting mobile much faster with Laparoscopic gastric bypass surgery."

A change of lifestyle

According to Redd, most patients who opt for either form of gastric bypass surgery have thought about the procedure for a while before taking the first steps toward gastric bypass surgery. The surgery is recommended for patients who are more than 100 pounds overweight with a body mass index of 40 or more. It is available, but because of risks, not recommended or insured for patients who are less than 100 pounds overweight.

According to Dr. Jerome Bray,

Two juveniles have charges pending after vehicle pursuit

Obstruction of the legal process and felony fleeing: While on patrol Oct. 19 at 12:53 a.m., police allegedly observed a vehicle without its headlights or taillights in operation in the 300 block of LaBree Ave. N. Police attempted to stop the vehicle, but the 15-year-old Thief River Falls male driver allegedly failed to stop. A pursuit ensued from Fourth Street and continued out of the city limits. Law enforcement officers found the vehicle in a ditch between 110th Avenue Northwest and Center Avenue Northwest. No one was in the vehicle. The canine unit was dispatched to the scene. Law enforcement announced over a public address system that the canine unit would search for the individuals who were allegedly in the vehicle. The driver and a 13-year-old Thief River Falls male then surrendered. The 15-year-old has charges pending for felony fleeing, and the 13-year-old has charges pending for obstruction of the legal process.

Theft: On Oct. 23 at 8:28 a.m., the sheriff's department received a report of a theft from a storage unit at the Thief River Golf Club. Several Titleist DCI golf clubs were stolen. The theft loss is estimated at $2,325. The incident remains under investigation.

Property damage: On Oct. 18 at 9:56 a.m., police received a report of property damage at the Thief River Falls Water Department. Someone smashed the windows of two vehicles. A 1974 Ford one-ton truck had two smashed side windows and a smashed windshield. A 1987 Chevy dump truck sustained a smashed windshield as well. Damage was estimated at $1,800.

Theft: On Oct. 21 at 7:08 a.m., police received a report of a theft in the 200 block of Third St. W. A green and white Minneapolis Star Tribune vending machine was stolen. The theft loss is estimated at $315. The incident remains under investigation.

Theft: On Oct. 21 at 8:33 a.m., police received a report of thefts in the 200 block of Third St. W. and 800 block of Atlantic Ave. N. Someone stole two Grand Forks, N.D., Herald vending machines. The theft loss for the blue and white or blue and gray vending machines is estimated at $955. The incident remains under investigation.

Disorderly conduct: On Oct. 6, police received a report of disorderly conduct. Matthew Leo Josephson, 38, Thief River Falls, allegedly called a girl under the age of 18 and told her he was going to harm her boyfriend. Josephson was cited for disorderly conduct.

Trespassing: On Oct. 7 at 4:46 p.m., police received a report of trespassing in the 600 block of Tonder St. Lyle John Konickson, 62, Thief River Falls, allegedly entered a residence without knocking or being invited into the residence, and wouldn't leave when asked to do so. Konickson has been cited for trespassing.

Public nuisance: On Oct. 13 at 11:13 p.m., police received a loud noise complaint regarding a residence in the 300 block of St. Paul Ave. S. Steven Jacob Stene, 21, Thief River Falls, was cited for public nuisance, which was listed in an earlier edition of The Times. However, police now intend to ask the court to dismiss that citation. Brian Cole Horgeshimer, 20, Thief River Falls, has now been cited for public nuisance.

Accident: On Oct. 15 at 4:44 a.m., police received a report of an accident along Seventh Street East near LaBree Avenue North. At the time of the accident, Linda Alicia Haviland of Thief River Falls was driving a 2004 Toyota Highlander eastbound on Seventh Street East when her vehicle collided with a parked 1983 Dodge pickup owned by David Owen Scramstad of Thief River Falls. Haviland's vehicle sustained $1,800 in damage, and Scramstad's vehicle sustained $1,200 in damage.

Theft: On Oct. 16 at 9:23 p.m., the sheriff's department received a report of a theft in Section 20 of Highlanding Township. Someone stole 30 to 50 gallons of gasoline from a tractor. The theft loss is estimated at $135. The incident remains under investigation.

Issuance of worthless checks: Kristie Ruth Zingg, 21, Thief River Falls, allegedly wrote $387.36 in worthless checks. She has been cited for the issuance of worthless checks.

Property damage: On Oct. 17 at 1:11 p.m., police received a report of property damage in The Shop parking lot. Someone smashed the passenger-side window of a Sunbird and then stole a CD player out of the vehicle. The property damage is estimated at $75. The report did not indicate the value of the CD player. The incident remains under investigation.

Attempted fraud: On Oct. 18, police received two reports of attempted fraud. In one instance, a man who said he was from Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, called a resident and said she had won more than $800,000 in a sweepstakes. He told her that if she would send $700 for insurance via Western Union to Ontario, Canada, he would send her the sweepstakes winnings. The woman sent the money via Western Union at Kmart. However, she called police and they were able to cancel the transaction. After the transaction was cancelled, the man called the resident numerous times to ask her about the money and why he hadn't yet received it. In another instance, a man received an "official notice" and a $3,850 check after he supposedly won a sweepstakes. The bank listed on the check was Concordia Bank & Trust. In a letter, he was told he was supposed to cash the check in order to receive $1.5 million in winnings. The incidents remain under investigation.

Accident: On Oct. 18 at 11:51 a.m., police received a report of an accident at the intersection of Eighth Street and Centennial Drive. A 1988 Chevy Celebrity driven by Anthony Richard Diaz of Crookston and a 1992 Honda Civic driven by Juan Gabriel Barrios of Thief River Falls collided. At the time of the accident, Diaz had stopped his vehicle in traffic and was preparing to turn left onto Centennial Drive when Barrios' westbound vehicle collided with him. Diaz's vehicle sustained $1,200 in damage, and Barrios' vehicle sustained $1,500 in damage.

Property damage: On Oct. 20 at 1:43 p.m., police received a report of property damage in the 100 block of Third St. E. All four tires on a 1997 Chevy Cavalier were slashed. Damage was estimated at $400. The incident remains under investigation.

Assault: On Oct. 20 at 4:05 p.m., police received a report of an assault in the 700 block of Knight Ave. N. A 14-year-old Thief River Falls male allegedly got into a physical altercation with another boy. He has charges pending for assault.

Assault and trespassing: On Oct. 21 at 3:55 a.m., police received a report of an assault in the 700 block of Parnham St. Martin Almendarez III, 29, Thief River Falls, allegedly went into a residence, was asked to leave, went outside and threw an empty Windsor bottle at another man, hitting him on the left cheek. A fight then allegedly ensued. Almendarez has charges pending for assault and trespassing.

Second degree driving while intoxicated, open bottle, small amount of marijuana in a motor vehicle and possession of drug paraphernalia: While on patrol Oct. 22 at 12:02 a.m., police allegedly observed a driver fail to stop for a stop sign along Eighth Street West. Jene Raymond Lenhart, 29, Thief River Falls, has charges pending for second degree driving while intoxicated, open bottle, small amount of marijuana in a motor vehicle and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Underage drinking and driving, and underage consumption: While on patrol Oct. 22 at 1:44 a.m., police allegedly observed a vehicle with a malfunctioning headlight near the intersection of First Street and Merriam Avenue. Kayla Jordan Boutain, 18, Thief River Falls, was cited for underage drinking and driving. A 17-year-old Thief River Falls female has charges pending for underage consumption.

Theft: On Oct. 24 at 6:42 a.m., police received a report of a theft near the intersection of Greenwood Street and Kendall Avenue. A Type 1A orange plastic sign with flashing lights was stolen. The sign is owned by the city of Thief River Falls. The theft loss is estimated at $150. The incident remains under investigation.

If readers have any information about the aforementioned crimes or offenses, they are urged to contact the Law Enforcement Center at 681-6161.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

TRF man sentenced for being a felon in possession of a firearm

A Thief River Falls man was sentenced Thursday in Pennington County District for being a felon in possession of a firearm.

For that felony offense, Ryan Rick Edlund, 21, was sentenced to 60 months with all but one year stayed for 15 years. He was ordered to serve supervised probation for 15 years. Edlund was given credit for time served. He was also given Huber/Sentence to Serve privileges. Edlund was ordered to pay $132 in fees and fines. On Jan. 28, 2004, a probation agent and the police department did a probation check on Edlund in the 100 block of Challenger Dr. Inside Edlund's vehicle, a .22 caliber pistol was found along with 50 rounds of ammunition.

As a result of that offense, Edlund violated his probation for an offense of fifth degree controlled substance crime. Originally, a stay of adjudication had been granted for that offense. (In a stay of adjudication, a charge does not go on a person's record if he or she remains law abiding or does not commit a similar offense.) Since Edlund committed another offense, that stay of adjudication was revoked. A stay of imposition was granted. He was ordered to serve one year in jail concurrent with the sentence for the felon in possession of a firearm charge. Edlund was given credit for time served. He was ordered to serve supervised probation for five years.

Numerous traffic offenses and other citations are included in the latest edition of the Pennington County Citation Disposition Bulletin.

October is National Domestic Violence Awareness Month

October 2005 marks the 19th annual commemoration of National Domestic Violence Awareness Month. This month, people will join together to address the devastating impact of domestic violence on individuals, families, communities and the country as a whole, and will promote the prevention of domestic violence and improve rights and services to victims.

Domestic violence is a devastating and often deadly crime that affects everyone. According to the 2005 Minnesota Coalition for Battered Women Femicide Report, at least 14 women were murdered in cases where the suspected, alleged or convicted perpetrator was a current or former husband, boyfriend, intimate partner, household member or family member of the deceased woman, and at least 10 children have been left motherless. Responding to these crimes requires collaborative prevention and response efforts from criminal and juvenile justice agencies, victim assistance programs, legal advocacy agencies, public and mental health systems, schools, and civic and political leaders, among others.

In addition to assistance provided by our court and legal systems and victim assistance programs, domestic violence victims in northwest Minnesota have access to potentially life-saving information. Since 1990, Violence Intervention Project (VIP) has served victims of domestic violence and sexual assault in seven counties: Pennington, Polk, Kittson, Marshall, Red Lake, Roseau and Norman.

VIP, located in Thief River Falls, provides services to victims of domestic violence and sexual assault. It houses an emergency shelter where victims can stay up to 30 days when fleeing a domestically violent situation and two transitional housing apartments, where victims can stay up to two years as they transition out of a domestic abuse relationship. There is an advocate available to take crisis calls 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Advocates provide assistance in filling out Order for Protection form and Harassment Restraining Order forms. They are also able to refer clients to appropriate agencies that can further provide services to the client.

VIP also offers an ongoing support group every Tuesday evening for victims of domestic violence. There are services available to continue to support current and past victims of domestic violence. VIP offers awareness presentations to community groups, businesses, and social organizations. VIP also provides presentations on bullying to students in grades K-5 and on domestic violence and dating violence to students in grades 6-12 and at the college level.

The Umbrella Tree is a program within VIP. It provides a safe place for separated or divorced parents to exchange their children with no contact between the adults; this makes the transition less stressful and allows for a more positive focus on the children. The program also provides supervised visits for non-custodial parents and their children. This program is utilized by many families in this seven-county region and is often written into court orders as a safety precaution for families.

Manufacturing and Applied Engineering Consortium funded

The board of trustees of the Minnesota State Colleges and Universities (MnSCU) has approved the development of the Minnesota Consortium for Manufacturing and Applied Engineering.

Bemidji State University will serve as the lead institution for the consortium with partners including Central Lakes College (Brainerd, Staples), Northwest Technical College (Bemidji), Northland Community and Technical College (Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks), Pine Technical College (Pine City), Saint Paul College, St. Cloud Technical College, and Minneapolis Community and Technical College.

By leveraging program strengths, the resources of the statewide consortium and the expertise of industry partners, the program will develop a curriculum that supports a seamless career pathway for students seeking careers in manufacturing. The effort will create a labor pool of talented students while developing innovative processes and enhancing the ability of manufacturers in Minnesota to be highly competitive in the global economy.

The program was conceived in partnership with several public and private interests from across the region, including the Northwest Minnesota Manufacturers Association, Highway 2 West Manufacturers Association, Northwest Minnesota Foundation, Headwaters Regional Economic Development Commission and Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development. Together, these businesses and organizations are seeking to promote the region as the "Ingenuity Frontier," a hub of applied engineering talent and innovation.

"Our partners in business, industry and the non-profit sectors recognized and communicated critical needs within the manufacturing sector for our region and state," said Dr. Shari L. Olson, vice president of Outreach and Technology. "With them, Northland Community and Technical College collaborated with sister institutions to pursue a visionary solution and articulated a viable plan for satisfying needs of manufacturers in the region. It was an amazing collaboration between all entities involved in the consortium project."

Employing a phased-in approach, the consortium intends to transform the current state of manufacturing education into a future model where immersion in technological excellence is readily available through distinctive programming to students from middle school through lifelong learners.

The initial phase will see the creation of a statewide advisory board that will finalize the activities of the various phases, develop standards for approving programs of distinction, and acquire matching funds to sustain consortium initiatives.

A second phase will begin work toward establishing accountability systems that assure standards are met and programs are established. A final phase will address such topics as the development and articulation of curriculum to provide multiple career pathways, recruitment and retention of students into manufacturing and engineering related fields, and applied research or assessment opportunities for students and faculty to partner with industry employees.

"This is an exciting time for the BSU Department of Technological Studies," said Dr. Elaine Hoffman, who chairs that department. "We have had a long-standing relationship with our external partners and colleges within MnSCU, and this consortium is the latest reflection of our ability to collaborate and better serve students of all ages."

Dr. Martin Tadlock, dean of the BSU College of Professional Studies, directed the consortium proposal, which was one of four approved by the MnSCU Board of Trustees Oct. 19. A total of 11 proposals were reviewed in a two-step process involving business, industry and higher education leaders.

Other centers were identified for:

- Strategic information and security at Metropolitan State University with Inver Hills Community College and Minneapolis Community and Technical College.
- Integrated health science education and practice at Winona State University with Rochester Community and Technical College, Pine Technical College, Minnesota State College - Southeast Technical College and Ridgewater College.
- Engineering and manufacturing excellence at Minnesota State University, Mankato, with Alexandria Technical College, Anoka Technical College, Hennepin Technical College, Normandale Community College, South Central College and the Northeast Higher Education District.

The system indicated each of the successful proposals would receive between $2 million and $4 million over a two-year period. Funding will come from a $10 million state appropriation initiated by Gov. Tim Pawlenty and approved by the Legislature.

More information is available by contacting the Department of Technological Studies at Center for Advanced and Emerging Technologies, Bemidji State University, 1500 Birchmont Dr. N.E., Bemidji, MN 56601-2699 or by calling (218) 755-2950.

MN Farm Bureau's annual meeting set for Nov. 19-21

The Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation (MFBF) invites those involved in agriculture and Farm Bureau to attend its 87th Annual Meeting will be held November 19-21 at the Sheraton Bloomington Hotel in Bloomington.

On Saturday, Nov. 19, at 11:30 a.m. during a Kickoff Luncheon, the Minnesota Farm Bureau will recognize Promotion and Education leaders and Young Farmers and Ranchers contest participants.

Several other activities and events are planned for this event. As always, policy remains the backbone of Farm Bureau. Voting delegates representing the 77 county Farm Bureaus will vote on resolutions received from counties to establish Farm Bureau's public policy for 2006. This year, delegates will also vote on candidates for MFBF President and members of the Board of Directors from Districts III, IV and VII.

For registration information log onto www.fbmn.org or call 651-905-2114.

Governor proclaims Lead Poisoning Prevention Week

Gov. Tim Pawlenty has proclaimed Oct. 23-29 Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention Week, an opportunity for Minnesotans to take aim at a significant environmental health problem facing children.

"The primary cause of childhood lead poisoning is deteriorating lead-based paint in pre-1978 housing," said Minnesota Health Commissioner Dianne Mandernach. "Reports about lead in some plastic lunch boxes, children's jewelry or foreign-made candies should not draw attention too far from the main culprit here in Minnesota – lead paint and paint dust in older housing."

Both the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) and U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention have established a goal of eliminating childhood lead poisoning by 2010. Thanks to health screening, blood lead testing and lead-safe housing efforts over 10 years, the number of children in Minnesota with elevated blood lead levels (greater than 10 micrograms per deciliter) decreased from more than 4,300 in 1995 to approximately 1,500 in 2004. Over the same 10 years, the number of children being screened has increased each year.

The impacts of lead poisoning in children can be invisible and irreversible. These include decreased intelligence, impaired hearing, behavior and learning problems, and decreased growth. Children under the age of 6 are most vulnerable because their bodies and nervous systems are still developing.

Local and state agencies have been successful in obtaining federal grants to reduce lead hazards in homes. Those people living in pre-1978 housing who have children under the age of 6 can test their homes or apartments for lead. Home lead tests are available from many hardware stores. If the home tests find the presence of lead, further testing by professionals may be needed. Individuals can also contact MDH at (651) 201-4894 or local agencies to find out if their homes are eligible for grants or loans to deal with lead hazards.

Weight Watchers offers tricks to avoid Halloween weight gain

Americans consumed an average of nearly 25 pounds of candy per person in 2004 – much of it around Halloween, according to the U.S. Census Bureau. Weight Watchers suggests trying these simple tricks to treat you to a Happy Halloween.

Pick treats you won't wolf down. If chocolate is too tempting, pick your least favorite type of candy, or hand out non-food items, such as colorful stickers. Remember, there's no reason to test temptation. Don't buy candy when it hits the store shelves. Halloween isn't until the last day of October.

Look to the jack-o-lantern for recipe inspiration. Seasonal favorites such as pumpkins, apples and sweet potatoes are rich in fiber and naturally low in calories. Try new recipes such as crispy sweet-potato fries in the Weight Watchers TurnAround Cookbook or WeightWatchers.com, throughout the month of October for free seasonal recipes.

Move faster than Frankenstein. Burn extra calories by taking a brisk walk around the neighborhood to enjoy the cooler weather and Halloween decorations, or by taking your child trick or treating. Wear a pedometer and see how much candy you burn off.

Keep calories in mind while choosing your witch's brew. Whether it's a mug of warm apple cider or a caramel apple martini, calories add up quickly. Try a pot of herbal tea and add mulling spices for a filling and flavorful drink with zero calories.

Mummys can use the holiday to reinforce good eating habits. Eat before going out trick-or-treating with the kids. An empty belly and a full bag of Halloween candy is a recipe for disaster. Children and adults should eat a healthy dinner too, complete with vegetables and high fiber foods before indulging in a Halloween treat. This will help prevent the urge to splurge. After sorting through the loot and letting children pick a few small Halloween treats, hide away candy to be enjoyed gradually, over time, rather than binge on all of it in a few days.

MN Historical Society launches veterans grave registration index

The Minnesota Historical Society will launch a new Web site, the Minnesota Veterans Grave Registration Index, on Veterans Day, Nov. 11, 2005. The index, http://people.mnhs.org/vgri, will provide a searchable online index to Minnesota veterans' grave registrations.

The veterans grave registration reports contain significant information of interest to families or military historians. When completely filled out, the reports give an outline of the veterans' military service, including the date and place of enlistment; serial number, rank and military organization unit; and the date and place of discharge. In addition to military information, the registration report also includes the deceased's legal address; date and specific place of birth; and the date, cause and specific place of death. The date and place of burial and the location of the grave also may be listed, and the name, relationship and address of the next of kin is frequently included.

Information contained in the grave registration reports can lead researchers to many other sources of information. Requests to state and federal archives that hold military records can yield greater details about the veterans' military service. Using the birth and death data, specific searches for official birth and death certificates that may yield more biographical information also can be made.

The bulk of the veterans grave registration reports were compiled by the U.S. Veterans Affairs Department between 1930 and 1960 and cover veterans who died during those years. Some data for veterans who died much earlier, including veterans of the War of 1812 and the Civil War, is also included. The first [illegible] reports [illegible] 1975.

More than 72,000 records are included in the index, including 15,257 for those buried at Fort Snelling. More than 37,000 veterans listed served in World War I, and nearly 16,000 veterans registered in the index served in World War II. The index is free to search online; copies of records may be purchased online for $8 each. Researchers who come to the library may search the index and print a record themselves for a nominal charge. For more information, visit http://people.mnhs.org/vgri or call the Minnesota Historical Society Library at 651-296-2143 or 1-800-657-3773.

The Minnesota Historical Society Library is located at 345 Kellogg Blvd. W. in St. Paul. Hours are noon to 8 p.m. Tuesdays, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesdays through Fridays, and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays. Admission to the library is free of charge.

No injuries reported after semi accident Tuesday morning

No injuries were reported after a semi accident early Tuesday morning in Red Lake County.

At the time of the accident, Fabian John Penner of Steinbach, Manitoba, Canada, was driving a semi loaded with logs along Highway 92. Near the intersection with Red Lake County Road 8, he swerved to miss several deer, according to the Minnesota State Patrol. The semi was then sucked into a nearby ditch, causing it to tip over and lose its entire load. The semi sustained extensive damage in the accident.

The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 1:22 a.m. Tuesday.

Logan Swanson competes at National Motocross

Logan Swanson, son of Jim and Karla Swanson of Thief River Falls, competed in the 11th Annual Branson USA National Motocross race October 13-16. The weather was beautiful, and there were over 1,200 entries at the event. Logan's parents said the competition was the toughest Logan has ever raced against to date.

After three days of qualifying races, Logan made it into the finals Oct. 16 in both of his classes. According to his parents, in the stock 50cc race, Logan was 11th going into that Sunday's race. He had a great start, when suddenly a rider near him lost control and hit into Logan. This crash sent Logan flying, but he wasn't injured. He quickly resumed racing, but had to come from the back of the pack.

In the stock 65cc class, his parents said, Logan was 13th overall going into the Oct. 16 finals. He had an excellent race going and was running in the top 10 when a mishap again happened. The rider behind him ran into the side of him in one of the corners and both riders went down. Logan wasn't injured, but again wasn't able to get back into contention after this.

Logan's parents said that despite racing mishaps in the finals, Logan competed hard and overall had a wonderful experience at his first ever national race.

Logan dedicated his racing to his older brother, Todd, who is serving in the U.S. Marines overseas. Both of Logan's race bikes had U.S. Marine decals on them, along with Todd's name.

Logan's parents said the announcer at the race visited with him while he was staged for a race, and was moved by his explanation of his bike decals. He returned to the announcing booth and talked over the loudspeaker and radio about Logan's story; hoping that his brother comes home safely; that he misses him, and that he's racing in his honor. "It was a very moving time for the 1200-plus people there, and more than a few teary eyes in the audience," his parents said.

Giving the thumbs up is Logan Swanson, son of Jim and Karla Swanson of Thief River Falls. Swanson recently competed in the 11th Annual Branson USA National Motocross Race. Logan dedicated his race to his brother, Todd, who is serving with the U.S. Marines overseas. Both of Logan's race bikes had U.S. Marine decals on them, along with Todd's name. (Submitted photo)

KSRQ college station debuts morning show

For the first time in KSRQ radio's 33-year history, the college radio station, known as Pioneer 90.1, has a live morning show.

The morning show is being staffed by students in the mass communications program at Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC). The show, which starts at 6 a.m. begins with the world and national news from CNN, weather and regional headlines. At 6:10 a.m., the station carries the Northwest Minnesota Grain Report.

Station Manager Travis Ryder said the morning show is "a nice way to wake up in the mornings. It's the time people listen to the radio the most."

Mass Communications Student Amanda Olson said getting up early to do the morning show is physically and mentally hard on a person. "It's really fun, but I'm hoping to have a co-host soon," she said.

The morning show will offer more than just hard news. During the 6 a.m. show, there's the Lighter Side, Family Health and Today in History.

The 7 a.m. show starts off with CNN, weather and regional headlines. At 7:10 a.m., the station will feature "For the Birds," a show about nature and bird watching in general, with Laura Erickson. "For the Birds" is sponsored by D & D Commodities of Stephen. At 7:18 a.m., the station will feature music news and entertainment history. A new feature on Pioneer 90.1 is Newspaper on the Radio featuring an editor from an area newspaper letting listeners know what will be in the next edition of the newspaper. At 7:40 a.m., there will be an interview featuring topics that are important to the region. Future interviews will focus on NCTC, The Root Cellar with Historians Jim and Jan Strandlie, Talk of the Town with Volunteer Chris Cuppett, and Ag Thursday and Rural Reflections with Grand Forks Herald Columnist Grant Nelson.

The 8 a.m. show begins again with CNN news, weather and regional headlines. At 8:10 a.m. the station will carry Independent Native News. Later in the 8 a.m. show, the station will provide the day's TV listings and Earth and Sky. After the 8 a.m. hour, Ryder will take over, providing the on-air support for Pioneer 90.1.

Newfolden Class of 1955 holds its reunion

Twenty-one of the 39 members of the Newfolden High School's graduating class of 1955 attended its 50th-year class reunion Sept. 16-17.

On Sept. 16, classmates and other friends were together at the Thief River Golf Club. The next day, a dinner and gathering were held at the Evergreen Eating Emporium in Thief River Falls for the classmates, their spouses and their friends. The evening was spent reminiscing about their high school days and what has been happening the last 50 years since that time. Pictures and memorabilia from their high school days and each class reunion held every five years, as well as other keepsake items were displayed both evenings. A special recognition was made to Lucille Tunheim, who was their teacher and class adviser for their yearbook.

LHS Key Club to trick-or-treat for UNICEF

Lincoln High School Key Club will be trick-or-treating for UNICEF Halloween evening. Members of the organization will be carrying orange boxes distributed by UNICEF. All proceeds will go directly to UNICEF's "Kick HIV/AIDS Out of Kenya" program. This program is a soccer and education program that helps protect vulnerable girls who are at the greatest risk of HIV infection.

Key Club International and the Lincoln High School Key Club have been participating in the "Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF" program for several years. The Lincoln High School Key Club would like to thank the community for its past support and encourages residents to continue to give generously to this worthy cause.

Goodridge Elementary students raise $536.70 for hurricane victims

The Goodridge Elementary Student Council has been busy working on various projects.

Using October's school theme of compassion, the Elementary Student Council sponsored a penny war Oct. 3-7. Proceeds of $536.70 were donated to help Hurricane Katrina victims. The class that won the penny war received a piñata from the Student Council to be used at its Halloween party. The penny war activity fits into the theme of teaching children to respond to the needs of others. Goodridge School wants students to learn that small acts of kindness can make the world a better place.

Members presented a card and a welcome banner signed by the elementary student body to their new principal, Tim Lutz.

Students also sent a card and a children's book to Heidi Hoks, wishing her good luck in her new job and expressing gratitude for all the story times she led at Goodridge School.

The Elementary Student Council is also planning an elementary Halloween dance Oct. 31. Council members are planning games, relay races and other activities for this event.

Westside Motors accepts donations for service members

Westside Motors of Thief River Falls is an official drop zone for Operation Gratitude's holiday donation drive for American troops overseas.

Operation Gratitude is a national nonprofit organization that collects comfort items and letters of appreciation from the American public and ships them to service members overseas.

Westside Motors is one of the nearly 2,800 Jeep® dealerships nationwide that are participating as drop zones for Operation Gratitude.

"The Jeep brand's military heritage goes back more than 65 years, so it's only natural that we would expand our relationship with Operation Gratitude to help our service men and women around the world," said Ronald Nelson of Westside Motors. "We want to make sure we do our part to brighten the spirits of troops from Thief River Falls or Minnesota that may be stationed overseas during the holiday season."

In order to reach troops in time for the holidays, Jeep dealerships have begun collecting donations for Operation Gratitude. Consumers are encouraged to drop off items ranging from packs of gum and tuna salad kits to CDs and DVDs. For a complete list of needed items, consumers can visit www.jeep.com or www.OperationGratitude.com.

"Through our expanded partnership, the Jeep brand and its dealers have made it possible for every American across the country to participate in Operation Gratitude's effort to express thanks and appreciation to our troops," said Carolyn Blashek, founder of Operation Gratitude. "With the Jeep brand's help, we hope to reach our goal of sending more than 30,000 packages to the troops this holiday season."

Julie Olson steps down as Chamber president

Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce President Julie Olson will step down effective November 1 to pursue a new career.

Olson, who will leave after 17 years with the Chamber of Commerce, and Visitors and Convention Bureau, including the past six as president, has taken the position of director of public relations for Northland Community and Technical College campuses.

"I cannot say enough wonderful things about the Chamber and the Visitors and Convention Bureau, about all the people I've encountered in my years of service, and especially the great board members and staff of both organizations," Olson said.

Julie Olson

According to Olson, the Chamber Board of Directors has appointed Stacy Myhrer to serve as the interim president until the position has been officially filled. Myhrer has been with the Chamber of Commerce for seven years as the administrative assistant. Her husband is Sean Myhrer. They have two children and live in St. Hilaire.

Local historical society adds to state digital library

"Minnesota Reflections," the first digitization project of the Minnesota Digital Library, opens for public browsing Oct. 1 at http://reflections.mndigital.org.

This Web-based collection features digital copies of photographs, stereographs and postcards from across Minnesota. The Pennington County Historical Society joined with more than 55 libraries, museums and special collection archives to help the Minnesota Digital Library create "Minnesota Reflections."

This new resource for Minnesota includes more than 6,000 digital images of the state's past. All were taken before 1909. The site includes information about the pictures, such as where the originals were taken and who owns the originals. Pennington County Historical Society contributed several photographs to this statewide initiative.

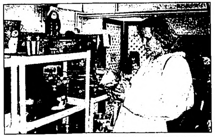
Caryl Bugge, director of the historical society, and Andy Filer spent several hours scanning the photos and then burning them onto discs, which were then mailed to Minnesota Digital Library.

Bugge said the Digital Library accepted about 90 photos for publication in "Minnesota Reflections." She added that photographs represent not just photos of Thief River Falls, but the region, too. All of the photos are of the area from before 1908. All of the photos can also be found on the local Web site (http://pvillage.org).

Visitors to the "Minnesota Reflections" Web site may do basic or advanced searches on the collection or browse the images by contributing institution, topic or region. They may also read profiles of the contributing institutions and learn more about the Minnesota Digital Library initiative.

Members of the Minnesota Digital Library Coalition include the College of St. Benedict/St. John's University, MINITEX Library Information Network, Minnesota Historical Society, Minnesota State University, Mankato, Moorhead Public Schools, St. Cloud State University, St. Paul Public Library, the University of Minnesota and Winona State University.

"Minnesota Reflections" was created by the Minnesota Digital Library Coalition, with funding support from a Library Services and Technology Act grant from the Minnesota Department of Education's State Library Services and School Technology division.



Karen Marichalar of Thief River Falls contemplated purchasing a handpainted bucket Saturday at the 18th Annual Country Style Bazaar held at the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls. The items were sold at Brenda Molstad's booth. Molstad, a Thief River Falls resident, operates Brenda's Country Crafts.

...Me - A Witch?

Halloween is the time for goblins, ghosties, ghoulies and - witches. Those little witches that come around at Halloween are so cute! I really like witches. I used to tell my children I was a witch. It worked for years. They really believed me. They had plenty of reasons to believe me, too.

This is the time for confession. I'm not really a witch. I'm just like all the other mothers, and all the other mothers have the same "witchy" powers as I do. I don't suppose they all say they are witches, but they could if they wanted too. Kids, here is the true story about mothers:

When mothers go to the hospital to have their babies, they are bestowed with Magical Mothering Powers. Fathers don't get these Magical Mothering Powers because they aren't mothers. Only mothers get them.

These Magical Mothering Powers are why mothers know everything. This is the truth! You can tell it's the truth because your mother knows everything, doesn't she? She's a lot like Santa Claus that way. She sees you when you're sleeping; she knows when you're awake. She knows if you've been bad or good...and on and on.

Mothers can always tell when you are lying. All they have to do is look at you and they know right away. One glance and they say, "You're lying! I can tell by the look on your face!" And you were.

Mothers can always tell if you have eaten everything on your plate. One glance as you leave the table and she says, "You didn't eat everything on your plate! You gave it to the dog!" And you did.

Mothers can always tell if you didn't wash behind your ears. She doesn't even have to look at your ears to know this. You pop out of the bathtub and your mother yells through the bathroom door, "You forgot to wash behind your ears!" And you did.

Mothers always know if you have been sneaking freshly baked cookies. There can be dozens of cookies cooling on the table and she couldn't possibly have counted them all, yet she knows if you take even one. "You're eating all the cookies I just got done baking!" And you were going to if you could.

Mothers always know if you throw your clean clothes into the dirty clothes place. On laundry day, she will pull one item of clothing out of several baskets full of dirty clothes and state: "You put this clean shirt in the laundry and you didn't even wear it!" And you didn't. It was wrinkled.

Mothers always know when you drink out of the milk carton. She takes one look at the carton sitting on the refrigerator shelf and says, "You've been drinking out of the milk carton again!" And you have.

Mothers always know if you are wearing dirty underwear. You are fully dressed, heading out the door for school, books under your arm. She looks you up and down and says, "You forgot to put on clean underwear!" And you did.

Mothers always know you took the piece out of the cake she baked for the church ladies. You are not even near the kitchen and have wiped all of the tell-tale crumbs off your face, yet she says, "You ate a piece out of the cake I was going to bring to the church!" And you did.

Mothers always know you left muddy footprints on the floor. You wipe off the floor, clean your shoes, even hide them away in the closet, start doing your homework in your room or watching TV and you hear, "You tracked mud all over my clean floor that I spent hours washing and waxing!" And you did.

Mothers always know if you are watching television instead of doing your homework. You will be sitting quietly in the TV room, books open before you, pencil in hand. She will be far away in the kitchen, cooking, and you will hear her say, "You are watching television instead of doing your homework! Turn off that television set right now!" And you were and you do.

Yes, Magical Mothering Powers are how mothers know everything. Those Powers make mothers downright spooky. Because the Powers are especially powerful on Halloween night, you kids had better be extra careful not to do anything you shouldn't next Monday. If you do something wrong, you know very well that your mom's Magical Mothering Powers will tell her what you did the minute she looks at you, and then you will be in real trouble! Ask her. She'll tell you - it's the truth!

Kids need responsible adult involvement

A principled high school principal in New York has enraged his students by canceling the prom. Spending for gowns, limos, tuxedos and the like was getting out of hand, he said, adding that such crass materialism is "immoral."

Finally, a sane voice in the wilderness.

Of course, nobody will listen. The principal's message goes against the grain of our youth-worshipping culture - a culture which cares more about looks, popularity and spending money than it does about character, decency and integrity.

It is sobering to find out that the pressure for much of the excess comes from the adults, who seem to compete with each other to give everything in the world to their little sweeties whether they can afford it or not, or whether the kids need it or not.

Kids need adult involvement, but not the sort that happens when Dad yells at the referee at a football game, or Mom protests the results of the cheerleading tryouts, or when both of them spend $500 they don't have on a limo for prom.

No, kids need older people to show through their actions that there are more important things than winning a ballgame or being crowned homecoming queen or looking glamorous.

We have a long way to go in that department. Many older people, and not just parents, stake too much of their existence on the successes or failure of young people in sports or in social affairs to provide a healthy example of a well-lived life to those same kids.

Doting on the young to fulfill an adult's vain needs is often mistaken as evidence of love and concern. In fact, it is anything but.

It is one thing for a parent to attend a child's sports event. It is quite another for a parent to get a 13-year-old out of bed at six a.m. for a two-mile run so Coach Lugnut can finally have a winning season, or so Dad can finally get over that two-point loss in the district quarterfinals in 1978.

A small but blatant example of adults using their kids for vain ends is baby girls with pierced ears.

Who benefits from those pierced ears? The toddler who underwent the pain of having a hole punched through her earlobe, or the mother who cares more about having a cute baby than about the possible pain for the child?

It isn't just the female kids. Most male babies start their tenure on earth with a painful procedure which, if one's early experiences are as important as psychologists say, might explain why so many males later become obnoxious louts.

Those are just two examples of the vain needs of adults winning out over concern for the well-being of the child.

Of course, there's nothing wrong with adult involvement in sports events, dance lessons, cheerleading tryouts, or other activities, unless adults allow them to crowd out the more vital lessons in a child's life - lessons, like decency. Kids need to know that they are to treat every other human being on earth with respect, no matter how bad they smell or how ugly they dress or how much they despise you. They are fellow humans, and as such they deserve to be treated with basic kindness. Always.

Honesty. Pay your bills, pay your taxes, don't lie, cheat or steal - ever, even if you know nobody's looking. As much as you can, expect others to do the same. Trust for each other is the basis of a civil society.

Popularity. It not only doesn't matter, but popularity at an early age is probably a sign that you are being somebody you are not. Young people should be encouraged by adults to run from popularity's temptations rather than to give in to the pressure to conform.

Of course, we all fail at times to come up to these standards. But we can't even aim for them if we aren't reminded daily that they are valued by those we admire and look up to.

Amid the clutter of the media noise and peer pressure, it is up to the adults - grandparents, neighbors, uncles and aunts, teachers - to assert basic, decent human ideals over and over and over.

Heritage Dance Club to host dance

ACTIVITIES

Halloween Songs

The following songs can be sung while carving pumpkins, getting costumes ready or making Halloween treats.

This is the Way We Trick or Treat

(Tune: "Here We Go Round the Mulberry Bush")

This is the way we trick or treat
Trick or treat, trick or treat.
This is the way we trick or treat
On Halloween night.
We always hold a grown-up's hand
Grown-up's hand, grown-up's hand.
We always hold a grown-up's hand
When we trick or treat.
A grown-up checks our tasty treats
Tasty treats, tasty treats.
A grown-up checks our tasty treats
Before we eat them up!

Found a Pumpkin

(Tune: "Clementine")

Found a pumpkin, found a pumpkin
Found a pumpkin just now.
Just now I found a pumpkin.
Found a pumpkin just now.

Additional verses: Carved a pumpkin; made a jack-o-lantern.

A: Great food, no atmosphere.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its new selection of children's books including the following:

Thomas, Patricia. "Stand Back," Said the Elephant, "I'm Going to Sneeze!" Knowing the havoc it will cause, all the animals try to prevent the elephant from sneezing.

Schlein, Miriam. The Story About Me. A little girl's grandmother describes how the different people in her extended family waited for her to be born.

Soto, Gary. Chato Goes Cruisin'. Chato and Novio win a cruise but are disappointed to find that everyone else on board is a dog, and things go from bad to worse when the dogs party themselves sick and it is up to the cats to find help.

VIDEO VARIETY

Shooting Stars. The very sleepy Lion family tries to stay up very late at night, so they won't miss the most spectacular meteor shower of the year.

PARENTING TIPS

Laughter and Fun

Laughter and fun. How important is it? Some feel it is very important! Why? Because life would be very dull and boring without it. If we laugh and have fun while interacting with others it says that we enjoy being with that person. It's also a way of showing our approval of the other person or their actions. This is certainly true of parent-child interaction. If you doubt this to be true simply smile or laugh at your child when he or she does something. Your child will probably repeat that action again very soon! Children love having approval and attention. Make a point of enjoying your children. Laugh with them and have fun.

As your toddler gets older he will also enjoy jokes and pranks. In fact when one child discovers a "joke," other children will repeat it to get the same attention. Unlike adults, children's appreciation of their own humor increases with the number of times they repeat it. And so they may repeat and repeat something you laughed at. For children repetition of their jokes only increases the fun. But for the listening adult, it may not be as much fun. Just try to bear with them.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Enjoy your child and his/her style of humor. Encourage and even repeat what they find funny.

Farm Management Minute

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch.

Calculating production loss

by Flint Daugherty
FBM instructor, Hallock

With regards to some of the tough growing conditions some areas have experienced this year, I thought it may be beneficial to review Farm Service Agency (FSA) Emergency Loan production loss calculations. Although this is a loan, not a cash payment, you may find it could be beneficial in taking some of the squeeze out of your cash flow.

First, in order to qualify for a loan, you must have experienced at least a 30 percent loss of production in a crop enterprise. How do we determine if you had a 30 percent loss? The new calculation makes it easy; take your Actual Production History (APH) yield less your actual disaster year yield. Take the difference in these yields and divide by your APH. If it is greater than 30 percent, you have qualifying loss in that enterprise.

For how much do you qualify? You'll now have to figure the difference calculated above on each individual crop enterprise and multiply the difference for each crop times the acres planted to figure the production loss. This production loss is then multiplied by a FSA-provided price for the specific crop allowing determination of the production loss amount. These amounts are totaled and any gross crop insurance or disaster assistance proceeds received are subtracted. The final amount is what you would qualify for in loan proceeds. Yes, the loan proceeds require collateral but can be received with an interest rate of 3.75 percent and a normal repayment term of seven years.

Yield calculations can get a little tricky if you don't have an APH yield to use, but the FSA has guidelines to follow in calculating a usable yield. If you feel the need for a little assistance in getting your financial situation together, you should consider enrolling in the Farm Business Management (FBM) Program. Not only will you get a full financial and enterprise analysis completed on your farm, but it can help you find the best solutions to keep your farm profitable. They'll even help you determine if you qualify for an emergency loan and if it is right for you. Call 1-800-959-6282 to contact your local FBM instructor.

Neil Bursheim to perform Fosston concert Oct. 30

After much anticipation, McIntosh violinist, Neil Bursheim, with piano accompaniment from his mother, Meredith, will perform in concert at the Fosston Library and Art Center on Sunday, Oct. 30.

Bursheim has recruited friends and accomplished musicians George French on piano and Jeff Menten on fiddle, to join him for the 3 p.m. concert which will be a free-will fundraiser benefiting the Building Fund of the Fosston Library and Arts Association.

The group of northwestern Minnesota's finest musicians will perform a variety of solos and duets featuring Norwegian folk tunes, gospel songs and hymns, along with a rousing Rag Time number.

The Fosston Library and Arts Association is dedicated to enriching the lives of citizens by preserving, enhancing and promoting cultural opportunities through the visual, performing and creative arts.

The Arts Center is located at 403 Foss Avenue North.

Marguerite G. Quale, 82

Red Wing - Marguerite "Peg" Geraldine Quale, 82, of Red Wing, formerly of Thief River Falls, died on Wednesday, October 19, 2005 at Fairview Red Wing Medical Center.

A memorial service was held on Saturday, Oct. 22, at United Lutheran Church in Red Wing, with Rev. Steve Timm officiating. Interment was held at Riverside Cemetery in Fargo, N.D. Honorary casket bearers included grandsons, Daniel, Joshua and Brock Mosher.

Marguerite was born on October 24, 1922, in Thief River Falls, to Clarence Silas and Caroline (Aspelund) Simonson. She was a 1940 graduate of Thief River Falls High School and received her bachelor of science degree in elementary education from Moorhead State University. She taught at Clara Barton Elementary School in Fargo, N.D.

She married Robert Quale on November 29, 1946, in Thief River Falls. He died in 1971. She continued teaching until retiring in 1981, and moving to Fremont, Calif. She moved to Red Wing in 1991. She was a member of United Lutheran Church and enjoyed playing bridge, reading and solving crossword puzzles.

Survivors include her daughter, Janet (Tome) Mosher of Wabasha; her son, Robert (Jill) Quale of Claymont, Del.; four grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; three sisters, Annette (Carl) Colombo of Paradise, Calif.; Betty Munford of Fremont, Calif, and Shirley (Al) Gavazza of La Quinta, Calif.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her husband; one grandson; one brother, Erik Simonson and one sister, Harriet Coons.

CAEP scholarship grants available

Young Americans who like rural life and are interested in seeing more of the world, meeting new people and learning about life abroad while earning their way and gaining practical work experience have a unique opportunity.

The Communicating for Agriculture Exchange Program (CAEP) will offer a wide range of opportunities in 2006 for young Americans to live and train overseas in agriculture-related production and business operations. CAEP will again be offering special scholarship grants to several outbound exchange program participants next year through the Communicating for Agriculture Scholarship and Education Foundation.

For more information on the CAEP program, call 1-800-432-3276, ex-3512; or go to CAEP's Web site at www.caepusa.org.

Young TRF resident writes to the President

time, Jared was at his mom's house.

"I then called and ran it to his mommy's to show them," said Melannie. "We thought it was great."

The president, or much more likely one of his staff members, wrote a letter back to Jared. The letter contained many more sentences than Jared's letter, and it noted that young Americans should listen to their parents. It also noted that the president and first lady sent their best wishes to Jared. Along with the letter, Jared received a picture of President George W. Bush stepping onto Air Force One and waving.

"It was a surprise and a thrill for everybody," said Melannie. "We enjoyed it."

Jared, a first grader at Challenger Elementary School, brought the letter and picture to school, but not before asking his teacher if it was all right. When asked what his classmates said when they saw the letter and picture, Jared said, "Wow."

After seeing a commercial about the dangers of smoking, Jared Lundstrom (center) of Thief River Falls recently wrote an eight-word letter to President George W. Bush. He wrote, "My mom smokes cigarettes, but my dad doesn't." In return, Jared received a letter and photograph of the president. Jared's siblings, 5-year-old Jaelyn and 9-year-old Jacob, shared in their brother's excitement about receiving the items.

Home heating – One mistake and you're toast

When temperatures drop, home fires increase. Heating equipment is the second-leading cause of home fires in Minnesota. (Cooking is number one.) Those statistics are consistent year after year – even when temperatures stay comfortable through the fall.

October is Fire Prevention Month, and Minnesota State Fire Marshal Jerry Rosendahl said it's a good time for a safety reminder. "Cooking and heating make winter enjoyable," said Rosendahl. "They're also the biggest culprits when it comes to home fires, but they don't start fires by themselves. Human error is the real problem."

Some of those errors can be avoided by following these safety measures at home:

- Have chimneys inspected, and furnaces tuned up. Dirty chimneys and ducts start fires. Gas leaks cause explosions.
- Most home heating fires involve portable or fixed space heaters. Keep them away from flammable materials and always turn them off before going to sleep or leaving a room. Remember that portable heaters can be knocked over by children and pets.
- Use fireplaces and wood stoves carefully. Use doors or a screen; flying sparks can cause flames.
- When buying new heating equipment of any kind, select products listed by an independent testing laboratory. Have it installed by a qualified contractor.

For more information on fire safety, visit the National Fire Protection Association Web site (www.nfpa.org) or call the local fire department. The State Fire Marshal Division Web site (www.fire.state.mn.us) contains links to fire safety education materials for children and adults.

"Fire safety is a learned behavior," said Rosendahl. "It needs to be learned; it needs to be modeled. We can all stay warm safely if we also stay informed."

$167 worth of amusement...

Local man surprised as his book is being sold for more than $180

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Dr. Steve Levinson of Newfolden was a little amused when he recently looked at Amazon.com. After all, he found a book he co-authored was being sold for more than $180. The book has a list price of $13.

Levinson, director of the Mental Health Division at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls, co-authored "Following Through: A Revolutionary New Model For Finishing Whatever You Start" with Pete Greider. They wrote the book in 1998.

Greider called Levinson recently to tell him their book was being sold for more than $180 on Amazon.com. Levinson was surprised and looked at the Web site himself. "It's provided a little bit of amusement, comic relief," Levinson said.

Several unsuccessful attempts were made to reach Amazon.com media relations representatives about the likelihood of books being sold for that much over their list prices.

Levinson talked to a book collector about his book being sold for substantially more than the list price. The book collector told him that usually happens when books are out of print, Levinson said. "Following Through" isn't out of print.

"It's absolutely nuts," Levinson said about the price for which some people are selling the book.

Recently, the book saw a sharp increase in sales. Levinson attributed the increase to it being embraced by the personal and executive coaching industry. "This has done very well in large sales – 30 or 50 at a pop," said Levinson, who noted many businesses buy copies of the book for their department leaders or managers.

The book is also available electronically for $10. Of course, with an electronic version, there isn't the problem of a publisher or bookstore running out of copies of the book.

Levinson believes the book has been reprinted four times. Each time, he said, the book was sold out, and the publisher waited to publish more copies in order to increase demand for the book.

"We have indications that the publisher is not going to reprint," Levinson said.

Levinson hopes the authors will be released from their obligations to the publisher, he said. If that happens, the authors can go to another publisher and revise their 1998 book.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q: I receive Social Security disability, am age 58, and soon might have opportunity for a good job. If this works out will my SSA checks stop? Will my Medicare continue? Could I go on regular Social Security retirement?

A: First, although people generally only consider retirement benefits when thinking of Social Security, disability, survivor and retirement benefits are all "regular" Social Security. They are just different benefit categories. If you return to work be sure to notify Social Security. Generally a person on SSA disability, not Supplemental Security Income (SSI), has a trial work period of 9 months during which disability benefits will not end or go down because of your return to work. These 9 months need not be consecutive. After this period is completed your record should be reviewed. Keep track of your monthly earnings and, if Social Security does not contact you after 9 months of work, you should definitely re-contact your local SSA office about reviewing your record. If your earnings then are high enough to be considered "substantial," a figure that changes yearly, cash benefits would end but your Medicare coverage would continue for several years. If your earnings are not considered "substantial" your benefits would continue as would the Medicare. You would likely also be able have the disability benefits restarted if you had to stop working. Assuming for the moment that your disability benefits ended and you continued to work until eventual retirement, you could sign up for Social Security retirement then.

Employer reminder: You can make your payroll reporting easier. Now is a good time to be absolutely sure you have the correct social security number for all of your employees. Check that the name on your records matches the name on the person's social security card too. Opportunity still exists for small individual employers, CPA's and accounting firms that prepare W-2's to report wage information and process W-2 forms electronically for this year. Advance registration is required. Act now to enroll for free electronic reporting. Go to the employer section of the SSA Web site at www.socialsecurity.gov/employer and then to Business Services Online (BSO) to register. Other online services will become available [illegible] through the employer [illegible]

Minnesota cities eligible for Fit City initiative

Do you live in a fit city? A new state initiative announced recently will help Minnesota citizens answer that question.

Gov. Tim Pawlenty and Minnesota Health Commissioner Dianne Mandernach have announced they are inviting cities across the state to apply to become a "Governor's Fit City." Minnesota cities that meet certain criteria for supporting and encouraging residents to be more physically active will receive the new designation, which can be displayed on signs placed on roadways entering the city.

The "Governor's Fit City" initiative is part of an overall push by Pawlenty to encourage fitness. Earlier, the governor declared 2005 "The Year of Fitness" in Minnesota and created the "Governor's Fitness Challenge," which allows citizens to track their fitness progress online at www.beactiveminnesota.org. The Governor's Health Cabinet distributed more than 24,000 "Get Up. Get Out. Get Fit." wristbands at the State Fair to people who signed up for the "Governor's Fitness Challenge."

"Minnesota is the healthiest state in the nation," Pawlenty said. "But sometimes cold weather or the lure of junk food can cause us to lapse on our fitness goals. This new designation is a great way to motivate entire communities to provide activities and focus on physical well-being. In the end, fitter cities are healthier and help reduce healthcare costs for everyone."

Cities can apply for the "Governor's Fit City" designation by completing a short online application available at www.health.state.mn.us/fitcity. The application asks cities to indicate their commitment to promoting physical activity according to several criteria. Those criteria include whether a city has adopted a value statement affirming the importance of fitness; whether a city has created inviting places to walk; whether a city has sponsored at least one fitness activity; and whether a city has developed recreation areas that encourage fitness.

"Physical activity improves nearly every aspect of a person's health," said Mandernach. "It also contributes to better overall health for entire communities. That's why we encourage all cities to strive to become 'Governor's Fit Cities.'" Mandernach also noted that physical activity can help contain rising healthcare costs. She cited a 2002 MDH study showing that nearly $500 million was spent treating medical conditions resulting from physical inactivity in 2000.

Cities that meet the minimum criteria for "Governor's Fit City" designation will receive a plaque and may also choose to have "Governor's Fit City" signs placed on roadways entering the city.

More information about the "Governor's Fit City" program can be found at www.health.state.mn.us/fitcity.

EERC leads project to reduce health risks from pesticide exposure

The Energy and Environmental Research Center (EERC) at the University of North Dakota (UND) announced last week that it has been awarded $496,000 to initiate and lead a program to determine the heath risks caused by exposure to pesticides. This is the first phase of a planned multiyear $9 million program. The project is funded by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Recent medical literature suggests that exposure to pesticides is associated with a number of health problems including neurologic dysfunction. Exposure to pesticides has been linked to an increased risk of developing neurodegenerative disorders such as Parkinson's disease and Multiple Sclerosis. An estimated 18 new cases of pesticide-related illnesses occur each year for every 100,000 workers in the United States.

The EERC-led program will provide a better overall understanding of how people are exposed to pesticides and the impacts of pesticide exposure on human heath. The first step in this program will involve investigating a correlation between the occurrence of neurological diseases and pesticide use in this region. Next, researchers will evaluate the transport and potential neurological effects of pesticides and their by-products. Finally, strategies will be developed to reduce the risk of pesticide exposure for at-risk populations.

"Activities are already under way to develop the information needed to correlate health data and pesticide data, as well as to evaluate potential pesticide exposure pathways," said EERC Senior Research Advisor and Technical Manager Edward Steadman.

The northern Great Plains region represents a unique opportunity to investigate the links between pesticide use and nerodegenerative diseases. Most areas of the United States are exposed to a wide range of pollutants from industrial sources, making the task of discerning the health effects of pesticides more difficult to quantify. Previous research at the EERC has demonstrated that pesticides are more prevalent relative to other airborne organic pollutants in North Dakota and therefore, it will be easier to differentiate the effects of pesticides from other pollutants.

Altru Outreatch and Newfolden Elementary aim to lighten burden of backpacks

In September, Newfolden Elementary held a school backpack "weigh-in" to encourage third to sixth grade students to "Lighten Up." This effort was part of National School Backpack Awareness Day held nationwide to educate children, parents, teachers, and communities about the serious health problems children may have from backpacks that are too heavy or worn improperly. Occupational therapy practitioners advise a backpack strategy of "Pack it light, wear it right."

More than 40 million children in the United States carry school backpacks, and more than half of them may be carrying too much weight. Children carrying overloaded backpacks experience neck, shoulder, and back pain; adverse effects on posture and the developing spine; and compromised breathing and fatigue.

Strategies for loading and wearing backpacks:

- Backpacks should weigh no more than 15 percent of body weight (15-pound pack on a 100-pound child);
- Load heaviest items closest to the child's back;
- Wear both shoulder straps for an evenly balanced load;
- Adjust shoulder and waist straps to distribute the burden more evenly along the child's back; and
- Suggest that teachers consider the total weight of each day's assigned class work — not only in content, but also in terms of textbook weight.

School Board officials address child development and transportation issues at a legislative level

by David Hill
Editor

The way some parents handle child development, and some school districts handle transportation of non-resident students has representatives in School District 564 worked up enough to propose changes.

Although it's not unusual for resolutions to the legislature to come from school boards and school board associations, two local representatives on the Board of Education for School District 564 - Thief River Falls, have taken the unusual step of proposing legislative resolutions to the Minnesota School Board Association. What has them worked up to propose legislative reforms?

Board of Education for School District 564 recently introduced a modification to its typical agenda. That modification encourages representatives to bring forth any issues they feel might be relevant for all members to discuss. Monday, the chairman for the Board of Education, Steve Young, presented background to a proposed a resolution the board approved at its previous meeting. That resolution urges the legislature to restrict school districts from providing out-of-district transportation for the express purpose of transporting non-resident open enrollment students into their districts. And, Barb Kalinoski, representative and clerk on the Board of Education, has proposed that the legislature add classwork in child development to Minnesota high school curriculums for the purpose of educating future parents and caregivers about children's intellectual, emotional and physical development.

Transportation

Steve Young said the way student transportation is handled under the open enrollment option has bothered him for years. Now he wants the legislature to do something about it.

In the background and rationale statement he provided the Board of Education, Young explains that more than 30,000 Minnesota students applied last year to attend a non-resident district under the enrollment options program. This program was established under MS124D.03 to enable any pupil to attend a school or program in a district in which the pupil does not reside.

Under the transportation provisions of this statute, the nonresident district is required to provide transportation within the district if it is requested. The resident district, on the other hand, is not required to provide or pay for transportation between the pupil's residence and the border of the nonresident district. Reimbursement to a student for transportation to the border is allowed under certain conditions.

Young believes that numerous school districts in the state of Minnesota dedicate transportation resources (school buses, bus drivers, fuel, and maintenance) to the "importation" of nonresident students, and this appears to be inconsistent with the provisions of the statute.

Young believes the open enrollment options statute was not established to create a "student recruitment tool." Subject to some restrictions, he believes it was established to provide students and parents a choice. He also doesn't believe it was the intent of open enrollment to provide students' free transportation from their place of residence to the border of a nonresident district, except under certain conditions. He believes dedicating funds to out-of-district transportation of open-enrollment students are unintended, in some cases, and a wasteful expenditure of taxpayer dollars, and a violation of public trust, in other cases.

Child Development

Barb Kalinoski is proposing that the legislature add course work in child development to Minnesota high school curriculums.

In recent years, it has become evident that the knowledge kindergartners [illegible] upon entering school systems is becoming increasingly dissimilar. Some are ready to start school, while others are far behind developmental norms.

Kalinoski believes the difference is caused by a number of factors. For example, Kalinoski knows that in today's society, most children come from two-income families and parents need all the help they can get. One of the ways she proposes to address this situation is by providing tomorrow's parents with more education that addresses children's intellectual, emotional and physical development.

How many parents/caregivers know how much sugar is in one 20-ounce bottle of soda? asks Kalinoski. It's not unusual, she states, for a child to consume three 20-ounce bottles of soda - which contains as much as eight teaspoons of surgar each - in the course of a day. That's 24-teaspoons of sugar from soda alone. Add to that, she said, sweetened cereals, oversized candy bars, oversized cookies, oversized hamburgers and fries and you get one oversized kid.

The evidence educators and citizens are being provided with on a daily basis indicates that childhood obesity is increasing annually. As a result, diseases linked to obesity, such as diabetes, is increasing in frequency among children.

How many parents/caregivers understand how a child's brain develops during preschool years? asks Kalinoski. There is much attention given to preschool literacy these days, she said, but until parents understand what it involves and why it's important, it won't improve.

Kalinoski said there are reasons parents are encouraged to talk to children rather than sit them down in front of a television set, just as there are reasons for parents to read to children. How this is done and why needs to be taught to future parents.

Kalinoski doesn't believe parents and society should wait until children enter kindergarten. It's too late then, she said. She believes parents must be educated and what better place to start educating parents/caregivers, than through high school curriculum.

Butterflies signify a change

heartbeat of Mother Earth -- and singing voices of men, being played on a CD, Smith demonstrated several American Indian dances, dances which are considered prayers.

Fighting the breath-stealing affects of asthma brought on by the exertion, Smith then explained each dance to the students. As a precursor, she explained that most dances are done as prayers to the Creator so they are done with respect; most performers enter the dance circle from the east, which represents new life; and depending on where the performer lives and their culture, most dancers go clockwise or counterclockwise around the circle, which represents life. Her dresses and fans hold special significance, too. The bald eagle feathers, for example, honors the bird's spirit that carries prayers to the creator. American Indians also honor the bird's spirit by making offerings over the bird. That often includes putting a bit of food and tobacco on a plate and leaving it in the woods. It's a way of honoring the bird and praying. But Smith also had to explain the significance of tobacco to the students: In the beginning, the Creator was handing out things to the people to pray to but when he came to native people he discovered that he had run out of things to give. He started crying, and where his tears fell to the earth a plant grew - the tobacco plant. Finally, he had something to give to the native people. To this day, tobacco is used in prayer.

Smith also discussed traditional roles of men and women. Men, for example, are considered hunters, and the women as sacred vessels. Women are never to sit at a drum circle because they are too sacred, but the home is generally considered the woman's.

American Indian culture is rich in history, yet much of its current history of mistreatment is rarely discussed publicly and even more rarely included in print. These things, Smith said, are not found in textbooks.

Even in Minnesota bounties were offered for scalps. That's not something found in textbooks, said Smith. Smith also described how they were forced from their lands to less fertile lands; how they were given blankets from people who had been exposed to smallpox; how food and supplies were delayed in order to force them into submission; how children were removed from their homes, their hair cut, and language forbidden because they were looked upon as barbaric savages. American Indians, she noted, were not considered citizens until 1924.

The Creator doesn't always answer the prayers of its native people. Sometimes, she said, the Creator gives them challenges to overcome. The times of the past were certainly difficult times. Today, said Smith, native people still struggle to find balance between a traditional world and a modern one.

Smith has always included the butterfly in her decorations. It wasn't until recently, however, that she discovered the meaning of the butterfly. In American Indian cultures, the butterfly symbolizes life altering change. During her life journey, Smith has undergone a transformation, and it is quite possible that she has affected the life journey of Lincoln High School choir students, too.

Choir at Lincoln High School isn't just about singing, it's about learning, too. This year, the choir is focusing on three different cultures in a project they are calling "Woven Threads."

Laparoscopic gastric bypass boom

the newer surgery may not recommended for some patients, who've had multiple abdominal surgeries or suffer from extreme cases of obesity. For those patients, traditional gastric bypass surgery is still recommended.

Typically a patient who is considering the surgery will spend six months to a year contemplating the important lifestyle decision that he/she is faced with. Once the lifestyle changing decision is made, a patient will receive a psychological evaluation to make sure he or she is informed and mentally prepared to handle the surgery's recovery and diet plan. They are also encouraged to talk to patients who have underwent the procedure.

"Most people talk to patients who have had it done, hearing both good and bad results," Redd said. Redd said the surgery has a success rate of 75 percent, meaning that one fourth of all patients regain some or all of the weight they lost.

The prospective patient will meet with Redd, Bray or Dr. Brett Vibeto, who will explain the procedure in great detail. Surgery is scheduled once insurance preauthorization is received.

The prospective patient will next meet with Alicia Haviland, bariatrics nurse coordinator. Haviland further educates the patient about the procedure and what he or she can expect after recovery is completed.

When meeting with prospective patients, Haviland makes sure patients understand the risk involved with surgery and how one's life will change because of it. She also tries to give patients a realistic expectation of their first days of recovery.

"This is not a magic trick where you magically wake up thin," cautions Haviland. "This surgery is hard work. Patients must commit to an altered lifestyle."

Haviland also urges patients to make gastric bypass surgery a last resort when all other weight loss methods have failed. With Haviland, patients will rehearse the day of the surgery, including stops at the front desk, prep area, operating room and recovery area. Haviland feels that it is less intimidating for patients to see the various rooms ahead of time.

Along with meeting with Haviland, patients are also required to begin attending bariatric support group meetings.

The surgery and recovery

After being admitted to the hospital on the day of the surgery, a patient is given a nurses assessment, his or her I.V. is started and preoperation medication is administered. At this point the patient meets with the surgeon and anesthetist.

Early Laparoscopic surgeries have taken between two and three hours to complete, compared to one to three hours for the traditional surgery. Redd feels the surgery will be a little quicker once Bray and he are more familiar with the new procedure.

Following the completed surgery, a patient will have post operation meetings with his or her surgeon one, two, four and six weeks after the surgery. Followup visits are required monthly for the first year following surgery and every six months after that. Patients are also encouraged to attend monthly bariatric support group meetings and groups like weight watchers.

"You have to be disciplined afterwards to ensure that the surgery works," Redd said. "You can overeat the surgery."

Following surgery patients are limited to liquids, sipping all day long for the first month. Patients begin with less than one ounce of liquid and gradually increase intake from there.

Laparoscopic gastric bypass surgery was performed for the first time at Northwest Medical Center on Monday, Sept. 12. That patient was released on Sept. 15.

"I think that the new program is going to work well and we expect good outcomes," Bray said.

A total of 10 laparoscopic gastric bypass surgeries have been performed.

Decorations worn by Native Americans during dances have special meanings. Delana Smith recently gave a presentation on Native American history and culture to choir students at Lincoln High School, Thief River Falls.

Manufacturers' economic power add to influence

aware of some of the problems.

Low unemployment is good and bad. Bultnick noted that manufacturers report that it has become difficult to find skilled workers. Not only is that the result of a good economy, but Bultnick said, in general, it's due to the response of manufacturers trying to maintain a competitive edge. They've streamlined production, and invested in advanced equipment. This means, however, that the demand for skilled workers has also increased.

Schools are beginning to respond by adopting new curriculum that includes manufacturing management, development of skills standards, and by collaborating with manufacturers to develop curriculum for students who can meet manufacturer's needs. It's important because the future of manufacturing in northwest Minnesota, said Bultnick, will depend to a large extent upon collaboration between manufacturers, colleges and the leaders in their communities.

That's why Bultnick reminded manufacturers to never underestimate their influence.

LHS Choir prepares for musical journey

these residencies are for a week at a time. All of the artists will be back for one week prior to the May show.

African American

Dr. Horace Boyer - Gospel authority and black historian from Amherst, Massachusetts. Dr. Boyer has ties to the Smithsonian and numerous black scholars just to name a few of his resources. Dr. Boyer will be transcribing choral pieces for us as well as collaborating with the other artists to write a piece specifically for the choir which will combine the sounds of all three groups. He will also be playing Gospel piano and singing with the students at the concert and acting as the narrator for the Black section of the show.

Patricia Brown - Minneapolis dance/choreographer. Brown will be choreographing pieces that call for African dance movement. She will also put movement to any of the black poems or instrumental pieces.

Ahanti Young - African drummer from Minneapolis. Ahanti will be working with Patricia as the drummer. He will also be teaching some of the choir students the various drum calls that are needed to perform the African pieces. Former student Chad Rosencrans will also be helping with this section as Chad was one of Ahanti's students two years ago.

Jewish

Steve Barnett - composer, Grammy Award Winning Producer, instrumentalist, and Jewish historian. Barnett's role will involve giving information about the Jewish people all the way back to Biblical times and bring us up to speed as far as the people today. We want to know about traditions and as much about their struggles and journeys as possible. Barnett will also be asked for help in programming the Jewish section of the show, as he helped with the 2000-2001 Jewish performance of "Never Again."

"Steve would be narrating during the Jewish segment of the show. We will be performing many of Steve's arrangements," said Reese.

Henry Oertelt - Henry is a Holocaust survivor that lives in Little Canada, Minn. Oertelt will be talking with the students about his life during the Holocaust. He will dialogue with the students Oct. 27-28, 2005. The students will also be reading Henry's book entitled "An Unbroken Chain."

Kenni Holmen - Holmen is a professional woodwind player from Minneapolis. Holmen will be accompanying the choir on some of the Gospel pieces and Jewish pieces. Holmen is Lori Lines' musical director and plays in all of her shows.

Greg Theisen - Professional pianist from the McPhail Center for the Arts in Minneapolis. Theisen will be accompanying the Jewish and Jazz pieces.

Michael Pilhoffer - Professional drummer from Minneapolis. Pilhoffer is a graduate from the Eastman School of Music and is now teaching percussion at McNally in Minneapolis. Pilhoffer was the featured drummer on the 2001 Lincoln High School Choir Butterfly CD.

American Indian

Brent Michael Davids - Davids is a American Indian composer, filmscore writer, and instrumentalist from Minneapolis. Davids will play the flute for the performance in May as well as narrate the American Indian segment of the show. Davids will work with the students for one week on Indian history, traditions, and their music.

Delana Smith - American Indian dancer from Red Lake. She was crowned Miss Indian World 2004 in New Mexico. She will be teaching four dancers steps and patterns. The dancers will be performing with her at the final performance in May. She may also be dancing by herself to some of the poetry or choral pieces.

Alex and Cheevers - These professional drummers are from Oklahoma. They will be drumming during all of the American Indian pieces. Alex and Cheevers have a beautiful CD out of their own native compositions and will be performing some of them as our guest performers at the concert in May.

Gordon and Kiel Gray are American Indian storytellers from Montana. Gordon and Kiel will be speaking to the choir students October 23 through 25. They will also be drumming and singing for the students as well as talking about their people and traditions.

Thief River Falls Artists

Michelle Duffy - Duffy will be working with all of the dancers throughout the year. She will learn the majority of the choreography from the visiting artists and then work with the dancers after the visiting artists leave until they return in May.

Kristi LaSalle - LaSalle will be accompanying the choir throughout the year on various pieces. She will also be playing piano on the Carlisle Boarding School songs in the American Indian section of the show as well as other areas.

Reese said the final concert will begin with the jubilant sounds of each group and how history changed the sound to sounds of struggles and constraint. "We will deal with the exile and constraints of each group during their history. The weaving of the threads will take place through song, dance, poetry, and visuals through a state of the art projector that will be used for the May show."

The struggles will lead right into the next section which will be the triumphs of each group. We will show that despite the hardships and unbelievable struggles, these people persevered and are still strong today. We want to show the audience the beautiful music, dance, words, sounds, and colors that they have given us.

The curriculum will address history, art forms, racial issues, stereotypes, and above all the beauty of each group of people. Along with that, the choir will be challenged with quality choral music from all three groups. They will be challenged to create powerful messages thru the power of the arts. The show in May will flow from one group to the next and make sense along the way through narration and the flow of the music, the dance, the visuals, and the drum.

This entire project is being funded by the LHS Choir Boosters, grants, concert proceeds, private individuals and two fundraisers by the Bel Canto choir members. The following organizations and private individuals have donated funds to help defray the costs of the various artists: Dondelinger Foundation, Beito Foundation, TRF Education Foundation, Kevin and Michelle Duffy, Cody and Misty Hempel, Barb and Greg Kalinoski, Kalinowski Construction, Dr. Borgen, Dr. Seaverson, Thoele Photography, KTRF Radio, Ben and Marilyn Sayler, various individuals who supported the Bel Canto catalog fundraiser, and Northwest Regional Development Commission, which is made possible in part by a grant provided by the Northwest Regional Arts Council through funding from the Minnesota State Arts Board and the Minnesota State Legislature.

Individuals interested in obtaining more information or would like to support this project please write to Darcy Reese at dreese@trf.k12.mn.us for more information and details; or, check out the choir's Web site: www.lhschoir.org.

Each dance has a specific meaning. Delana Smith demonstrates the Jingle Dress dance. She recently visited with Lincoln High School choir students about the history and culture of Native Americans.

Permit for fertilizer facility approved

Resident Wendy Lehrer said her husband farmed for many years, before developing asthma from all of the dust. She questioned Northwest Grain's reasoning.

"Why would somebody be allowed to build a facility like that when none of the adjoining property owners want it," Lehrer said. "None of us are in favor of it."

"We feel we have a plant that's not going to interfere with your manner of living or your property," Miller said, responding to residents concerns. "It's a well engineered plan, a nice looking facility that's going to be environmentally friendly. We're operating one in town right now, without any complaints. I feel we're doing a good job here and I don't feel that's going to change."

Township supervisor Scott Bergland tried to calm the fears of residents, by reminding them that the facility has many more obstacles to overcome before it's completed.

"This is a step in the process," Bergland said. "There are many steps, many hoops that they have to jump through yet. This is only a step, it's a big step, there's no question about that, because we of course could say no and then they'd have to go elsewhere."

North Township resident Chester Camp voiced a different kind of concern.

"I would say, not to be derogatory in any way, the facility they are laying out looks like it's one of the best facilities and up to code, but the question I raised a month ago, the railroad tracks they are going to use are very ancient," Camp said. "The railroad bed right now typically hosts trains of 20-25 cars. Now they plan to hold trains of 65-70 cars on that track. That track has not been kept up for years."

One resident whose property borders the plant doesn't feel there is much to worry about.

"It doesn't bother me a b[illegible]," [illegible] Jim H[illegible]. "Their plant is [illegible] and the state isn't going to [illegible] anything that would [illegible]."

North Township findings

The North Township Board of Supervisors approved the rezoning request and recognized the following findings of fact based on presentations made by Northwest Grain officials and North Township residents.

- Northwest Grain has filed an application to rezone the real estate from urban/residential to industrial for use of mixing, storage and sale of fertilizer, chemicals and seeds. The fertilizer plant will have the capacity to hold 24,000 tons of fertilizer with trains coming once or twice a month.
- The rezoning would not affect the health and safety of occupants of the surrounding area as there is only minor dust and unloading is done in such a fashion as to minimize the possibility of spills and the company has not had spills at its current location.
- Rezoning would not affect the general welfare of the occupants of surrounding lands, as noise from the railroad would be at a minimum and would only be once or twice a month; there is no smell from the fertilizer; rats will be controlled; machines are washed in the farmer's field; chemicals sold are shipped by trucks and are protected from spills to the best of Northwest Grain's ability.
- The rezoning will not impede normal development as there are other industrial type businesses in the area, development has been slow in this area and the area is largely farmland, which has not been developed for any other use.
- The rezoning will reduce the value of adjoining properties as no one wants to own a house next to a fertilizer and chemical plant.
- The rezoning will not impose undue hardship on adjacent landowners as the noise will be at a minimum from the trains and only once or twice a month and there is no odor from the fertilizer. There are no other nuisance factors in regard to the plant.
- That the necessary utilities and public services are available as electricity is available and a well will be drilled for water and a septic system will be installed and garbage collection is available.
- That alternate areas have been considered. Northwest Grain is working with the railroad and the [illegible] feels that this is the best site [illegible].
- There is a public need for this land use as farmers in the area need the service and a location farther from the city and on a larger parcel allows a better service to be provided to the farmers.

The township board also approved a conditional use permit with the following findings.

- Northwest Grain has filed an application for a conditional use permit for mixing, storage and sale of fertilizer, chemicals and seeds. The real estate has been rezoned to industrial. The zoning ordinance requires a conditional use permit in an industrial zoning area for mixing, storage and sale of fertilizer, chemicals and seeds.
- Conditional use as a fertilizer, seed and chemical plant will not be injurious to the use and enjoyment of property in the immediate vicinity as there will be only minor dust, there will be minor noise once or twice a month when the trains arrive and the unloading will be done in such a fashion as to minimize spills. The company has not had spills at its current location.
- Allegations have been made that this conditional use permit will reduce the value of adjoining homeowners, but no proof was provided.
- The rezoning will impede the orderly development of this area as it will discourage development of this area for any residential use as no one will want an industrial building by their home.
- That the necessary utilities and public services are available as electricity is available and a well will be drilled for water and a septic system will be installed and garbage collection is available. In addition, a drainage plan is being developed by engineers.
- That adequate measures have been taken to prevent or control offensive odors as the fertilizer essentially has no odors, there is a minimal amount of dust, a minimal amount of noise when the trains would come in once or twice a month, none of these would constitute a nuisance.

Approval of the conditional use permit also includes the following conditions. The storage of anhydrous ammonia is prohibited, a MnDOT grade tree buffer strip, subject to railroad and property owner approval will be planted on west side of tracks, and trucks will not be allowed to operate within the plant between 11:30 p.m. and [illegible] a.m.

The TIMES

Mesabi Range wins 'playoff' game

There will be no "post" in Northland's 2005 football season. A 39-24 Thursday loss to Mesabi Range eliminated the Pioneers from the Minnesota Community College Conference playoff picture.

In a match-up that promised a post-season spot to the winner, the visiting Norsemen jumped out to an early 13-0 lead and had a 33-12 cushion at halftime.

Northland did pull within 33-24 with 4 1/2 minutes remaining in the game, but could not get any closer. It jumped to a 15-point spread when Mesabi Range scored on an 80-yard pass interception at the final horn.

"We didn't play a very good first half," admitted Northland coach Guy Finstrom. "The kids fought back in the second half. But it wasn't enough."

The Pioneers fell to .500 in both Northern Division (2-2) and overall (4-4) play. They finish the year Saturday with a 1:30 p.m. game at Hibbing.

Mesabi Range opened the playoff showdown with a first-possession 6-play, 54-yard touchdown drive that ended with a 9-yard pass from Anthony Johnson to Ray Moore. The conversion kick by Matt Droher made it 7-0 with just 1:41 gone.

A 54-yard punt return for a touchdown by Frank Williams upped the difference to 13-0 near the midway mark of the first quarter.

Northland showed some grit with an impressive 18-play, 85-yard touchdown drive capped by a 2-yard Steve Stene dive on the first play of the second quarter.

The Pioneers were right back in the game when the Norsemen dropped a punt snap and Northland took possession at the Mesabi Range 34-yard line.

Six plays later quarterback Calvin Tolliver lobbed the ball into the left corner of the end zone, where Marcellous Frizzie made an over-the-shoulder catch for an 8-yard touchdown and a 13-12 game with 10:31 left in the half.

Northland, however, couldn't maintain the momentum. Mesabi Range responded with an 8-play, 73-yard touchdown drive to push its lead to 19-12 on a 3-yard Nigel Smith touchdown run.

The Pioneers appeared to meet the challenge with a 12-play series that reached the Mesabi Range 28 before losing a fumble.

It was a play that seemed to take the steam out of the Pioneers, who promptly gave up two touchdowns in the final 2:40 of the first half to fall behind by 21 at intermission.

"That was a key right there," said Finstrom, referring to the late-half turnaround of events.

Seven plays after the fumble, Johnson and Moore hooked up on a 6-yard touchdown pass.

The Norsemen held the Pioneers without a first down, forcing a punt with 1:24 on the clock. They only needed 41 of those seconds to score again as Kyle Lindgren ran under a ball that Johnson lofted into the end zone for a 4-yard touchdown and the 33-12 halftime gap.

To Northland's credit, they kept Mesabi Range off the scoreboard in the second half – save for the final-play interception.

The Pioneers went 75 yards in 17 plays to set up a 3-yard Will Leetch touchdown with 4:01 remaining in the third quarter and they covered 80 yards in 19 plays for a 23-yard Tolliver-to-Frizzie toss-and-catch to make it 33-24 with 4:36 to play in the game.

Trying to hurry for a late-game score, the Pioneers were at the Mesabi Range 35 when a Tolliver pass downfield landed in the arms of Williams – the punt return scorer – who elected to weave his way down the field for the touchdown well after the horn had sounded.

TRF swims True Team state meet

Thief River Falls competed for the second straight year in the True Team Class A girls state high school swim meet at the University of Minnesota Aquatic Center in Minneapolis over the weekend.

Red Wing won Minnesota State High School Coaches Association-sponsored event with 1,492 points, followed by Northfield with 1,413, Visitation 1,265, Fergus Falls 1,207, Mankato West 1,180.5, Monticello 1,058, Hutchinson 1,002.5, Hibbing 660, Thief River Falls 598 and Breck School 27.

The Lacy Knott-coached Prowlers advanced to the state meet by winning the Section 8A True Team title Oct. 15 at Warroad.

A Tuesday (Oct. 25) home double-dual vs. Warroad and Lake of the Woods, followed by the Saturday (Oct. 28) North Border Conference meet at Warroad, wraps up the Prowlers' regular season schedule.

North Sub-Section 8AAA volleyball...

Prowlers, Panthers will meet in opener

North Sub-Section 8AAA high school volleyball tournament starts Thursday when No. 8-seeded Thief River Falls hosts No. 9 Park Rapids Area.

The winner will tackle top-seeded Moorhead in the Friday quarterfinals on the Spuds' home floor.

High seeds will host the Tuesday, Nov. 1, semifinals. Championship match will take place Thursday, Nov. 3, at a neutral site.

North and South Sub-Section 8AAA winners will meet in the Saturday, Nov. 5, state tournament-qualifying Section 8AAA finals at a neutral site.

All Section 8AAA matches have 7 p.m. start times.

Set by the regional committee, Section 8AAA tournament ticket prices are $6 for adults and $4 for students in grades K-12. No regular season passes will be honored.

The Lincoln High School gym will also be utilized as a neutral site court for a Section 8AA volleyball tournament doubleheader Friday, Oct. 28. Opponents have not been determined. Play starts at 6 p.m. The second contest begins 25 minutes following the completion of the first match.

North Sub-Section 8AAA Volleyball

■ Seeding positions - 1. Moorhead; 2. Alexandria; 3. Perham; 4. Bemidji; 5. Detroit Lakes; 6. Fergus Falls; 7. Brainerd; 8. Thief River Falls; 9. Park Rapids Area.

■ First round Thursday, Oct. 27 - Park Rapids Area at Thief River Falls.

■ Quarterfinals Friday, Oct. 28 - (Upper Bracket) Thief River Falls or Park Rapids Area at Moorhead; Detroit Lakes at Bemidji; (Lower Bracket) Brainerd at Alexandria; Fergus Falls at Perham.

■ Semifinals Tuesday, Nov. 1 - at high seeds.

■ Championship Thursday, Nov. 3 - at neutral site.

MCCC tournament returning to NCTC

■ Volleyball matches set Saturday, Sunday

Minnesota Community College Conference state volleyball tournament will be played in Thief River Falls for a fourth straight year when eight teams take to the Northland Community and Technical College courts Saturday and Sunday.

The top four finishers in the regular season Northern and Southern Division standings earned the post-season spots. Central Lakes, Itasca, Hibbing and Mesabi Range are seeded 1-through-4, respectively, from the North; Ridgewater, Minnesota West, Fergus Falls and Rochester, finished in that order in the South.

Saturday's matches will follow a two-pool, round-robin schedule. Those results will determine the pairings for Sunday's trophy round matches.

Pool play matches will be three games to 30 points. Championship matches will be best-of-five contests – the first four games to 30 points, with the fifth and deciding game, if needed, to 15.

The Northland gym will be open to tournament teams for practice Friday from noon to 5:15 p.m. A tournament banquet is scheduled for the NCTC Swenson House at 7 that night.

Northland Athletics Director Deb Jacobson is the tournament director.

The tournament's four-year run in Thief River Falls is due in part to Northland's facility that allows two matches to be be played simultaneously. The only other MCCC school that can duplicate Northland's two-court lay-out is Rochester. And with the Yellowjackets ticketed to host the 2005 National Junior College Athletic Association Division III national tournament, the state tournament returned to northwest Minnesota.

Section 8AAA semifinals are Saturday

Section 8AAA high school football playoffs head into the semifinal round Saturday, Oct. 29, at a pair of home sites, based upon seeding positions.

Championship game will be played Friday, Nov. 4, at the Alerus Center in Grand Forks, N.D.

Ticket prices have been set by the regional committee at $6 for adults and $4 for students K-12. No regular season passed will be honored.

Section 8AAA Football

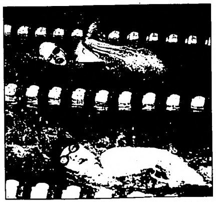
■ Quarterfinals Tuesday, Oct. 25 - (7 p.m.) 8. Park Rapids Area (1-7) at 1. Crookston (7-1); 5. Warroad (3-5) at 4. Perham (6-2); 6. Pequot Lakes (2-6) at 3. East Grand Forks (4-4); 7. Roseau (3-5) at No. 2. Thief River Falls (4-4).

■ Semifinals Saturday, Oct. 29 - (at high seeds, times TBA) Crookston or Park Rapids Area vs. Warroad or Perham; East Grand Forks or Pequot Lakes vs. Roseau or Thief River Falls.

■ Championship Friday, Nov. 4 - Alerus Center, 8 p.m.

Katie Pribula of Thief River Falls finished second in the 100-yard butterfly in a time of 1:14:11 during a dual swim meet with the Perham Yellowjackets at the Franklin Middle School pool Thursday.



Kailey Bakken, Thief River Falls Prowler swimmer, had a fairly comfortable lead in 200-yard freestyle Thursday, but the Perham swimmer made it a much closer race near the end. Bakken touched out her opponent at the finish.

The trophy followed the Thief River Falls team into the pool following the Prowlers' championship performance during the 2005 Section 8A True Team swim meet Oct. 15 at Warroad. Submitted photo.

Mustangs' season ends at 1-7

Red Lake County Central head coach Ethan Marquis knew the challenge that awaited his No. 8-seeded Mustangs heading into the 2005 Section 8 Nine-Man high school football playoffs. A Saturday quarterfinal match-up against top-seeded Stephen-Argyle followed script as the two-time defending state champion Storm won 46-18.

"It's difficult to plan for and play a team as talented as Stephen-Argyle," confessed Marquis. "I was happy with the effort put forth by our guys. At times, we made nice plays. However, our numbers and depth were no match for their powerful team. They looked as smooth as ever, and I expect them to do great things again this year. They're definitely a championship-caliber team."

Stephen-Argyle, a 43-6 winner when the two teams met in a Sept. 9 regular season game at Plummer, jumped out to a 27-0 first quarter lead in the post-season rematch. It was 39-6 at halftime.

Red Lake County Central scoring included a 23-yard Andrew Vettleson pass to Nathan Whalen, an 8-yard run by Dale Rystad and a 15-yard run by Stephen Whalen.

The Mustangs finished the year 1-7.

"For now, we look to continue building our program," offered Marquis. "We need to get our health back, and start planning for next year. We have some younger players who have much potential."

Steve Stene picked up 13 yards on this second quarter carry for the Northland running back during Thursday's Minnesota Community College Conference football match-up with Mesabi Range. Larry Shivers (35) of the Norsemen came up empty-handed on a diving tackle attempt, while Cedric Scott (30) tried to take an angle on the play. Northland fell 39-24 in the final home appearance of the 2005 season.

Northland snaps losing streak

A 1-3 showing at the regular season-ending Crossover Tournament hosted by Central Lakes Thursday allowed the Northland Community and Technical College to avoid a winless 2005 volleyball campaign.

The Pioneers finished 1-21.

Rochester swept Northland 30-21, 30-12 in the first round and Fergus Falls handled the Pioneers 30-10, 30-23 in Round 2.

Northland finally broke into the win column with a 30-26, 30-28 third round decision over Vermilion.

The Pioneers' bid for back-to-back victories was turned back by Rochester 31-33, 31-29, 15-7.

"We didn't play very well the first two matches," said Northland coach Missy Majerus. "After the second game against Fergus Falls, we made some changes. The girls got together and decided to switch Chelsey Fering to the outside and move Jasmyn Barth to the middle. We played well the last two matches. Chelse was outstanding."

Despite the lack of wins, Majerus put a positive spin on the season. "Record-wise, it was not the type of season we wanted, but in other ways, it was a very good season," she explained. "The girls really bonded. They worked hard, and they worked together."

Bergeron, Keogh top-two placers

Jacoby Bergeron and Steven Keogh of Thief River Falls competed in the 13-14-year-old division at the Border Wars Northern Youth Wrestling Regional Saturday in Northfield.

Due to lack of entries at the lighter weight, 75-pound Bergeron was bumped to the 80-pound class, where he beat Nick Clobes of Hutchinson 2-0 in the semifinals and edged Scott Sumer of Owatonna 2-1 in the finals.

Wrestling at 107 pounds, Keogh knocked off 2005 Cliff Keen National Champion Blake Meeks of Des Moines, Iowa, 2-0 in the quarterfinals and stopped Tristan Fault of Northfield 3-0 in the semifinals before losing a 7-0 title match to Justin LaVelle of Moorhead.

Bergeron and Keogh both qualified to wrestle in the Border Wars National Tournament Nov. 4-6, at Holt, Mich.

Jodie Roy of Thief River Falls placed first in her 500-yard freestyle heat in a time of 6:44:57 as the Prowlers faced the Perham Yellowjackets in a dual swim meet at the Franklin Middle School pool Thursday.

Prowlers swim past 'Jackets

Two individual wins by both Allyson Helling and April Peterson, along with a first place sweep in all three relay events, carried Thief River Falls past Perham 100-70 Thursday in girls high school swimming at the Franklin Middle School pool.

Helling won a sprint/distance combination with first place swims in the 50- and 500-yard freestyle races. Peterson took the 100 freestyle and 100 backstroke.

The Prowlers also got a win from Kailey Bakken in the 200 freestyle.

Peterson, Bakken, Casey Engelstad and Helling combined for a victory in the 200 medley relay; Peterson, Ashley Meunier, Bakken and Helling were part of a first place 200 freestyle relay team; while Meunier, Lacey Stennes, Dani Simenson and Janessa Hansen teamed up to win the 400 freestyle relay.

The win improved the Prowlers' dual meet record to 5-2.

A team final wasn't posted in the junior varsity portion of the meet, where a full complement of Thief River Falls swimmers lined up against a small group of Yellowjackets.
